A CORDIAL INVITATION to attend

The National Tractor Demonstration

Fargo, N. D., June 28th, 29th, 30th

THE J. I. Case Threshing Machine Company extends to all farmers and dealers a cordial invitation to attend The National Tractor Demonstration.

About six miles West of Fargo, North Dakota, along the beautiful Red River road, a tract of land comprising over 640 acres has been selected for the National Tractor Demonstration.

Here, progressive farmers will have an opportunity to compare the quality of work done by horse-drawn and tractor-drawn machinery.

A contest will be conducted for horse-drawn outfits and prizes will be given for the best and the most economical plowing, disking, harrowing and seeding.

In another section of the demonstration field, contests will be held for tractor-drawn outfits. Nearly every make, type and size of tractor will be in operation at this demonstration. And in the exhibition tents, all kinds of power farming machinery will be on display.

Be sure to visit the Case tent exhibit and then see the Case field demonstration.

The latest Case Kerosene Tractors, Grand Detour Plows and Harrows, Case Threshers, Hay Balers, Silo Fillers, Steam Traction Engines and other machinery will be in operation.

In the development of tractors and threshers, the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Company has been a pioneer. The first Case steam tractor was built in 1878; the first Case gas tractor was made in 1892, and the first Case thresher dates back to 1842.

While you may see Case machinery at any time at Case branches and dealers, a visit to this demonstration offers you an unusual opportunity to make direct comparisons between Case Power Farming Machinery and all other machinery shown.

Make the Case tent your headquarters while you are at the demonstration. Every possible convenience will be provided for the comfort of farmers, dealers and anyone who is interested in Power Farming Machinery. You will receive a courteous welcome and our representatives will be pleased to explain any details of construction and operation of Case machinery in which you are interested.

Petroleum—An Industrial Pivot

FROM the back of a sheep to the back of a man, wool passes through dozens of processes and machines, some of which were made possible, and all of which were shortened, by some product of petroleum.

So delicate is the adjustment of this machinery that from the cams moving at a rate of 350 revolutions per minute, to the flying spindles, whose revolutions per minute exceed 12,000, every part must be in unison. For, should one part be retarded a little, and another part speeded-up unduly, through faulty lubrication, there would be a strain on the fabric, and a break.

The seriousness of such a break is seen when it is understood that the severing of a single thread will bring the giant loom to a standstill instantly.

This is but a single example of the problems constantly being brought to Standard Oil Company (Indiana) lubricating engineers for solution, and emphasizes the necessity for the minutest accuracy on the part of these specialists in drawing specifications for special lubricants, and the need for extreme accuracy on the part of the manufacturing department in producing lubricants to meet these specifications.

It illustrates how highly specialized is the branch of industry which engages the attention of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), and the degree of enthusiasm for perfection which must prevail throughout this organization.

And this enthusiasm does prevail. Harmony and concentrated interest is ever present throughout the organization of 25,000 men and women, every one of whom, from the Chairman of the Board of Directors to the lowliest recruit, is bending every effort to do his part in the production of useful products, and to have each of a superior standard of fineness.

This Is The Minnesota State Prison

As a taxpayer your money has helped to build this institution and as a Minnesota farmer you can get your money back many fold. Farmers are saving hundreds of thousands of dollars on agricultural implements manufactured here. If you have not benefited, here is your chance to share in the profits. Savings have been effected by keeping prices of competing machinery built outside the state down and still selling way under any other manufacturer.

Get Your Share Of This

A saving of at least $800,000 has been made to the farmers of Minnesota on the famous Minnesota Binder Twine. Our wholesale price of this twine is 2½c per pound lower than any other, and there is another 2½c for freight and jobbers' profit which must be added. Therefore, on the 16,000,000 which we will make this year there will be more than three quarter million dollars saved to the farmers of this state.

Years of Reputation

The MINNESOTA LINE

Guaranteed by the State of agricultural machinery is guaranteed by the state. It is all made of the best materials obtainable and throughout its production is constantly under the supervision of state employed experts.

Minnesota Binders as good as the best—show a favorable comparison in price and quality with any other. For example, the 7 foot binder is exactly $26.61 lower than its competitor. These binders compare as favorably as the twine and this economy is well worth while.

Minnesota Mowers with years of reputation behind them, are sold, 5 foot length, for $13.00 less than any other. When you consider the many points of superiority and long wearing qualities of this line you will see that these are the implements to buy.

Minnesota Rakes are just $3.44 lower than any other good line sold in this state. This difference in price on the 12 foot, 36 tooth size.

This Is Your Opportunity

Thousands of farmers throughout the Northwest have benefited through the saving on Minnesota Machinery. Do likewise. You are financially interested in this institution and it is financially interested in you. Insist upon the Minnesota Line from your dealer.

MINNESOTA SPEEDS HIGHWAY PROJECTS TO COST MILLIONS

Commissioner Babcock and Aides Start New Construction on Statewide Scale.

FIRST 30-DAY SHOWING UNDER BABCOCK PLAN

$9,000,000 a year maintenance force organized. More than 1,000 patrolmen and 25 fleets of trucks and tractors on the job on trunk routes.

$3,000,000 of early state improvements ordered. Contracts let for $2,000,000 of new construction and others to be awarded in the near future.

$4,5000,000 of state-county projects approved. Trunk highway improvements with county bond funds launched under state reimbursement guaranty.

Local road authorities, relieved of expensive burden of trunk highway improvements and repairs, helped with program of $12,500,000 betterments on lateral or feeder roads.

Minnesota's highway development program, to pull the state out of the mud and into the front of good road ranks, is rapidly passing from the plan to the actual performance stage according to official figures given out this week by the state highway department.

Road funds from all sources and for all purposes in Minnesota this year will aggregate $26,375,000, it is announced, and will include $13,850,000 of automobile tax revenue, federal aid and county bond funds for use on trunk highways, and $12,500,000 of local tax, bond and state aid for improvements and repairs on lateral and feeder roads. County bond funds used, more money will be available in future years for feeder than for trunk roads, it was explained.

Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, with John H. Mullen, assistant commissioner and chief highway engineer, and other staff men, and with the cooperation of county road authorities, is working to spread benefits as rapidly as possible. The highway program for this season is well under way, official figures show, although less than 60 days have passed since the legislature of 1921 put Good Roads Amendment No. 1 into effect, releasing funds and granting necessary authority. Preliminary work was done quickly, however, and big developments are shown during the last thirty days.

A list of new construction projects on which nearly $5,000,000 of state and county funds is to be spent and which are located in nearly 50 widely scattered sections of the state, was recently given out by O. L. Kipp and J. T. Ellison, chief engineers on construction and bridges, respectively. About $2,500,000 of these are already under contracts, the department announced, and a call for bids will be made soon on the remaining and other projects.

W. F. Rosenwald, chief maintenance engineer, and his assistant, Engineer M. J. Hoffman, announced that 1,000 patrolmen, one for each five to eight mile section of trunk highway, are now at work keeping the roads smooth, also that fleets made up of more than 40 tractors and 100 trucks are giving the patrolmen special help when necessary to put their sections in good shape for maintenance. Names of patrolmen on roads hereabouts are to be given out soon.

Road authorities in the counties are giving full cooperation, Commissioner Babcock said, and to date conditions point to a successful year in spite of the unavoidable late start.

Speed-Breaking Bumps Proposed.

Speed maniacs are not only the targets for criticism in newspapers, from public-spirited citizens and even road patrolmen who fear for their lives, but make a serious problem for the highway department, Commissioner Babcock said recently.

"We are building and maintaining good smooth highways, but we cannot police them, too, under the law," the commissioner added. "That is primarily a matter for the sheriffs of the different counties as far as rural highways are involved. But we will be glad to cooperate as far as possible to insure public safety in this as well as other directions."

Counties which are employing sheriff's deputies for road policing on motorcycles find the plan more than self-sustaining, fines exceeding the expense, it was reported.

Speed-breaking bumps, described as bumps that will be hardly felt at a 25-mile pace, but will almost throw occupants from cars driven faster than 40 miles an hour, were suggested but Commissioner Babcock said he was not ready to subscribe to the idea.

Farmers' Roads Come First.

The fact that the Babcock plan is primarily to provide a good road to every Minnesota farm gate and not merely automobile boulevards is being emphasized by the present campaign for good federal aid legislation. That it makes available approximately $5,000,000 a year for the less expensive though larger system of feeder roads than for the heavy-traffic trunk routes has been pointed out by state highway officials in the movement in which farmers and other organizations joined later.

"Farmers'" roads get first consideration under the Minnesota highway plan. This is primarily an agricultural state and farmers' roads must have that place. Anything that will hinder instead of help the farmer of the state has no part in the program.

The same policy will apply under the intent of the new law regulating the use of cleats and lugs on wheels on Minnesota highways, Commissioner Babcock said, to allay the fears of threshermen. Mud hooks are barred as a rule, he explained, but the use of lugs will be permitted when necessary. "Neither the highway department nor the farmers want roads carelessly torn up and damaged, and we count on the threshermen using good judgment to avoid it," he said.

Rocksbury Farm Bureau Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Rocksbury Farm Bureau club will be held at Valhalli hall Saturday, July 2 at 8:30 p. m. All farmers of the township, whether members of the Farm bureau or not, are urged to attend. After the program a lunch will be served.

Scandinavian Mission.

A meeting of the Scandinavian Mission Y. P. S. of East St. Hilaire will be held at the home of Martin Peterson Saturday evening, June 25. The choirs of Black River and St. Hilaire will be there and the program will start at 8 o'clock.

CROOKSTON MAN BREAKS JAIL BUT IS SOON CAPTURED

Carl Knutson, Under Indictment For Murder of Wife, Makes Bold Dash For Freedom.

Carl Knutson who is under indictment for the murder of his wife broke out of the Polk county jail last Saturday but was recaptured Sunday evening after a citizens posse of 150 men had scoured the country for 24 hours. The Crookston Times of Monday evening gives the following account of the affair:

"A night and a day replete with thrills, excitement, adventure and real hard work, such is a summary of the man hunt started Saturday night when Carl Knutson, facing trial for the murder of his wife, made a dash for liberty from the Polk county jail. Two automobiles went in the ditch as the result of the chase, hundreds of men were notified to keep a sharp watch for the fugitive while an untold number of others kept their doors safely locked for fear of an invasion by the desperate fugitive from justice. But it was far from the desperate caveman, fighting with his back to the wall, who was captured. Instead, it was a weary, footsore, hungry, thirsty and utterly exhausted man, apparently only too glad to be back in the safe confines of the county jail after a day and a night of desperately trying to evade the scores of pursuers who immediately took up the chase when word got around that Knutson had escaped.

"Knutson, known as the caveman, following his arrest on a charge of murder, after the body of his wife had been found at the Knutson home May 17, battered and bruised, evidently from blows which the authorities claim were administered by Knutson, evidently had planned his escape for some time. Following his dash for liberty it was learned by the county authorities that he had bragged to the other prisoners that he was going to take 24 hours French leave, during which time he planned to kill the 'other man' mentioned in the domestic affairs of Mr. and Mrs. Knutson and jealousy of whom, it is said, prompted Knutson to administer the terrible beating which, it is alleged, resulted in his wife's death.

"The caveman's start on his '23½ hour leave' commenced at 8:45 Saturday evening. He had just finished his visit with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Knutson, brother and sister-in-law, when he made the dash through the screen door of the jail's office. He was in the custody of Deputy Fleming at the time. The deputy had turned to unlock the entrance to the jail cell with Knutson right behind him. As the deputy's back was turned Knutson noiselessly crossed the room and it was only when he heard the screen door slam that Fleming realized his prisoner had attempted to escape. By the time the deputy reached the outdoors Knutson had disappeared.

"No time was wasted in throwing out the dragnet for the escaped fugitive. Scores of young men hearing of the escape volunteered their services and soon a number of automobiles filled with searchers was out on every road looking for the man. A special guard was stationed at the place of business of the 'other man' whom Knutson was said to have threatened while another detail watched the Knutson home where the horribly mutilated wife had died. A careful watch was kept on every train leaving the city while other searchers were detailed to search every vacant barn or building where the escaped man might have taken refuge.

"Knutson was seen by several persons to have headed east of the city and the search was devoted principally to that section. The hunt continued until early Sunday morning, waned for a short time as the weary searchers returned for sleep but increased in vigor Sunday morning when daylight aided the hunters.

"The first tip on Knutson's whereabouts came late in the forenoon when a farmer notified Deputy Sheriff Ed Kelly that a man, evidently Knutson, had been seen near his farm that morning. Practically all of the members concentrated their search on a group near where the farmer had seen the man. Back and forth they beat up the grove, the number of hunters approaching close to 150 as the day wore on and news that the caveman had been cornered reached the city. Many other cars visited the scene instead of the occupants taking their regular Sunday outing trip.

"Knutson's capture came about through his own negligence, when he signaled his brother-in-law and his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ostgaard. The couple were in a buggy witnessing the search when they were seen by Knutson. Knutson stood up from his hiding place and whistled and beckoned to his relatives evidently hoping they would aid in his getaway. As Mrs. Ostgaard saw her brother she fainted while Ostgaard becoming frightened drove for home. He then notified a neighboring farmer who called up the sheriff's office. Deputy Anton Nelson visited the neighboring farmer who took him close to the spot where Knutson had been seen. By this time there was only a handful of the searchers left. The remaining men set about to beat the spot where the man had been seen and in a short time William Spearman and Charles Rapin spotted him lying on his back in a clump of willows.

"Spearman pointed his gun at the fugitive who wearily stepped to his feet and stood with bowed head while Deputy Nelson hastened up and fastened handcuffs on him. The man was too exhausted from going 24 hours without food or drink to talk very much but in broken sentences he told his captors he had had enough of dodging and had planned to return to jail voluntarily that evening.

Knutson in describing his arduous attempts to escape, declared he had been on the move until three o'clock Sunday morning, making most of his journey through the fields. He reached the grove near where he was captured and lay down to rest. When morning came he looked around for a better hiding place. He declared he stayed in the same spot all day and had spent most of his time watching his pursuers. Several times the hunters came dangerously close to his hiding place, he said, but always they moved away again. The caveman declared his worst discomfort was thirst. The day was one of the hottest this summer and the hunted man said that at about noon he was choking for want of water.

"Knutson's trial on the charge of killing his wife is expected to come before the summer term of district court which convened at the court house Monday."

FROM REMOTEST PARTS OF GLOBE

Tanlac Elements Come From Many Lands Far Away From Here.

The ingredients from which the celebrated medicine Tanlac is made, come from remote sections of the earth, and are transported thousands of miles over land and sea to the great Tanlac Laboratories at Dayton, Ohio, and Walkerville, Canada.

The Alps, Appenines, Pyrenees, Russian-Asia, Brazil, West Indies, Rocky Mountains, Asia Minor, Persia, India, Mexico, Columbia and Peru are among the far away points from which the principal properties of this remarkable preparation are obtained.

What is said to be the largest pharmaceutical laboratory in the United States has been completed at Dayton, Ohio, for the manufacture of Tanlac which, according to recent reports, is now having the largest sale of any medicine of its kind in the world; over 20,000,000 bottles having been sold in six years.

The new plant occupies 60,000 square feet of floor space and has a daily capacity of 50,000 bottles. Uniform quality is guaranteed by a series of careful inspections by expert chemists from the time the roots, herbs, bark and flowers are received in their rough state from all parts of the globe until their medicinal properties have been extracted by the most approved processes. The finished medicine is then bottled, labeled and shipped out to tens of thousands of druggists throughout the United States and Canada to supply a demand never before equalled by this, or any other medicine.—Advertisement.

Ontario Law Aid to Dry Agents.

Ontario's new prohibition law, which will become effective July 18, will virtually stop running of liquor from Canada to Minnesota within the next six months, according to Emerson E. Hunt, supervising federal prohibition enforcement agent for the northwest.

With Manitoba dry, whisky runners have had to get their supply from Ontario, which is carried south by way of Lake of the Woods, dry agents report.

Under the present law, shipments of liquor into Ontario is permitted, but the new law forbids the importation of liquor and forbids its transportation within the province. At present whisky runners do not have to violate any Canadian laws, but need only risk capture on the American side of the border.

The new law will make it a crime to transport liquor within the province, and the clause in the law forbidding importation will reduce the Ontario supply so that Minnesota whisky runners will be unable to obtain enough liquor to pay them for their risk, according to Mr. Hunt.

American Legion Corner

When Judge Eli Torrance, National Commander of the Grand Army of The Republic, began his address at the dedication of the Victory Memorial Way in Minneapolis on June 11th, he turned toward the ranks of overseas veterans and extended a greeting to the American Legion, adding, "To you must be committed the priceless jewel of representative government regulated by law. You must remain steadfast and unafraid regardless of every assault that hatred and malice may devise to undermine and destroy the heritage for which you so nobly fought and in defense of which so many of your heroic comrades poured out the warm blood of their youthful hearts."

State Commander A. H. Vernon has issued to all Legion posts the official call for the Third Annual Minnesota Legion convention at Winona, August 1, 2 and 3, 1921. Each post may send two delegates and two alternates and one additional delegate and alternate for each 100 paid-up members or major fraction thereof. Reduced railroad rates are being secured and Winona citizens will go the limit to furnish the delegates the time of their lives.

As a tribute to the memory of the late Commander Galbraith and to fulfill his last wish, every Minnesota Legionnaire will lay a friendly hand upon the shoulder of a buddy on July Fourth and "sign him up," according to an appeal issued to all Legionnaires of the state by the Department Commander, A. H. Vernon of Little Falls. This "every member get a member" drive will be launched all over the nation July 4th, in accordance with plans issued by Commander Galbraith before his death. Incidentally, July Fourth is the birthday anniversary of the new national commander, John G. Emery of Grand Rapids, Mich.

In an urgent message to Minnesota Legionnaires to help organize units and gain new members for the Legion Auxiliary, State President Dr. Helen Hughes Hielscher of Mankato writes: "It is a privilege to belong to the Legion Auxiliary. Let all eligible women in your community know it. You tell them buddy-soldiers' mothers, wives, sisters, daughters. Tell them there are soldiers dying without help or comfort from their own because there are not enough units or members of the Legion Auxiliary to cover the whole field. Tell them there are soldiers who fought for law and justice who are turning radical because they feel they are neglected by the people whom they served. Tell them the women of Minnesota are mobilizing in the Legion Auxiliary, not for war, but for love and faith and hope. Tell them to come now when the work is beginning, and not to be like the men who wanted to enlist when the enemy was on the run. For at least 12 years we must strain at a task always growing. There will be no slacking. Let your women relatives know of our work. Death and disease take no vacation. Have them join us now."

Captain George Mallon, one of Pershing's 100 heroes and candidate for Lieutenant Governor of Minnesota at the last election, who has just returned from Kansas, states: "You have heard the statements that the American Legion tarred and feathered world war veterans in Kansas. Those statements were lies. The men who created the disturbance were thugs hired by interests who wrapped themselves in a cloak of loyalty."

MR. SCHUSTER COMES TO THE FRONT.

Tells His Friends and Neighbors of His Experience.

Every Thief River Falls resident should read what Mr. Schuster says, and follow his example. He has used Doan's Kidney Pills and speaks from experience. Is there any need to experiment with imitations or untried kidney medicines?

Chas. Schuster, 622 St. Paul Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I can say they are just as advertised. My back has been bothering me for a long time and I couldn't bend over without pain across my loins. Some mornings I couldn't get out of bed my back was so sore and stiff and I was obliged to get up nights on account of kidney weakness. As soon as I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills I had relief and I have felt better ever since."

New Complaint Contains All Former Allegations and in Addition Asks That Council be Enjoined From Disposing of Bonds on July 8, Date Set For Opening Bids.

The case brought in the name of the Oen Mercantile company against the city officials of Thief River Falls and the Bitulithic Contracting company of Winnipeg, asking that defendants be enjoined from undertaking the paving contract let by the city council a year or more ago, came to a sudden end on Wednesday afternoon when Theo. Quale, attorney for the petitioners, asked that the case be withdrawn. The reason given for this request was that since the case was filed certain proceedings had been taken by the city council which it would be necessary to include in the complaint.

A new case, in which the same parties are defendants, and with T. P. Hamre as plaintiff, was filed with Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund last evening. The complaint sets forth all the reasons contained in the application of the Oen Mercantile company in the previous suit and further asks that the city council be stopped from making a sale of the city's paving bonds on July 8, the date set for the opening of bids.

Vigorously Opposed.

The motion of the Oen Mercantile company for a dismissal of the original case was strenuously opposed by City Attorney H. O. Chommie and attorneys for the Bitulithic company. The court held, however, that there was nothing to prevent the plaintiff from withdrawing the case if he so saw fit and granted the request. This means that as the action cannot be heard at the present term of court the paving matter is probably a dead issue so far as the present summer is concerned.

Action is Critizised.

There is disappointment expressed over the outcome on every hand in the city this morning. The action of the petitioners is regarded as nothing more or less than spite work and only instituted for the purpose of enforcing delay. Members of the city council are certain that the present contract is highly favorable to the property owners in the paving district and point to the following table of costs to prove their position. During the year 1920 a number of contracts were let in this state for pavement with Warrenite-Bitulithic surfacing at the following prices per yard:

Marshall	$4.05
Marshall	4.30
Worthington	4.69
Alexandria	4.18
Eveleth	4.95
Hibbing	5.55
Dakota County	4.29
Albert Lea	4.05
Little Falls	4.72
Thief River Falls	3.98

So much has been said concerning the drop in costs since this contract was awarded that a comparison with prices at which bitulithic paving has been let during the present year are interesting when placed along side of the outlay called for in the Thief River Falls agreement. The following jobs differ only in minor details from that let at Thief River Falls. It will be noted that the prices are uniformly higher than was the case a year previous:

Ramsey county	$4.19
Hennepin county	4.21
Rochester	4.33
Ashland, Wis.	4.28
Mayville, Wis.	4.08

Not Yet Through.

While the outcome of the recent case will doubtless have the effect of tying up things temporarily, the city authorities are not disposed to lay down so easily. They have been assured that even in the face of the pending law suit the bonds can be sold on July 8 if the city is willing to pay a higher rate of interest. In the meantime the whole proceeding is up in the air.

Federoff was the moundsman in the latter game and proved too much for the visitors. Here is the story:

There is a different story to tell of Sunday's game at the same town. A new man was tried out on the mound and before he could be yanked out the damage had been done. Even then there might have been some hope had Carlson not been hit by a pitched ball with the result that a small bone in his left hand was broken. This weakened the outfield and lowered the batting average of the Thief River Falls bunch to such an extent that the game was a sort of triumphal procession for the McIntosh lads. The score was 11 to 0. Following is the story:

Last evening's game with Fertile on the diamond here was characterized by heavy slugging by both teams but the visitors only managed to get 6 runs across out of their 11 hits while Thief River Falls was putting 11 runs out of 13 hits. Brazel pitched a good game and besides distinguished himself by getting two hits and two runs out of two times at bat. Three baggers were common on the part of the home team as will be seen by the following detailed score:

An X-ray picture taken at The Clinic in this city, showed two small bones broken in Carlson's hand. The injury will keep him out of the game for three weeks. Manager Fox has a couple of new men in the lineup and it is hoped that these will supply what now seems to be lacking in order to win consistently. The boys have been putting up a good brand of baseball as a general thing, but every so often they seem to slump. An accident which removes one of the regulars from the fighting line seems to throw the whole machine out of gear. Manager Fox is certain that the addition of Brand and Tallion, two new men, will solve the problem that has bothered him ever since the season opened. Tallion played in the game with McIntosh on Sunday and his work proved that he has the stuff. Brand is a fielder with a god batting record and promises to give an excellent account of himself.

This evening at 6:30 Warren comes here for a game. Previous contests this season between these two teams have been close and while Thief River Falls has thus far held the edge it is understood that the Marshall county warriors are coming all bolstered up and looking for revenge.

On Friday the team goes to Argyle to try conclusions with that outfit again on their own grounds. This is sure to be a god game.

On Sunday Thief River Falls go to Red Lake Falls for the first game this season with that team. There will undoubtedly be a big crowd of rooters accompany the boys on this expedition.

Monday, the Fourth there will be a double-header with Gonvick as the opponents of the locals. This is expected to be one of the real big series of the season as the Clearwater county outfit is a strong one and has held most of its opponents to better than an even break thus far.

Dr. Eastman Honored.

At the meeting of the Sixth district group of the Minnesota Association of Chiropractors held at Itasca State park on June 18 and 19, Dr. Jennie M. Eastman of Thief River Falls, was elected second vice president for the ensuing year. Other officers chosen are: Dr. H. E. Jenks, Park Rapids, president; Dr. O. F. Murak, Ada, first vice president; Dr. H. E. McCasland, Hawley, secretary-treasurer. Dr. L. V. Johnson, Barnesville, formerly of Thief River Falls; Dr. B. E. Albertson, Crookston, and Dr. D. L. Wisehart, Trail, were elected on the board of directors.

PUSHING WORK ON RED LAKE DISTRICT DRAINAGE PROJECT

Secretary Brevig Explains What Has Been Accomplished by Conservancy Board.

Several inquiries regarding the projects before the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy board have been brought to the attention of A. O. Brevik, St. Hilaire, the board's secretary, for reply. As there is general public interest in the matter he has summarized the information in the following statement.

The only projects handled by the board are the Red Lake river deepening (including the inlets at upper Red Lake), the Clearwater river outlet, the Crookston dyke and a small outlet project in the Grand Marias basin. These are the only projects that are before this board. Projects are accepted only after petitions are filed. Surveying work follows. After surveys are made all plans and estimates go before the district court for a final hearing. This outlines the necessary steps briefly.

The Thief River project, affecting eastern Marshall county and western Beltrami county, was started in a judicial ditch proceeding several months before the Red Lake drainage board came into existence and is therefore a judicial ditch project and not a drainage board project. The surveys were made by Joseph Baugh as engineer while the Red Lake drainage board's surveys are being made by George W. Walker as engineer. The merits of the Thief River project have not been passed on by the drainage board as it was felt that the matter was not within its jurisdiction. At a mass meeting held two years ago this month in Thief River Falls over one hundred farmers from the territory using the Thief River as an outlet were present and almost begged that something be done to relieve conditions there. The Thief River deepening project and the diagonal ditch were planned under the judicial act.

According to Mr. Brevik work is progressing very fast on the Red Lake and Clearwater projects, final plans for which are being prepared by Engineer Walker in cooperation with E. V. Willard, state commissioner of drainage. Final hearings on these projects will be held as soon as final plans have been perfected.

WANTS CHANGES IN GRAIN GRADE LAWS

Cong. Steenerson Proposes That Spring Wheat be Graded by Direct Act of Congress.

Grading of spring wheat by direct act of congress is proposed in a bill introduced Wednesday by Representative Halvor Steenerson after a conference with members of the Minnesota legislature, the Minnesota grain inspection service and representatives of the inspection service in North Dakota and South Dakota.

"Congress gave the secretary of agriculture authority to fix grain grades," Mr. Steenerson said. "The standards and grades promulgated by the secretary have been found unworkable. They operate in favor of the grain dealer and miller and against the farmer. We have gone to the department of agriculture and asked to have the grades changed but we have been refused."

Mr. Steenerson declared the regulations were prepared by the bureau of markets and the officials of that bureau "having once done something, believe there should be no change."

Kicked by Horse.

John Bugge, a farmer residing west of the city, is nursing a broken arm, caused by the kick of a horse on Monday. He was fastening a loosened trace when the horse struck out.

STAGE ALL SET FOR BIG DOINGS ON THE FOURTH

Greatest Celebration in City's History Will be in Charge of American Legion.

Nearly Every Business House in City Will Have Float in Monster Parade.

Two Boxing Bouts and Wrestling Match are Among Features to be Offered.

Thief River Falls will this year have the greatest Fourth of July celebration ever held in the northwestern section of the state. The affair will be under the auspices of the American Legion post and there is nothing to be left undone that can in any way help to make the event one of the outstanding features of the city's history. Parades, sports, games, dances, boxing matches, wrestling bouts—everything in the line of contests and amusements will be on the program.

Parade Will Be Feature.

Practically every business house in the city has volunteered to have an appropriate float in the parade. Cash prizes of $15, $10 and $5 will be awarded for first, second and third place respectively and it is expected that many things both beautiful and novel will be produced. The concerns which have up to date signified their intention of getting into the parade with a float are as follows:

Loken Brothers, Hermanson Hardware company, H. K. Strand, Scott Laird, Peoples Co-operative store, Roy Lambert, First and Peoples State bank, Bottom Hardware company, Farmers & Merchants bank, Citizens State bank, First National bank, W. H. Mulry, E. O. Mogensen, A. M. Langseth, Oen Mercantile company, Thief River Monumental company, Black's Sweet Shop, Thief River Music company, A. A. Wangenstein, Carl Christofferson & company, Joseph Strubeck, Thief River Grocery company, Zeh & Curran, Aasby & Burstad, Rambeck & Stone company, Mousley & Glines, Bridgeman-Russell company, Louis Garvey, Helge Dahl, Charles Sieberman, Erling Dahl, Carl Froseth, City Meat & Grocery company, M. G. Stageberg, Union Plumbing & Heating company, J. C. Penney company, F. J. Stebbins, Jung Brothers, Larson Furniture company, A. J. Borry, Louis DeCremer. Others have signified their intention of joining and it is the hope of those in charge that every business house in the city shall be in line. Concerns from other towns in the county will be made welcome if they care to place a float in competition and their opportunities for winning one of the prizes will be equal to that of the Thief River Falls business men. Anyone wishing to have their name added is requested to notify George Loken.

City Attorney Hans O. Chommie, himself a Legion member, will deliver the address of the day at the fair grounds in the afternoon.

Something Every Minute.

The parade will start at 10 o'clock and all civic societies and local organizations of every kind are invited to join. Headed by the band the procession will march around the city until 10:15, when the morning races and sporting events will be staged. The band will play throughout the day.

Following is the sports program, together with the prizes offered in each event:

Boys' running race, start Third and Main streets. Prizes $2, $1, 50c.

Girls' running race, starts Third and LaBree. Prices $2, $1, 50c.

Ladies' foot race, start Third and LaBree. Prizes $2, $1, 50c.

Afternoon Program.

The events scheduled for the afternoon will take place at the fair grounds. This includes band concert, two mile bicycle race, tug of war, boxing bouts, motor cycle race. These will be followed by a free-for-all stop-Ford race.

From 5 o'clock onward the downtown carnival attractions will hold the boards, after which the crowd will again repair to the fair grounds for the purpose of seeing a ball game between Thief River Falls and Gonvick. At 9 o'clock the Roman candle parade will be staged, the exhibition being in charge of Paul Midderigh. This will be followed by bowery dancing at the auditorium.

Many Outsiders Coming.

That large crowds from the outside will celebrate in Thief River Falls this year is certain. Nothing in the way of a public observance of the day is contemplated at neighboring points and the citizens will be glad to assist in making the Thief River Falls celebration a success.

All will be made welcome and every effort will be put forth to see that visitors have a good time.

RIVER CLAIMS YOUNG FARMER; SECOND VICTIM

Carl Isaacson Loses Life While Bathing Near Skomedahl Bridge Sunday Afternoon.

Failded to Reappear After First Plunge and Companions Unable to Give Assistance.

Body Recovered After Having Been in Water Nearly Two Hours—Second This Year.

Carl Isaacson, 22 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Isaacson, farmers residing in Excel township, was drowned in Thief river about 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. The body was recovered after having been in the water nearly two hours and all hope of resuscitation was past.

In company with two other young men of the neighborhood, Isaacson started in an automobile to attend a picnic held near their homes. Arriving at a point on the river a short distance from the Skomedal bridge the trio decided to go in bathing. Isaacson jumped into the river and must have been seized with cramps as he did not again come to the surface. His companions, neither of whom can swim to any extent, could do nothing but raise an alarm. Farmers from the neighborhood quickly gathered and a search for the body was at once begun. One of the young men with Isaacson tied a rope around his waist and went down at the point where his friend had disappeared. He managed to grab hold of the body and was pulled to the surface.

The accident happened in Marshall county but Coroner H. W. Froehlich of Pennington county was notified, he being located much nearer to the spot where the drowning occurred. He arrived about the same time that the body was recovered but saw that there was no chance of the man being revived, although a pulmotor had been brought along to be used in case there was the slightest hope.

The water at the point where Isaacson went down is about 7 feet deep.

This is the second drowning accident to occur in the neighborhood this summer, the first victim being 11-year-old George Reitz of this city, who lost his life while boating on June 1.

PEARSON IS FOUND GUILTY ON SAME CHARGE AS WIFE

Verdict of Second Degree Manslaughter is Returned by Jury Against Man.

A jury in the Polk county district court Tuesday night at 9:45 o'clock returned a verdict of "guilty of second degree manslaughter" in the case of Arthur Pearson, charged with murder in connection with the death of an infant child last winter. The jury was out 4 hours and 45 minutes.

The jury was instructed to find the defendant guilty of first or second degree murder, second degree manslaughter or not guilty. Closing arguments by Albert F. Pratt, of the attorney general's office, who assisted County Attorney James E. Montague, in the prosecution, and by F. A. Grady, Pearson's attorney, were started Tuesday afternoon. For nearly two hours Mr. Pratt covered Pearson's case for the jury and attempting to belittle Pearson's plea that he did not know Mrs. Pearson had given birth to her child or that she was about to become a mother. Mrs. Pearson last winter was convicted of second degree manslaughter and in a statement signed by Pearson the husband declared he was asleep at the time of the alleged birth and knew nothing of it.

F. A. Grady followed Mr. Pratt in addressing the jury. The defense counsel based his request for an acquittal on the signed statement of Pearson made following discovery of the alleged crime in which he declared he did not know his wife was about to become a mother and was asleep at the time she gave birth to her child.

The statement by Pearson was introduced by County Attorney Montague while he was on the witness stand testifying as to the investigation made following the discovery of the baby's body. The body was found on a Sunday morning. It was embedded in the ice on the roof of a shed adjoining the hotel and evidently had been there for about three days. Mr. Montague said the Pearson couple were arrested because of the suspicion that Mrs. Pearson had recently become a mothe. Questioning of Pearson, he said, resulted in his statement.

Mrs. Pearson before her marriage was Miss Martha Furstnau of Thief River Falls.

Construct Swimming Pool By Popular Subscription

A movement set on foot by Emil E. Zeh has for its purpose the erection of a public swimming pool in the city. It is Mr. Zeh's opinion that the plan can be worked out successfully without adding one cent to the tax roll. He would interest a sufficient number of persons in the matter to insure the necessary amount of funds being raised by popular subscription. This was done not long ago in Grand Forks and that city now has a swimming pool that is perhaps the finest in the entire section. Donations might be made either in labor, materials or money, and it is thought that there are very few persons, particularly among the business men, who would not be willing to help the cause along. The necessary site would be purchased but this is something that will have to be attended to at some time in the near future anyway, and it may prove of advantage to do it at once. Mr. Zeh broached his plan to a group of men at the auditorium on Tuesday evening and received assurances of support and promises of donations, aggregating several hundred dollars. He does not intend to allow the matter to drop and will urge it along wherever opportunity presents itself.

Paving Men Here.

A. D. Hanson and R. R. Collard of Bitulithic Contracting, Limited, of Winnipeg, and R. E. Borrowman of the Bradley Engineering company, St. Cloud, arrived in the city Tuesday evening for the purpose of being present at the hearing of the injunction suit brought to prevent the city from proceeding with the paving contract.

CROP OUTLOOK IN COUNTY IS BETTER THAN FOR YEARS

Rust Doing No Damage in Grain Fields as Yet, According to State's Expert.

There has been practically no damage from rust in the grain fields of Pennington county to date, according to County Agent J. J. McCann. A little red leaf rust has been found in a number of fields but this is not regarded as of any great importance. There is no stem rust of any kind.

K. J. Christianson, state grain disease inspector, was in the city on Friday and made a personal inspection of a number of fields. He found conditions very much to his liking, a small amount of rust in the rye being the only trouble of the kind disclosed.

Sweet clover is being cut and it is proving a good crop although not a record breaker. It is expected that the cutting of red clover will be in full swing next week as there seems to be no advantage in holding off longer. The crop will not be improved to any extent unless there is considerable rain within a very short time and it is not likely that many will delay in the hope of its arrival.

The labor situation is better than for years past. There has been sufficient local help available to fill all positions so far and there is no danger of a shortage. Men going out agree to stay through the season at a wage of $35 to $40 per month. The average rate paid for work by the day is $2.00.

Less wheat was sown last spring than for many years past and this crop is consequently of less importance locally than usual. The Northwest will have one of the best crops of wheat in its history, however, say reports. Along the Soo line westward through North Dakota conditions were never so promising. The outlook, according to some observers, is even better than during the banner year of 1915.

GUMMER HEARING NOW ON AT FARGO

Court Room Crowded When Man Accused of Murdering Miss Marie Wick is Arraigned.

General testimony relating to the actions of Miss Marie Wick, 18, Grygla, prior to her murder in a hotel at Fargo June 7, took up most of the time in the morning session Tuesday of the preliminary hearing of William Gummer, night clerk of the hotel, charged with slaying the girl.

The letter which Miss Wick had written to Arnold Rasmussen, Moorhead, in which she asked him to meet her in Fargo on the night of June 6, as she was unacquainted with the town, was introduced. Miss Wick was on her way to visit an aunt at Pettibone, N. D., to spend a vacation.

Crowds eager for details of the testimony and a glimpse of Gummer crowded the Cass county court house early in the morning and by ten o'clock, the hour set for the hearing, had crowded the small room where the hearing was held to overflowing and were jammed in the corridors of the court house. Gummer was pale and grave.

Barnett & Richardson, attorneys for Gummer, on Tuesday evening received a telegram from Minneapolis that may have some bearing on the case, although the state's attorney is inclined to attach no importance to it. The telegram was signed by Thomas Dowd and read as follows:

"I have tried to reach the sheriff at Fargo. I wrote two letters and no answer, and one letter to the state's attorney; no answer yet. Also stop the hearing of the Prescott murder trial until you hear from me and advise me at once."

NO COUNTY AID FOR RETAINING FARM BUREAU

Commissioners Turn Down Request For $2,000 Per Year For Next Two Years.

Robert McGinn Only Member of Board Voting to Grant Request of Farmers.

Effort Will Now be Made to Secure Needed Amount by Popular Subscription.

The board of county commissioners last Friday turned down the request of the Pennington County Farm Bureau association for an appropriation of $2,000 per year to assist in carrying on the work of the bureau for the next two years. Commissioner Robert McGinn was the only member voting for the appropriation; Commissioner J. S. Roy did not vote, and Commissioners O. J. Peterson, Gust Naplin and A. H. Hanson voted against it.

While the commissioners had previously made no secret of their intention to turn the proposition down, yet the hope was expressed that they would reconsider the matter and grant the aid asked for. During the discussion preceding the vote it was claimed by the commissioners opposed that the results of the farm bureau's work did not warrant the expense. Thus far the bureau has been of value only to a few farmers residing in the vicinity of Thief River Falls, it was claimed, and the board members said they could not see their way clear to employ the money of all the taxpayers for the benefit of those residing in one section.

Farmers Speak in Favor.

The bureau was represented by County Agent J. J. McCann who touched upon some of the things accomplished during the four years of its existence. Paul Engelstad and F. T. Satre of Rocksbury township; O. O. Hofdahl and R. M. Johnson of Kratka township, and J. M. Thiege of Smiley township, all spoke in favor of making the appropriation, testifying to the excellent work that is being accomplished in the county under Mr. McCann's direction. The pleas of these local men were ably supported by W. E. Morris, state leader of county bureau work.

No Funds Available.

The commissioners stated that the running expenses of the county were now crowding the receipts and that they did not feel justified in incurring this added expense, particularly as it did not seem as if the demand for a continuance of the farm bureau were general. It was pointed out to them that a vote taken among the farmers of the county showed that they stood about eight to one in favor of the appropriation being made, but this did not have any effect upon the board majority.

Will Be Continued.

A number of the most prominent farmers in the county have been interviewed during the past week and they say they will do everything in their power to keep the bureau going, at least for the remainder of the present year. This can only now be done by popular subscription, but it is felt there will be slight difficulty in securing the needed sum. Thief River Falls business men would doubtless be glad to contribute towards maintaining the office, its value being generally recognized. The matter is now in the hands of the executive committee of the organization and it is expected that a plan of campaign will soon be announced.

Grand Jury Session One of Shortest Ever held

The grand jury drawn for the June term of the district court made short work of its program. The indicting body was in session one day, made the usual inspections and found one indictment. A true bill was returned against Fred Brendecke, charging that he had intoxicating liquors in his possession and for sale.

Judge Grindeland and the petit jury have started on the semi-annual grind, the only case so far heard outside of the paving injunction case, being that of the Haley Land company of Red Lake Falls against J. S. Roy. It is a matter involving the payment of commissions for the sale of a farm.

To Drop General Practice At End of Special Course

Dr. O. F. Mellby will leave the first of the week for Chicago where he will take a post-graduate course in eye, ear, nose and throat work at one of the largest hospitals in the country. Dr. Mellby has been engaged in general practice in this city for many years but upon his return he will devote his attention to the special branches mentioned above. The large amount of work of this nature coming to The Clinic of which he is a member, makes it necessary that one of the associated doctors devote his time and studies entirely to this special practice. Dr. Mellby expects to be gone for about a month.

Immediately following the ceremony a dinner was served to the immediate relatives at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Dora Tharaldson in the Meehan block. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left the same evening on a month's wedding trip which will be spent at the groom's cottage at "The Shallows" near Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., where the groom's parents reside. Both young people are highly respected and well known, the bride having completed her high school education here, graduating with honors in '13. She later engaged in teaching school in this vicinity and towns near by. Mr. Campbell is employed as brakeman on the Soo. Bulk Consisting of Grassers Sell Weak to 25c Lower—Hogs Mostly 25c Off.

(By U. S. Bureau of Markets and Minnesota Dept. of Agriculture.)

South St. Paul, Minn., June 28.—With hot weather further restricting the demand for dressed beef and a continued dormant market for stockers and feeders, the market at the week's opening for the bulk of the receipts which consisted of grass cattle continued its downward course although a few dry feds which are becoming scarce sold practically steady. While a few loads of very good dry fed steers sold last week from $7.60 to $8.00, best at this week's opening were three loads of 1150 to 1200 pound averages that brought $7.40, with the bulk of the beef steers, including grass feds and some dry feds, going from $6.00 to $7.25. Bulk of the butcher she stock sold from $3.25 to $5.50, with a few good cows going from $5.00 to $5.50, and good heifers at $6.00 to $6.50. Canners and cutters range from $1.00 to $3.00, bologna bulls $3.00 to $3.75. Calves remained steady Monday, best lights to packers landing at $8.00. Only common and medium grade stockers and feeders are coming, bulk of these selling from $3.50 to $5.50; with good to choice heavy feeders quotable from $6.00 to $6.50.

Hog market 25c lower than Saturday but steady to strong with a week ago, range $7.00 to $8.15, bulk $7.50 to $7.75. Best pigs $8.50. Lambs about 50c lower for the week, best natives today $9.00, culls mostly $4. Good handyweight ewes $3.00, heavies around $2.00.

Make Sidewalks Uniform, Suggested by Contractor

Contractor Anderson has about another week's work left on the curbs in the paving district. As soon as these are completed he will put in the alley approaches and widen the sidewalks in front of the library, auditorium and other city property. He will then make a personal call on all who will find it necessary to widen their sidewalks in order to comply with the paving regulations and suggest that they have them all done at one time as this will greatly cheapen the job as well as make the work uniform throughout the district. It is not compulsory upon property owners to have this work done by the contracter, as they may do the job in any way that suits them best, provided the specifications are complied with, but it is thought that nearly everybody will be glad to avail themselves of the opportunity to get the matter off their hands in this manner as it insures a good job, quickly and cheaply accomplished.

Only 2.9 Per Cent of All Cattle in State Purebreds

The total number of horses on farms in Minnesota on January 1, 1920, was 932,794; the total number of cattle, 3,021,469; of sheep, 509,064; and of swine, 2,380,862. The 4,500 pure bred horses represents 0.5 per cent of all horses on farms in the state; the pure-bred cattle represent 2.9 per cent of all cattle; the pure-bred sheep, 1.7 per cent of all sheep, and the purebred swine, 4.2 per cent of all swine.

Better Understanding of Farm Conditions Needed

American Chambers of Commerce should "acquaint themselves and city people generally" with the "intimate and reciprocal relation between agriculture and all other industries," secretary Wallace said in a letter to W. E. Holler, of the Flint, Mich., chamber, who asked the secretary's judgment as to the thing of first importance to be undertaken by trade bodies.

"Kill off the fallacy that it is immoral for farmers to adjust their production to the probable demand by curtailing a particular crop in the face of a present or prospective over supply and ruinously low price—a thing manufacturers have been doing from the beginning of time," the secretary wrote.

Another fallacy, Mr. Wallace added, was the belief that agriculture has been "favored with special legislation."

Approximately 40 million people are now living on farms or directly or indirectly dependent upon farming for their livelihood, the secretary said.

Clothiers Agree to Close At 6:30 Until September 1

In order that their employes may have an opportunity to attend ball games and otherwise take advantage of the fine weather these summer evenings the clothing merchants of the city have agreed to close their stores at 6:30 o'clock every night except Saturday from July 5 to August 29, inclusive. The agreement is signed by L. L. Cohn, E. O. Mogensen, Chas. Lieberman and Lieberman Brothers. This arrangement will prove particularly welcome to the clerks and will be a good thing for the proprietors as well.

New Manager of Millinery Store Here to Take Charge

Mrs. Esta Barton, who will be in charge of the former Dalquist millinery store after July 1, arrived from St. Paul the first of the week and is busy getting things in readiness for taking over the business. Mrs. Barton has been connected with the L. R. Brown company in St. Paul for the past five years and is an artist in her line. The new concern will open with an attractive assortment of new hats for summer and early autumn wear. The exact opening date has not yet been decided upon.

Mike Holm Seriously Ill; Collapsed While at Work

Mike Holm of Roseau, secretary of state has been seriously ill at his home in St. Paul. He was taken from his office in the capitol last Thursday afternoon when he collapsed and was in a semi-conscious condition for some time. Mr. Holm has suffered two attacks of ptomaine poisoning during the past two weeks.

Moorhead Concern Given Knox School Heating Job

The contract for installing the plumbing work and heating plant in the new Knox school was on Wednesday let to the Moorhead Plumbing & Heating company for $16,543. There were four bidders, among them one local man, Ed. Lee, whose bid was about $17,000.

Dr. A. J. Paulson and Miss Mina Nelson Are Married

Dr. A. J. Paulson, who recently severed his connection with The Clinic in this city for the purpose of accepting a position on the staff of the Lutheran hospital in Watertown, S. D., was on Wednesday married to Miss Mina Nelson at Devils Lake, N. D., the home of the bride. The bride was formerly bookkeeper in the offices of the associated doctors in this city but left some time ago for her former home. The announcement of the wedding comes as a great surprise to the many friends of the couple in this city. After a honeymoon spent in Yellowstone Park, Dr. and Mrs. Paulson will move at once to Watertown.

Gospel Tent Campaign.

A series of meetings will be conducted in a tent erected to the south of the Winton-Nichols Lumber company's yards from June 29 to July 10. Two meetings will be held daily, at 2:45 and 8 p. m.

Rev. A. J. Peterson will open the campaign. Later Rev. E. E. Johnson of Scranton, Pa., Rev. J. D. Williams of St. Paul, and Mrs. William Christie recently arrived from Thibet, China, will be among the speakers. Mrs. Christie has been a missionary in the China field for about 20 years. The general public is cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Close Stores on Fourth.

All stores in Thief River Falls will be closed on July 4. This was announced by the closing committee of the Merchants association early in the week. This is the usual procedure, but it was thought best to give publicity to the fact in order that shoppers may govern themselves accordingly. Stores will be closed from Saturday night until Tuesday morning.

Gashed While Diving.

William Stageberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Stageberg, received a severe cut across the head while bathing in the river the first of the week. He was diving and struck bottom with considerable force. Luckily the blow did not render him unconscious and he is getting along all right.

Figures Show Indians in State Steadily Decreasing

The Indian population in Minnesota is decreasing, while the number of negroes, Chinese and Japanese have increased in the 10 year period from 1910 to 1920, according to a census bulletin just issued.

The total population of the state is 2,387,125, as compared with 2,075,708 in 1910. Of the present population, 2,368,919 are white, which is an increase from 2,059,227 in 1910. The number of Negroes increased from 7,084 in 1910 to 8,809 in 1920. The number of Indians decreased from 9,053 to 8,761 in the 10 year period. The number of Chinese increased from 275 to 508 and of Japanese from 67 to 85. The total in all other races increased from 2 to 43.

WOULD GO FROM HOUSE TO HOUSE

Tennessee Farmer Wants to Go From House to House and Tell About Tanlac.

"If I were not so busy with my farm work I would go from house to house and tell the people about Tanlac," said A. J. Livingston, a well-known farmer, living near Ashland City, Tenn.

"I had stomach and kidney trouble and suffered torment with my back and side. The doctors could do nothing for me so I wrote to a friend of mine in Nashville about Tanlac and he advised me to try it, saying he had heard so many favorable reports about it and sent me a bottle.

"After taking the first bottle I felt so much better that I ordered another bottle myself and the result is I am a well man. I told a friend of mine about it and ordered a bottle for him and he had good results. I can eat anything I want and it don't hurt me and can sleep like a log. To tell you the truth, I just simply feel like a new man and have more strength and energy than I have had in years. It is simply the grandest medicine in the world. I would like to see all of my friends and get those who are suffering to try it and I hope you will reach them through this testimonial, which I have gladly given."

Tanlac, the celebrated medicine, which accomplished such remarkable results in this man's case, is a wonderful tonic, appetizer and invigorant. It builds up the system, creates a healthy appetite, promotes digestion and assimilation of the food and makes you feel strong, sturdy and well as nature intended.—Advertisement.

BEHOLD it! Listen to it! Every star has a tongue; every stripe is articulate. "There is no language or speech where their voices are not heard." There is magic in the web of it. It has an answer for every question of duty. It has a solution for every doubt and perplexity. It has a word of good cheer for every hour of gloom or of despondency. Behold it! Listen to it! It speaks of earlier and of later struggles. It speaks of victories, and sometimes of reverses, on the sea and on the land. It speaks of patriots and heroes among the living and the dead. But before all and above all other associations and memories, whether of glorious men, or glorious deeds, or glorious places, its voice is ever of Union and Liberty, of the Constitution and the Laws.—Robert C. BLOODSTAINED TROUSERS INTRODUCED AS EVIDENCE AT GUMMER EXAMINATION

Identity of Owner of Garment Not Established; Bible Found In Room Occupied By H. J. Hagen Shows Traces of Blood, Deputy Sheriff Testifies, But Keyhole Between Two Adjoining Rooms Was Plugged.

Fargo, N. D., June 29—A pair of light-weight blood-stained trousers were introduced as evidence by the state late today in the preliminary examination of William Gummer, night clerk of the Prescott hotel, charged with the murder of Miss Marie Wick. It marked new developments in the murder sensation.

The state introduced the testimony of James Milligan, deputy sheriff who testified that he found the trousers at the foot of the basement stairs, to the rear of the building, on Monday morning, June 13, after he had made "careful, systematic and diligent" search "through the basement during the days following the discovery of the murder on the morning of June 7"; this, according to the state, points toward an "inside job."

During the cross examination, Deputy Sheriff Milligan maintained that the trousers were not there during the previous searches and he was positive that they could not have been there, placed there, or left there earlier than June 13.

Blood-stained Bible in Room 31.

In connection with the cross examination of Deputy Milligan another new development was brought out, the defense getting the deputy to admit that in searching room No. 31, occupied by H. J. Hagen, former president of the Scandinavian-American bank, he found a Bible in that room and that there were evidences of blood on it; he testified that the Bible had been delivered to Sheriff Kramer.

"Quite smeared, you might say, and that book was found in room No. 31?" asked Judge Barnett for the defense, and the witness said "yes." The witness said his attention had not been called to the fact that one of the panels on the outside of room No. 31 had blood smeared on it. This room adjoined that of room No. 30, occupied by Miss Wick.

Deputy Sheriff Milligan testified under direct examination that he had made a search of the rooms and a special examination of screens leading to the fire escape and found that they were intact; that the fire escapes were all dusty, and that nobody had been over them. He said he examined the windows in the basement and that they were all closed, and nobody had gone through them. He testified to finding the nozzle with which the state contends the girl was attacked, on top of a box containing the coils of the hose, but that it was not connected. He said he tried to screw it in place, but could not as it was bent. There was hair and blood and scraps of scalp sticking to the nozzle, he testified.

Gummer Advances Suicide Theory.

Gummer, according to the testimony of Richard Pickering, patrolman, the first to enter the death chamber, advanced the theory of suicide when Pickering arrived. Pickering testified late today that Gummer said to him that "the girl in room No. 30 is covered with blood and it looks like suicide." The patrolman quoted the night clerk as saying further that "it couldn't be murder as the door was locked."

Pickering said he made a search of the room for the key given to the girl but could not find it. He testified that on the morning of the discovery of the murder Gummer opened the door of Miss Wick's room with a key to which was attached a brass plate. All previous accounts of the opening of the door to the room have been to the effect that a pass key only was used in opening the door, the pass key being hooked up with another key on a safety pin. Miss Wick on the night she was given room No. 30 was given a key attached to a brass plate. She locked her door from the inside with that key. It has not since been found.

When State's Attorney Green exhibited a key attached to a brass plate such as a hotel gives to its guests, Pickering said it seemed to be the same kind of key.

In the direct examination of Sheriff Fred Kramer, State's Attorney William C. Green brought out in the evidence the careful examination which the sheriff had made of room No. 31, occupied by H. J. Hagen, of the investigation made by the authorities of that room, even to the searching of his suitcase and the inspection of the towels relative to any evidence which might lead to suspicion of him or any other guest that occupied a room adjoining the death chamber, with the crime.

Starkson Is Called.

A. A. Starkson, father of Mrs. Annie E. Lawrence, was the first witness called by the prosecution this morning. He gave his age as 77.

Starkson testified that he retired before 10 p. m. and went to sleep in half an hour. He heard no disturbance, except for someone walking about the halls, but that, he said, was a usual occurrence in the hotel.

He woke up at 5 a. m. and left his room to get a glass of water, and then returned to his bed, and did not waken until 8 a. m., when the officers had taken charge of the hotel and began questioning all the guests and inspecting the different rooms in the building.

Retired About 10 P. M.

John Werton, 66 years old, who has lived in Fargo for the last eight years, and who is employed as a shipping clerk for the Herbst department store, lived at the Prescott hotel for the last five years, according to his testimony.

He was sleeping at the hotel on the night of the murder and went to bed about 10 p. m. He occupied room No. 65 in the fourth floor of the hotel. He arose at 7:30, and when he left his room was confronted by the police.

Charles Fischer, 62, retired farmer, occupied room No. 64, located on the top floor next to John Werton's room, the two rooms adjoining. Fischer went to bed at 10 p. m. and heard no disturbance. He slept all night and was never out of his room.

George LeLonde, 30, married, one child, cook by trade, lived at Valley City prior to coming to Fargo, and was in the Prescott hotel on the night of June 6. He came to Fargo Monday morning from Brainerd, Minn., in search of work. He went to bed at 8:30 and was given room No. 49, third floor. He went to sleep almost as soon as he retired, for he had been up all the previous night traveling. He heard no disturbance.

Wounds in Girl's Head.

C. Edward Matelock, embalmer for E. F. Moore, was recalled to the witness stand by the state and cross-examined by Judge Barnett, counsel for the defendant, with reference to wounds over the slain girl's head. Matelock was the last witness on the stand when court took adjournment. The cross-examination was conducted to learn the length of the cuts, seven or eight of which were an inch or an inch and a half long, according to Matelock's testimony. He was also questioned by Judge Barnett as to the depth of cuts, and appearance of finger marks on the throat, the ones on the right side not being as distinct as those on the left, which were black and blue and showed no abrasion of the skin. Matelock testified he went into room No. 30 some time after 8 a. m. on Tuesday, June 7.

John Van Vorst, night man at the Herbst department store, was called by the state early this morning. He testified that his hours at the store are from 10 p. m. to daylight.

He told of going to the hotel about 10 p. m. on the night of June 6 and of seeing Mrs. Lawrence and the clerk behind the desk, and from a casual glance saw several persons standing in the lobby.

He returned to the store about 11 p. m. and in going through the lobby did not observe anyone in particular. He returned to the Prescott hotel about 5 a. m. Tuesday and said "good morning" to the clerk.

"The clerk looked as if he had been dozing," testified Van Vorst. He also testified to walking on the roof of the annex section of the hotel while Captain William Welch of the police force and another officer were below.

Room 30 Unlocked.

Sheriff Kraemer's testimony, in part, follows:

Q. What time did you get there?

A. A short time before 8 o'clock.

Q. Who was there when you got there?

A. Deputy South and the chief of police.

Q. Did you go to room 30?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was it unlocked at that time?

A. Yes, sir.

Describes Room 30.

Q. Now, Mr. Kraemer, will you just describe the condition that you found in room 30 in detail as nearly as you can remember it.

A. Room 30 is in the southwestern corner of the main hotel building. It is a rather small room, about 10x12, and a door to the hall on the north side, the northeast corner, and a door on the east wall between rooms 31 and 30.

The head of the bed was against the north wall and the east side of the bed touched the door frame. The washstand was in the southwest corner of the room, with a bowl, pitcher and slop jar; a window in the south wall of the room, the dresser was against the east wall next to the window, back against the east wall. There was a space of 18 inches between the west wall and the bed.

The floor was covered with carpet. A chair stood between the dresser and the washstand; a girl lying on the bed with her arms tied over her head to each bedpost, covered with a blanket and spread; pillows beside her head with the slips off. The covers were pulled up under her arms and were neatly pulled down over the foot of the bed; her clothes were on the chair; her hat on the dresser, pocketbook on the dresser, also her comb; her stockings on the door knob on the door leading between 30 and 31, shoes beside the bed; two straw suitcases were along the east wall between the door and the dresser. These were opened by me in the presence of the state's attorney, and the contents were neatly arranged, looked as if they had never been disturbed.

COME HERE ON THE FOURTH.

Thief River Falls asks all its neighbors to make the city their headquarters on the Fourth of July. There will be a monster celebration—the first attempted in the city for some years. The proceedings will be in charge of the American Legion and the program is one that should appeal to everyone—old and young alike.

It is decidedly a good thing that there is a live Legion post in Thief River Falls—and, we dare say, in most other towns of the state. Of late years there has been noted a tendency on the part of our people to devote such anniversaries as the Fourth and Memorial Day to purposes far other than originally intended. Unless the drift is stopped it will be but a short time until the real significance of such days shall have been lost entirely and the occasion simply valued because, for some reason, not very well defined in the minds of many, it provides a holiday. With all of the objections raised against a noisy Fourth, it must be admitted that it is better than no Fourth at all.

This year Thief River Falls is going to make up for lost time and the work of keeping things going will be left to the organization most appropriately fitted for the work. Nothing especially new is going to be tried out, but there will be plenty of things going on that will remind the visitor of old times.

Come to Thief River Falls on the Fourth. Bring the family and be prepared to stay all day. There will be something doing every minute and the Legion guarantees to send you home tired, happy and satisfied.

NO USE KICKING.

Whatever may be thought of the action of the county commissioners in turning down the request of the Pennington County Farm Bureau association for an appropriation of $2,000 per year for the next two years, the fact remains that it was turned down and that if the bureau is to survive some other means of financing it must be devised. The commissioners say they acted on the score of economy for one thing and refused the request because there did not seem to be any demand for the bureau's continuance for another.

Neither reason is particularly round or easy of proof. The farmers have given ample evidence of their willingness to stand their share of the cost of maintaining the farm bureau and it is now up to them to make good on the evidence presented. If they want the farm bureau it will be kept going in spite of the fact that no support will be forthcoming from the county. They will simply be called upon to help pay the rest by direct contribution instead of through taxes. Could the latter plan have been employed it would mean that all would share alike in the expense of keeping the office going. Now the cost will fall upon fewer shoulders while the benefits will be shared by all as before.

It was claimed by three of the commissioners that only a few farmers, and those residing in the immediate vicinity of Thief River Falls, had in any manner been benefited by the organization. This is not a fact, but at that it will be the farmers and business men in this particular section who will have to furnish the bulk of the money needed to keep the farm bureau going. Others will help liberally, it is hoped, and in this way the program can be carried on.

Should the directors decide upon attempting to go ahead with the work through this method it is to be hoped that all those who have had an opportunity of observing the excellent work done by the bureau will come to its aid. It would be little short of a calamity to allow it to go out of business now.

MIGHTY GOOD IDEA.

Unless something is started, nothing is ever accomplished. For this reason Emil E. Zeh and the other enterprising citizens who believe they see a chance of getting a public swimming pool constructed should be encouraged and supported in their efforts in spite of the fact that at the outset the success of the enterprise looks somewhat dubious. The chances are it looked just as impossible to a large part of the population of Grand Forks, but they got together and built their pool nevertheless. Crookston has just opened its fine public natatorium. Thief River Falls must be the next in line and should have taken action before this.

As a promoter of healthfulness and cleanliness there is nothing can take the place of a swimming pool. A lake or river will serve the same purpose but the danger attendant upon having youngsters use these as places for bathing is every day being brought to the people's notice. Progressive communities everywhere consider a swimming pool as a necessary part of their playground facilities.

This is how Grand Forks managed to get its pool built. The city did not have the money, or at least could not spare the sum necessary, in which respect the Dakota city is very much like Thief River Falls. The people wanted a swimming hole for the kids. It would naturally serve grownups as well, but was most particularly intended for the kids. A few enterprising business men started out one day and put a proposition before their fellow-citizens. It was this: Let's all donate a certain amount, to be paid in cash, labor or material, get to work and trust to the public spirit of the town to carry us through. The response was immediate and highly gratifying. A convenient site was secured and excavation begun. The result is a fine, large cement lined pool with all the additional equipment necessary for an ideal swimming place not far from the center of the city.

There is nothing to prevent Thief River Falls from doing likewise. The plan might be carried through with a whoop—and then again, of course, it might not. Improvements of this character are not meeting with as much encouragement in certain quarters as might be wished for. But the idea is a good one.

Poor old Henry Ford! His business is fast going to the dogs. Last winter it was reported that being unable to borrow ten million dollars from big banking houses in New York the premier flivver maker was about to be relieved of control of the great Ford properties. Since that time he has bought out or bluffed out practically every stockholder associated with him and his profits for May are shown to be $18,000,000, or better than $500,000 per day. He ought to be able to get along somehow until next payday.

Fundamental Economics.

(J. D. Black)

Following are a few of the first principles of economics. We can at least partly understand most of the economic problems that arise if we will correctly apply these few first principles.

1. Value and price is the central idea of all economics. Our principal object in life is to get our own services valued as highly as possible.

2. Values are only relative. Wages and prices in dollars have no absolute significance. They must be reduced to purchasing power.

3. Values are based largely on our own attitudes towards things. What we want we pay for, and this helps give them their values. Changing our economic system will not change values unless it changes our reactions towards different things. Farmers therefore themselves help determine how their services will be valued.

4. Values are also determined, in the final analysis, on how hard we will work and save for a given return.

5. Values in part depend on how much nature contributes. The richer the soil, the larger the per capita product and the higher real wages.

6. Efficiency anywhere in our economic system increases the real rewards of individuals.

7. One important form of efficiency is specialization, which permits each person to produce what he can produce easily and exchange it for something he cannot produce easily.

8. Efficiency in production increases real incomes. Likewise in consumption and marketing.

9. The benefits of efficiency, no matter where introduced, are in general distributed to all classes of society.

10. Improvements are of no benefit to anybody, however, if they simply result in an increase in population.

11. Hence it is highly important that the standard of living keep pace with improvements.

12. Populations not able to adjust their population to their resources have low standards of living and low real incomes. They work hard for a small return. Farm populations are somewhat guilty of this even in the United States.

13. Real incomes in different countries vary because of differences in resources, in the nature of things demanded by the people, in standards of living and adjustment of population to resources, in efficiency of production, marketing and consumption.

14. Free trade increases incomes because it permits more specialization.

15. Existing institutions, such as inheritance, capitalistic privileges, labor unions, etc., may make the division of the real income unequal between individuals and classes in any one country.

16. Also temporary conditions may give temporary advantage to individuals and to classes. Improvements may temporarily benefit one class more than others.

17. In modern society, with producers and consumers of goods far removed from each other, there is a chance for long continued maladjustments. We must understand better "what goes on in the dark."

18. Also possible for demand to be moulded by publicity and salesmanship to the benefit of special interests.

19. Supply and demand explain nothing in themselves, except as to temporary fluctuations in market prices.

20. Cost of production are merely sums of the value of labor, rent, interest, etc. They do not explain price.

Population does not always leave farms fast enough. Prices are simply values expressed in terms of money. And money is an uncertain commodity.

County Newspaper the Best.

(Bemidji Sentinel.)

Experts on advertising call the country newspaper the best publicity medium in the world. This is so because these papers are so very carefully read. The people in the small towns value their newspapers highly and are proud of them, when they are well conducted.

The country paper lies around on the center table for many days, and every member of the family goes thru it, reading not merely the news, but looking over every one of the advertisements. The reason why the people read the country newspapers so thoroughly, is that they relate principally to the life near home. A news item from your own home town and the country nearby will interest more people than a big event from outside.

Advertisements placed on pages that contain these local events and happenings are sure to get a reading. Even a small ad can't be buried out of sight of the eagle eyes that are gleaning everything the home paper may contain.

In city papers advertisers often feel that they must pay a great deal more money in order to get positions on the front pages or on pages that seem to have the most interesting news. That is not necessary in the country papers, since they are all so carefully read that it makes but little difference where the advertiser is located.

This gives the country town business men a wonderful chance to communicate with the people and get their support for enterprising movements. If they have some large lot of goods obtained at a low price, they can feel that by advertising this opportunity they can bring it to the attention of the public, and quickly work off any special bargains they may be able to offer. The merchant here who has not tried the effect of advertising special values has missed the opportunity to expand his business and develop to a larger scale.

Grain Grades.

(Grand Forks Herald.)

A delegation of northwestern wheat growers is asking congress for legislation which will result in a modification of the federal grain grading rules. It is asserted that the present grades are complicated and illiberal. To the extent that the grades are complicated and confusing they should be amended. Lack of liberality does not seem to be so material.

The purpose of grading grain is to establish a standard under which there shall be uniformity in the meaning of terms, so that the name used shall designate correctly the quality of the product. It does not matter so much what is meant by the term "No 1" as that the same thing shall be meant by that term, whether it be used at the country elevator, or at Minneapolis, Chicago or any other great terminal.

Complaint has sometimes been made that the requirements for the admission of wheat to the higher grades are so exacting that only a very small quantity of what is really very good wheat can meet them; hence a large proportion of the wheat falls into the lower grades. It is possible, of course, to fix the conditions of a grade in such a manner that they cannot be met at all. In that case the grade becomes useless.

The price of wheat is not governed by the name attached to it, but by the kind and quantity of flour which can be made from it. If there were but one grade, and that grade were called No. 1 hard, the price of wheat so graded would not be improved. Buyers would not pay a stated price for low quality wheat when they could get better wheat for the same money.

Wheat grades ought to be such that the variations permitted within them are quite narrow, so that when a buyer buys wheat of a certain grade he may have assurance of grain that he bought, and not grain worth several cents a bushel less, although officially graded the same. To make the margin of variation too wide would merely result in lowering the price for that grade, with the payment of a premium on wheat which exceeds the minimum requirements of the grade.

Weekly Market Review.

(Quinn-Shepherdson Co., Mpls. Minn.)

Adverse weather conditions in the northwest are becoming rather serious. Drouth continues, with no predictions of rain or cooler weather where most needed in the Dakotas and Minnesota. Naturally the markets have been buoyant under such influence. It is strictly a weather market, however, and therefore subject to quick change.

Our new crop deliveries now provide the world with the cheapest grains, but of late foreign buying has nevertheless been rather light. There has been some intimation that Russia will at least in a small way resume her foreign position of wheat exporter. India claims that she will have even less than her domestic requirements. Foreign reports are to the effect that Europe is straining her production to the utmost and it may be reasonably assumed that European imports the coming season will be less than during the past year.

It is claimed according to government statistics that the Northwestern spring wheat states since January 1st are from 2 to 5 inches deficient in normal precipitation. This condition is substantiated by the lack of vitality and early wilting of many fields particularly in South Dakota upon the advent of the present hot weather. This lack of sub-soil moisture many observers state will have a vital effect on the growing corn crop unless there be abundant rainfall in July.

Oats are looking none too well in many important areas. The coming week is a critical one for this grain. Many sections of South Dakota and Western Minnesota report fields heading short and practically beyond repair to produce a normal yield.

While the world's supply and demand position is considered not at all alarming and there is in fact a superabundance of feed grains, the immediate situation is so critical with regard to the new crop that, until there are better prospects for the new harvests in the northwest, we still feel that all grains at present prices are good property.

When You Build—Build Right!

During the general resumption of building operations in this section, one thing should constantly be kept in mind—"cheap materials" do not always mean that they are lower in cost. It often only signifies that the quality is inferior. In spite of reduced prices it is just as important as ever that the man putting up a building gets the best there is to be had.

Gasoline and Roast Beef

THE National Automobile Chamber of Commerce announces that six million cattle, hogs and sheep were shipped by motor truck, from farms and feed lots to stockyards, during 1920; most of them were moved in the territory served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Before the advent of the motor truck, the farmer drove his cattle to the loading station, and hauled his hogs in the small, slow-moving, horse-drawn wagons. This practice called for a great expenditure of time and labor, and caused the animals to arrive in an overheated condition, which meant a heavy shrinkage and a consequent lower market value. Today much of this loss is eliminated by the quicker, more efficient method of transportation. Middle West farmers have come to look upon the motor truck as a dependable, economical aid in the prompt and profitable marketing of their live stock.

By reason of its comprehensive system for distributing gasoline and other petroleum products, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been a potent factor in stabilizing the use of the motor truck on the farms throughout the Middle West.

Whether the farmer lives on a main traveled highway, or on a remote cross road, he depends upon the dark green tank wagon of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to supply his needs.

The dependability of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) service is recognized by the farmers of the Middle West—the most important food-producing area in the world.

In supplying the petroleum needs of the farmer, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is rendering a service of signal importance to every inhabitant of the territory served. A dependable supply of gasoline means a dependable supply of food.

Such service is possible only because the Board of Directors of the Standard Oil Company appreciate their responsibility to the public, and because 25,000 men and women who make up this organization realize the weight of this responsibility and the importance of their individual tasks.

While the equipment of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is vast and complete, it is the spirit of the personnel which makes for efficiency. The mere physical equipment would be impotent in the hands of the passive or inexperienced.

Famous Luther College Band Comes Here July 7

One of the most famous concert bands in the United States will be heard at the auditorium in this city on the evening of Friday, July 7. It is the Luther College band, which is now making its sixteenth annual tour. This band has appeared in at least six different capitals in Europe besides every city of any size in the United States. It is under the leadership of Prof. Carlo A. Sperati, who has built the organization into one of almost world-wide renown.

No band at present on tour has received so many flattering tributes from press and public. Its work is so far above the ordinary that critics everywhere place it in a class by itself. The statement is often made that no concert band in the United States at the present time is its equal.

This will in all probability be the only opportunity afforded the people of this vicinity to hear a really high-class band this year.

Board of Equalization Meets.

The city council met as a board of equalization on Monday and Tuesday of this week, going over the books of Assessor Lars Backe. No objectors to the levies appeared and the assessments were approved as submitted. Only the personal property is assessed this year.

The Stork Busy.

The birth record in this neighborhood during the past ten days is one that any community might well be proud of. Last Wednesday a boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Smith at Mavie; on Sunday a girl to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zavoral, city; on Sunday a girl to Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Saltau, city, and a girl to Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ptacek, Mavie; on Monday a girl to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ganderson, city. A baby girl is also reported at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Staggeberg.

First Victim of Heat.

John Palmquist, a farmer residing near Hazel, was brought to this city for medical attention on Monday, having been prostrated by the heat while at work in the fields. His is the first case of the kind brought to the attention of local doctors this summer. A complication of internal disorders serve to make his condition rather grave.

On Photographing Tour.

Horace C. Kline, C. M. Freeman, Edward Barr and M. L. Seder, all occupying positions on the staff of The Farmer, St. Paul, were in the city yesterday, accompanied by John Kabel of Dayton, Ohio, an expert commercial photographer. These gentlemen are making a week's tour of the northern half of the state for the purpose of getting pictures to be used next year in The Farmer. Mr. Kline is one of the publishers of the paper.

Visiting Day at N. W. Aggie.

The annual visiting day at the Northwest Experiment station will be held on Wednesday, July 13, this year. The crops will then be in the proper stage of growth to see results. A program is being arranged for the day which will be both instructive and entertaining. Everyone is invited to bring their picnic dinners and partake in the big campus picnic during the noon hour. The crops grown at the station will tell their own story on July 13. Plan to go and see them. The day will be one of real profit as well as of pleasure to you and your family.

NEW ACTION IN STREET PAVING MATTER MAKES POSSIBLE EARLY DECISION IN INJUNCTION SUIT

George C. Streeter Files Complaint in Intervention, Alleging Best Interests of City and Taxpayers Will Be Served By Immediate Decision—Case to Be Heard Friday.

A new element was injected into the paving controversy on Tuesday when George C. Streeter filed a complaint in intervention with Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund. The allegation is made that T. P. Hamre, plaintiff in the new injunction action filed against the City of Thief River Falls and the paving contractors, does not intend to apply for a temporary injunction as prayed for in his complaint, and asks that this suit in intervention be recognized in order that it may be at once presented and argued and the matter be thus brought to a speedy close one way or another. E. M. Stanton is attorney for Mr. Streeter in this application, which will be heard by Judge Andrew Grindeland on Friday, upon an order to show cause why said injunction should not be granted.

The new complaint sets forth all the reasons given in the complaint filed by Mr. Hamre upon the withdrawal of the action originally brought by the Oen Mercantile company and which asked that an injunction be granted preventing the city council from carrying out the contract entered into with Bitulithic and Contracting, Limited, of Winnipeg, but alleges that the public interests demand that the matter of paving be decided one way or the other without delay. The plaintiff in the new suit further states that the pendency of the previous action will have the effect of making the paving certificates of the city unsalable, making it impossible to carry out the contract entered into with Bithulithic Contracting, Limited, and that this will mean a vastly increased expense for the city and taxpayers. It is further alleged that the leaving of the streets of the city in their present unfinished condition will cause irreparable injury.

That part of the complaint setting forth the reasons for asking that this complaint in intervention be granted, reads as follows:

"That plaintiff is informed and believes that the pendency of the above entitled action may, and in all probability will, prevent the sale of paving certificates above referred to altogether and in such case the city would have its streets torn up and paving work partially under way, for which it would have no funds except through general taxation; that the city has no such general funds and would be forced to default in paying for said pavement, thereby incurring penalties and very grave liabilities for damages for breach of contract; that such a situation would result in serious financial loss to the city and to this plaintiff and cause irreparable injury to said city by continuing the impassible condition of its streets at certain seasons of the year.

"That the public interests of said city and the interests of this plaintiff and all others similarly situated require that the streets of said city be paved at the earliest possible moment; that the pendency of the action in which this complaint in intervention is filed, without a temporary injunction therein, delays the securing of the above decribed needed public improvement, aggravates the damages for which the city is daily becoming liable to the defendant Bitulithic and Contracting, Limited, and causes irreparable injury to this plaintiff and all others similarly situated, by creating liabilities and tax burdens unnecessary and out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from partial performance of the said paving contract; that this plaintiff and all others similarly situated are suffering and will continue to suffer irreparable loss and injury unless said action be determined one way or the other.

"That the petitioner is informed and verily believes that the plaintiff herein does not intend to and will not make application to the court herein for a temporary injunction as prayed for in this action, and brings this complaint in intervention for the purpose of moving the court for a temporary injunction as prayed for herein, and to restrain the defendants and each of them from doing the things herein mentioned and from incurring any further liability and expending any of the moneys of the city, until the rights of the parties herein have been adjudicated and determined.

"Wherefore, plaintiff asks judgment that the defendants and each of them, be in all things forever restrained and enjoined from making or attempting to make the paving improvement hereinbefore alleged, and from paying or attempting to pay any moneys on contract price herein complained of or receiving the same and from selling or attempting to sell or negotiating the certificates of indebtedness of said city in any amount whatsoever for the purpose of said improvements, and from bidding or paying therefore or receiving the money therefor, and from in any manner directly or indirectly doing or causing to be done any of the intended acts hereinbefore complained of; that to conserve the interests of plaintiff and said city a temporary injunction pending the outcome of this action be forthwith granted by the court to the same effect; and for intervenor's costs and disbursements herein, and such other and further relief as to the court may seem just."

TIMELY DOWNPOUR ASSURES SECTION OF HEAVY YIELDS

Unusual Hot Spell Broken By Generous Rains, Followed By Cooler Weather.

Just as it began to look as if the protracted dry and hot weather was going to be responsible for a heavy loss among the farmers of this section, a timely rainstorm arrived to change the outlook into one of the most favorable for many years. The storm broke about midnight on Saturday and there was a regular downpour lasting several hours. The precipitation was general, extending all over northwestern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota. Sunday it rained intermittently while Monday started out clear but cool. It was an ideal condition for small grains and also helped corn and potatoes along amazingly. Indications are now for a bumper crop of these last two staples.

While it was admitted generally that rain would be welcome, no damage from drouth had been reported in Pennington county. Wheat was being forced into heading out a little too soon, but this was not regarded with any great amount of apprehension. Stem rust is practically not to be found in the county and there is only a slight indication of leaf rust in some spots.

This timely rain means more to the potato crop than to small grains, although welcome to the latter. That the yield of potatoes would have been much reduced had the hot spell not been broken is everywhere admitted.

County Agent J. J. McCann says that conditions are very much better than a year ago as a general thing. On the first of July last year rust had already invaded a number of fields and the outlook was nowhere near as good as at present. Those in a position to know are of the opinion that the section is now guaranteed better than an average crop in practically all grains while for some the year may prove a record breaker.

AUTOS WILL TOUR NORTH SECTION OF RED RIVER VALLEY

Three Day Trip Planned by Development Association For Latter Part of Month.

July 27, 28 and 29 have been set by President R. C. Mathwig of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association as the dates for a three days' auto tour of the northern part of the Minnesota side of the Red River valley. A tour embracing the entire territory of the association, which extends from Clay and Becker counties to the Canadian line, had been proposed, but instead the northern section will be toured this year and the southern section in 1922.

The tour will start from Red Lake Falls at 10 a. m. the morning of the 27th and will take in St. Hilaire, Thief River Falls, Holt, Middle River, Strathcona, Greenbush, Badger, Roseau, Pelan, Karlstad, Halma, Hallock, Kennedy, Donaldson, Stephen, Argyle, Warren, Alvarado, Oslo, East Grand Forks, terminating with a meeting at Crookston the evening of the 29th.

Prominent speakers will accompany the tour, including President R. C. Mathwig, Superintendent C. G. Selvig of the Northwest School of Agriculture, Commissioner Holmberg or Assistant Commissioner Hay of the state department of agriculture, Commissioner Smith or Assistant Rutledge of the state immigration department, a representative of the state highway department, and several others.

Stops will be made at numerous points enroute, with night stops at Roseau and Warren. State legislators from all of the counties traversed have been invited to accompany the tour. All towns of the valley are expected to add their quotas to the tour, which is being arranged for the purpose of extending acquaintanceship and co-operation between all parts of the valley and making better resources of the northwestern section of the state.

NOONAN HAS HARD TIME BUILDING THAT RAILROAD

The Baudette Region a short time ago contained an article to the effect that the Soo line officials had decided to bring suit against Ed. Backus for the purpose of forcing him to build a railroad from Loman to Thief River Falls. Last week Mr. Noonan received a letter from B. G. Dahlky, private secretary to Mr. Backus, couched in the following terms:

"Our attention has been called to an article credited to you about the Soo line compelling us to complete a railroad from Loman to Thief River Falls. Upon showing this to Mr. Backus last evening he conveyed the following message to you:

"'Have another drink—it will do your imagination good.'"

TWO CONVICTIONS ON LIQUOR CHARGE IN DISTRICT COURT

Fred Brendecke Pays Fine of $500 and Godfrey Carlson Goes to Jail for 30 Days.

Two convictions involving the illegal handling of liquor were returned by juries in the district court here this week. Fred Brendecke was found guilty of having contraband stuff in his possession and was fined $500, with an alternative of five months in jail at Warren. The fine was paid.

This morning Godfrey Carlson was sentenced to serve twelve months at Warren for selling liquor to an Indian. Members of the American Legion interceded in his behalf and Judge Andrew Grindeland decided to give the young fellow a chance. In a brief lecture before pronouncing sentence Judge Grindeland told the accused that he would have to change his ways and the nature of his companionship, asking at the same time if he would make an effort to do this. Carlson promised and the court modified the sentence to the serving of 30 days in the jail at Warren, after which time the prisoner will be released on parole if it is shown that a proper attempt at reformation has been made. Oscar R. Smith was named probation officer and it will be necessary for Godfrey to make frequent reports during the pendency of the sentence. Any infraction of the law will mean his return to Warren to serve out the remainder of the year, said Judge Grindeland.

The week's civil calendar was very short. In the case of the Healy Land company against J. S. Roy, involving commissions in the sale of a farm, a verdict for the plaintiff was reported. In a suit involving the ownership of an automobile figuring in a land deal between E. S. Johnson and C. L. Peterson, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff.

This cleared the calendar of jury cases and the talismen were discharged last evening. The hearing of court cases was taken up this forenoon.

Takes Position as Cashier of State Bank at Plummer

Harry F. Booren, assistant cashier of the First National bank of this city, leaves with his family on Saturday for Plummer, where he has been tendered the cashiership of the Farmers State bank.

This promotion of Mr. Booren marks another advance for young men who received a large part of their banking training in this city and his promotion is highly pleasing to his numerous friends. During his residence in this city Mr. Booren has steadily advanced in the estimation of the bank's patrons and business men generally, being genial, accommodating and absolutely trustworthy.

President C. L. Hansen of the First National says that while he regards Mr. Booren as a highly valuable man, he is glad to see him go to a more important position than is open to him here at this time. His services here have always given satisfaction to bank officials and customers alike and these will join in heartily recommending him to the people of Plummer and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Booren have been prominent in the social activities of the younger set in this city and their departure will be regretted.

One Dead, Three Injured When Train Strikes Auto

A car driven by Ole Olson, 66, and carrying Mrs. Henry Olson, 52, Miss Anna Olson, 17, and Albert Strand, 18, was struck by a Soo freight train near Alvarado last Friday, after the car is said to have stalled on the crossing. Mrs. Henry Olson was seriously injured and died a few hours later without regaining consciousness. Miss Anna Olson, who is a niece of the dead woman, was badly injured, though hopes are entertained for her recovery. Strand, though badly shaken up, was otherwise unhurt, as was also Ole Olson, who is the father of Miss Anna Olson.

GREAT TURNOUT AT CELEBRATION OF FOURTH HERE

One of Largest Crowds Ever Seen in City Helps Legion Make Eagle Scream.

Ideal Weather and Interesting Program Keep Throngs in Good Humor All Day.

Fireworks Display and Dance Appropriately Wind Up Day of General Festivity.

It was without question the greatest Fourth of July celebration in the history of Thief River Falls. Not that the entertainment offered was so far different from any heretofore produced, but that in point of variety and interest the occasion was one that will long stand out as a leader. The crowd was so large that it was almost impossible to do anything but drift with the stream. Everyone was good natured and happy, however, and a little jostling only seemed to add to the gayety of the throng.

People began arriving from the outside early in the morning. The heavy rainstorm of Saturday night had continued in a modified degree all through Sunday, but by Monday morning the sky was bright and clear. It was an ideal day for a celebration, the heat of the past ten days having given way to cool, bracing weather.

Best Parade Ever.

Nearly every event announced for the day was started on schedule time. The parade was formed at the auditorium and under way before 11 o'clock. It was without doubt the finest thing of its kind ever seen in the city. Headed by the band, the principal streets were traversed, and if at times it was somewhat disagreeable going because of the rain and the torn up condition of the streets, no complaint was heard and this part of the program was carried out in a manner that speaks very highly of the excellent management of those in charge.

Practically every business house in the city was represented by a float, many of these being both novel and beautiful. Every automobile truck in town had been pressed into service and in many instances horses were used. The decorations were varied but always appropriate, the whole affair being the subject of a great deal of favorable comment on the part of citizens and visitors alike.

Throng at Fair Grounds.

The racing program on the downtown streets was out of the way by noon and a large number of youngsters made happy by receiving checks varying in amount from 50 cents to $2.00. These events caused the onlookers much amusement, many being of an unusual character and hotly contested.

The afternoon program at the fair grounds brought out a record crowd. The grandstand was crowded to the rafters while automobiles filled the space inside the race track. The band was on duty all the time and helped greatly in keeping the feeling at a proper celebration pitch. A fine, patriotic address was delivered by City Attorney H. O. Chommie. The crowd listened respectfully but it was easy to be seen that they did not consider attending speeches as the principal part of the day's proceedings. The afternoon races were all good and the other sports up to expectations.

There was a double header base ball game between Genvick and Thief River Falls, the latter team winning both contests.

Big Dance at Night.

As soon as darkness set in there was a grand display of fireworks set off from the roof of the auditorium, after which a large part of the crowd attended the dance given in the building.

The American Legion, which was in charge of the celebration, handled things in fine shape as a general thing and the post finds itself considerably better off financially as a result. If there is a tendency to criticize certain details connected with the event the objections are lost sight of in the general admission that it was a mighty good celebration, taking it as a whole, and that the post is entitled to whatever of profit may be left when all expenses are paid.

The boys wish to express their sincere appreciation for the excellent patronage they received and to thank all those who helped make the day a success.

Pays Unusual Price For Holstein Heifer Calves

M. T. McFarland this week received an express shipment of two Holstein heifer calves, the animals arriving from New York state in good order. They have been added to the fine herd already on the McFarland farm. These heifers were sired by a son of the famous King Segis and are out of a cow having a butterfat record of 34 pounds. The price paid by Mr. McFarland for these two animals was $350 each, but this is not an unusual figure for stock of this kind, the original King Segis having been valued at $150,000.

GUMMER HELD FOR TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

Coroner's Jury Finds That Miss Marie Wick Was Killed By Him at Fargo June 7.

May Be Brought to Trial at Special Session of District Court on July 19.

Rape, Preceding Murder, is Charge in Verdict Returned After Long Hearing.

William Gummer is now a prisoner without bail in the Cass county jail at Fargo, committed to trial before a jury on the charge of murdering Miss Marie Wick.

Court officials said that a jury term of district court for the trial only of criminal cases will open in Fargo on July 19. In the meantime Gummer stands committed to the Cass county jail, without bond as ordered by Justice J. K. Bingham.

The coroner's jury expressed its findings in the following verdict:

Text of Verdict.

The verdict reads that: "Marie Wick came to her death on the 7th day of June, 1921, in room No. 30 in the Prescott hotel, in Fargo, N. D., by reason of having been choked, strangled and struck upon the head with a fire hose nozzle; that her killing was felonious, following rape, and said rape and murder were committed by William Gummer, according to the evidence presented, and to the best of our knowledge."

Coroner E. F. Moore signed the verdict following the preliminary examination which was concluded Friday afternoon. Friday night A. H. Leimbacher, chairman, and J. F. Holmes of the coroner's jury met and drafted a tentative verdict. This was slightly changed on Saturday morning. The third member of the jury, Fern Monson, did not sign the verdict as given out by Coroner E. F. Moore. It was explained by both Leimbacher and Mr. Moore that Mr. Monson is confined to his home with illness and had not been able to sit throughout the entire preliminary examination as had the other two members.

William Green, county attorney, of Cass county, North Dakota, on Friday gave the version of the prosecution as to how Marie Wick was assaulted and beaten to death. He summed up the evidence presented against William Gummer in the latter's preliminary hearing and asked that he be held to trial. The court room was filled to capacity. The attorney took the brass fire hose nozzle with which Marie Wick was killed and showed how he believed the murderer must have stood over the girl he had gagged, tied and attacked, raining down blows on her as she tried to dodge; how he missed, battering in the bed frame and wall; how the girl tore one hand free and died with her head hanging over one side of the bed and with her free hand on the wall.

The crime was committed by some one inside the hotel, the attorney declared, and not by a hotel prowler bent on theft. The primary motive was rape, he said.

State Rests.

The state rested Friday afternoon. William C. Green, state's attorney, began his plea that the prisoner be held to the grand jury.

Clair Brittner of defense counsel, declared no evidence had been introduced to incriminate the young night clerk, who was not shown to be implicated in any greater degree than any of the guests of the hotel the night the murder was committed and asked why H. J. Hagen, former president of the Scandinavian-American bank of Fargo, who occupied the room next that where Miss Wick was killed, was not brought into the hearing for questioning.

Mr. Green replied there had been absolutely no evidence to implicate Mr. Hagen, who, he said, was called to Seattle by sickness. Mr. Brittner did not insist that Hagen be called.

Mirton Sidness, finger print expert, Miss May Melans, chambermaid, and Fred Lawrence, son of the proprietor of the hotel, were recalled to the stand Friday morning to give more general testimony regarding circumstances to the murder.

It was a solemn faced handful of people that left the court room Friday afternoon when the case had been continued until 9 a. m. Saturday. The atmosphere was more strained than at any time before and there was little laughing as they filed out. Except for two or three periods, when his face flushed a dark hue when listening to testimony relative to his past conduct with women, Gummer's attitude was unchanged during the hearing.

For hours during the afternoon session State's Attorney Green was on the stand, reading a transcript of the statements made by Gummer during the examination, in which the prisoner told of his experience with women. Page after page of testimony intended to place the brand of moral pervert upon the accused man were introduced.

Gummer told the sheriff on June 14 that he knew Marie Wick was dead when he told young Lawrence to go and call her and said he was afraid to be known as the one who found her first, because "a fellow up home was murdered once and the fellow who found him was held."

Most of Testimony Unprintable.

The awaited sensational element was introduced into the preliminary hearing early Friday, when the state's attorney completed taking testimony relating to the actions of other occupants of the hotel, and began on the testimony to connect the prisoner directly with the crime. All spectators were ordered out of the court room when Mr. Green took the stand and were kept out during the remainder of the day. Practically all of the testimony given by the state's attorney and the sheriff, who was called in the morning, which related to Gummer's actions prior to the murder, is unprintable.

A Fool With the Girls.

Sheriff Kraemer testified to Gummer's admission that he had been a "damn fool with girls," but that he never had to fight with them in his conquests. The sheriff's testimony also was in reference to Gummer's associations with his "jazz babies," and how he took Miss Wick for a "good green country girl" but "swell looking." The state introduced testimony from Gummer's admissions to the authorities investigating the murder how he tried to make more of an acquaintance with Miss Wick and how she abruptly shut off the telephone connection when he called her up and began "kidding her."

Sheriff Kramer testified that Gummer had said to his room mate, Brown: "Gee, there is a peach of a Jane in room No. 30—a good looking dark with a good shape—a swell girl," and that in Gummer's admissions he had told the authorities that the girl in room No. 30 had told him she was going to bed early.

SCHOOL ELECTION SATURDAY, JULY 16; FILINGS ARE LATE

Terms of Dr. H. W. Froehlich and L. M. Rayson Expire With This Fiscal Year.

The annual school meeting and election of trustees will take place on Saturday, July 16. The terms of two members of the present school board, Dr. H. W. Froehlich and Louis M. Rayson, in district No. 18 expire at that time and their successors will have to be chosen.

The time for filing closed last Tuesday, the law requiring that all filings must be in the hands of the clerk 12 days prior to election. It is understood that one or two petitions were out for signatures but that these were not presented until Wednesday, which fact will prevent the names from going onto any regularly printed ballot and will require their being written in or attached by stickers.

Neither Dr. Froehlich nor Mr. Rayson have announced themselves as being candidates for re-election, but on the other hand neither has positively declined to serve if elected. It is likely that if the voters of the district indicate that it is the desire of the majority that they continue in their present posts they will feel it their duty to do so. Both have made excellent records as officials.

Inspect Plots on Which Phosphate is Employed

A visiting day has been arranged for Tuesday, July 12, for inspecting one of the demonstration plots on which phosphate was applied last spring as an aid to the fertility of mineral soils. The first visit will be made to the plot on which the phosphate was applied by F. F. Haynes. All who are interested in this work and in the results obtained by phosphate application, whether business men or farmers, should make it a point to visit the Haynes field on the date set. The advantages of employing this class of fertilizer are so marked that any farmer who has not given the subject the proper amount of attention should make it a point to be present. Visits to other plots similarly treated will be announced later.

Remove Tonsils of Seven Children in One Forenoon

There were seven tonsilotomy operations performed at the Physicians hospital Tuesday—the largest number of such operations for any one day in the history of the institution. The patients were all sent in for treatment by Miss Marie Knudsen, acting under instructions from the Pennington County Chapter of the American Red Cross. The operations were a part of the program being carried on by Miss Knudsen to improve the general health of children throughout the county.

Made Trip Through Yellowstone.

C. W. Vorachek returned Monday from attendance at the meeting of the Minnesota Bankers' association at Minneapolis. At the close of the session Mr. Vorachek joined other members of the association in a journey through Yellowstone Park. Two cars, arranged especially for the accommodation of the tourists, were attached to a Northern Pacific train. Five entire days were spent at the park and many of the most famous points of interest were visited. About 60 members of the association made the trip, which proved most interesting and enjoyable throughout.

ARRANGING FOR AUTO RACES ON LAST FAIR DAY

Some of the Foremost Speed Artists in the Country Will Enter in Competition.

Purses in These Events Will Total $3,000, Record Sum For Northwest Fairs.

Track to Be Made Safe For High Speed Driving By Banking and Surfacing.

Adding flavor to the program prepared for the Penning county fair this year, auto races will be held on Aug. 6, when thousands of speed enthusiasts are expected to gather here to witness the sensational contests.

Bait in the shape of tempting purses has been tossed out into the camps of drivers and car owners all over the country by Secretary Herbert Fuller, who expects to have a dozen or more celebrities in the racing world on hand to make the day interesting. No races for amateur drivers has been put on the program this year because of the danger of serious accidents to spectators. Only professionals who have been granted a license by the sanction board will be entered in any event.

More than $3,000 will be offered in purse money for a program of six events. This will not include the special purses to be awarded the driver making the fastest time of the day nor the prize to be offered as an incentive for the speed demons to try for new world's records. In the long distance events it is probable that a special purse will be offered to the drivers who win each lap in order to make the races more sensational for the spectators as well as increase the competition among the pilots.

Arrangements have already been made for improving the local track for speed contests. Turns are to be banked and the surface packed, giving the drivers ideal conditions under which to race. Local officials are ambitious to have the drivers shatter one or more time records on the fair grounds track in order to bring recognition to this city as a racing center.

The Pennington county fair will be held on Aug. 3, 4, 5 and 6.

TURN LOVERS' LANE INTO CAMPING SPOT FOR AUTO PARTIES

Suggested That Business and Professional Men Turn in and Do the Work.

There is a movement on foot to turn Lovers' Lane into a camping ground for tourists and the matter will be one of the topics for discussion at the commercial club luncheon today. The formulation of a plan of procedure has been left in the hands of the park board but a little assistance in the matter, may not come amiss.

It has been suggested that every store in the city close for a whole afternoon and that every business and professional man—and all others who may be willing to assist—take a hand in the cleaning up of the proposed park, grading the roadway and otherwise improving the appearance of the place.

Several merchants have already been approached on the subject and have expressed their willingness to assist in this way. It is believed that some method of procedure will be worked out at today's meeting.

A combined effort on the part of the Commercial club, assisted by the Merchants association, the Auto club, the Boy Scouts and the people generally, undoubtedly would quickly place this naturally beautiful spot in fine condition. The women would greatly appreciate such a change and probably the Woman's club, the Girls Community club and the Girl Scouts would be only too willing to furnish a "feed" afterward to the workers. And to top it all off the band might give the first real park concert that the city has had.

Two-Day Outing at Lake Enjoyed By Norway Sons

Members of Sons of Norway lodges from all over the Northwest gathered at Maple Lake on Sunday morning for a two-day picnic and outing. Thief River Falls sent a large delegation and there were many present from Grand Forks, Crookston, Fertile, McIntosh, Euclid, Erskine and other nearby towns. The principal address of the day was delivered by Simon Johnson, editor of Normanden, Grand Forks. Ole Waxwick, former president of the Fourth district, Sons of Norway, also spoke. The musical program was in charge of W. P. Rognlie of Grand Forks, songs by Bjarne and Varden choruses being a pleasing feature of the two-day outing. The picnickers brought lunch baskets and the event was made a regular summer outing.

PRETTY CHEAP SPORTS.

Sitting in an automobile and watching a ball game from a point directly back of the diamond on the Jefferson Highway may seem like a perfectly good way of saving fifty cents to those fellows who follow the practice, but if they could hear what was being said about them in the grand stand and by others who pay for the privilege of watching the game, they would perhaps come to the conclusion that they are paying too high a price in the loss of respect to make the proceeding worth while.

No ball team such a that supported by Thief River Falls this year can get out the crowds in sufficient numbers to make the gate receipts cover expenses. A large share of the cost falls on public spirited citizens who contribute their money under the impression that they are helping along the cause of clean sport and incidentally giving the town a boost. These same parties pay the regular admission fee whenever they go to a game and are naturally disgusted with any person so cheap as to take advantage of the fact that the game may be seen from the rear of the lot without their paying for the privilege.

There is perhaps nothing much can be done about this matter. The autos are stopped on a public highway and while there may be no law against this it serves to block traffic and is a nuisance, besides depriving the ball club of its legitimate admission fees. It would seem, however, that common honesty would dictate that the petty graft be discontinued. The ball team needs every dollar that can be taken in at the gate and will need a great many more than that. It is hardly right that a few liberal citizens should be forced to foot the bill while twice as many have just as much entertainment without even paying the small admission fee required.

Harding Signs Resolution Declaring War at an End

The resolution of congress declaring war with Germany and Austria-Hungary at an end was signed at Raritan, N. J., on Saturday by President Harding. The president affixed his signature to the measure at 3:10 p. m. eastern standard time, at the home of Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, where he was spending the week-end.

So that there might be no unnecessary delay in consummation of the long deferred state of peace, the resolution was brought to Raritan by special messenger from Washington, where it had been given congressional approval the day previous. The messenger left for the capital again at once to complete the formalities of the declaration by deposing of the document in the archives of the state department.

There was little of the dramatic in the actual ceremony of giving presidential approval to the measure.

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTE

BALL TEAM ADDED NUMBER OF SCALPS DURING PAST WEEK

Raw Deal at Argyle Only Jarring Note in Week of High Class Performances.

Warren defeated Thief River Falls yesterday afternoon on the grounds in the former city. The score was 2 and 1. The Warren team was bolstered up by the employment of players from every town in the neighborhood, there being hardly a member of the original city team in the lineup. Federolf pitched a wonderful game for Thief River Falls.

Warren used up three pitchers in short order in trying to prevent the continuation of a slugging feat staged by the Thief River Falls base ball nine on the diamond here on Thursday. Reide started on the mound for the visitors. His twirling was above the average in quality but the Foxmen began finding him at the very outset of the game, running in two scores the first inning. He was replaced by Shoop, who failed in checking the stampede, there being six scores chalked up in the fifth. This put the game on ice but the boys continued to pile 'em up until at the end of the seventh a total of 18 had been garnered. During all this time Warren had been unable to put a single runner across. The game was called on account of darkness at the end of the seventh, after Childs had proved that he would have no better luck in the box than his predecessors.

The following box score tells the story:

With the score standing 8 and 6 in favor of Argyle, the game played at that town on Friday was called in the seventh inning, the umpire giving the approach of darkness as his excuse. This performance on his part seems to have been the last act of a series of inexcusably bad decisions all through the game. In the seventh this umpire's attitude was so manifestly unfair to the Thief River Falls team that a vigorous protest was launched. The arbiter exercised his authority and called the game, but it was one of the rawest deals that the Thief River Falls team has gone against this season. The game was protested but for the present must stand as a defeat for the locals.

A telephone call the following day conveyed the information that the Argyle fans had $1000 to bet on their team in a game with Thief River Falls, neutral grounds and neutral umpires being a part of the agreement. The necessary sum was raised here in a few minutes when it transpired that Argyle insisted on playing the game either at home or at Warren. This did not strike Thief River Falls a sexactly "neutral" and the matter fell through.

Two From Gonvick.

Thief River Falls took two games from Gonvick on the grounds here on the Fourth, the first by a score of 10 and 4, and the second 10 and 6. Brazel, famous one-armed southpaw of the Thief River Falls team, pitched both games and proved too much for the Gonvick swatters, allowing only scattered hits in both contests. He was brilliantly backed up by the rest of the bunch and both games went to the better team.

Win at Red Lake Falls.

The locals took the Red Lake Falls boys into camp on Tuesday in the first game played between these teams this season. The game was originally scheduled for Sunday but rain forced a postponement. The conditions were far from ideal for ball playing on Tuesday and it was agreed to limit the contest to five innings. The score was 3 and 2 in favor of Thief River Falls. Schroeder did the hurling and used a slow, tantalizing ball almost exclusively. It was a species of delivery with which the Red Lakers were evidently not acquainted and they found it impossible to connect when such connection would have meant runs.

On Saturday and Sunday McIntosh comes for two games which are certain to be hummers. The team is going strong at the present time and it will take a real aggregation to put a crimp in their winning streak. McIntosh has a good team, however, and puts up a good fight.

Auto Driver Falls Asleep; Runs in Ditch; Is Killed

While returning from Crookston to East Grand Forks, June Higgins, who lives north of the latter city, was killed when a roadster he was driving turned over in a ditch. Young Higgins, it is believed, fell asleep while driving. The car nosed toward the ditch when it is thought he was awakened and attempted to jerk the machine back in the road. Instead it plunged into the ditch.

Weekly Market Review.

(Quinn-Shepherdson Co., Minneapolis).

In the face of an unprecedented hot and dry spell of weather, which took a material portion of the South Dakota crop and threatens the Western and Southern portion of Minnesota and a part of North Dakota, the wheat market for a short period in the first half of week dipped downward with surprising speed. Partial recovery was immediate however, with the continued unfavorable growing weather.

The sharp break was attributed mostly to a lack of speculative buying. A huge southwestern winter wheat crop is now ready for market and it is being marketed. To offset such selling pressure a buying majority is required. South Dakota and Minnesota wheat production as compared with North Dakota and Montana is unimportant. Prospects in the latter named states are reported to be generally very favorable and Canadian reports likewise.

In the meantime the Kansas and Oklahoma farmer is not holding his wheat for a possibly higher price later. It is evident that the entire Southwestern crop is now for sale, and this is a market factor of no light weight. Old wheat farm reserves are also reaching the markets in larger volume.

At this time of the year it is but very seldom that the new corn crop has had such an excellent promise. Corn has yet to enter its critical period, however, and with the present lack of sub-soil moisture the new crop will have great difficulty in developing another bumper yield unless there is unusually heavy precipitation in July.

In the oats crop there has been material loss during the past two weeks. Ordinarily such damage is immediately reflected in higher prices but there is nevertheless no suggestion of scarcity and on the contrary the visible supplies of over thirty million bushels and the well-known large farm reserves has discouraged buying except to the point necessity.

The price trend for the immediate future is still subject to weather conditions. It is a critical period with chances favoring a satisfactory total yield and unless the damage area spreads lower prices are likely.

The Future is Full of Promise

Not for years have the people of this section been justified in looking forward with surer expectations of a fine harvest and excellent conditions generally. This is the Time to Plan on Building

Lumber and other materials have declined to even a greater extent than most other lines—and this in spite of the fact that they were always low when compared with other essentials. No further drop is to be looked for at this time. In fact, the opposite is more likely to be the case. Every day the demand is becoming greater with consequently heavier inroads on present stocks. When a certain point is reached there is certain to be a rebound.

Put Off Building No Longer; The Time is Now!

But build right, build of the best materials and according to the most approved plans. We have the materials and the plans both and shall be pleased to serve you.

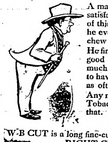
"NOW-A-DAYS"
says the Good Judge



A man can get a heap more satisfaction from a small chew of this class of tobacco, than he ever could get from a big chew of the old kind.

He finds it costs less, too. The good tobacco taste lasts so much longer he doesn't need to have a fresh chew nearly as often.

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

Put up in two styles!

Can Loganberries

Here is one of the many delicious ways to can loganberries:

Loganberry Preserve

One pound fruit.
One and one-quarter pound sugar.
Add 1½ cups water to sugar and boil until it spins, or 245° to 260° if thermometer is used. At this temperature add berries, boil slowly, skim continually. Do not stir. When syrup breaks from spoon as in jelly, take off from fire and cool quickly. If you desire fruit remain whole, do not stir.
Fill in dry sterilized glass. Cover with melted paraffin. Keep in cool place.

LOGANBERRIES have a distinctive flavor that makes them especially desirable for canning—and affords a pleasing change in canned fruits. They are delightfully different. They make delicious pies, jams, preserves. Loganberry Syrup makes a refreshing drink.

The Loganberry season is short. Put up plenty now—in several different ways—in Ball Mason jars. Give your family a treat next winter.

July 13 Visitors' Day at N. W. Agriculture School

Visitors' day at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, on July 13, promises to be an important event, according to plans under way. Professor Andrew Boss, H. J. Hughes of the state department of agriculture, and L. E. Potter, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, will speak, followed by inspection of the fields and plots of the experimental investigations.

The visitors will bring their picnic lunches with them to join their neighbors in a full day of pleasure and instruction, and renew acquaintances with people from other towns and counties of northwestern Minnesota.

Several communities are planning tours to the Red River Valley farm school on that day. A committee has been appointed to take charge of a program of music and sports, including a ball game, which, with the addresses and inspections, will make the day an enjoyable one.

Public Forum

The Need of Pure Water.

Well-meaning citizens are making suggestions regarding improvements, as, for instance, swimming pool, parks, parking grounds for tourists, etc., improvements Thief River Falls should have possessed a long time ago. The writer of this makes one more suggestion, just as reasonable and important as other improvements mentioned: Put up signs warning the public, and especially tourists, against the use of drinking water furnished by our city water system, as this water is unfit to drink and may cause sickness or even epidemics.

Years ago the writer, then a resident of Mankato, Minn., experienced conditions there similar to those prevailing in our city at present.

The city administration of Mankato forced a paving contract upon the people against the will of those who were expected to pay for it. The affair ended in a law suit costing the taxpayers of Mankato an enormous sum of money. Then the city found itself in the clutches of a typhoid epidemic, causing a large number of deaths and untold cases of illness, all attributed to the unsanitary drinking water furnished by the city. Law suits by the hundreds were started for damage against the city of Mankato and, after being found responsible and guilty by a court decision, it cost the municipality many thousands of dollars to settle all claims for damage. Will Thief River Falls go through the same experience as Mankato did? I hope not.

STEENERSON GRAIN GRADING MEASURE PASSAGE FORECAST

Refusal of Wallace to Consent to Changes May Result in Congressional Action.

Passage of the Steenerson bill, which prescribes federal grain grades as a substitute for those prescribed by the United States department of the spring wheat area of the country, was predicted by Minnesota agricultural leaders interested in a revision of the grades, following a statement Thursday in Washington by Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace that he would not change the spring wheat grades.

"The action that the secretary has taken in refusing to modify grades is right in line with what he told us several weeks ago and I am not surprised," O. P. B. Jacobson, state railroad and warehouse commissioner stated. "Senator Sullivan, who returned this morning from Washington, told me that the Steenerson bill will be recommended for passage in case the secretary continues his opposition to grain grade modifications. I believe that it will go through."

"The Farm Bureau will back the Steenerson bill to the limit," said Neil H. Swanson of the State Farm Bureau federation. "We hope that our congressmen and senators will obtain passage of this bill, which is purely for the relief of the northwest states and which does not affect any of the other sections of the country."

MANY STATE LAWS BECOME EFFECTIVE

Ten Changes and New Enactments By Last Legislature Go Into Force July 1.

Ten new state laws became effective on July 1 in Minnesota, covering a wide variety of subjects. The state department of agriculture also put into effect its regulations of the trade in cold storage food products, under an act by the last legislature.

The laws in effect on July 1 are as follows:

Chapter 101, abolishing the board of seed potato inspection and placing this service under the department of agriculture.

Chapter 379, providing for semimonthly payment of salaries for all state employes.

Chapter 411, establishing the Minnesota General hospital. This places the university hospital and dispensary on a new basis, providing that counties may send patients to the hospital and assume part of the expense, and that branch hospitals may be established by counties.

Chapter 432, regulating the manufacture of soft drinks under supervision of the state dairy and food commissioner.

Chapter 430, providing that notaries must type or print their names legibly on all acknowledgements.

Chapter 476, transferring duties of the state entomologist to the university department of agriculture, and of nursery inspection to the commissioner of agriculture.

Sampled Paris Green.

The year and a half old son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Larson, farmers residing near this city, had a narrow escape the other day. The baby managed to get hold of a quantity of Paris green and swallowed some of the poison before discovered. He was rushed to the Physicians hospital, where a stomach pump was employed and he is getting along fine. The Paris green had been placed in a tree to be out of reach of children and stock but the wind dislodged the package and gave the youngster an opportunity to pursue his investigations.

Taking Special Course.

Dr. O. F. Mellby left Tuesday evening for Chicago, where he will take a post graduate course extending over two months in eye, ear, nose and throat work at one of the largest hospitals. He expects to return about the first of September, when he will specialize in the treatment of diseases of these organs, giving up his general practice entirely.

NEW DIMMER LAW IS NOW IN EFFECT

How many auto owners have read chapter 172, general session laws of 1920, which is an act regulating the operation of motor vehicles on the public highways in Minnesota?

Under this law the new headlight dimmer provision went into effect on July 1. It provides:

"No person shall use or cause to be used after July 1, 1921, on any motor vehicle operated on any public street or highway, any headlights equipped with a reflector unless the reflector or glass in front of such light be so etched, ground, moulded or constructed that the lighted filament shall appear blurred or all light emitted therefrom and projected above the level of the lighted filament shall be free from brilliant luster."

The law further provides that "no so-called spotlight or searchlight shall be used upon vehicles traveling public highways, except when such spotlights or searchlights are of such construction as to make the center of the beam of light strike the level highway at a greater distance than 100 feet in front of the motor vehicle, except that when the beam of light is swung 30 degrees to the right or to the left of the straight ahead position, no limitation is placed on the height to which the beam is raised."

The law also provides that if a person driving a horse or horses on the highway, which are inclined to be frightened, raises his hand to an approaching motor vehicle, the driver of same shall come to a stop and use reasonable caution in allowing team to pass or passing himself.

Demand For Tanlac Breaks All Records

AMAZING SUCCESS ACHIEVED BY CELEBRATED MEDICINE NOT ONLY PHENOMENAL, BUT UNPRECEDENTED—OVER 20,000,000 BOTTLES SOLD IN SIX YEARS—FOREIGN COUNTRIES CLAMOR FOR IT.

Never before, perhaps, in the history of the drug trade has the demand for a proprietary medicine ever approached the wonderful record that is now being made by Tanlac, the celebrated medicine which has been accomplishing such remarkable results throughout this country and Canada. As a matter of fact, the marvelous success achieved by this medicine is not only phenomenal, but unprecedented.

The first bottle of Tanlac to reach the public was sold just a little over six years ago. Its success was immediate and people everywhere were quick to recognize it as a medicine of extraordinary merit. Since that time there have been sold throughout this country and Canada something over twenty million (20,000,000) bottles, establishing a record which has probably never been equalled in the history of the drug trade in America.

Fame is International.

The instant and phenomenal success which Tanlac won when it was first introduced has been extended to practically every large city, small town, village and hamlet in North America. Its fame has become international in its scope and England, Japan, Mexico, Cuba, Hawaii, Alaska, Porto Rico and many European countries are clamoring for it.

From coast to coast and from the Great Lakes, Tanlac is known and honored. Millions have taken it with the most gratifying and astonishing results and have pronounced it the greatest medicine of all time.

Tens of thousands of men and women of all ages in all walks of life, afflicted with stomach, liver and kidney disorders, some of them of long standing, as well as thousands of weak, thin, nervous men and women apparently on the verge of collapse, have testified that they have been fully restored to their normal weight, health and strength by its use.

Restored to Health.

Still others, who seemed fairly well, yet who suffered with indigestion, headaches, shortness of breath, dizzy spells, sour, gassy stomachs, coated tongues, foulness of breath, constipation, bad complexion, loss of appetite, sleeplessness at night and of terribly dejected, depressed feelings, state that they have been entirely relieved, of these distressing symptoms and restored to health and happiness by the use of Tanlac.—Advertisement.

Annual Meeting of County Produce Association Friday

The annual meeting of the Pennington County Produce association will be held at St. Hilaire on Friday evening, July 8, at 8 o'clock. Election of officers for the ensuing year is one of the important matters to come up at this time and there will be a discussion of plans for the coming year, particularly as these apply to the handling and shipping of the 1921 potato crop. It is greatly desired that all members be present.

Railroaders Warn Public Against Donation Fakers

The grand lodge of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen has sent out warnings to all subordinate lodges, calling to the notice of members certain fraudulent practices now being carried on and for which the railroad men may be held responsible. Elmer E. Ohm, secretary-treasurer of the local lodge, calls attention to these warnings and asks that they be heeded by the membership.

Several instances have come to light of persons claiming to be brotherhood men and who pose as representatives of certain associations, etc., soliciting money from the brotherhood members. Merchants have also been solicited for advertising in so-called year books and works of a like nature. None of this had ever been authorized by the brotherhood officials and they hope that none will be defrauded through the presentations made by these unauthorized agents. Mr. Ohm suggests that business men and others approached for subscriptions, donations, etc., on behalf of the brotherhood make inquiries concerning the standing of the parties before entering into any agreement or contract.

Tent Meetings.

Evangelistic meetings will be held at the John Molskness farm, four miles north of Dorothy, on the Crookston road. Meetings will begin Wednesday evening, July 6, continuing every evening through the week at 8 o'clock. The following Sunday, July 12, meetings will be held all day as follows: 10:30 a. m., 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. Lunch will be served at noon on Sunday. All are heartily invited to these meetings. Both the Scandinavian and American languages will be used.—Rev. O. O. Sande.

CAMEL
TURKISH & DOMESTIC BLEND

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigaretty aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

EARLY DECISION IN PAVING SUIT NOW PROMISED

Attorneys For Complainant in Intervention Asked to Produce Their Authorities.

Given Until Friday Morning to Have Citations Ready For Court's Inspection.

Hearing Lasts Only Two Hours But Mass of Documentary Evidence Introduced.

Attorneys for George L. Streeter, applicant in the intervention suit brought by citizens in favor of paving against the applicants for an injunction, were given until tomorrow to produce citations showing that their proceeding is regular under the statutes. The case came to a close this afternoon after having occupied the attention of Judge Grindeland for about two hours.

All the records relating to the paving matter were presented in evidence, the aim of the intervenor being to show that the injunction suit started a short time ago by T. P. Hamre was only brought for the purpose of delaying the proceedings and that such delay would work injury to the city and taxpayers thereof. E. M. Stanton appeared as attorney for Mr. Streeter while H. O. Chommie defended the action of the city council in entering into the contract for paving and maintained that every move in any manner connected therewith has been absolutely legal and regular.

Mr. Stanton, in addressing the court, stated that a similar action was brought by residents of what is now Pennington county at the time of the county seat fight. In fact, said the attorney, because of the tactics employed by the opposition, it was next to impossible to get the matter before the courts except through an application by an intervenor. He claimed that not only is the proceeding regular in this state, but that the United States circuit court has upheld the validity of such proceeding in numerous instances. Attorney Theo. Quale for the plaintiff in the injunction action, stated that he had been unable to find any authority in the laws of the state for such action in court.

Judge Grindeland asked for citations on the subject and as these were not immediately at hand the attorneys were given until Friday morning to produce them in court.

To Repair Boiler.

Feeling that no immediate need will arise for firing up the boiler in the city auditorium heating plant, the council on Tuesday evening decided to advertise for bids for equipping the heating apparatus with a complete set of new flues. It is the intention to have the work completed before the arrival of chilly weather in the fall.

Bad Weather Changes Red Lake Celebration Plans

Owing to unfavorable weather conditions, the Red Lake county fair was called off on the second day. The original plan was to make it a three-day event, beginning July 4. The crowds entertained on the first two days were quite large and a splendid program of amusements was provided. One of the chief attractions was the ball game on Tuesday between Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls in which the latter pulled down the long end of a 2 to 3 score. Rain stopped the game at the end of the fifth inning.

The plan now is to hold another fair in the fall, at which time extensive preparations will be made and a good advertising campaign conducted.

PRODUCE SHIPPERS IN ANNUAL MEETING

Elect Officers and Start New Year With Bright Prospects. Will Aid Farm Bureau.

The Pennington County Produce association held a meeting at the Merchants' State bank, St. Hilaire, last Friday evening, July 8. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Alfred Benson, St. Hilaire; vice president, Dan Johnson, St. Hilaire; secretary and treasurer, R. J. McKercher, St. Hilaire; manager, J. J. McCann, Thief River Falls; directors, Jens Letnes, Thief River Falls, Ben Rosendahl, Thief River Falls, O. K. Sevre, St. Hilaire.

The association agreed to handle potatoes for the members of the association only. J. J. McCann was elected to represent the organization at the state meeting to be held at the West Hotel, Minneapolis, on July 11.

Each member gave an estimate as to the number of bushels he would have in this year's crop and the number of sacks needed for marketing the product. The association, recognizing the value of the Farm Bureau in assisting production and marketing during the past year, contributed $100 for the maintenance of the bureau organization, with the statement that more would be forthcoming if necessary.

This association is one of the rapidly progressing organizations of the state, which is revealed by the statement of business done during the past year. The officers and directors look for a very successful season in 1921 and hope to raise nothing but certified seed in future years.

Narrow Escape.

Andy, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dedrick Knutson, 524 Riverside avenue south, last evening had a very narrow escape from drowning. The lad, in company with a number of other children about his own age, went bathing in the river near Lovers' Lane and somehow got into water too deep for him. Severn Brandon happened to be close by and heard the boy's cry, going immediately to the rescue. Mr. Brandon managed to get the boy out of the water as he was going down for the third time and soon had him safe on dry land. It was a close call and but for the fortunate fact that an older person happened to be near, Red Lake river would today have another name on its list of victims.

GOOD SPEAKER FOR NONPARTISAN TALK TO-NIGHT IN CITY

George D. Brewer, League National Lecturer, Slated For Speech at Auditorium.

George D. Brewer, national lecturer for the Nonpartisan League, is scheduled to speak in the auditorium, Thief River Falls, this evening at 8:15 o'clock. Mr. Brewer is a speaker of wide reputation and it is anticipated that a large crowd will turn out to hear him.

While there is not a political campaign in progress in the state at the present time, there are many questions of a political and economic nature which are of immediate and pressing importance. Mr. Brewer proposes to discuss these questions from the standpoint of the organization to which he belongs, and those who have heard him on previous occasions have no hesitancy in declaring that the speech will be well worth hearing.

Everybody, farmers and townspeople alike, are urged to attend the meeting, and to bring their friends.

LOVERS' LANE PARK GREATLY IMPROVED

Afternoon of Strenuous Labor Concluded With Supper Served By Ladies.

A big step forward in the matter of providing a suitable park for Thief River Falls was taken yesterday afternoon when more than a hundred residents of the city armed themselves with spades, rakes and similar weapons and descended upon stumps, underbrush and other objects which do not harmonize with the surroundings in Lovers' Lane. A large amount of real work was accomplished and the place looks a hundred per cent better as a result. It is the intention of those in charge to arrange another of these "clearing bees" for some day in the near future, which will likely bring about all the clearing necessary for the present.

As a fitting conclusion for an afternoon of strenuous effort on the part of the volunteers, members of the Woman's club arranged an elegant supper, which was served in the park. And the workers partook of the tasteful viands with no small degree of enthusiasm, for most of them had been doing manual labor and in sufficient quantity to create a genuine appetite.

Several local business concerns donated liberally to the supper, the following items being reported by the ladies having the matter in charge: Thief River creamery, cream; Kiewel Products company, ice cream and malt; Bredeson & company, Peoples' Co-operative company and City Meat and Grocery, coffee; Loken Brothers, Laird's Specialty Shop and Mulry's Bazar, paper plates and spoons.

The undertaking was a complete success from every point of view and the park board feels highly encouraged by the keen public interest taken in the matter of providing needed park facilities.

Marshall Commissioners Donate to Farm Bureau

Marshall county has no intention of letting its farm bureau fall by the wayside, having come to realize that it is a very important institution and worthy of public support. The board of county commissioners at its meeting on Monday authorized an appropriation of $2,000 to help carry on the work for the coming year, and although this sum is somewhat less than had been anticipated by farm bureau boosters, it assures the maintenance of the organization.

Owing to its large area Marshall county has found one county agent to be insufficient and accordingly has engaged two, placing one with headquarters at Warren and the other at Grygla. This arrangement gives all parts of the county excellent service and the large membership in the Marshall county organization would indicate that farmers appreciate what the bureau is doing for them.

CROP PROSPECT PROMISES LESS THAN WEEK AGO

Long Drouth and Hot Weather Affect Spring Wheat and Oats in Northwest.

Discouraging Reports of Crops Reach University Experiment Farm, St. Paul.

Corn Said to Be Only Staple to Withstand Ravages of Extreme Temperature.

While reports from the immediate vicinity of Thief River Falls continue optimistic, crop conditions generally are not so promising today as they were a week ago. Reports made by county agents and other agriculture experts who have been touring the state, according to Professor Andrew Boss, vice-director of the experiment station, University farm, St. Paul, on Tuesday, indicate that the general crop outlook, which was encouraging two weeks ago, has materially changed and that damage has been sustained by every major crop in Minnesota, except corn, during the superheated period since July 1.

Reports Discouraging.

Here are the gist of the reports as announced by Prof. Boss:

Oats particularly have suffered. Heads are not well filled and the grain is maturing too early.

Spring wheat growing on sandy soil has been burned out.

Crops planted in dark soil have been damaged.

The early potato crop is hurt. It is still a question whether the late potato crop can reach its usual proportions or quality.

The general rains of two weeks ago literally saved the crops of the state.

Farmer Fears Aroused.

Contrary to the optimistic reports spread broadcast throughout the northwest, farmers are gravely concerned with the outlook. Knute Christensen, Benedict, N. D., reports that the crops in Ward, McLean and McHenry counties, lying in the west central portion of the state, are "better than half gone" from the heat. The heat still continues, he adds.

Reports made by P. H. Kirk, Minnesota statistician for the United States department of agriculture, for the period ending July 1, showed a falling off of prospective yields in major crops from the 1920 average, but struck an optimistic note.

During the month of June the weather was ideal for growth, the statistician said, in reference to corn. He saw serious damage for the oat crop only in light soils.

Even at that time early oats which were in the milk were perhaps damaged some and the late oats where heads were just forming would undoubtedly be small he stated. Two weeks of arid weather has added to the destruction, according to Professor Boss. The statistician reported damage to all grains during the period covered.

HOLSTEIN HEIFERS BRING GOOD PRICE

Pennington County Farmer Secures Two Pure Breds at Record Figure.

That Pennington county farmers are rapidly getting to a point where they appreciate the true value of pure bred live stock is becoming more and more apparent every day. Especially is this true in the matter of dairy cattle. While the ordinary scrub varieties of cattle are hardly worth sending to market and calves are actually not worth their keeps in many instances, pure bred stock is commanding good prices.

Waldie Christensen, one of the prominent young farmers residing west of Thief River Falls, is one of those who has made up his mind that the only salvation for the farmer lies in getting into the live stock industry on a strictly pure bred basis. Mr. Christensen recently purchased a pure bred Holstein sire and this week bought from the fine herd of Fred Beerbower two heifer calves, three and four months old, paying $500 for the two. These calves are of exceptionally fine Holstein breeding and while the price may seem a little high to some, it is generally conceded by those versed in such matters that Mr. Christensen secured a bargain.

Marshall County Farmers Are Improving Corn Crop

B. R. Houser, Marshall county agent, reports that eleven farmers of the Warren, Radium and Argyle districts are growing seed plots as a part of the movement for the development of an early maturing corn which will be adapted to the Red River valley. The co-operators were supplied with seed of Northwestern Dent, White Cap Dent, and Minnesota No. 13. The Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston has made distinct progress in putting the valley on an all-around farming basis.

Church Convention May Be Entertained Here in 1922

Rev. T. E. Sweger, J. O. Sether and A. G. Loftnes returned the first of the week from Duluth, where they had been in attendance at the convention of the Northern Minnesota District of the Norwegian Lutheran church. They were delegates from Trinity Lutheran church of this city. A large number of delegates from the northern half the state were present at the convention, which proved very successful in every respect.

Thief River Falls extended an invitation to entertain the convention next year and stands a good chance of being chosen for the meeting as Detroit is the only other place considered a formidable contender for the honor. A committee having the matter in charge will make a decision in the near future.

Rev. Sweger states that contrary to general belief, Duluth is about the hottest place on the map. He says the only way for people there to cool off is to go in a boat some distance out onto Lake Superior as the famous lake breezes seemed to have lost all effect in the city.

BABCOCK CARES FOR ALL ROADS DURING SEASON

Statewide Benefit Prompt With 1,000 Men in Field Under Amendment No. 1.

State Department Gives List of Men By Localities—Employes in This Section.

More Attention Will Be Paid to Public Highway Maintenance Than in Past.

Under its "performance first" policy, the Minnesota Highway department is making public fairly complete lists in this and other districts of road patrolmen, many of whom have been on the job weeks and longer.

Patrolmen on trunk highways in this section follow: No. 32—Iver T. Bugge, Thief River Falls; Henry L. Sande, Thief River Falls; Albert Severson, St. Hilaire; Arnold Zutz, Red Lake Falls; Henry Siedentopf, Red Lake Falls; Nels N. Ness, Holt; Gotfried Anderson, Middle River; Ole O. Holmestad, Strathcona. No. 23—Gilbert Dierhein, Thief River Falls; Halvor Olson, Thief River Falls; Carl Jensen, Thief River Falls; John E. Hill, Radium; Morris Anderson, Warren.

Ends County Control.

The placing of maintenance patrolmen marks the taking over of trunk highways by the state and the end of the period during which counties have been forced to spend the greater part of their road and bridge funds to repair and improve these main roads. Local road authorities now will have more funds and time to devote exclusively to so-called farmer roads connecting with the trunk routes. Officials agree that the new plan should bring marked improvement in the condition of all roads in the state.

Commissioner C. M. Babcock of the highway department announced at the outset that the employment of each patrolman is conditioned upon the results given on his section. "Keep your section smooth," he urged, "because the public judges a road by its riding and hauling qualities."

List of Patrolmen Grows.

Patrolmen numbered 1,009 on the last payroll in the highway department, and the list is growing rapidly as more men are added to provide one for each five to eight mile section in the state. Every patrolman is equipped with team or tractor, grader, drags and other tools and must give ten hours a day to his road work.

First general, statewide benefits under the Babcock plan are being spread by this big maintenance organization, for which $3,000,000 is apportioned this season. New construction in many scattered sections will result in special benefits, but the maintenance reaches every mile of the 7,000-mile system.

The placing of more than 1,000 patrolmen on the trunk in every part of Minnesota in less than 60 days is cited by friends of the good roads movement as further evidence of the speed with which the highway department is handling the big task of promptly launching the great highway development plan.

County Agent's Father Dead.

County Agent J. J. McCann on Saturday evening received a message from his old home at Rock Elm, Wis., stating that his father had passed away. Mr. McCann left immediately for that place to be present at the funeral. No details concerning the death were given in the message.

Granted Permit.

Ed. Hilson was on Tuesday evening granted a permit by the council to erect a garage. The building will be constructed of wood with shingle roof and the estimated cost is placed at $250.

MORE BARGAINS THAN EVER FOR BIG VALUE DAY

Second Market Day in Thief River Falls is Set for Wednesday, July 27.

Merchants to Continue Giving Unheard-of Bargains on These Occasions.

Five Pounds High Grade Coffee For One Dollar to Constitute Day's Leader.

Wednesday, July 27, has been designated by the Merchants' association as the date for the second of the proposed series of market days to be sponsored by Thief River Falls business men during the summer and fall months. The first market day, Wednesday, June 22, proved such a success that it has been decided to continue the plan indefinitely.

The second event promises to be even better than the first. Business men of the city gained much valuable information during the previous event which will be used to good advantage in making the second market day even more successful in all particulars.

Bargain Attractions.

Of course, the basic idea underlying the whole undertaking is to draw trade to Thief River Falls, and to prove to people in outlying districts that there is no need of sending away for goods which may be purchased to better advantage nearer home.

Visitors in the city on the previous market day found out to their satisfaction that Thief River Falls merchants mean what they say when they advertise bargains. Local business men propose to go even farther on July 27 in the matter of price slashing and visitors that day will have the opportunity of a life-time to secure reliable and seasonable goods at greatly reduced prices.

On the first market day a special price of one dollar for twenty pounds of sugar was made in what is known as the "Round Robin" sale. Next market day the people will be given an opportunity to stock up on coffee, the merchants having decided to sell five pounds of regular 45-cent coffee for one dollar through a plan similar to the one used in disposing of the sugar.

Such an offer should appeal to everyone. The opportunity to buy good coffee at such a price may never come again—at least local merchants cannot afford to make a regular practice of selling it at there figures.

Other Attractions.

Another free auction sale will be conducted for the benefit of market day visitors, besides numerous other things designed for the entertainment and profit of those who spend the day here.

The Times next week will carry complete announcements concerning every detail of the big bargain day, July 27. The paper will be found a useful aid in locating special offers and also in obtaining necessary information concerning special events.

ANNUAL TAX LEVY FOR COUNTY MADE

Commissioners in Semi-Annual Session Make Estimate of Expenses For Year.

The county commissioners held a meeting on Monday at the court house for the purpose of forming the annual budget of county expenses as an aid in arriving at the proper tax levy for next year.

A levy of $30,000 will be made for the county revenue fund, which is an increase of $2,000 over the sum required last year. The road and bridge fund is placed at the same amount as last year—$30,000, while the bond and interest fund is placed at $3,000 as compared with $4,000 last year. The sanatorium fund will struggle along with $4,000, which is $2,000 less than last year. The sinking fund received the largest raise of all, being increased from $3,000 to $6,000.

Next Monday the commissioners will meet as a board of equalization and the following day will hold an adjourned session to complete any unfinished business which may be on hand.

DEVELOPERS ALTER TRIP ARRANGEMENT

Motor Tour Through Northern Valley Counties Cut From Three Days to Two.

The tour to be made over the northern part of the valley under the auspices of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association, the first of what is planned to be an annual event, will be limited to two days duration, instead of three as originally planned. The change was made necessary to accommodate representatives of state departments who are expected to accompany the tour.

The start will be made from Crookston following the arrival of the train from the twin cities the morning of the 28th, and will terminate at Warren the evening of the 29th. Plans will be made to hold the closing meeting at Warren early enough to permit the state officials to take the evening train for the eastern part of the state.

Drainage, flood control, road making, fire prevention, land settlement, weed and rust eradication will be among the subjects that will receive attention as the tour progresses. No effort will be made to feature attention upon any one subject to the extent of effecting action at the time of the tour, but suggestions and recommendations will be invited and gone over by a specially organized committee enroute and presented at the final meeting at Warren.

A number of towns have already reported to Secretary C. H. Zealand that they would make additions to the tour. A definite time schedule will be laid out and every effort will be made to strictly adhere to it so that where group meetings are arranged there need be no time wasted either by the local people attending, or the tour party. Announcement of the schedule will be made by a special committee during the present week.

EXPRESS EMPLOYES FORCED TO ACCEPT REDUCTION IN PAY

General Cut, Effective Aug. 1, Will Amount to About Six Cents Per Hour.

Employes of the American Railway Express company will receive a wage reduction of six cents an hour, beginning Aug. 1, under a decision of the United States Labor board on Tuesday. The cut will affect all employes of the company except a few hundred shopmen, about fifty thousand workers, or 25 per cent under the normal force, being in the express service at the present time.

No reduction of express rates is contemplated at this time as a result of the wage cut, express company officials said.

It is estimated that approximately $8,000,000 will be sliced off the annual labor bill of the company under the reduction, with the present number of employes. The company normally employs between seventy and seventy-five thousand workers.

In its petition to the labor board several weeks ago the company asked the restoration of the rates of pay prior to the board's thirty million dollar wage award to express employes on Aug. 10, 1920. A uniform increase in rates of sixteen cents an hour was granted by that decision. Tuesday's ruling takes away less than half of the 1920 award.

Hearings at which both sides presented considerable testimony to the board were held in June.

TRIAL OF GUMMER CHANGED TO FALL

Case of Local Interest Will Be Tried in Fargo at September Term of Court.

The trial of William Gummer, charged with the murder of Marie Wick of Grygla at the Prescott hotel, Fargo, on the night of June 7, which was to have been called for trial the latter part of July, will be called at the regular September term of Cass county district court, Judge A. T. Cole announced on Wednesday.

The continued June term of district court which was to have been called July 16 will be held and several civil cases taken up but the jury for this term has been dismissed until the latter part of September. The reason for the postponement of the jury cases, said Judge Cole, is that many of the jurors who are farmers have asked to be relieved of jury duty until later in the summer because of their work on the farms.

Continuance of the Gummer murder trial until September was deemed advisable, said the judge, because of the heat and the difficulty in obtaining a jury during the busy farming season. It is understood that a change of venue in the Gummer case, which had been hinted by attorneys for the defendant, may not be taken now because of the postponement of the case.

Telephone Conversation Breaks Distance Record

J. W. Noesen arrived last week and is a guest of his brother, Rev. M. J. Noesen, and his sister, Mrs. W. H. Mulry. Mr. Noesen is engaged in the hotel business at Long Beach, Cal., and this is his first visit to this section of the country for a number of years. Mrs. Noesen expects to join her husband here the last of the week and they will make the homeward journey together.

An interesting incident in connection with Mr. Noesen's visit is a telephone message which he received from Long Beach soon after his arrival here. It was from his wife and a conversation was carried on with very little difficulty. As far as known this breaks all records for long distance messages coming into Thief River Falls, New York being the most distant point with which a satisfactory connection had been made up to that time.

FAIR MANAGERS PREPARING FOR BIG FARM SHOW

In Better Shape Than Ever Before to Properly Care For Agricultural Exhibits.

New Exhibition Hall Provides Ample Space for Housing Samples of Products.

Indications Point Toward Many Broken Records at Fair Beginning on August 3.

Preparations are going on at a good rate in every department for the forthcoming Pennington county fair, which will open on Wednesday, Aug. 3, and continue for four days. Secretary Herbert Fuller and his corps of able assistants are leaving nothing undone which can possibly add to the success of the enterprise.

Present indications point to the greatest exhibit in the history of the local fair. An urgent appeal is sent to farmers in all parts of the county asking them to bring in liberal exhibits of farm products, including grains, grasses, vegetables, etc. The exhibits are necessary to make the fair the success it should be, and with the excellent crop of all kinds raised this year there should be no difficulty in breaking former records in arranging the agricultural exhibit.

Improved Display Facilities.

With the new building in process of construction on the fair grounds, facilities for the proper display of farm products have been improved to a great extent. A large part of the new exposition hall has been given over to booths in which to house farm exhibits and these will be in better position than ever before to attract attention.

The new exposition hall is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy when the fair opens. The new building is an octagonal structure, two stories high and 60 feet in diameter. In addition there are two wings, each one story high and 60 feet long, making the main part of the structure 80 feet in length. The balcony will be occupied by the women's department and the school exhibits, being large, with fine light and ventilation. In previous years these exhibits have been housed in the city auditorium owing to lack of room at the fair grounds.

Special Days at Fair.

The first day of the fair has been designated as St. Hilaire day, when it is expected that a large delegation from that village will be here to back up its base ball team, which has been engaged to play a game on that day. Friday, Aug. 5, will be turned over to Goodridge and vicinity, it being the intention to have the Goodridge band furnish part of the music. Visitors from the eastern part of the county no doubt will make an effort to be present in large numbers on the third day of the fair.

Big Value For Money.

With the large number of free attractions offered each afternoon and evening of the fair, admission prices to the grounds are placed at a very reasonable figure, 50 cents being set as the general admission charge. An extra charge of 25 cents will be made for automobiles, and 25 cents also will be required for admission to the grand stand.

PENNINGTON BEGINS RYE CROP HARVEST

Soren Sorenson First Man to Garner New Crop—Record Yield is Indicated.

Soren Sorenson, who operates a farm four miles west of Thief River Falls, holds the distinction of being the first farmer in this section to begin harvesting his 1921 crop. At least he is the first so far as The Times has been able to learn.

On Wednesday, July 6, Mr. Sorenson commenced cutting his rye crop, of which he has about 60 acres. According to Mr. Sorenson, rye never has looked better and his entire field gives promise of a yield of 25 bushels or bettter to the acre. There is a large acreage of winter rye in Pennington county this year and nearly all of it will turn out splendidly.

In addition to his rye crop, Mr. Sorenson has 25 acres of wheat, 15 acres of millet and 15 acres of fodder corn which are coming to the front by leaps and bounds, giving every indication of breaking former production records on the farm.

Short Council Session.

The regular meeting of the city council on Tuesday evening proved to be a short session. After passing the regular batch of bills, approving monthly reports and granting a license to the Union Plumbing and Heating company, the aldermen adjourned to meet on Friday evening at 8 o'clock in special session. At this time the court proceedings in the paving case will have been acted upon and positive action may be taken in the sale of the city's bonds for paving purposes.

"One of the Greatest Economic Problems Is Distribution"

PRESIDENT HARDING in a recent address declared that "one of the greatest economic problems, if not the greatest, is distribution. There can be no doubt of the position of the good roads movement in the solution of the problem. I believe that Federal and State Governments must not only create good roads but they must insist upon the maintenance of good roads. A good road gone wrong is a streak of memorial to neglect and waste. The roads we build must be built for use in the distribution of products rather than for merely pleasure riding. We must foster the use of motor trucks."

The expression of the chief executive of our nation is but a confirmation of the experiences of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in the conduct of its business.

The problems of distribution are of paramount importance and in effecting this distribution, good roads are a primary essential.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has in operation more than 4000 motor trucks engaged in distributing gasoline, kerosene, and lubricating oils to ultimate consumers in 11 Middle Western States. It is the business of this department to attempt to furnish Standard Oil products to whoever may require them, wherever he may live.

To supplement the tank wagon, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) maintains a network of service stations, located on the main traveled highways, every few miles in the country and every few blocks in the city.

Through its highly specialized organization, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) manufactures from crude petroleum the three factors necessary to a solution of the problems of distribution.

Stanolind Paving Asphalt for good roads—enduring roads.

Red Crown, the high-grade gasoline, for power—tremendous power.

Polarine, the perfect motor oil, for lubrication—correct lubrication.

In the manufacture of these products, the Company has set as a measure of value, specifications which it believes insure the user the utmost of service at a minimum of expense. Its products are made to exact standards, and these standards are based upon a careful, exhaustive study of the conditions under which they will be used. All are uniform in quality and go to the consumer with the Company's guarantee that they are exactly as represented.

Can Raspberries and Loganberries Now

Loganberry Pie

3 cups berries, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour. Mix all together. Line plate with paste and build up a fluted rim. Bake in a quick oven at first to set rim. Decrease heat afterwards. Cook until berries are done. When cold, cover with whipped cream, or a meringue.

Meringue made with whites of two eggs, 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon lemon juice. Beat egg whites until stiff. Add sugar gradually, then flavoring. Cover pie and return to oven. Bake meringue

RASPBERRIES and loganberries won't be on the market much longer. Start now to preserve plenty, in many different ways. They make delicious jams, preserves, sauce, etc.

You save 1/3 to 1/2 by doing your own canning. Besides, you can't buy the fine quality that Mother can put into home preserves. Check up on your supply of Ball Mason jars, and start canning raspberries and loganberries soon.

THE COUNTY FAIR.

The near future's most important event as far as Thief River Falls and Pennington county are concerned is the county fair, which will open on Wednesday, August 3, and continue for four days. The Pennington county fair is strictly a local institution and for this reason every resident of the county should be vitally interested in its success. The fair has grown from a very humble beginning twenty years ago, until of late years it has come to be recognized as the banner fair of Northwestern Minnesota.

Two things are necessary for the success of a county fair. In the first place, the fair must receive the loyal support of all concerned, and in the second—it must be staged in a community which has the agricultural and other products to make a reasonably good showing.

Pennington county has both of these—the resources and the booster spirit of its citizens backing the fair. All that remains to be done is for everyone to do his part in furnishing exhibits, and the forthcoming fair will have the finest displays ever shown at a similar institution.

The matter of entertainment for visitors to the fair is largely in the hands of the fair management. The programs to be furnished this year are far above anything ever before attempted here, the officers of the association having spared no effort in securing the very best to be had in all lines.

But, unfortunately, entertainment features alone cannot make the fair a success. More than these are required. In order properly to serve the purpose for which it is intended, there must be on display generous exhibits showing the resources of the county and the handiwork of its citizens. This is the point at which the general public must come to the aid of the fair management. In the matter of generous exhibits everything rests with the people of village, city and county, and each should appoint himself a committee of one to see that he does his share.

A Short-Sighted Step.

(Red Lake Falls Gazette.)

The Pennington county commissioners have refused to grant further support to the Pennington county farm bureau, and if that useful agency is to be continued it must be aided by popular subscription. The action of the county board is a short-sighted one and is greatly to be regretted. The farm bureau movement is just getting to the place where it can be of wonderful help to any farmer who will make use of it, and the co-operative marketing institutions that the bureau is organizing bid fair to solve the problem of eliminating the unnecessary middlemen or profit-takers. The backward step of the Pennington county board is contrasted with the progressive stand of the Red Lake county board which this year voted an appropriation of $3,000 to carry on the work of the county farm bureau. The commissioners have faith in the farm bureau because it has seen what the farm bureau has done for the farmers of Red Lake county. The farm bureau did great work under former County Agent Lake and under the able leadership of County Agent L. M. Bond the good work is being continued. The bureau is a permanent institution in Red Lake county. More power to it!

OBSERVATIONS.

(Bill Noonan in Baudette Region.)

According to a doctor it requires 21 muscles to manufacture a smile. Don't act as if yours were paralyzed.

Our idea of something not to complain about was the heavy rain that spoiled the roads this week.

While nobody has asked our opinion on the subject, we think there is something rotten in a state a good deal closer than Denmark when big bruiser like Dempsey can make as much in eleven minutes as President Harding does in four years.

An Illinois man hit a woman on the nose as she was standing at his gate, and when they jailed him he said he thought it was his wife.

Those who have been hollering for a concrete example of the worth of the Babcock amendment will get it in the new bridge which is to be built across the Baudette river.

Many people doubt the numerous rumors that the Soo is to build to Baudette, but where there is so much smoke there is bound to be a locomotive not far off.

The commission appointed five years ago to fix Lake of the Woods water levels is making some progress. It has discovered that there is a lot of water in the lake.

Rockefeller is preparing to give away another hundred million, but we know a Baudette lad who shared his last bottle of Scotch with a friend the other night.

We don't know why so many Baudetters are making trips over into Canada these days, but we bet we could hit it in three guesses.

It isn't a question what to wear these hot days, but what to leave off.

After knowing what we know about the weather, we wonder what has become of the fellow who used to say there was no summer in Northern Minnesota.—Bemidji Pioneer.

Give a Thought to Your Horse These Sultry Days

The following rules for taking care of work horses during the hot summer months have been prepared by the Boston Work-Horse Relief association and will be found to contain much excellent advice:

Load lightly, and drive slowly.

Stop in the shade if possible.

A sponge on top of the head, or even a cloth, is good if kept wet. If dry it is worse than nothing.

Water your horse as often as possible. So long as a horse is working, water in small quantities will not hurt him. But let him drink only a few swallows if he is going to stand still.

When he comes in after work, sponge off the harness marks and sweat, his eyes, nose and mouth, and the dock. Wash his feet but not his legs.

If the thermometer is 75 degrees or higher, wipe him all over with a damp sponge, using vinegar water if possible. Do not wash the horse at night.

Saturday night, give him a bran mash, lukewarm, and add a tablespoonful of saltpetre.

Watch your horse. If he stops sweating suddenly, or if he breathes short and quick, or if his ears droop, or if he stands with his legs braced sideways, he is in danger of a heat or sun stroke and needs attention at once.

If the horse is overcome by heat, get him into the shade, remove harness and bridle, wash out his mouth, sponge him all over, shower his legs, and give him two ounces of aromatic spirits of ammonia, or two ounces of sweet spirits of nitre, in a pint of water; or give him a pint of coffee warm. Cool his head at once, using cold water, or, if necessary, chopped ice, wrapped in a cloth.

If the horse is off his feed, try him with two quarts of oats mixed with bran, and a little water, and add a little salt or sugar. Or give him oatmeal gruel or barley water to drink.

Clean your horse at night, so that he can rest well, and clean him thoroughly. The salt dandruff drying on his skin makes him uncomfortable, and often produces soreness under the harness.

Do not fail to water him at night after he has eaten his hay. If you don't he will be thirsty all night.

If it is so hot that the horse sweats in the stable at night, tie him outside, with bedding under him. Unless he cools off during the night, he cannot well stand the next day's heat.

THREE SCALPS FOR LOCAL BALL TEAM DURING PAST WEEK

Thief River Boys Set Fast Pace and Defeat All Comers, Argyle Tonight.

The past week has been one of easy sailing for the local base ball team, three victories being listed to its credit and not a single defeat. Saturday evening the boys took on McIntosh in what was scheduled to be the first of a series of two games, the second to be played Sunday afternoon. This game the local team gathered in by the comfortable margin of 6 to 1. Sunday's game did not materialize owing to the fact that the McIntosh sluggers became peeved about something and refused to continue the series. The real reason for this action was not apparent, but the boys just naturally quit and went home, that's all. Of course, they started out to kick about the choice of umpires, but observers all agree they had no kick coming on this score.

Warren has come back, at least in the matter of base ball. She now has reorganized her team by the addition of several new players and it is an aggregation not to be sneezed at. On Monday afternoon the locals went over there and engaged them in a battle which proved to be one of the best of the season, ending 3 to 2 in favor of Thief River Falls. In strong contrast to former games with the Warren team, Monday's contest was entirely devoid of rag chewing and other objectionable features. It was a gentlemen's game all the way through.

The Red Lake Falls team came up Tuesday evening and engaged the locals on the home diamond. The boys from down the river put up a fine article of ball and at no stage of the game did the Thief River lads have the contest cinched. The locals, however, managed to come out of the long end of the horn with a score of 3 to 2. Carlson did the pitching for the home boys, while Keifenheim twirled the spheroid for Red Lake Falls.

This evening another interesting game is booked for the home diamond. Argyle is coming over to try conclusions and it is claimed the boys are coming loaded for bear. The Thief River boys are determined to make the week a "ringer" if such a thing is possible, and they'll have to beat Argyle to do it. A real game is in store for the fans.

Motorists Take Chances When Neglecting License

Chief of Police E. O. Erickson is in receipt of a communication from James E. Markham, assistant attorney general, regarding the placing of number plates on motor vehicles. The letter is given publicity for the benefit of those who are still running their cars with old license plates or with none at all. It follows:

"No person shall operate or drive a motor vehicle on the public highways unless such vehicle shall have been registered in accordance with the law and shall have the number plate assigned to it by the registrar of motor vehicles conspicuously displayed thereon. There is no such thing as a temporary 'in transit' plate. The vehicle must bear the official plates and these must be so displayed that they are plainly discernible.

"The plates must be legible, unobscured and free from grease, dust or other blurring material so as to be plainly visible at all times. These requirements are not met by fastening the plates in an obscure place where they are not clearly visible, nor are they met where the owner permits the numbers to become obscured in any other way because of the presence of grease and an accumulation of dust or grime."

General Level of Prices of Farm Crops Advances

General level of prices of farm crops advanced during May, according to the report of the Bureau of Crop Estimates, United States Department of Agriculture. This is the first turn for higher prices of farm crops since the marked decline beginning in June, 1920.

Using 100 as the basis for the average price of farm crops during the year 1913, the index number of the prices on June 1 was 109 as compared to 104 on May 1, and 309 on June 1, 1920, when the peak in the prices of farm crops was reached.

The average price of wheat advanced during May from $1.11 to $1.21; that of corn from 59½ to 62½ cents; barley from 49 to 51 cents; rye from $1.05 to $1.12; and apples from $1.32 to $1.69. Hay, eggs and chickens showed a slight decline in price during the month, while butter declined from 39 cents per pound to 29 cents.

Seek Opinion of Farmers on Agriculture Problems

Answers to the question as to what is wrong with agriculture, which was asked farmers from 1,600 counties in 47 states by the American Farm Bureau Federation to ascertain the opinions of the farmers themselves, began coming into headquarters of the federation at Chicago this week. The answers indicate the farmers believe conditions could be greatly improved by lowering freight rates, levying tariffs on farm products and marketing farm products co-operatively.

SOMETHING SPECIAL FOR FAIR VISITORS IN NEW ATTRACTION

Lovers of Art to Be Given Rare Treat in Beautiful Posing of Dellamead Troupe.

One of the really big attractions of the Pennington county fair, appearing both afternoon and night during the three days, will be the Dellamead Troupe. This high-class offering is an artistic triumph which has pleased thousands at some of the best fairs in America.

This is a posing act giving reproductions of the work of famous sculptors. So realistic is the presentation that artists and sculptors all over the nation have given it their unstinted praise. So perfect is the work of these five beautifully formed young women that the number has been classed by critics as "les magnifiques poseures statuesques."

The entire act is an appeal to the higher sense and appreciation of the best and most beautiful in art. The posers work on a huge revolving stage and produce such numbers as the following:

"Rock of Ages," "Triumph of Love," "Appollo," "Revenge," "The Fountain," "Seasons," "Passing in Review," and "Columbus Discovering America." This is an especially attractive act at night performances, when special lighting effects of great artistic beauty are used. These are carried by the company especially for a proper presentation of the perfect reproduction of the statues.

COULD BEAT HANDS SHUCKING HIS CORN

At Least J. A. White Would Bet So, After Being Relieved of Dyspepsia By Tanlac.

"My wife and myself have had stomach trouble," says Mr. J. A. White, residing on the Leestown Pike, R. F. D. No. 6 near Lexington, Ky., "and have both been nervous and run down."

"We could not see anything without suffering afterwards and could not sleep at night. We were regular nervous dyspeptics. We tried many remedies without permanent benefit until we heard of Tanlac. I got this medicine and began using it. We noticed immediate results. We are both greatly improved by Tanlac. We give all credit for the change of health to Tanlac. It is a remarkable medicine.

"I personally feel so good that I told my hands a day or two ago that I could beat any of them shucking corn. I meant it and believe I could have beat 'em all.

Of all the maladies that afflict humanity chronic dyspepsia, such as Mr. and Mrs. White suffered from, is probably the most prevalent and hours might be consumed in describing the sufferings, mental and bodily, of the victims of chronic dyspepsia.

A morbid, unreal, whimsical and melancholy condition of the mind, aside from the nervous physical suffering, is the usual state of the average dyspeptic and life seems scarcely worth the living.

Tanlac, the celebrated medicine, was designated especially for overcoming this distressing condition and millions of people have taken it with the most astonishing and gratifying results. It seems to go straight to the spot, toning up and invigorating every organ of the body.—Advertisement.

Approximately 3,000,000 acres of new land were brought into the farm acreage in the 10 years since the 1910 census, the report showed. In 1910 the state's farm acreage had been 27,678,823 acres.

In 1920, a total of 19,362,288 acres in farm land was operated by native born white farmers, while foreign born white farmers operated 10,839,191 acres.

The average acreage of Minnesota farms shrank from 177.3 acres in 1910 to 169.3 acres in 1920. Average farms operated by white farmers were reduced in the same ratio, while the average size of farms run by colored farmers, including Indians and Negroes, increased from 80.6 acres to 98 acres.

Native born white farmers operated an average of 174.5 acres in 1920, according to the census bulletin, while foreign born whites farmed an average of 161 acres.

Minnesota farms were 20 acres larger on an average than farms for the entire United States in 1920, running to 169.3 acres, against a national average of 148.2 acres.

BONUS BOARD WILL HOLD MEETING FOR CLAIM ADJUSTMENT

State Body is Slated For Appearance at Crookston on Thursday, July 21.

The board of review of the Minnesota soldiers' bonus board will hold a meeting at Crookston on Thursday, July 21. The board consists of A. H. Vernon, state commander of the American Legion, Col. H. W. Mollison and E. A. Walsh, and was organized for the purpose of reviewing bonus claims of Minnesota soldiers. The board was appointed by Gov. Preus in accordance with acts of the legislature and is to arrange meetings in various parts of the state at which are invited to appear all ex-service men who have not received their state bonus.

District Chairman Rossberg of the Legion urges that all men in this section of the state who have not received their state bonus should arrange to be at Crookston on that date, and in addition should send their names to him in advance so that their records may be shaped up ready for review by the board, as this will be the only meeting held at Crookston and possibly in this section.

Persons knowing ex-service men to have unpaid claims should bring this meeting to their attention and render them any assistance possible in getting ready for appearing before the board, as it is the aim and desire of the state to fully and correctly adjust every claim. In this work the American Legion is lending every possible assistance.

The board will hold its hearings at the rooms of the Crookston Association of Public Affairs, which have been placed at its disposal for the purpose.

HUGE INCREASE IN FARM COSTS CITED

Rise of $27,500,000 in Labor Item For Decade in State Shown.

Minnesota farm statistics gathered by the federal census bureau and just made public show enormous increases in farm expenditures for labor, feed and fertilizers. The increases are in proportion to the general totals for the nation.

Farmers of Minnesota, the bulletin says, stood an expense of $49,811,218 for labor in 1919, compared with $22,330,149 in 1909. Of this, $36,450,774 was paid in cash compared with $16,673,777 in 1909, and $13,360,444 was estimated value for rent, and board furnished, compared with $5,656,372 for 1909.

Farm expenditures for fertilizer in Minnesota were $432,680 in 1919 and $74,653 in 1909. Farmers in the state in 1909 paid $22,940,650 for feed, compared with $5,041,925 in 1909.

The bulletin shows the total expense for farm labor in 1919 in the United States was $1,363,454,380, compared with $651,611,287 in 1909. The figures thus give an increase of $711,843,093, or 109.2 per cent. This increase was due in large part to the high wages paid for farm labor in 1919.

The amount expended by farmers for fertilizer in 1919 was $329,189,912 as compared with $114,882,541 in 1909, representing an increase of $214,307,371, or 186.5 per cent. Of the total expenditure for fertilizer in the United States in 1919, there was 91.8 per cent reported by the states east of the Mississippi river.

"High-Test" As Applied to Gasoline Is a Fallacy

It means merely that the gasoline being tested weighs more or less as compared with water at sea level.

Gravity, or test, whether high or low, has no more to do with efficiency of gasoline than the height of a man has to do with his ability to reason. "High-test" is usually employed as a defense for high price.

Within Your Grasp

FROM the time the seed is planted until the threshed grain is stored safely in your granary or the local elevator, your crop is within your grasp only once—and that is when it is harvested and waiting to be threshed.

Winter killing (in some localities); a late Spring; a cold, wet Summer or a hot, dry one; soil blowing; weeds; rust; grasshoppers; chinch bugs; hail; windstorms—year after year such hazards menace your crop. Do what you will, you can only partially protect yourself against these dangers.

Then comes the final risk—threshing—the one factor, however, over which you have control. You need take no chances on having part of your hard-earned crop blown into the straw pile. Insist on Case threshing. Then you will be assured of clean threshing, complete separation, thorough cleaning, and unequalled saving of your grain.

If there is no Case Thresherman in your community or if another is needed, become one yourself.

NEW FIREWORKS FEATURE SHOWN AT COUNTY FAIR

Something New and Unique Offered Fair Visitors at Annual Event Next Month.

Two Hours of Thrilling Entertainment Given Free Each Evening on Grounds.

Contract Signed With World's Largest Makers of Fireworks For Displays.

Definite booking of a series of mammoth fireworks displays as one of the headline attractions at the Pennington county fair, was announced this week by Secretary Herbert Fuller.

This will be the biggest fireworks program of its kind ever produced in the state, officials of the fair said in announcing the signing of contracts. It will be put on under the supervision of expert operators from the Thearle-Duffield Fireworks Display company of Chicago. They are the largest producers of fireworks attractions in the world.

Each Display a Show.

Each display will comprise a special evening show in itself, in addition to the regular features of the fair. Practically every variety and type of modern pyrotechnics will be included in the program. All the material used in the production will be shipped here from Chicago, and the big explosive effects, aerial devices and set pieces will be controlled and operated by special safety apparatus.

Very Best to be Had.

"There are many fireworks attractions now being offered to the fairs," Secretary Fuller said in announcing the engagement, "but this is far out of the ordinary run of night shows. We have looked over practically everything in this line. Fireworks displays which we have engaged for this year stand head and shoulders above anything of their kind that has ever been offered. They are spectacular in the extreme and provide two hours of countless thrills and perfect entertainment."

Seven Aliens Apply For Adoption By Uncle Sam

A hearing for the granting of applications for citizenship will be conducted by Judge Andrew Grindeland at the Pennington county court house on Friday, Aug. 5. The hearing had originally been set for July 29, but the court found it necessary to postpone it until the later date.

Seven applicants have filed their intention of becoming full-fledged citizens of the United States at this hearing. They are: Charles Langer, native of Austria, whose petition has been on file for some time but could not receive consideration due to the fact that a technical state of war has until very recently existed between the United States and his native land; Axel Olson, Carl Christofferson, Olof Helmer Sorenson and Aanond Gunlekson, all natives of Norway; Robert Vance and William Poirier, natives of Canada.

Rocksbury Farm Meeting.

A special meeting of the Rocksbury unit of the Pennington county farm bureau will be held at Valhall hall on Saturday evening, July 16. Important business is to come up for consideration at this time and all members of the unit are urgently requested to be present.

BOY SCOUTS TO CAMP FOR TWO WEEKS AT LAKE

Thief River Falls Lads Plan Great Time in Communion With Mother Nature.

Twenty Eager Boys to Go Under Leadership of Local Scoutmaster Soltau.

Much Moral and Physical Benefit Expected to Result From Experience.

Boy scouts of Thief River Falls to the number of about twenty, in charge of Scoutmaster E. A. Soltau, will leave tomorrow for Union lake to remain in camp for about ten days. Mr. Soltau will see to it that the boys get properly settled in camp, when he will return to this city and leave the lads in charge of a higher official from the state body. The local scouts have made great preparations to enjoy a genuine good time and the expedition promises many thrills and much excitement.

Two other boy scouts from Thief River Falls, Lee Melgaard and Willis Nason, are at present domiciled in Itasca State Park, and expect to remain there for two weeks in communion with nature.

Why Boys Should Camp.

Every spring each scoutmaster must answer this question many times over and upon his ability to satisfy the inquiring parent, troop committeemen or even the boys themselves, rests the success or failure of the grand adventure under canvas to which 400,000 boy scouts look forward in their summer training camps. Here are some of the answers:

The boy scout camp satisfies that "run away from home" urge which, undirected, has in the past caused so many heart breaks and shipwrecked careers. Self reliance is needed in the making of every man. How often will the scout in camp have to act literally on his own resources, following trail signs, map making, or "hiking" for the camp at night? Being trusted in new ways to use his good sense, he develops self-reliance by being a good camper.

Chance to Advance.

Every scout wants to advance his grade toward the coveted Eagle Badge. Many obstacles tend to discourage him in his home troop meetings. Camp solves this problem; more actual hours with fewer distracting influences in a two weeks' camp than in a half year of troop meetings at home.

There is no place where boys have less sickness and where the general health is improved so much. The absence of candy and the corner drug store drinks plays no small part in giving nature a chance. Regular hours for rest and sleep, prompt response to bugle calls of reveille, mess, fatigue and taps, contribute to health and the joy of living which keeps boys growing and well.

Improves Boys' Morals.

To some scouts the scout law has seemed almost too idealistic and for such, doubt is overcome and new enthusiasm born when they see what beauty and happiness is added to life in the little wild woods community in which all honestly and on their honor are "doing their best" to do their duty to God and country and to obey the scout law.

VETERAN REUNION IMPORTANT EVENT

Former Members of Eighty-Eighth Division to Hold Meet at Des Moines.

Local veterans of the Eighty-eighth division have just received word from the Western Passenger association announcing a reduced railroad rate of fare and one-half for round trip to the first reunion of the division to be held at Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 26 to 28.

The special rate will be given for all service men who trained at Camp Dodge, either with the regular regiments of the division or with any of the special units stationed there during the war. It also applies to all artillerymen who were in training at the Des Moines cantonment.

At least 2,000 veterans from this state are expected to attend the reunion. Special trains will be operated from several points within the state, details concerning which will be announced later.

According to announcements received from Des Moines this week there will be a tent city of more than 20 acres erected at the state fair grounds there, where the veterans will be given housing free of charge for the period of the reunion. Provision is being made for a total attendance of between 6,000 and 10,000 men.

LUTHER BAND BOYS IN GREAT CONCERT PLEASE EVERYBODY

Play to Fairly Large Crowd and Prove Right to Reputation Preceding Them.

Thief River Falls expected a musical treat upon the visit of the Luther College Concert band last Thursday, and in this there was no disappointment. It is generally conceded that the concert was the best thing of its kind ever given here. A fair sized audience was present and each number given by the band received enthusiastic applause, which brought from the musicians a number of encores not on the regular program.

The Luther band is composed of 54 members, each one of whom appears to be a musical artist. Under the leadership of Carlo A. Sperati, director, the large organization is kept under perfect control and the most difficult compositions rendered in a manner which leaves nothing to be desired. As an added attraction, a few numbers were rendered by the Luther Glee club, composed of members of the band. The boys proved themselves skillful in rendering vocal music and made a great hit with the audience.

While the program was made up almost entirely of heavy classical numbers, the wonderful rendition prevented this style of music from becoming tiresome even when played almost to the exclusion of everything else. Included in the program were such numbers as the following: "Royal Trumpeters March," "LaGazza Ladra Overture," "Marche Slave," "Mocking Bird Fantasia," "Peace Chimes March," "The Wedding of the Rose," "By the Swanee River," "Tannhauser Overture," and, last but not least, the grand finale, which consisted of Sousa's famous march, "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

After hearing the Luther College band it can easily be understood why this organization has won international renown. The band is without doubt one of the very best in the country and Luther College has just cause to take a great deal of pride in it.

Store Broken Into.

A screen was removed and entrance gained through a rear window of the Peoples' Co-operative store last night by prowlers who likely intended to carry away something of value. No money was left in the cash drawer by the manager when closing for the night and it has been impossible to check over the stock sufficiently close to tell whether or not anything is missing. Several pranks of a like nature have been played on various business establishments in the city within the past few weeks, which makes it probable that local talent is responsible.

Pays Fine For Assault.

Joe Thompson yesterday paid a fine of $15 and costs in municipal court upon being found guilty on a charge of assaulting Martin Bothun with intent to do great bodily harm. The trouble arose when Mr. Bothun objected to the Thompson boys driving wagons loaded with sand over a piece of his land in the south part of the city. The argument led to blows and it is alleged Thompson picked up a club and struck Bothun over the head with it.

Heavy Rainfall.

Pennington county was visited on Wednesday morning by the heaviest shower of rain so far this season. While no official report has been obtained, it is stated by many observers that at least two inches of rain fell. Although not particularly needed at this time, the rain did no damage except to make the roads a trifle cumbersome for automobile travel.

COURT FINDS FOR COUNCIL AND DISMISSES CASES INTENDED TO INTERFERE WITH PAVING PLANS

Judge Grindeland Renders Decision and Rejects Pleas of Both Plaintiff and Intervenor For Temporary Injunction—Both Dismissed on Merits.

Intervenor Plans Appeal to Supreme Court to Force Early Decision—Bonds Sold and Preparations Made to Proceed With Needed Improvement.

Step by step the city council and other advocates of paving in Thief River Falls are defeating the objectors to the program. Developments of the past week have been very encouraging and the goal now seems nearer than at any time since the controversy started two years ago. It is expected the last remaining obstacle will be removed within the next thirty days, when the contractors stand ready to begin actual work in placing the pavement on the streets.

Decision Favors City.

The decision of Judge Andrew Grindeland in the suit heard here last week was made public on Tuesday. The court upholds the city council in all respects and finds that proceedings with regard to the paving matter have been entirely proper and according to law. The suit of the intervenor for a temporary injunction was denied in the court order, and the suits of both the intervenor and the original plaintiff were ordered dismissed on their merits.

City Bonds Sold.

The city council at its meeting Tuesday evening entered into an agreement for the sale of the city's bonds with which to finance the paving project, and succeeded in securing a very favorable contract. Arrangements are now being made for the delivery of the bonds and it is hoped to have the first installment of paving project money here by the latter part of August. The agreement provides for the payment of a stipulated amount upon the delivery of the bonds, and a certain sum on the first of each month thereafter until the job is completed. In this way it was possible to get the money at a slightly lower rate and still be able to care for the contractor's estimates as they become due.

Intervenor to Appeal.

In order to clarify the atmosphere in the legal sense and to remove the sole remaining obstacle standing in the way of the sale of the city's certificates, the intervenor's suit dismissed in district court will immediately be appealed to the supreme court and a decision is anticipated in less than thirty days. This proceeding also will bring the original plaintiff's case to the supreme court for immediate consideration, preventing any delay which the men behind this suit may plan and desire. Those in a position to know assert there is not one chance in a thousand for an adverse decision from the supreme court, an identical case appealed from the city of Marshall having been decided in favor of the council about a year ago.

VALLEY BOOSTERS WILL ARRIVE HERE ON THURSDY NOON

Development Tourists to Stop in Thief River Falls For More Than Hour.

The annual summer tour of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association, which this year covers the northern section of the valley, is scheduled to leave Crookston at 9:30 a. m. on Thursday, July 28. From there the itinerary includes Gentilly, Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire, it being planned to reach the latter village at 12:10 p. m., remaining there for 20 minutes. The tourists expect to reach Thief River Falls at 1 o'clock and will be guests of the city for one hour and 20 minutes. From here the schedule includes Holt, Middle River, Strathcona, Roseau, Greenbush and Badger, Roseau being chosen as stopping point for the night.

On Friday the tourists plan to visit Halma, Bronson, Hallock, Kennedy, Donaldson, Stephen, Argyle and Warren, the Marshall county seat being reached at 6:40 p. m. Here the concluding evening meeting of the tour will be held.

Many prominent speakers will accompany the travelers, among them being Oscar H. Smith, commissioner of immigration, St. Paul; J. H. Hay, assistant commissioner of agriculture; A. L. Flygare, division engineer highway department; B. W. Sewell, division maintenance engineer highway department; James Cumming, president Minnesota potato exchange; C. G. Selvig, superintendent Northwest School of Agriculture, and R. C. Mathwig, president of the Development association.

Local Firm Lands Contract.

The Union Plumbing and Heating company of Thief River Falls was this week awarded the contract for installing the plumbing and heating equipment in the new Kittson War Veterans' Memorial hospital, about to be erected at Hallock. The contract involves a total of $8,700 and the local firm secured the job in competition with many bidders from other points.

To the Lake by Boat.

The M. A. Schmitt and Ed. Juranson families started this morning for a trip to the Red lakes, going by motor boats. They will camp at the lakes for about two weeks. This is the first attempt to reach the lakes by boat reported this year but the voyagers did not expect to experience any difficulty in getting through.

Returns From Enjoyable Journey to Fatherland

John Sundt, well known farmer of Silverton township, returned last week from a three-months' trip to Norway, the land of his birth. He also made tours of England and France while in Europe and enjoyed the trip very much. Most of the time was spent in Norway, where the time was spent with relatives in Solor, Christiania and other points, where brothers, sisters, uncles and aunts reside. This was Mr. Sundt's second trip to the old country since emigrating to America 30 years ago, a period of 25 years having elapsed since his last visit.

While conditions in Norway are far better than in some other European countries, according to Mr. Sundt, Norwegians are having their share of troubles in the reconstruction period following the world war. Price levels are being lowered and wages coming in for cuts, which has resulted in many strikes and other industrial difficulty. He noted a great many changes since his former visit to the old country, most of which were for the better.

The present trip to Europe was in the form of an excursion, more than two hundred Norwegians from the Northwest making up the party. A special train chartered from Minneapolis to New York carried the excursionists, who also made the return trip in a body, and the tourists were officially known as "Norgesfaerden." Upon his return to Minnesota, Mr. Sundt stopped off at Montevideo for a few days to visit with relatives of Mrs. Sundt.

Automobile Association Provides Highway Signs

Business men of Thief River Falls and auto tourists traveling in this section have cause for thanking the Pennington County Automobile association for providing a large number of excellent road signs. C. E. Glines has just completed the painting job, the boards being furnished by the Nortz Lumber company. The signs are all uniform except for the indication of distance, being lettered as follows: "Camping Ground 15 Miles. Thief River Falls." In the center of the sign is a fist pointing out the direction. There are seven of these small indicators and a large one to be placed at the entrance to the camping grounds at Lovers' Lane. This last is lettered: "Tourist Camp Grounds, 300 Feet. Welcome."

The sign farthest from the city will be placed on the King's Trail 26 miles to the west. The job is a good one from all viewpoints and the idea most excellent.

SWIMMING POOL IS ACTED ON BY CLUB

Committee Appointed By Commercial Body to Co-Operate With City Park Board.

The need of a swimming pool in Thief River Falls was again discussed enthusiastically at the regular Commercial club meeting last week, and resulted in a motion to authorize the president to name a committee of three to co-operate with the park board in taking steps necessary for purchasing a suitable site and building a pool.

W. T. Carlisle of Crookston was present and told the members how the swimming pool was secured in that city. This was done by a sale of bonds to the public, the city in turn spreading a tax levy to take over the bonds and assume the cost of the undertaking, thus making it a public enterprise in every sense of the word.

Some local club members favored securing cash subscriptions for the project, while others thought it might be possible to have a bond sale here, the city to assume the obligation at some future time.

Curb and Gutter Contract Complete in Paving Area

The work of putting in curbs and gutters in the paving district of Thief River Falls is practically completed, and the crew is now busy placing an extra section of sidewalk between the old walks and the curb line. This work has already been accomplished on all walks abutting city property and many private owners are taking advantage of the opportunity to have the work done while the present crew is on the job.

The curbs and gutters, while part of the paving job, were let under a separate contract to Warren Brothers of Winnipeg, and these people have rushed the work through without delay. It is a big improvement but will not show up to full advantage until the streets are paved.

SCHOOL DIRECTORS WIN POSITIONS IN SPIRITED CONTEST

Dr. H. W. Froehlich and L. M. Rayson Re-Elected For Another Term on Board.

Nearly three hundred votes were cast at the annual school election held in Thief River Falls on Saturday evening, the unusual interest being attributed to the fact that an effort was to be made to defeat one of the old members of the school board by the introduction of a third candidate.

While no candidates had filed and therefore there were no names on the ballots for the two directorships to be filled, friends of Dr. H. W. Froehlich and L. M. Rayson, whose terms expired, prevailed on them to allow their names to be used on stickers. F. J. Dudley also aspired to one of these positions and decided to make the race via the sticker route. Mr. Dudley's campaign did not bring noticeable results, however, and he received only 29 votes as compared to 276 for Mr. Rayson and 269 for Dr. Froehlich. In addition to these, three votes were cast for F. F. Haynes, one for Rasmus Oen and one for Olaf Ramstad.

The proposition to sell the old frame Knox school building was carried, as was the request of the school board to dispose of the plots of ground in the south part of the city which had for some years been used for experimental purposes by the agricultural department.

SECOND BALL TEAM LAUNCHED BY BOYS TO MEET ALL FOES

New Club Composed of Home Men to Continue in Field Until Close of Season.

A new base ball team, to be known as the Thief River Falls Indians, has been organized here this week and the boys are now ready to take on all comers. The nine is composed of home men, and contains a number of the old stand-bys who have played here for years and others who are somewhat younger but very promising material.

The new team is arranging a series of games and expects to be able to keep going at least until the latter part of August, long after the regular semi-professional team is disbanded. Reuben Hadrath has been chosen manager of the aggregation, while the battery strength for the present is composed of Orville Herron, Grant Gulrud and C. J. Browne, pitchers, and Guy Lane, catcher.

Tuesday, the boys went to Warren and defeated a team there by a score of 6 to 5. This team was composed of seven regular Warren men and two others. Warren comes here on Sunday for a return game, which will be staged at the fair grounds. The price of admission has been placed at 25 cents.

It is the intention to book as many games as possible with neighboring teams and thus keep up the interest in base ball until late in the season. Judging from the way it starts out, there is every reason to believe the team will win its share of games.

The line-up in the Warren game on Tuesday follows: Thief River Falls—McGinn, 3b; Browne, p; Burggraf, ss; Berg, rf; Johnson, lf; Hadrath, cf; LaBree, 1b; Sundahl, 2b; Lane, c. Warren—Shoop, 3b; A. Lindstrand, c; T. Lindstrand, lf; Kuya, p; Peterson, ss; Philstrom, 1b; Warner, 2b; Oberg, rf; Shalman, cf.

Boat Builder Back From Far Canadian Northwest

Peter Eberhart returned this week from The Pas, Manitoba, where he had been employed since last fall superintending the construction of a number of large boats for a lumber company. Mr. Eberhart has had a great deal of experience in this line and his services are eagerly sought by concerns having this work to do.

Mr. Eberhart says The Pas, which is located a considerable distance from the beaten paths of civilization, is steadily improving and now boasts a population of 1,500 people. He likes the town and country but is not certain about going back. Crops all along the line look wonderfully well, the captain stated upon his arrival here.

EXTRA EFFORTS NOW BEING PUT ON GREAT FAIR

Every Detail Given Attention in Providing for all Departments of Big Exhibit.

Fine New Building Makes Possible Much Better Display in Increased Space.

Free Attractions Include Baseball Games, Fire Works and Fast Auto Races.

Wednesday morning, Aug. 3, the gates to the twentieth annual Pennington county fair will be thrown open to the public. From present indications the coming exhibition will far surpass previous fairs both in the matter of number and quality of exhibits and also in the matter of entertainment to be furnished visitors.

With the new building completed this year a much better opportunity is given for the display of all exhibits than ever before. All of the departments will this year be housed on the grounds in good buildings instead of being crowded and scattered about as has heretofore been necessary.

Agriculture a Leader.

Primarily the fair is an agricultural proposition and its chief purpose is to set forth the agricultural possibilities of Pennington county. Some of the finest livestock in the state is owned by Pennington county farmers and a large number of the best animals will be placed in public view during the fair.

Grains, grasses, vegetables and other products of the soil also have their places at the fair and the fair management has assurances that an exceptionally fine display of these will be brought in for exhibition.

And then the thousand and one other samples of handiwork, art, school work, culinary dainties, fancy work, needle work and other things of particular interest to the ladies. These exhibits will be there in greater abundance than ever and will be displayed to better advantage.

Free Attractions.

Some of the finest free attractions obtainable are to be shown at the fair this year. Among them may be mentioned the Ferris Wheel Girls, a combination act consisting of the Dellamead Troup, the Earle Sisters, Joe Kiljoy, comedy acrobat, and the wheel girls. These are high-class attractions and will be shown every afternoon and evening of the fair.

A fast game of baseball is scheduled for the first three afternoons and lovers of this sport will be given an opportunity to witness some first class contests. On the second and third evenings a gigantic fireworks display will be shown, lasting nearly two hours. This is one of the most magnificent things of its kind in the country and worth coming many miles to see.

Fast Auto Racing.

Saturday, the fourth day of the fair, has been set aside as auto racing day. A number of the fastest drivers in the country are expected to be on hand to furnish excitement galore. Anyone who likes thrills should make it a point to be present on Saturday afternoon.

MANUAL TEACHER RESIGNS FROM JOB

M. A. Schmitt, Old Instructor Here, Accepts Fine Position in Schools of Duluth.

M. A. Schmitt, for many years manual training instructor in the Thief River Falls schools, this week tendered his resignation to the board of education, to take effect immediately. Mr. Schmitt recently was offered and has accepted a position in the Duluth Technical high school and will take up his new work at the beginning of the school year in September. The post is one of considerable responsibility and must be viewed as an important promotion for the instructor.

Mr. Schmitt came to Thief River Falls eleven years ago when the manual training department was added to the school and has since then been in charge. He has built up the department into one of the best and most complete in this part of the state, and many exceptionally fine pieces of handiwork have been turned out by pupils under his supervision. Mr. Schmitt is offered a much larger field and better opportunities in his new location, besides a substantial increase in salary, and for these reasons his decision to leave Thief River Falls can hardly be criticized. The school board has not yet had an opportunity to act upon the resignation and so far as known has no one in view to fill the position.

It is Mr. Schmitt's intention to dispose of his beautiful residence property at 103 Duluth avenue south and to leave with his family as soon as possible for Duluth. The Schmitts have numerous friends here, all of whom wish them abundant success in their new field of endeavor.

New School Head Moves Here From North Dakota

I. T. Simley, newly elected superintendent of the city schools, with his wife and three small daughters, arrived last week from his former home at Rugby, N. D., and has taken up his residence at 302 Red Lake boulevard. He is busy getting a line on his work and will have everything in shape for the opening of the term in September.

Supt. and Mrs. Simley are very favorably impressed with Thief River Falls and believe they have a far more desirable field here than in the North Dakota village. They will be welcomed heartily into the social circles of the city, and patrons of the school feel that the new superintendent will prove a valuable man at the head of this institution.

COLORED PUGILIST GOES ON RIOT AND ENCOUNTERS GRIEF

Abe Bost of Highlanding Township Haled Into Court on Charge of Assault.

Abe Bost, colored, a resident of Highlanding township, was on Tuesday bound over to the grand jury on a charge of assault after a hearing before Judge N. W. Tarrant in municipal court. Mr. Bost was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Henry Hiland, also a resident of Highlanding township.

It was claimed by the plaintiff at the hearing that the trouble started in an argument over some money while both men were attending a Fourth of July celebration on a neighboring farm. Bost, it is alleged, struck Hiland with a contrivance known as a "sling shot," a small leather bag attached to two leashes and filled with buckshot and other leaden missiles. The weapon was placed on exhibition at the hearing and the defendant did not deny having used it. No defense was offered by Mr. Bost and he was not represented by an attorney. County Attorney Theo. Quale conducted the case for the state.

Bonds for defendant's appearance in district court were fixed in the sum of $200 and these were immediately secured, which allows the pugilistically inclined colored man his liberty until his case comes up before the district court at the next term. Quite a delegation of Highlanding people were present at the hearing Monday.

THREE LOCAL LADS NABBED ON CHARGE OF HOUSEBREAKING

Youths Admit Guilt and Are Placed Under Supervision of Probation Officer.

Three Thief River Falls lads, Glenn Gillette, Leonard Holum and Jesse Davidson, were placed on probation for an indefinite period as the result of a hearing given them before Probate Judge Lars Backe on Tuesday. Sheriff W. J. LaBree was appointed probation officer by the judge and the boys will be required to make weekly reports to him until further notice.

The lads were arrested last week and admitted committing a number of petty thieveries in local stores and other business establishments. It seems the favorite pastime of the boys has been breaking into stores at night and helping themselves to what change happened to be in the cash drawer and also supplying themselves with candy and other things which suited their fancy. They finally were rounded up by the authorities and made a full confession.

While the crime is serious, the youth of the lads prompted the court to leniency. They range in age from 14 to 17 years, and no doubt bad associates and too much loafing on the streets are largely responsible for them leaving the straight and narrow path. As long as the boys behave themselves they will be given every opportunity to make good, but the moment one of them lapses into his former ways he will immediately be sent to a corrective institution. The lads promised faithfully to go straight in the future, and one requirement of the probation is that they refrain absolutely from frequenting places where evil associates are likely to be encountered.

County Dads Give Roads and Ditches "Once Over"

The board of county commissioners met Monday as a board of equalization and continued the session Tuesday morning. The work was not finished, however, and the board of equalization will reconvene on Thursday, Aug. 4, to complete its task.

On Tuesday afternoon the commissioners made a tour of inspection looking after county ditch and road work, and found everything connected therewith progressing in a satisfactory manner. A special meeting has been set for next Saturday to conduct a hearing on county ditch No. 37. It is expected a large number of interested taxpayers will be on hand to air their views regarding the proposed improvement.

SECOND MARKET DAY SCHEDULED NEXT WEDNESDAY WITH GREATER SLASHING OF PRICES THAN EVER

Five Pounds of 45-Cent Coffee Offered as Leader By Group of Merchants—Special Bargains Listed By Every Merchandising Establishment in City.

Free Auction Sale, Drawing of Valuable Prizes and Other Attractions Are Features Offered—Preparations Being Made to Care For Many Visitors.

Next Wednesday, July 27, will occur the second of the series of Market Days planned for this summer by the Merchants' association of Thief River Falls. The first of these events took place a month ago and proved such a popular event with the public that an even more elaborate buying opportunity has been prepared for next Wednesday.

The first Market day was more in the nature of an experiment and there was much speculation as to how the plan would succeed. It soon became apparent when the appointed day arrived, however, that Thief River Falls merchants had hit upon the right tack in arranging an event of this kind and the day proved successful beyond the fondest hopes of those sponsoring the affair.

More Bargains Than Ever.

More bargains will be featured next Wednesday than have ever before been offered the public in one day at any one place. Every business establishment in the city is doing its share in slashing prices, each offering wonderful value in its own particular line.

Much has been written and talked in the last few months about the "buyers' strike." If there is such a strike within the trading territory of Thief River Falls the home business men are determined to break it by giving values which make pre-war prices look as if highway robbery was the motive which prompted merchants in placing values upon the goods.

Big Special Bargain.

The special bargain of twenty pounds of sugar for $1 a month ago proved such an attraction to the buying public that a similar event will be staged next Wednesday. Instead of sugar being made the leader at this time, coffee has been put on the bargain table. Five thousand pounds of regular 45 cent coffee has been provided and this will be offered at five pounds for one dollar. This price is made possible through a price concession on the part of the Caldwell Coffee company, importers of the coffee, the Thief River Grocery company, wholesalers, and the co-operation of twelve local merchants to stand the remainder of the loss. The advertising value of a deal of this kind appeals to the importer and wholesaler, who therefore are willing to make their share of the sacrifice in putting the deal across. The following local merchants are identified with the coffee deal: Larson Furniture company, Loken Brothers, Hermanson Hardware company, The Sapero company, E. O. Mogensen, Simonson's Meat and Grocery, A. M. Langseth, Hall Brothers company, C. Froseth, Palace Clothing House, Lieberman Brothers and Rolland's Meat and Grocery. The coffee will be distributed at the Rolland store.

Free Auction Sale.

Another free auction sale will be held next Wednesday for the benefit of those having personal property of any kind which they wish to dispose of. The sale is scheduled to begin promptly at 1 o'clock. Anything of value may be brought in and will be sold without charge.

Purchasers' Drawing.

As a special inducement for people to visit Thief River Falls on Market Day a number of articles will be given away absolutely free at a drawing to be held on the corner of Third street and LaBree avenue at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Following is a list of the things to be given away: One 100-lb. sack of sugar, one case canned tomatoes, one box bulk soda crackers, one case standard corn, one case standard peas, 25 pound box prunes, 50 pound sack Vivo flour, one case macaroni, one dozen quart Mason fruit jars, one box Spearmint chewing gum.

No Ball Game.

Due to the fact that most visitors will be too busy down town seeking bargains, no ball game is slated for next Wednesday. On an occasion of this kind it is difficult for a visiting crowd to work up much enthusiasm over a ball game and most of them feel they cannot afford to lose the time necessary to attend the game.

The motion picture houses, however, are putting on special attractions for the day and those who feel inclined may spend a quiet and pleasant hour there. A matinee will be given in the afternoon for the benefit of Market Day visitors who do not plan to remain for the evening.

District Court Sustained.

A decision received by Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund this week from the state supreme court upholds Judge Andrew Grindeland in a case recently appealed. The case involves some difficulties between Hans Rustad and L. A. Lampert over alleged damages to residence property belonging to the former and occupied by the latter, in which a wrecked heating plant figured largely, claimed by defendant to be caused by a defect in the boiler which caused an explosion. Both courts decided in favor of the owner of the property.

Two Sets of Twins in 18 Months Sets New Record

Four healthy youngsters added to a family in a year and a half is considerable of an addition, it must be admitted. Yet this is the number of children born to Mr. and Mrs. Berner Levos, farmers residing near Mavie, in just eighteen months. Two sets of twins in this short interval is somewhat of a record, even for Pennington county, and at this rate the Levoses will soon have a real Rooseveltian brood of youngsters. Each set of twins consists of a boy and a girl, and they are all well developed and healthy children. The latest arrivals came last Saturday.

THIEF RIVER FALLS FAVORS NEW TRAIL

Chippewa Route to Pass Thru Pennington County Westward Into Dakota.

Shall Thief River Falls extend a welcome to the Chippewa Trail? This was the question asked at the regular meeting of the Commercial club last Thursday. All members present expressed themselves as heartily in favor of doing all that possibly can be done to secure this new inter-state trail, which already is marked northward from Detroit to Red Lake Falls.

It is proposed to have the road come north to Thief River Falls and then to Warren, Alvarado and westward, following the Soo right-of-way as closely as possible, terminating at Mandan, N. D.

The matter was referred to the good roads committee by President W. A. Hall, Jr., this committee being composed of C. L. Hansen, Daniel Shaw, G. C. Strepter, Olaf Ramstud and Thos. A. Way.

OFFICIAL OPENING OF NEW BUILDING ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Ladies Preparing Splendid Program to Dedicate New Fair Grounds Structure.

The new building at the fair grounds, which will be occupied by the Woman's department, school and industrial exhibits, will be officially dedicated tomorrow, Friday, evening. Mrs. A. W. Swedenburg, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements, announces the following program:

8:30—Music by Thief River Falls band.

Community singing — Mrs. Guy Halvorson, leader.

Address of Welcome—Herbert Fuller, president of the fair board.

Five minute talks by members of the fair board—Albert Johnson and Fred Beerbower.

Address—Mayor John Bratrud.

Vocal Solo—Mrs. L. F. Fisher, with Miss Doris Halvorson as accompanist.

Speech of acceptance on behalf of the Woman's committee—Mrs. J. H. Hardesty.

At the conclusion of the regular program a dancing party will be given in the balcony of the pavilion, which has an excellent floor, a depth of 14 feet and a circumference of 200 feet. Good music has been secured and the occasion will no doubt prove very enjoyable. The entire building is being tastefully decorated and will present a beautiful appearance Friday evening.

The new building fills a long felt want in that it provides much needed space for the proper exhibition of departments which have heretofore been badly handicapped for lack of room. Chief among these is the Woman's department, which has been forced to occupy quarters in the city auditorium for this reason. The lower floor of the structure is to be used for industrial and business exhibits, which also were housed in the auditorium last year.

Everyone connected with the Pennington county fair is highly pleased with the new building, and particularly those in charge of the Woman's department, which will now be given an opportunity to occupy the position in relation to the fair which rightfully belongs to it.

NEW FIREWORKS FEATURE SHOWN AT COUNTY FAIR

Something New and Unique Offered Fair Visitors at Annual Event Next Month.

Two Hours of Thrilling Entertainment Given Free Each Evening on Grounds.

Contract Signed With World's Largest Makers of Fireworks For Displays.

Definite booking of a series of mammoth fireworks displays as one of the headline attractions at the Pennington county fair, was announced this week by Secretary Herbert Fuller.

This will be the biggest fireworks program of its kind ever produced in the state, officials of the fair said in announcing the signing of contracts. It will be put on under the supervision of expert operators from the Thearle-Duffield Fireworks Display company of Chicago. They are the largest producer of fireworks attractions in the world.

Each Display a Show.

Each display will comprise a special evening show in itself, in addition to the regular features of the fair. Practically every variety and type of modern pyrotechnics will be included in the program. All the material used in the production will be shipped here from Chicago, and the big explosive effects, aerial devices and set pieces will be controlled and operated by special safety apparatus.

Very Best to be Had.

"There are many firework attractions now being offered to the fair," Secretary Fuller said in announcing the engagement, "but this is far out of the ordinary run of night shows. We have looked over practically everything in the line. Fireworks displays which we have engaged for this year stand head and shoulders above anything of their kind that has ever been offered. They are spectacular in the extreme and provide two hours of countless thrills and perfect entertainment."

Seven Aliens Apply For Adoption By Uncle Sam

A hearing for the granting of applications for citizenship will be conducted by Judge Andrew Grindeland at the Pennington county court house on Friday, Aug. 5. The hearing had originally been set for July 29, but the court found it necessary to postpone it until the later date.

Seven applicants have filed their intention of becoming full-fledged citizens of the United States at this hearing. They are: Charles Langer, native of Austria, whose petition has been on file for some time but could not receive consideration due to the fact that a technical state of war has until very recently existed between the United States and his native land; Axel Olson, Carl Christoferson, Olof Helmer Sorenson and Anund Gunleikson, all natives of Norway; Robert Vange and William Porter, natives of Canada.

Rocksbury Farm Meeting.

A special meeting of the Rocksbury unit of the Pennington county farm bureau will be held at Valhall hall on Saturday evening, July 16. Important business is to come up for consideration at this time and all members of the unit are urgently requested to be present.

BOY SCOUTS TO CAMP FOR TWO WEEKS AT LAKE

Thief River Falls Lads Plan Great Time in Communion With Mother Nature.

Twenty Eager Boys to Go Under Leadership of Local Scoutmaster Soltau.

Much Moral and Physical Benefit Expected to Result From Experience.

Boy scouts of Thief River Falls to the number of about twenty, in charge of Scoutmaster E. A. Soltau, will leave tomorrow for Union lake to remain in camp for about ten days. Mr. Soltau will see to it that the boys get properly settled in camp, when he will return to this city and leave the lads in charge of a higher official from the state body. The local scouts have made great preparations to enjoy a genuine good time and the expedition promises many thrills and much excitement.

Two other boy scouts from Thief River Falls, Lee McLeaard and Willi Nason, are at present domiciled in Itasca State Park, and expect to remain there for two weeks in communion with nature.

Why Boys Should Camp.

Every parent, each scoutmaster must answer this question many times over and upon his ability to satisfy the inquiring parent, troop committeemen or even the boys themselves, rests the success or failure of the grand adventure under canvas to which 100,000 boy scouts look forward in their summer training camps. Here are some of the answers:

The boy scout camp satisfies that "run away from home" urge which, undirected, has in the past caused so many heart breaks and shipwrecked careers. Self reliance is needed in the making of every man. How often will the scout in camp have to act literally on his own resources, following trail signs, map making, or "hiking" for the camp at night? Being trusted in new ways to use his good sense, he develops self-reliance by being a good camper.

Chance to Advance.

Every scout wants to advance his grade toward the coveted Eagle Badge. Many obstacles tend to discourage him in his home troop meetings. Camp solves this problem; more actual hours with fewer distracting influences in a two weeks' camp than in a half year of troop meetings at home.

There is no place where boys have less sickness and where the general health is improved so much. The absence of candy and the corner drug store drinks plays no small part in giving nature a chance. Regular hours for rest and sleep, prompt response to bugle calls of reveille, mess, fatigue and taps, contribute to health and the joy of living which keeps boys growing and well.

Improves Boys' Morals.

To some scouts the scout law has seemed almost too idealistic and for such, doubt is overcome and new enthusiasm born when they see what beauty and happiness is added to life in the little wild wood community in which all honestly and on their honor are "doing their best" to do their duty to God and country and to obey the scout law.

VETERAN REUNION IMPORTANT EVENT

Former Members of Eighty-Eighth Division to Hold Meet at Des Moines.

Local veterans of the Eighty-eighth division have just received word from the Western Passenger association announcing a reduced railroad rate of fare and one-half for round trip to the first reunion of the division to be held at Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 26 to 28.

The special rate will be given for all service men who trained at Camp Dodge, either with the regular regiments of the division or with any of the special units stationed there during the war. It also applies to all artillerymen who were in training at the Des Moines cantonment.

At least 2,000 veterans from this state are expected to attend the reunion. Special trains will be operated from several points within the state, detail concerning which will be announced later.

According to announcements received from Des Moines this week there will be a tent city of more than 20 acres erected at the state fair grounds there, where the veterans will be given housing free of charge for the period of the reunion. Provision is being made for a total attendance of between 6,000 and 10,000 men.

LUTHER BAND BOYS IN GREAT CONCERT PLEASE EVERYBODY

Play to Fairly Large Crowd and Prove Right to Reputation Preceding Them.

Thief River Falls expected a musical treat upon the visit of the Luther College Concert band last Thursday, and in this there was no disappointment. It is generally conceded that the concert was the best thing of its kind ever given here. A fair sized audience was present and each number given by the band received enthusiastic applause, which brought from the musicians a number of encores not on the regular program.

The Luther band is composed of 54 members, each one of whom appears to be a musical artist. Under the leadership of Carlo A. Sperati, director, the large organization is kept under perfect control and the most difficult compositions rendered in a manner which leaves nothing to be desired. As an added attraction, a few numbers were rendered by the Luther Glee club composed of members of the band. The boys proved themselves skillful in rendering vocal music and made a great hit with the audience.

While the program was made up almost entirely of heavy classical numbers, the wonderful rendition prevented this style of music from becoming tiresome even when played almost to the exclusion of everything else. Included in the program were such numbers as the following: "Royal Trumpeters March," "LaGazza Ladra Overture," "Marche Slave," "Mocking Bird Fantasia," "Peace Chimes March," "The Wedding of the Rose," "By the Swanee River," "Tannhauser Overture," and, last but not least, the grand finale, which consisted of Sousa's famous march, "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

After hearing the Luther College band it can easily be understood why this organization has won international renown. The band is without doubt one of the very best in the country and Luther College has just cause to take a great deal of pride in it.

Store Broken Into.

A screen was removed and entrance gained through a rear window of the Peoples' Co-operative store last night by prowlers who likely intended to carry away something of value. No money was left in the cash drawer by the manager when closing for the night and it has been impossible to check over the stock sufficiently close to tell whether or not anything is missing. Several pranks of a like nature have been played on various business establishments in the city within the past few weeks, which makes it probable that local talent is responsible.

Pays Fine For Assault.

Joe Thompson yesterday paid a fine of $15 and costs in municipal court upon being found guilty on a charge of assaulting Martin Bothun with intent to do great bodily harm. The trouble arose when Mr. Bothun objected to the Thompson boys driving wagons loaded with sand over a piece of his land in the south part of the city. The argument led to blows and it is alleged Thompson picked up a club and struck Bothun over the head with it.

Heavy Rainfall.

Pennington county was visited on Wednesday morning by the heaviest shower of rain so far this season. While no official report has been obtained, it is stated by many observers that at least two inches of rain fell. Although not particularly needed at this time, the rain did no damage except to make the roads a trifle cumbersome for automobile travel.

COURT FINDS FOR COUNCIL AND DISMISSES CASES INTENDED TO INTERFERE WITH PAVING PLANS

Judge Grindeland Renders Decision and Rejects Pleas of Both Plaintiff and Intervenor For Temporary Injunction—Both Dismissed on Merits.

Intervenor Plans Appeal to Supreme Court to Force Early Decision—Bonds Sold and Preparations Made to Proceed With Needed Improvement.

Step by step the city council and other advocates of paving in Thief River Falls are defeating the objectors to the program. Developments of the past week have been very encouraging and the goal now seems nearer than at any time since the controversy started two years ago. It is expected the last remaining obstacle will be removed within the next thirty days, when the contractors stand ready to begin actual work in placing the pavement on the streets.

Decision Favors City.

The decision of Judge Andrew Grindeland in the suit heard here last week was made public on Tuesday. The court upholds the city council in all respects and finds that proceedings with regard to the paving matter have been entirely proper and according to law. The suit of the intervenor for a temporary injunction was denied in the court order, and the suits of both the intervenor and the original plaintiff were ordered dismissed on their merits.

City Bonds Sold.

The city council at its meeting Tuesday evening entered into an agreement for the sale of the city's bonds with which to finance the paving project, and succeeded in securing a very favorable contract. Arrangements are now being made for the delivery of the bonds and it is hoped to have the first installment of paving project money here by the latter part of August. The agreement provides for the payment of a stipulated amount upon the delivery of the bonds, and a certain sum on the first of each month thereafter until the job is completed. In this way it was possible to get the money at a slightly lower rate and still be able to care for the contractor's estimates as they become due.

Intervenor to Appeal.

In order to clarify the atmosphere in the legal sense and to remove the sole remaining obstacle standing in the way of the sale of the city's certificates, the intervenor's suit dismissed in district court will immediately be appealed to the supreme court and a decision is anticipated in less than thirty days. This proceeding also will bring the original plaintiff's case to the supreme court for immediate consideration, preventing any delay which the men behind this suit may plan and desire. Those in a position to know assert there is not one chance in a thousand for an adverse decision from the supreme court, an identical case appealed from the city of Marshall having been decided in favor of the council about a year ago.

VALLEY BOOSTERS WILL ARRIVE HERE ON THURSDY NOON

Development Tourists to Stop in Thief River Falls For More Than Hour.

The annual summer tour of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association, which this year covers the northern section of the valley, is scheduled to leave Crookston at 9:30 a. m. on Thursday, July 28. From there the itinerary includes Gentilly, Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire, it being planned to reach the latter village at 12:10 p. m., remaining there for 20 minutes. The tourists expect to reach Thief River Falls at 1 o'clock and will be guests of the city for one hour and 20 minutes. From here the schedule includes Holt, Middle River, Strathcona, Roseau, Greenbush and Badger, Roseau being chosen as stopping point for the night.

On Friday the tourists plan to visit Halma, Bronson, Hallock, Kennedy, Donaldson, Stephen, Argyle and Warren, the Marshall county seat being reached at 6:40 p. m. Here the concluding evening meeting of the tour will be held.

Many prominent speakers will accompany the travelers, among them being Oscar H. Smith, commissioner of immigration, St. Paul; J. H. Hay, assistant commissioner of agriculture; A. L. Flygare, division engineer highway department; B. W. Sewell, division maintenance engineer highway department; James Cumming, president Minnesota potato exchange; C. G. Selvig, superintendent Northwest School of Agriculture, and R. C. Mathwig, president of the Development association.

Local Firm Lands Contract.

The Union Plumbing and Heating company of Thief River Falls was this week awarded the contract for installing the plumbing and heating equipment in the new Kittson War Veterans' Memorial hospital about to be erected at Hallock. The contract involves a total of $8,700 and the local firm secured the job in competition with many bidders from other points.

To the Lake by Boat.

The M. A. Schmitt and Ed. Jaranson families started this morning for a trip to the Red lakes, going by motor boats. They will camp at the lakes for about two weeks. This is the first attempt to reach the lakes by boat reported this year but the voyagers did not expect to experience any difficulty in getting through.

Returns From Enjoyable Journey to Fatherland

John Sundt, well known farmer of Silverton township, returned last week from a three-months' trip to Norway, the land of his birth. He also made tours of England and France while in Europe and enjoyed the trip very much. Most of the time was spent in Norway, where the time was spent with relatives in Solor, Christiania and other points, where brothers, sisters, uncles and aunts reside. This was Mr. Sundt's second trip to the old country since emigrating to America 30 years ago, a period of 25 years having elapsed since his last visit.

While conditions in Norway are far better than in some other European countries, according to Mr. Sundt, Norwegians are having their share of troubles in the reconstruction period following the world war. Price levels are being lowered and wages coming in for cuts, which has resulted in many strikes and other industrial difficulty. He noted a great many changes since his former visit to the old country, most of which were for the better.

The present trip to Europe was in the form of an excursion, more than two hundred Norwegians from the Northwest making up the party. A special train chartered from Minneapolis to New York carried the excursionists, who also made the return trip in a body, and the tourists were officially known as "Norgesfoerden." Upon his return to Minnesota, Mr. Sundt stopped off at Montevideo for a few days to visit with relatives of Mrs. Sundt.

Automobile Association Provides Highway Signs

Business men of Thief River Falls and auto tourists traveling in this section have cause for thanking the Pennington County Automobile association for providing a large number of excellent road signs. C. E. Clines has just completed the painting job, the boards being furnished by the Nortz Lumber company. The signs are all uniform except for the indication of distance, being lettered as follows: "Camping Ground 15 Miles, Thief River Falls." In the center of the sign is a fist pointing out the direction. There are seven of these small indicators and a large one to be placed at the entrance to the camping grounds at Lager's Dam. This last is lettered: "Tourist Camp Grounds, 300 Feet. Welcome."

The sign farthest from the city will be placed on the King's Trail 26 miles to the west. The job is a good one from all viewpoints and the idea most excellent.

SWIMMING POOL IS ACTED ON BY CLUB

Committee Appointed By Commercial Body to Co-Operate With City Park Board.

The need of a swimming pool in Thief River Falls was again discussed enthusiastically at the regular Commercial club meeting last week, and resulted in a motion to authorize the president to name a committee of three to co-operate with the park board in taking steps necessary for purchasing a suitable site and building a pool.

W. T. Carlisle of Crookston was present and told the members how the swimming pool was secured in that city. This was done by a sale of bonds to the public, the city in turn spreading a tax levy to take over the bonds and assume the cost of the undertaking, thus making it a public enterprise in every sense of the word.

Some local club members favored securing cash subscriptions for the project, while others thought it might be possible to have a bond sale here, the city to assume the obligation at some future time.

Curb and Gutter Contract Complete in Paving Area

The work of putting in curbs and gutters in the paving district of Thief River Falls is practically completed, and the crew is now busy placing an extra section of sidewalk between the old walks and the curb line. This work has already been accomplished on all walks abutting city property and many private owners are taking advantage of the opportunity to have the work done while the present crew is on the job.

The curbs and gutters, while part of the paving job, were let under a separate contract to Warren Brothers of Winnipeg, and these people have rushed the work through without delay. It is a big improvement but will not show up to full advantage until the streets are paved.

SCHOOL DIRECTORS WIN POSITIONS IN SPIRITED CONTEST

Dr. H. W. Froehlich and L. M. Rayson Re-Elected For Another Term on Board.

Nearly three hundred votes were cast at the annual school election held in Thief River Falls on Saturday evening, the unusual interest being attributed to the fact that an effort was to be made to defeat one of the old members of the school board by the introduction of a third candidate.

While no candidates had filed and therefore there were no names on the ballots for the two directorships to be filled, friends of Dr. H. W. Froehlich and L. M. Rayson, whose terms expired, prevailed on them to allow their names to be used on stickers. F. J. Dudley also aspired to one of these positions and decided to make the race via the sticker route. Mr. Dudley's campaign did not bring noticeable results, however, and he received only 29 votes as compared to 276 for Mr. Rayson and 269 for Dr. Froehlich. In addition to these, three votes were cast for F. F. Haynes, one for Rasmus Oen and one for Olaf Ramstad.

The proposition to sell the old frame Knox school building was carried, as was the request of the school board to dispose of the plots of ground in the south part of the city which had for some years been used for experimental purposes by the agricultural department.

SECOND BALL TEAM LAUNCHED BY BOYS TO MEET ALL FOES

New Club Composed of Home Men to Continue in Field Until Close of Season.

A new base ball team, to be known as the Thief River Falls Indians, has been organized here this week and the boys are now ready to take on all comers. The nine is composed of home men, and contains a number of the old stand-bys who have played here for years and others who are somewhat younger but very promising material.

The new team is arranging a series of games and expects to be able to keep going at least until the latter part of August, long after the regular semi-professional team is disbanded. Reuben Hadrath has been chosen manager of the aggregation, while the battery strength for the present is composed of Orville Herron, Grant Gulrud and C. J. Browne, pitchers, and Guy Lane, catcher.

Tuesday the boys went to Warren and defeated a team there by a score of 6 to 5. This team was composed of seven regular Warren men and two others. Warren comes here on Sunday for a return game, which will be staged at the fair grounds. The price of admission has been placed at 25 cents.

It is the intention to book as many games as possible with neighboring teams and thus keep up the interest in base ball until late in the season. Judging from the way it starts out, there is every reason to believe the team will win its share of games.

The line-up in the Warren game on Tuesday follows: Thief River Falls—McGinn, 3b; Browne, p; Burggraf, ss; Berg, rf; Johnson, lf; Hadrath, cf; LaBree, 1b; Sundahl, 2b; Lane, c. Warren—Shoop, 3b; A. Lindstrand, c; T. Lindstrand, lf; Kays, p; Peterson, ss; Pihlstrom, 1b; Warner, 2b; Oberg, rf; Skalman, cf.

Boat Builder Back From Far Canadian Northwest

Peter Eberhart returned this week from The Pas, Manitoba, where he had been employed since last fall superintending the construction of a number of large boats for a lumber company. Mr. Eberhart has had a great deal of experience in this line and his services are eagerly sought by concerns having this work to do.

Mr. Eberhart says The Pas, which is located a considerable distance from the beaten paths of civilization, is steadily improving and now boasts a population of 1,500 people. He likes the town and country but is not certain about going back. Crops all along the line look wonderfully well, the captain stated upon his arrival here.

EXTRA EFFORTS NOW BEING PUT ON GREAT FAIR

Every Detail Given Attention in Providing for all Departments of Big Exhibit.

Fine New Building Makes Possible Much Better Display in Increased Space.

Free Attractions Include Base-ball Games, Fire Works and Fast Auto Races.

Wednesday morning, Aug. 3, the gates to the twentieth annual Pennington county fair will be thrown open to the public. From present indications the coming exhibition will far surpass previous fairs both in the matter of number and quality of exhibits and also in the matter of entertainment to be furnished visitors.

With the new building completed this year a much better opportunity is given for the display of all exhibits than ever before. All of the departments will this year be housed on the grounds in good buildings instead of being crowded and scattered about as has heretofore been necessary.

Agriculture a Leader.

Primarily the fair is an agricultural proposition and its chief purpose is to set forth the agricultural possibilities of Pennington county. Some of the finest livestock in the state is owned by Pennington county farmers and a large number of the best animals will be placed in public view during the fair.

Grains, grasses, vegetables and other products of the soil also have their places at the fair and the fair management has assurances that an exceptionally fine display of these will be brought in for exhibition.

And then the thousand and one other samples of handiwork, art, school work, culinary dainties, fancy work, needle work and other things of particular interest to the ladies. These exhibits will be there in greater abundance than ever and will be displayed to better advantage.

Free Attractions.

Some of the finest free attractions obtainable are to be shown at the fair this year. Among them may be mentioned the Ferris Wheel Girls, a combination act consisting of the Dellamead Troup, the Earle Sisters, Joe Kiljoy, comedy acrobat, and the wheel girls. These are high-class attractions and will be shown every afternoon and evening of the fair.

A fast game of baseball is scheduled for the first three afternoons and lovers of this sport will be given an opportunity to witness some first class contests. On the second and third evenings a gigantic fireworks display will be shown, lasting nearly two hours. This is one of the most magnificent things of its kind in the country and worth coming many miles to see.

Fast Auto Racing.

Saturday, the fourth day of the fair, has been set aside as auto racing day. A number of the fastest drivers in the country are expected to be on hand to furnish excitement galore. Anyone who likes thrills should make it a point to be present on Saturday afternoon.

MANUAL TEACHER RESIGNS FROM JOB

M. A. Schmitt, Old Instructor Here, Accepts Fine Position in Schools of Duluth.

M. A. Schmitt, for many years manual training instructor in the Thief River Falls schools, this week tendered his resignation to the board of education, to take effect immediately. Mr. Schmitt recently was offered and has accepted a position in the Duluth Technical high school and will take up his new work at the beginning of the school year in September. The post is one of considerable responsibility and must be viewed as an important promotion for the instructor.

Mr. Schmitt came to Thief River Falls eleven years ago when the manual training department was added to the school and has since then been in charge. He has built up the department into one of the best and most complete in this part of the state, and many exceptionally fine pieces of handiwork have been turned out by pupils under his supervision. Mr. Schmitt is offered a much larger field and better opportunities in his new location, besides a substantial increase in salary, and for these reasons his decision to leave Thief River Falls can hardly be criticized. The school board has not yet had an opportunity to act upon the resignation and so far as known has no one in view to fill the position.

It is Mr. Schmitt's intention to dispose of his beautiful residence property at 103 Duluth avenue south and to leave with his family as soon as possible for Duluth. The Schmitts have numerous friends here, all of whom wish them abundant success in their new field of endeavor.

New School Head Moves Here From North Dakota

I. T. Simley, newly elected superintendent of the city schools, with his wife and three small daughters, arrived last week from his former home at Rugby, N. D., and has taken up his residence at 302 Red Lake boulevard. He is busy getting a line on his work and will have everything in shape for the opening of the term in September.

Supt. and Mrs. Simley are very favorably impressed with Thief River Falls and believe they have a far more desirable field here than in the North Dakota village. They will be welcomed heartily into the social circles of the city, and patrons of the school feel that the new superintendent will prove a valuable man at the head of this institution.

COLORED PUGILIST GOES ON RIOT AND ENCOUNTERS GRIEF

Abe Bost of Highlanding Township Haled Into Court on Charge of Assault.

Abe Bost, colored, a resident of Highlanding township, was on Tuesday bound over to the grand jury on a charge of assault after a hearing before Judge N. W. Tarrant in municipal court. Mr. Bost was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Henry Hiland, also a resident of Highlanding township.

It was claimed by the plaintiff at the hearing that the trouble started in an argument over some money while both men were attending a Fourth of July celebration on a neighboring farm. Bost, it is alleged, struck Hiland with a contrivance known as a "sling shot," a small leather bag attached to two leashes and filled with buckshot and other leaden missiles. The weapon was placed on exhibition at the hearing and the defendant did not deny having used it. No defense was offered by Mr. Bost and he was not represented by an attorney. County Attorney Theo. Quale conducted the case for the state.

Bonds for defendant's appearance in district court were fixed in the sum of $200 and these were immediately secured, which allows the pugilistically inclined colored man his liberty until his case comes up before the district court at the next term. Quite a delegation of Highlanding people were present at the hearing Monday.

THREE LOCAL LADS NABBED ON CHARGE OF HOUSEBREAKING

Youths Admit Guilt and Are Placed Under Supervision of Probation Officer.

Three Thief River Falls lads, Glenn Gillette, Leopard Hoium and Jesse Davidson, were placed on probation for an indefinite period as the result of a hearing given them before Probate Judge Lars Backe on Tuesday. Sheriff W. J. LaBree was appointed probation officer by the judge and the boys will be required to make weekly reports to him until further notice.

The lads were arrested last week and admitted committing a number of petty thieveries in local stores and other business establishments. It seems the favorite pastime of the boys has been breaking into stores at night and helping themselves to what chance happened to be in the cash drawer and also supplying themselves with candy and other things which suited their fancy. They finally were rounded up by the authorities and made a full confession.

While the crime is serious, the youth of the lads prompted the court to leniency. They range in age from 14 to 17 years, and no doubt bad associates and too much loafing on the streets are largely responsible for them leaving the straight and narrow path. As long as the boys behave themselves they will be given every opportunity to make good, but the moment one of them lapses into his former ways he will immediately be sent to a corrective institution. The lads promised faithfully to go straight in the future, and one requirement of the probation is that they refrain absolutely from frequenting places where evil associates are likely to be encountered.

County Dads Give Roads and Ditches "Once Over"

The board of county commissioners met Monday as a board of equalization and continued the session Tuesday morning. The work was not finished, however, and the board of equalization will reconvene on Thursday, Aug. 4, to complete its task.

On Tuesday afternoon the commissioners made a tour of inspection looking after county ditch and road work, and found everything connected therewith progressing in a satisfactory manner. A special meeting has been set for next Saturday to conduct a hearing on county ditch No. 37. It is expected a large number of interested taxpayers will be on hand to air their views regarding the proposed improvement.

SECOND MARKET DAY SCHEDULED NEXT WEDNESDAY WITH GREATER SLASHING OF PRICES THAN EVER

Five Pounds of 45-Cent Coffee Offered as Leader By Group of Merchants—Special Bargains Listed By Every Merchandising Establishment in City.

Free Auction Sale, Drawing of Valuable Prizes and Other Attractions Are Features Offered—Preparations Being Made to Care For Many Visitors.

Next Wednesday, July 27, will occur the second of the series of Market Days planned for this summer by the Merchants' association of Thief River Falls. The first of these events took place a month ago and proved such a popular event with the public that an even more elaborate buying opportunity has been prepared for next Wednesday.

The first Market day was more in the nature of an experiment and there was much speculation as to how the plan would succeed. It soon became apparent when the appointed day arrived, however, that Thief River Falls merchants had hit upon the right tack in arranging an event of this kind and the day proved successful beyond the fondest hopes of those sponsoring the affair.

More Bargains Than Ever.

More bargains will be featured next Wednesday than have ever before been offered the public in one day at any one place. Every business establishment in the city is doing its share in slashing prices, each offering wonderful value in its own particular line.

Much has been written and talked in the last few months about the "buyers' strike." If there is such a strike within the trading territory of Thief River Falls the home business men are determined to break it by giving value which make pre-war prices look as if highway robbery was the motive which prompted merchants in placing value upon their goods.

Big Special Bargain.

The special bargain of twenty pounds of sugar for $1 a month ago proved such an attraction to the buying public that a similar event will be staged next Wednesday. Instead of sugar being made the leader at this time, coffee has been put on the bargain table. Five thousand pounds of regular 45 cent coffee has been provided and this will be offered at five pounds for one dollar. This price is made possible through a price concession on the part of the Caldwell Coffee company, importers of the coffee, the Thief River Grocery company, wholesalers, and the cooperation of twelve local merchants to stand the remainder of the loss. The advertising value of a deal of this kind appeals to the importer and wholesaler, who therefore are willing to make their share of the sacrifice in putting the deal across. The following local merchants are identified with the coffee deal: Larson Furniture company, Loken Brothers, Hermanson Hardware company, The Sapero company, E. O. Mogensen, Simonson's Meat and Grocery, A. M. Langseth, Hall Brothers company, C. Froseth, Palace Clothing House, Lieberman Brothers and Rolland's Meat and Grocery. The coffee will be distributed at the Rolland store.

Free Auction Sale.

Another free auction sale will be held next Wednesday for the benefit of those having personal property of any kind which they wish to dispose of. The sale is scheduled to begin promptly at 1 o'clock. Anything of value may be brought in and will be sold without charge.

Purchasers' Drawing.

As a special inducement for people to visit Thief River Falls on Market Day a number of articles will be given away absolutely free at a drawing to be held on the corner of Third street and LaBree avenue at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Following is a list of the things to be given away: One 100 lb. sack of sugar, one case canned tomatoes, one box bulk soda crackers, one case standard corn, one case standard peas, 25 pound box prunes, 50 pound sack Vivo flour, one case macaroni, one dozen quart Mason fruit jars, one box Spearmint chewing gum.

No Ball Game.

Due to the fact that most visitors will be too busy down town seeking bargains, no ball game is slated for next Wednesday. On an occasion of this kind it is difficult for a visiting crowd to work up much enthusiasm over a ball game and most of them feel they cannot afford to lose the time necessary to attend the game.

The motion picture houses, however, are putting on special attractions for the day and those who feel inclined may spend a quiet and pleasant hour there. A matinee will be given in the afternoon for the benefit of Market Day visitors who do not plan to remain for the evening.

District Court Sustained.

A decision received by Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund this week from the state supreme court upholds Judge Andrew Grindeland in a case recently appealed. The case involves some difficulties between Hans Ramstad and L. A. Lampert over alleged damages to residence property belonging to the former and occupied by the latter, in which a wrecked heating plant figured largely, claimed by defendant to be caused by a defect in the boiler which caused an explosion. Both courts decided in favor of the owner of the property.

Two Sets of Twins in 18 Months Sets New Record

Four healthy youngsters added to a family in a year and a half is considerable of an addition, it must be admitted. Yet this is the number of children born to Mr. and Mrs. Berney Levos, farmers residing near Mavie, in just eighteen months. Two sets of twins in this short interval is somewhat of a record, even for Pennington county, and at this rate the Levoses will soon have a real Rooseveltian brood of youngsters. Each set of twins consists of a boy and a girl, and they are all well developed and healthy children. The latest arrivals came last Saturday.

THIEF RIVER FALLS FAVORS NEW TRAIL

Chippewa Route to Pass Thru Pennington County Westward Into Dakota.

Shall Thief River Falls extend a welcome to the Chippewa Trail? This was the question asked at the regular meeting of the Commercial club last Thursday. All members present expressed themselves as heartily in favor of doing all that possibly can be done to secure this new inter-state trail, which already is marked northward from Detroit to Red Lake Falls.

It is proposed to have the road come north to Thief River Falls and then to Warren, Alvarado and westward, following the Soo right-of-way as closely as possible, terminating at Mandan, N. D.

The matter was referred to the good roads committee by President W. A. Hall, Jr., this committee being composed of C. L. Hansen, Daniel Shaw, G. C. Streeter, Olaf Ramstad and Thos. A. Way.

Address—Mayor John Bratrud.

Vocal Solo—Mrs. L. F. Fisher, with Miss Beri Halvorson as accompanist.

Speech of acceptance on behalf of the Woman's committee—Mrs. J. H. Hardesty.

At the conclusion of the regular program a dancing party will be given in the balcony of the pavilion, which has an excellent floor, a depth of 14 feet and a circumference of 200 feet. Good music has been secured and the occasion will no doubt prove very enjoyable. The entire building is being tastefully decorated and will present a beautiful appearance Friday evening.

The new building fills a long felt want in that it provides much needed space for the proper exhibition of departments which have heretofore been badly handicapped for lack of room. Chief among these is the Woman's department, which has been forced to occupy quarters in the city auditorium for this reason. The lower floor of the structure is to be used for industrial and business exhibits, which also were housed in the auditorium last year.

Everyone connected with the Pennington county fair is highly pleased with the new building, and particularly those in charge of the Woman's department, which will now be given an opportunity to occupy the position in relation to the fair which rightfully belongs to it.

Paulson-Nelson Wedding.

The following account of the wedding of Dr. A. J. Paulson and Miss Mina Nelson, taken from the columns of the Devils Lake Daily Journal, will prove of interest to readers of The Times:

"A very pretty wedding took place in this city at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Louise B. Pearson, on Wednesday, June 29th, when Miss Mina A. Nelson became the bride of Dr. A. J. Paulson of Thief River Falls, Minn. Rev. P. H. Case, pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city, performed the ceremony. The wedding took place at 6 o'clock in the evening, the house being beautifully decorated with pink and white ferns and flowers.

"Only the immediate relatives were present. The bride's niece, Mrs. R. D. McDougle, played the wedding march. The ceremony was a very beautiful and impressive one, the ring ceremony being used.

"The bride wore a gown of white bridal satin, lace and tulle, and her veil was a charming creation of silk caught into a cap effect with pearls and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and bridal roses. After hearty congratulations guests took their places at the dining table, their places being designated by place-cards which harmonized with the color scheme—pink and white.

"The bride is one of the popular young ladies of Thief River Falls, Minn., and for the past three years has been bookkeeper and nurse at the Thief River Falls Clinic.

"The groom is a graduate of Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia, and has done two years of post-graduate work in surgery in Chicago and New York, and also has had an extensive period in surgery. Dr. Paulson for the last five years has been engaged as surgeon with the Clinic at Thief River Falls but has become associated with the Watertown Clinic, one of the foremost organizations of its kind in South Dakota. The selection of Dr. Paulson for this post is a high tribute to his standing as a surgeon. He was selected after competitive tests in which five candidates participated, one of these being from the Mayo hospital at Rochester. He will take up his work there after July 11th. Dr. and Mrs. Paulson left on No. 1 for Glacier National Park. From there they will return to this city for a few days and then will go by auto to Watertown, S. D., where they will make their future home."

Dahl-Lien.

At the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dahl, 412 Arnold Ave. N., on Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock, in a setting of sweet peas and other midsummer flowers, was solemnized the marriage of Miss Florence Lien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Lien, Underwood, and Archie Dahl. Rev. Geo. Larson, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church of this city, read the impressive service in the presence of immediate relatives and a few close friends. The bride who was unattended, wore a charming creation of white net fashioned on simple lines, and carried a bouquet of Columbia roses. A wedding luncheon for the guests was served in the dining room after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Dahl left Monday evening for Underwood, where they will spend two weeks at the home of the brides' parents. For the past two and a half years the bride has made this city her home and was employed as head saleslady in the dry goods department of the Loken Department store. The groom is employed as clerk in the Albert Lieberman clothing store.

Dinner Party.

Mrs. H. O. Loken entertained the members of the Chas. M. Holt Chautauqua Company, with which company Miss Grace Loken is traveling, at a 6 o'clock dinner at her home on Friday evening. EARLY FALL STYLE REVUE A FEATURE OF COUNTY FAIR

Loken Brothers and Johnson Millinery to Co-operate in Putting on Great Show.

As a fitting inauguration of the new building at the Pennington county fair grounds, an early fall style revue will be staged by Loken Brothers and the Johnson Millinery parlors. This style show will doubtless prove one of the main attractions at the fair on Aug. 3, 4 and 5.

Eighteen models, each representing a distinct type, have been selected for this show and every style of north Minnesota beauty will therefore be represented. Mr. Loken states that individuality in women's wear is a matter of the highest importance and that he will have on hand an array of garment that will do full justice to each of the models.

The garments selected for this show will be far in advance of those offered in the stores at that time, representing the very latest things turned out by designers. Identically the same garments will be shown at the same time in New York and Chicago.

The first performance will be given at the new pavilion at 9 o'clock on Aug. 3; the second at 4 o'clock the following afternoon and the third at 8 o'clock the same evening. On Aug. 5 the performance will be at 3 o'clock and at 8.

The room will be artistically decorated and music will be furnished by a concert orchestra. The models will parade on walks built especially for this occasion and so arranged that the paraders are in full view of the audience. The display will include full equipment—frocks, gowns, coats, suits, hats, furs, hosiery and shoes.

You get more genuine chewing satisfaction from the Real Tobacco Chew than you ever got from the ordinary kind.

The good tobacco taste lasts so long—a small chew of this class of tobacco lasts much longer than a big chew of the old kind. That's why it costs less to use.

Early Fall Style Revue

During the Annual Pennington County Fair, Aug. 3-4-5-6, at the new Women's Building

Through the co-operation of Loken Brothers and the Johnson Millinery with the Fair Management, we will present the finest Style Show ever staged in Northern Minnesota. Five performances in all.

First performance, 9 p. m., Aug. 3rd
Second performance, 2 p. m., Aug. 4th
Third performance, 8 p. m., Aug. 4th
Fourth performance 3 p. m. Aug. 5th
Fifth performance, 8 p. m., Aug. 5th

This will be a Style Show of decidedly uncommon attraction, taking place in the beautiful new Woman's Fair Building and will be staged on walks built especially for this Style Show. Eighteen models have been selected for this display, each representing a distinct type of Northern Minnesota beauty. We believe that styles should be adapted to the types for which they were intended; accordingly garments will be shown on models which would "carry off" these garments most appropriately—most artistically. You will notice the individuality possessed in every garment and hat shown, that divines that beauty lies not merely in the garment or hat, per se, but in the manner of its wearing.

To see this Style Show is to see the finest advance fall and winter fashions, expressed here from New York, Cleveland and Chicago especially for this show. Identically the same styles as shown at the New York and Chicago Style Shows.

THE USUAL RESULT.

Deposed members of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston have started after the scalp of Supt. C. G. Selvig. There is nothing surprising in this. Men who accomplish things are always targets for people of small calibre.

There are several other agricultural schools in Minnesota but it is safe to say that none has reached the prominence enjoyed by the institution at Crookston. For this state of affairs Supt. Selvig is largely responsible. One would think that his reward would be something besides suspicion, villification and abuse, but it would seem as if this is to become part of the price he has to pay for standing loyally by his town and the excellent institution of which he is the head.

Mr. Selvig made the mistake of following the course he believed to be right without consulting a lot of people who knew nothing whatever about the problems he had to solve. The soundness of his methods is borne out by the results. This did not make him any more popular with those who were jealous of his success.

If this were a matter that concerned the people of Crookston alone it would be none of our business. Mr. Selvig, however, has become something of a district leader thru his various activities and his constant effort to improve conditions, particularly where these pertain to farming. He is in the employ of the state and the servant of the people of a large section. The attempt of a small coterie at Crookston to depose him rightfully failed.

Lad Proves Incorrigible; Sent to Red Wing School

Orvin, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Morstad, was on Tuesday evening taken to the state training school for boys at Red Wing by Sheriff W. J. LaBree. This action was decided upon at a hearing before Judge of Probate Lars Backe on Tuesday afternoon, at which time considerable evidence was introduced to show the delinquency of the youth. His mother admitted she could do nothing with him and gladly consented when it was suggested the boy be sent to the training school.

The lad does not appear overly bright and admitted that he had not progressed beyond the second grade in school. It was plain that nothing could be done for the boy in his home surroundings and the court deemed it advisable to commit him to the state institution.

Soil Experts Here.

F. J. Alway of the state experiment station and E. P. Tanner of Chicago, representing the Anaconda Copper Mining company, makers of phosphate fertilizer, are spending the week in this vicinity inspecting the various plots of grains on which the phosphate has been used. They are more than pleased with results and predict that a large amount of phosphate will be used by northwestern Minnesota farmers within a short time, with greatly increased yields coming from its use.

Public Forum

Do Not Put it Off.

Why continue this waste?

We can show you 20,000 acres or more, of land in Polk county cultivated last year that produced barely enough net returns to pay the taxes or less—labor, seed grain, cash profits, soil fertility, all lost because of the sow thistle.

We wish that we could get everyone to see the seriousness of this problem from the money standpoint and also cause everyone to see the absolute necessity of doing his part before it is too late. The sow thistle is a public menace. This is no time to lament the evil, it is time to act with a definite plan and without let up. This will throttle the sow thistle and no other method will. But this means everybody.

Do not, therefore, put off mowing that patch of sow thistle in the grain field, the stray stalks along the road, the bunches in the fence corners, the strips along the edges of fields and all idle land. A few hours now, and from time to time as new shoots blossom, with the scythe or mower, will mean the saving of a world of work for next year and the next for you and your neighbor; not to cut down the growing pest may mean the wiping out of profits and the life of the soil for a number of years.

The sow thistle is in the active flowering stage for six weeks or more. Do not think that because a few heads have opened and turned white that it is too late. At this stage only comparatively few heads are ripe and the "advance guards" will not have their seed scattered to any great extent when mowed.

Let us check with hoe, plow, scythe and mower the spread of the sow thistle, having in mind our neighbor's interests and rights as well as our own interests; let us restore the agriculture of the Northwest to a profitable basis, and further let us plan now for a method of cropping for the future that will check and eradicate the evil without the unnecessary loss of crops or the otherwise needless expenditure of a vast amount of labor. The future of farming in the state depends upon it. Go with us over this and other counties of the Northwest section of Minnesota and be convinced that this is the time for action.

Sow thistles and poverty; clean farming and prosperity.

JOHN MEISSNER,
Weed Inspector, 1st Dist., Polk County, Minnesota.

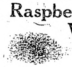
Raspberry Season Will Soon Be Over



You can make a pleasing variety of jams, conserves, jellies and sauces with raspberries. Try this tested recipe:

Raspberry Jam

One pound of sorted berries
Three quarters of pound granulated sugar
Place all together in preserving kettle and boil rapidly till syrup breaks as in jelly making. Pour into bottles or jars. When cold cover with melted paraffin. Store in cool room.

DON'T wait much longer to put up a plentiful supply of raspberries and loganberries for next winter—in Ball Mason jars. The season for Cuthbert and Antwerp berries will soon be over. They are the most desirable varieties for canning and when they're gone there won't be any more raspberries in quantities for canning.

Besides the economy of home canning there is the satisfaction of knowing the quality of everything that goes into your jars. The family knows that no canned berries can equal the wholesomeness, flavor and deliciousness of those that Mother puts up at home.

Friction—the Pickpocket of Industry

IF the loss to industry through unnecessary friction could be entirely eliminated; it would mean a saving of sufficient money to pay off the combined state debt of Illinois, Indiana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas in a single year.

—(Moody's Manual)

It would represent twice the value of all the vessels produced in the United States in a normal year, and would be greater in value than the annual rye, barley, or rice crop.

—(Statistical Abstract of U. S.)

The value of power lost to industry through friction has been estimated to reach the staggering total of $185,000,000 annually.

—(Industrial Oil Engineering)

Realizing that friction is an undesirable partner of industry, and feeling its obligation as the leader among manufacturers of lubricants, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has for years maintained a staff of lubricating engineers and lubricating chemists, whose business it has been to consult with industrial engineers to solve for them their individual lubricating problems as they are presented.

The services of these men are given without charge, and the saving effected has been great.

When it is realized that every machine presents a friction problem, and that every industry, from cotton goods to corn flakes is dependent on proper lubrication for turning out its product efficiently, one function of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) becomes more apparent.

BOARD RULES FARM SCHOOL CHARGES WERE UNSUSTAINED

Attempt to Remove Supt. C. G. Selvig From Position in Northwest School of Agriculture Fails—Charges Not Sustained at Hearing Before State Regents.

Considerable excitement was caused last week at Crookston, when it became known that an attempt had been made by a number of former teachers to remove Supt. C. G. Selvig from his position in the Northwest School of Agriculture. Mr. Selvig was completely exhonerated by the Minnesota State Board of regents. The following account of the affair, given by the Crookston Times, will be of interest to local friends of Mr. Selvig and of the Northwest school:

"The hearing called by the regents of the State University to investigate the charges of mismanagement at the Northwest School of Agriculture, which was held last week, was entertaining, if nothing more.

It proved to be farce-comedy and was the most amusing feature of visitors' day program at the Northwest School. Supt. Selvig was, according to those bringing the charges to have been made the goat, but he failed to qualify in that capacity by an overwhelming majority.

The charges had been preferred by John Huseby, one of the deposed teachers, and he attempted to substantiate them by the evidence furnished by himself and three other members of last year's teaching staff, who had not been recommended for reappointment. The manner in which they substantiated the charges was what produced the merriment and stamped the whole proceedings as a fascinating burlesque.

Huseby Called.

Mr. Huseby was first called to the stand by President Snyder of the board of regents. The formal chatges were taken up one at a time. The first charge was that 24 acres of corn had been cut to fill the silos, and in hauling the fodder corn to the silos the work had been so carelessly done that several hundred bushels of ears had been broken off, allowed to lie on the ground and were afterward plowed under. Mr. Huseby had watched the process with tearful interest. It was fine dent corn and it grieved him to see so much splendid ensilage wasted. The corn plowed under, he estimated, would run 10 bushels to the acre.

Mr. McCall, the farm foreman, was called, and produced his records which showed that the corn in this field was not dent corn at all, but pearl flint corn; that the field had been gleaned after the harvest, and forty-five bushels of the broken off ears had been gathered. According to Mr. McCall's statement, there was no waste of corn; the only part of the transaction that he questioned was as to whether the amount of corn gleaned was sufficient to pay the cost of labor.

Charges Based on Rumor.

The charges that part of the carbide purchased for the farm had been used in Supt. Selvig's residence, and that a washing machine and davenport purchased for the farm had been appropriated by him for his own use, were, Mr. Huseby admitted, only based on rumors he had heard and he had no personal knowledge of them. Mr. Selvig quickly disposed of these, however, by showing that the carbide connection to his residence had been made several years ago upon the authority of Dean Woods, and that the davenport and washing machine had been purchased by him personally, in proof of which he produced the cancelled checks given in payment.

The charge that Mr. Huseby's advice had not been followed in the location of a certain pasture, was promptly dismissed by the regents on the ground that Mr. Huseby had not been employed to give directions on matters of management, but to follow them.

Bull Enters Hearing.

The next charge was that a bull had been loaned to the farm by a Mr. Berg and had been installed in a box stall upon Mr. Selvig's orders, which, six months previous, had been occupied by a cow and calf infected with tuberculosis. This stall, Mr. Huseby said, had not been disinfected, and he felt so sorry for this fine bull that he had taken it upon himself to write to the owner, telling him of the manner in which the state had abused his kindness in loaning the animal, Upon being questioned, he admitted that he was in charge of the animal husbandry department at the experiment farm; that this same box stall, for several months previous to its occupancy by said bull, had been the abiding place of three Holstein calves; that he had made no effort to disinfect it and that the well of sympathy in his heart had not overflowed for the calves, but had gushed forth only for the bull. The whole matter was disposed of and became very much of a joke when Mr. Ronigan, the barn foreman, was sent for and testified that the bull had been housed in the box stall by himself and not upon Mr. Selvig's orders, and that, furthermore, the stall, upon the removal of the infected cow and calf, had been thoroughly and properly disinfected.

Mr. Huseby's final charge was that he had been employed by Mr. Selvig for a term of two years. But this charge was quickly disposed of by the production of the letter of appointment, showing that the term of his appointment was for one year only.

Smith Testifies.

Prof. J. J. Smith, another of the deposed teachers, then went to bat. He charged that some of the farm help had been used for Supt. Selvig's employment. He had been there two years and from the position of his office was able to keep a close watch upon the Selvig residence. During that time he had seen the janitor spend two whole hours hoeing the Selvig garden. On two or three other occasions this criminally-minded individual had been observed mowing the Selvig lawn. At one time the engineer had been guilty of driving Mrs. Selvig in the Selvig car to Red Lake Falls, and the motor teacher had driven Mr. Selvig's car to town, and in it Mr. Selvig had the audacity to ride. To crown the whole list of infamous things that had been revealed to Mr. Smith day after day as he watched from his observation post, was that the farm janitor had once been seen taking off the Selvig storm windows and putting on the screens. One of the regents asked if he thought any of these men had neglected their regular duties to perform these services for Mr. Selvig and Mr. Smith admitted he did not believe they had. Another of the regents then asked if these men were all unmarried. It had to be admitted that this crime also could be laid at their door. But the milk in the coconnut began to trickle through when another of the regents forced Mr. Selvig to admit that his wife's household was a very attractive looking young lady.

The final charge, that Mr. Selvig had furnished a luncheon at the expense of the Northwest school for the Northern Minnesota editors, was not brought up, probably because the chargers—or is it chargees—had previously discovered that the cost of the food for this luncheon had been shared equally by Mr. Selvig, personally, and by the Crookston Association of Public Affairs.

At the close of the hearing a number of students expressed themselves on both sides of the controversy, which, it developed, had for its foundation an attempt to compel the board of regents to reinstall the deposed teachers.

One of the students, a member of the junior class, proclaimed that he spoke for the entire class in demanding a re-installment of the teachers who had failed of reappointment and threatened that unless this were done the entire class would fail to report at the next term, and would do everything possible to keep other students from attending the school. A number of other students took issue with this speaker and denied that he expressed the sentiments of the class or the students generally who, it was stated, were loyal to the school and would always be enthusiastic boosters for it.

A. D. Stephens and A. A. Miller addressed the students present and while congratulating them upon their loyalty to their teachers, advised that the school was maintained for the purpose of educating the students, and not for furnishing employment to teachers, and that the school could only be successful by giving due recognition to constituted authority."

RACE KINGS TO TAKE BIG PART LAST FAIR DAY

Saturday, August 6, Will Be Set For Great Auto Racing Program at Local Grounds.

Series of Thrillers Promised For Lovers of Speed—Best Drivers Are Listed.

Track Will Be Placed in First Class Condition For Unusual Racing Attractions.

"Arrangements have been made and completed to hold the greatest auto race meet ever put on in the Northwest, when the best dirt track pilots of the country meet on Aug. 6, the closing day of the 20th annual Pennington county fair," Secretary Fuller announced this week. Entry blanks have been forwarded to such drivers of national reputation as Fred Horey, Louis Disbrow, Sig Haugdahl and O. T. Barr, with special inducements to these top-notchers in the racing game in order to bring them here.

Multiplicity of Stars.

But there are other dirt track drivers of the younger generation who are fighting for a top berth on the list of professional racers and who are contenders for the sectional title, who no doubt will enter with their gas mounts to grab off their share of the $2,600 purse and bonus money offered. Such drivers as Rowe Brainerd, Ted Rick, Les Allen and Cy Cobb have already signified their intention of signing up for the meet, but nothing official can be said as yet. Floyd Willard, light car champion, who drives a speedy Monroe, has not been reached to date but every possible effort will be made to have him return his signed entry.

Ted Rick, driving an Essex and formerly a member of the famous Essex team headed by Johnny Rainey when they cleaned up the middle West in racing, is attracting considerable attention from admirers of the sport since his recent victory over a field of ten pilots in Kansas City. He is making a strong bid for top place and is forcing some of the veterans of the game to the limit.

Track Being Conditioned.

Work will begin immediately on the track to put it in tip-top shape for the racers, making it hard and fast with little dust. All preparations possible will be made to give the drivers an opportunity to establish a track record and lower the state record now held by Sig Haugdahl, who made a mile course in 47 1-5 seconds at the Minnesota state fair last year.

Leases Repair Department.

Ben Harris, for some time foreman in the mechanical department of the Peoples' Auto company, has taken over the business and will hereafter operate on his own hook. The sales end will be conducted by the present owners as in the past.

Mr. Harris is an expert automobile mechanic and should make a success of the business from the start. He will doctor up anything using gasoline or kerosene as fuel—automobiles, tractors or gas engines. His long experience and well-known thoroughness should insure him a full share of the business.

HIGHWAY PROJECTS WAIT ON CONGRESS

Construction Planned Must Be Cut if Federal Aid is Not Forthcoming Soon.

More than $3,000,000 of state and $4,000,000 of county-bond improvements in fifty scattered localities well under way together with the $3,000,000-a-year maintenance system, the Minnesota highway development program for 1921 now is waiting on congress.

Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, this week made public a desire to add more than $2,000,000 of grading and gravel surfacing and $500,000 of paving to the construction list this season. That will be made possible, he explained, only through the early passage by congress of legislation continuing Minnesota's federal aid allotment of $2,840,000 a year.

"Unless federal aid is soon forthcoming on the old basis," said Commissioner Babcock, "the highway department must cut in two its new construction plans for this year. It will mean that highway users in Minnesota will receive in 1921 only half the permanent improvements planned. Early passage of the so-called Phipps-Dowell or "farmers road" bill for which we have been fighting hard with the co-operation of the National Farm Bureau federation, however, will result in the full measure of first year benefits under Amendment No. 1. Failure of such legislation, or even passage of the Townsend "rich men's boulevards" bill, will seriously handicap the launching of the good roads program in this state. Minnesota citizens and public organizations, as before suggested can assist by petitioning members of congress to use their offices to bring about continuation of federal aid on the old basis."

Ladies to Picnic.

The League of Women Voters will hold a picnic on Tuesday afternoon, July 26, in Lovers' Lane at 3 o'clock. All members of the league and all women who are interested are urged to come. Should the weather be unfavorable lunch will be served in the Commercial club rooms.

John J. Boner.

At the Physicians hospital on Monday, July 11, occurred the death of John J. Boner, prominent Silverton farmer, following a stroke of paralysis. Funeral services were held from the chapel at Larson's undertaking parlors and interment made in Greenwood cemetery.

Deceased was born in Norway in 1847 and emigrated to America in 1872. He located on a farm four miles east of St. Hilaire, where he lived for four years. He then moved to Crookston and some time later took up farming in Silverton township, where he had since made his home.

Mr. Boner leaves to mourn his death his wife, two sons, John of Thief River Falls and Hans of Crookston, and one daughter, Mrs. E. M. Ecklund of Fargo, N. D.

Military Regulations at Boy Scout Encampment

Twelve Thief River Falls boys are sojourning at Maple Lake at the Boy Scouts' encampment. Roy Langseth is one of these and he sends his parents a copy of the day's proceedings. It will be seen that the regulations are as strict as if the lads were in military service and that K. P. duty is not unknown. The day starts in with a first call at 6 o'clock, followed by reveille at 6:15. After a morning dip there is mess at 7. By 7:30 the camp is being policed and at 8 o'clock all is ready for inspection. After the setting-up exercises, which are over at 8:30, there are scouting instructions until 11, this being followed by swimming. Dinner at 12.

From 12:30 to 2 is the "quiet hour" when letter writing and such other duties are attended to. Scouting tests occupy the time from 2 until 4, when there follows an hour and a half of swimming instructions. At 5:30 retreat is sounded, followed by mess. From 7 to 8 is the game period, which is followed by a campfire session. Tatoo sounds at 9:15 and taps at 9:30. The slightest infraction of the strict rules means extra duty at the wood pile or some other uncongenial task.

Rather a strict program but it will do the boys good.

GIRLS PASS GOVT. EXAMINATION

No one was really surprised that the entire stenographic class passed a recent Civil Service examination. All four, Misses Grinley, Ployhar, Moe and Brending, were trained at Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D., a school famous for turning out exceptionally efficient office workers. Courses are practical, interesting, give pupils a solid groundwork for success. Some 218 graduates are now bank officers.

The Housing Problem

The question of sufficient houses to take care of the growing population of Thief River Falls is as serious as ever. The demand for modern houses was never greater and there does not appear to be any relief in sight. This means higher rents.

THE THING TO DO NOW IS BUILD

It can be done cheaper at this time than at any period during the past six years. It can also be done cheaper now than is likely to be the case in six months. Everything points to an increase in the price of building materials of all kinds before long.

BUILD NOW, BUT BUILD RIGHT

Get the best materials while you are at it. They will cost no more if secured at one of our yards. A quarter of a century of satisfactory service in this section.

The good old days have come back again! The True Measure of Gasoline Efficiency Lies Not in Gravity, but in Boiling Points!

The gravity test determines only the weight of a gallon of gasoline as compared with a gallon of water.

Boiling points are the temperatures at which component parts of the gasoline are converted into vapors which mixed with air produce power. Manifestly, for a smooth flow of power, the chain of boiling point fractions must be arranged in perfect continuity and sequence.

It has a perfect chain of boiling point fractions. A gap in the chain means a gap in the power. There are no gaps in Red Crown.

It delivers to your rear wheels an abundance of smooth, rhythmic sustained power and tremendous speed.

If you are paying more for gasoline than the price of Red Crown you are paying too much.

REAL CORN CAN BE RAISED HERE WHEN RIGHTLY HANDLED

John L. Clemens Proves That Correct Method of Cultivation Produces Results.

Anyone entertaining the slightest doubt about Pennington county being located in the corn belt, should make a trip to the farm of John G. Clemens three miles south of Thief River Falls and all doubts will quickly be dispelled. A 15-acre field of corn on this farm is convincing proof that corn—real corn such as farmers of the recognized corn belt produce—can be raised right here in Pennington county. A representative of The Times visited the Clemens farm on Saturday and inspected the field, taking back to town with him two sample stalks which measure well over seven feet in length. Ears are forming on the stalks and in a short time the field will be "in silk."

Mr. Clemens came to this country from Illinois two years ago and is a farmer who has had many years of experience in raising corn. He is firmly convinced that corn can be grown here and his crop this year is good evidence that he knows what he is talking about. This farmer believes that deep cultivation with the common form of cultivator is not the proper method and uses nothing but what is known as the "surface" machine. The implement employed by Mr. Clemens is the Tower surface cultivator, secured through the Rambeck-Stone company. It does not dig deeply into the ground as does the ordinary cultivator but instead clears the surface of weeds by means of horizontal blades and shoves the loose dirt up to the corn plants, "hilling" the rows very effectually. The field was gone over five times with the cultivator and hardly a weed can be found in it.

The corn was planted on May 12 and the seed used is known as Minnesota No. 23. With the excellent stand Mr. Clemens feels that he should secure around 65 bushels to the acre. Unless frost comes unusually early this fall there is little danger of the corn not maturing in fine shape.

PREVIOUS RECORDS BROKEN IN BANNER CREAMERY PERIOD

Increase of 28 Per Cent in Butterfat Received Over Same Month One Year Ago.

In volume of business the month of June broke all former records at the Thief River Falls Co-operative creamery. A total of 84,000 pounds of butterfat was received at the creamery during the month, which was 28 per cent more than for the corresponding month last year. The prices paid during the month were 36 cents for sour cream and 39 cents for the sweet product. Receipts for the month were about $37,000, which is a very good showing considering the low stage of the butter market.

Patrons of the creamery who drew checks of $50 and over for the month are as follows:

P. Engelstad, $273.12; Hans Anton, $250.86; Jens Kierk, $195.51; S. E. Hunt, $142.89; R. M. Johnson, $136.21; S. LOCALS WIN LION'S SHARE OF BATTLES

Thief River Falls Boys Make Fine Showing in Series of Very Fast Contests.

The local base ball club has had another very good week, winning three games, losing one and tying one. Last Friday evening at Red Lake Falls the boys defeated the Red Lakers by a score of 3 to 2. It was one of the best games of the season. Sunday afternoon the Red Lake Falls lads came up here and again met defeat, the score this time being 6 to 3.

The tie game was played at Warren, with a score of 5 to 5 when the game was called on account of darkness. Had it not been for an argument started by Warren players another inning could easily have been played.

On the local diamond Tuesday the boys suffered the only defeat of the week when they were taken into camp by the Drayton, N. D., team. The Drayton lads are a fast bunch and took the long end of a 6 to 3 score.

Wednesday evening the boys went to Warren again and this time took the Warrenite in tow with a 5 to 2 tally. It was a snappy game and the locals did some fine work.

Friday evening Warren comes here for the last game of the season, following which the Marshall county lads will disband. All local fans should turn out to see Warren get the final drubbing of the season.

The boys go to Drayton on Saturday for a return game, and to Red Lake Falls on Sunday. The next game on the home grounds will be with Drayton Monday evening.

At this game a number will be given with each ticket sold at the gate, the numbers collected during the game and a drawing held along the sixth inning, when the holder of the lucky number will receive a 100-pound sack of sugar. This should be an inducement for everybody to go to the ball game Monday evening.

APOPLEXY ATTACK FATAL TO OLD MAN

Hartwig Claussen Dies Suddenly at Farm Home of Son in Germantown Township.

Hartwig Claussen, aged 70 years, died suddenly at the home of his son, J. H. Claussen, in Germantown township, on Monday. Deceased, who was a resident of Estherville, Iowa, had, with his wife, been a guest for a few days of his son and family when the final summons came. The old gentleman was driving a team in the hay field, having insisted on helping the men gather the hay crop. He was stricken suddenly and died before medical aid could reach him. The Marshall county coroner was called to view the body and found death due to a stroke of apoplexy.

The remains were taken to the Larson undertaking parlors in this city and prepared for shipment to Bancroft, Iowa, to which place they were accompanied Tuesday evening by members of the family. Mr. Claussen was a very robust and energetic man for his age and his sudden death comes as a severe shock to his wife and family.

Card of Thanks.

We sincerely thank our neighbors and friends for the kindness and sympathy extended to us following the accident suffered by M. C. Burns. —Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Burns and Family.

Notice.

The Ladies' Aid of the Swedish Mission church will meet at the home of Mrs. Kristina Bradvick, 118 Conley avenue south, next Wednesday, July 27, at 2:30. Everybody welcome.

Local Odd Fellows Lodge to Celebrate Anniversary

An event of much interest to Odd Fellow and Rebecca lodges in this section will take place in Thief River Falls when Young Pine lodge No. 221, I. O. O. F., celebrates the 25th anniversary of its institution. The celebration will be held in the lodge quarters on Monday evening, July 25. Dr. J. O. Wertz, grand master of the order for Minnesota, will be the principal speaker. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Wertz, grand chaplain of Rebecca lodges in the state, and both will make addresses.

Dr. Wertz, whose home is at Moose Lake, is one of the best known Odd Fellows in the West and a speaker of wide renown. His coming here on this occasion is expected to bring out the largest gathering of the three link fraternity ever seen in this section. Young Pine lodge invites all Odd Fellows and Rebeccas in the neighborhood to be present and help in celebrating this silver jubilee. Those who have filed applications for affiliation with the order are also invited.

On Buying Trip.

A. S. Sapero left Wednesday evening for Duluth, where he will be joined by his brothers, one from Hibbing and the other from Chisholm, after which all will start East on a purchasing trip for the three Sapero stores. They will go to New York first, stopping off at Cleveland on the return trip. Chicago will also be visited for the purpose of seeing what the Western market has to offer in the way of wearing apparel for women and children. Mr. Sapero expects to be gone at least two weeks and upon his return will have some interesting announcements to make regarding the latest things in women's wear. Making purchases for the three stores at one time gives the Sapero brothers a big advantage in dealing with manufacturers and wholesalers as their purchases run into large sums. Similar trips are yearly events with these merchants as they have found that personal selection is the most satisfactory method of getting just the kind of goods best suited to their existing trade. Mrs. Sapero leaves this evening for Minneapolis to visit during the absence of Mr. Sapero.

Aged Visitor Victim of Serious Paralytic Stroke

R. P. Jensen is lying in a critical condition at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. N. Heggan, following a stroke of paralysis which he suffered last Sunday. Mr. Jensen's whole right side is paralyzed and he is completely helpless. Some improvement in his condition was noted this morning, however, and the attending physician holds out hopes for at least a partial recovery.

Mr. Jensen is 70 years of age and up to this time has been in good health and very active. For a number of years he has held the position of manual training instructor in the public schools of Velva, N. D., and was re-engaged for next year. He had been here for a short time on a visit to his daughter when stricken.

MARKET DAY SPECIAL

Supplement to The Thief River Falls Times, Thursday, July 21, 1921

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

AVALANCHE OF BARGAINS FEATURE THIEF RIVER FALLS' MERCHANTS SECOND MARKET DAY INVITATION

Price Cutting of Most Sensational Character Resorted to in Order to Convince Buyers That City's Business Men Realize That Period of High Costs Has Passed.

It is doubtful if ever in the history of a Minnesota community has there been such a perfect cyclone of bargain offerings as are presented by Thief River Falls merchants for the second Bargain Day—Wednesday, July 27. Hardly a store or other business establishment in the city but what is putting forth some article at a price that seems sensational. A glance through the advertisements in this issue of The Times will verify this statement.

Anyone acquainted with present day merchandising conditions and the prices of commodities generally will be able to tell at a glance that selling goods at the prices advertised must mean a direct loss to the business men. No such disregard of original costs have ever before been noted except, perhaps, in individual cases. It is certain that never before have the merchants of an entire community plunged so heavily for the purpose of getting the people residing within their trading territory merely to come to their city for the purpose of acquainting themselves with the tradespeople, their methods of doing business and their ability to meet all demands.

Some Wonderful Bargains.

Beginning with the largest store, it will be found that not only have Loken Brothers announced a large number of special bargains in the section devoted to Market Day announcements, but have also used a page in another part of the paper to inform visitors and residents of the remarkable reductions to be found in their place. Lieberman Brothers, clothiers, have followed the same plan and their offerings will be found of particular interest at this time. E. O. Mogensen also finds the space allotted to him by the Merchants' association insufficient, although he has utilized it to make one of the most remarkable shoe announcements ever seen in this section.

Price Fall is Proven.

The Larson Furniture company makes a flat reduction of $20 on every Monarch steel range in their store and supplements this offer with a cut of 25 per cent on all bedroom furniture. The Simonson Meat and Grocery company gives a lesson in economical buying by grouping a number of food articles and discounting the lot more than 30 per cent. The Palace Clothing house throws out a few timely specials, as does the Hall Brothers Company, hardware. A. M. Langseth slashes the price of shoes—particularly women's shoes—and the Sapero company offers any spring or summer coat in the store for $15. The Prichard company offers a special bargain in three Maxwell automobiles providing these are not sold before that time. The Evelyn and Brumund hotels promise to take particularly good care of Market Day visitors.

Will be Very Busy.

At the City Meat Market, Elias Roland will have his hands full. His place has been selected as the distributing point for the Red Label coffee, a 45 cent article which is being made a leader on Market Day at five pounds for $1.00. Charles Lieberman presents a number of attractive bargains in clothing and furnishings and Carl Froseth does the same with shoes. The announcement of Louis DeCremer should appeal to the economical housewife, as should that of the City Bakery. The Bottem Hardware company has picked out a number of household articles for sacrifice while the Hanson-Barzen company repeat their offer of a month ago. "Pay as you ride," says the McFarland Auto company and goes on to tell how one may own a Ford car without much trouble. The First National bank and the First & Peoples' give some sound advice concerning the value of money-saving. Roy Lambert calls attention to the fact that he has accepted the agency for the Victrola phonographs and records. Jung's Quality Bakery will offer something particularly fine in prune specialties on this occasion, while the Kiewel Products company seeks to emphasize the particular excellence of its White Seal Brew. The canned goods offerings of Carl Christofferson & Co., present excellent opportunities for saving while those of M. N. Benson, dry goods merchant, should prove of great interest to the ladies. The Nortz Lumber company is represented although nothing in its line lends itself to specialization at this time.

The Hermanson Hardware company announcement covers a larger variety of subjects than that of most concerns and there should be something to interest practically everybody. F. J. Stebbins will make a reduction of 15 per cent on anything in the jewelry line for Market Day. The Peoples' Co-operative store comes forward with an unusual coffee offer and The Kleanall makes a big reduction in the price of sponging and pressing clothing for this one day. The Johnson Millinery reduces prices on all hats and Mulry's Bazaar presents three attractive enamelware specials. The Thief River Cafe's ad will interest all visitors, a fine dinner being offered for 25 cents. Bredeson & Co. will specialize on coffee. The J. C. Penney company offers a large variety of attractive bargains and the Thief River Music company invites all visitors to come in and listen to the latest phonograph productions. A particularly fine picture has been secured for Market Day by Manager Brumund of the Thief River Theatre company. K. A. Sundahl wants everybody to know of the excellent service rendered by the Northwestern Auto company in all departments and F. C. Niclai takes the opportunity presented of boosting his famous LaLunda cigar. Zeh & Curran reduce the price of a most highly-prized staple—prunes. As an appeal to the farmer visitors the Rambeck & Stone company make substantial reductions on standard farm machinery. Laird's Specialty Shop takes up the space contracted for in this particular section of The Times in calling attention to a larger advertisement appearing in another part of the paper. The Thief River Dress club should be swamped with the work brought into the place on this particular day because of the low prices quoted.

It is possible that some have been overlooked in this enumeration. The only safe way is to read every advertisement in The Times today. The announcements present money-saving opportunities such as should appeal to every person who wishes to make a dollar go as far as possible.

If you will ask your merchant to sign a card showing that you have made a purchase and deposit this evidence in a box placed in the lobby of the First National bank, there is a chance that this time you will be the winner. It costs nothing to make the attempt.

County Fair Next.

The next community event to which the members of the Merchants' Association will devote their attention is the Pennington county fair, to be held in Thief River Falls on August 3, 4, 5 and 6. The amusement program will this year be better than ever and the racing card is the most interesting presented by any northwestern fair. The Ferris Wheel Girls and the Siege of the Dardenelles, two spectacular productions without equals, will be among the free attractions. On the last day there will be a series of automobile races in which some of the best known speed demons of the country will take part.

A new show pavilion has just been completed and will give added opportunities for the display of farm produce and livestock.

The Pennington county fair has of late years been regarded as one of the best in the state and it is the intention this year to add to the enviable reputation already attained. For a real good time and an opportunity to witness a display of farm products superior to any in the section it is certain that nothing will surpass this famous fair. Arrange your affairs so as to be present.

No Ball Game.

It has been decided that it is inadvisable to have a ball game on Market Day. At least the Merchants' Association will have nothing to do with the booking of one. There are so many other things to engage the attention of visitors that it is impossible to get up sufficient interest in a game to make the effort worth while.

CORN CROP FINEST STATE EVER KNEW; WHEAT IS UNEVEN

Recent Hot Weather Has Set All Crops Back But Fair Yield is Promised.

The report of the federal crop observer for Minnesota, covering the past week, says:

The extremely hot weather was somewhat broken the past week by local showers throughout the state.

Corn—Still maintains its high condition and the outlook is very promising at present. Corn generally all in tassell and greater per cent shooting.

Spring Wheat—The crop has suffered by hot weather, especially since July 1. Conditions very uneven and "choppy," due to character of the soil and amount of rainfall. There were some rust reports, but as grain is so far advanced there will not be serious damage. Wheat should be very fair milling quality and while yield very uneven, the crop is by no means destroyed. Cutting will be general the coming week.

Oats—Has suffered by the hot weather and indications point to rather a light crop. Quite large per cent now in shock.

Barley—Will be an uneven crop. The early barley will be rather a fair crop with some good yields. Late barley will probably be poor.

Rye—This crop is perhaps the best of all small grains and will show good average yields.

Potatoes—Very critical period. No doubt considerable damage resulted from hot dry weather. Outcome of crop quite uncertain.

Flax—Has been benefited by rain and generally is in fairly good condition.

Live Stock—Generally is in a very healthy condition.

There does not seem to be any apparent shortage of farm labor and men are being hired from $2 to $3.50 a day.

They Are All Watching.

The success of the first Market Day in Thief River Falls has been noted all over the state. Merchants in other cities have decided that the plan is a good one and are following with something along the same lines. To date none have created so much interest as did the merchandising event held in this city on June 22. In no instance have the merchants in other towns shown such a determination to slash the lining out of prices. The result is that Thief River Falls has become known from one end of the state to the other as the place where the merchants meet the people more than half way in an attempt to get things properly adjusted.

Those who missed being in the city for the June Market Day made a mistake, but failing to take advantage of the July event will be a bigger one.

H. J. Fisken returned to his home at Henning the first of the week after an over Sunday visit with local friends.

LABOR DELEGATES DECLARE AGAINST WINES AND BEER

Kill Resolution Endorsing Six Hour Work Day—Against Military Training.

Delegates to the annual convention of the State Federation of Labor, in session at Brainerd this week, tabled a resolution asking congress to amend the Volstead prohibition enforcement act to permit the manufacture of beer and light wines, "for food and refreshment." The vote stood 193 to 146. Similar action was taken at the Rochester convention of the Federation last year.

Mabel Colter, president of the St. Paul Federation of Women Teachers, argued that the question had ceased to be an economic one and was now a moral one. She said that as such it did not properly come within the province of trade unionism. The vote was taken as not reflecting the attitude of organized labor on the question of prohibition, but rather as an opinion as to the propriety of organized labor dealing with the question at all.

A resolution endorsing the six-hour work day, with a wage "sufficient to provide subsistence," was defeated, 168 to 118, after heated debate.

Among resolutions adopted were: Favoring the economic equality of women; protesting against serving food in other places than catering establishments; assisting newsboys' organization; denouncing legislators who voted against sanitary conditions in places where food was prepared; favoring legislation against Ku Klux Klan; opposing "doubling-up" of letter carriers, while others were on vacations; extending the Kleffman bill to cover school and township elections; favoring the teachers' tenure laws; establishing housewives unions; condemning military training; incorporating teaching elements of public taxation in public schools; giving women representation in a world conference on disarmament.

It's Worth Trying For.

The man who was awarded the $25 donation made by the Merchants' association on Market Day in June never expected to be so fortunate as to be the winner. You never can tell.

FREE AUCTION WILL ADD INTEREST TO ACTIVITIES OF DAY

Request is Made That Only Articles of Some Value Be Offered For Sale.

A particularly important feature of the Second Market Day of the Thief River Falls Merchants' association will be the free auction held for the accommodation of those who may have livestock, household goods or other property to dispose of. This auction will be free to all, subject to certain restrictions deemed necessary for the protection of all. W. J. LaBree will officiate as auctioneer, a fact which insures this important part of the program being properly looked after. The auction will take place at 1 o'clock at the corner of LaBree avenue and Fourth street.

It is particularly desired that those who submit articles for sale at this free auction will not make it a point to find only such things as are useless for any purpose on earth. Old, worn-out household utensils are not wanted by anyone, no matter how low the price at which they may be offered. If, however, you have something of real value or usefulness that might better be turned into money, this free auction presents an excellent opportunity to get rid of it.

The auction will begin at 1 o'clock sharp and continue until all articles submitted are disposed of. There is no charge of any kind connected with this service.

Hundreds of purchases were made at this auction sale on the first Market Day a month ago with entire satisfaction to both the buyer and seller.

Special Prizes

The following special prizes will be given away absolutely free at the corner of LaBree avenue and Third street at 3 o'clock on Market Day:

100 lb. sack sugar
1 case Standard Tomatoes
1 box Soda Crackers
1 case Standard Peas
25 lb. box Prunes
50 lb. sack Vivo Flour
1 case Macaroni
1 dozen quart Mason Fruit Jars
1 box Spearmint Chewing Gum

FIVE POUNDS 45-CENT COFFEE FOR ONE DOLLAR IS SECOND MARKET DAY'S GRAND SPECIAL OFFERING

Round Robin List This Time Includes 12 Business Houses, the Proprietors of Which Will Share With Importer and Wholesaler the Loss in Making This Offer.

When a number of merchants in Thief River Falls decided to take the loss incident to giving 20 pounds of sugar for a dollar on the first Market Day—June 22—they expected something of a demand but were hardly prepared for the invasion that followed their announcement. Over 800 persons took advantage of the offer which means that 16,000 pounds of sugar was distributed at five cents per pound.

This represented quite a saving, of course, but as a price cutting proposition it cannot be compared with what the merchants are putting on as their leading feature for the Second Market Day. They propose to give every visitor to the city one five-pound can of Caldwell's Red Label coffee for one dollar. This coffee is on sale at practically every grocery store in Thief River Falls as well as surrounding towns and the regular price is 45 cents per pound.

Red Label Coffee is a strictly high grade article and only through the cooperation of importers, wholesalers and dealers can it be sold under the conditions prevailing in Thief River Falls on Market Day. The distributor for this section of the state is the Thief River Grocery company and this concern will stand a large percentage of the loss incident to making this introductory offer. The importers will also foot a share of the expense and twelve Thief River Falls merchants will stand the balance. It is easily seen that if the coffee demand is as great as was that for sugar there will be a considerable bill to meet. Red Label coffee sells regularly for 45 cents per pound and this is the price that must be paid after this sensational introductory offer expires. The figure at which the coffee will be handled out means that five pounds will be secured for a little more than the price of two pounds under ordinary circumstances. It means that any head of a household visiting Thief River Falls on Wednesday, July 27, will buy a large canister of the very best coffee to be found at a lower price than he or she have been paying for low grade coffee. No coffee worthy of the name can now be bought anywhere in America for less than 25 cents per pound, yet this is five cents per pound more than a Market Day visitor to Thief River Falls will be asked to pay for one of the very best coffees on the market. A five pound can of Caldwell's Red Label coffee will cost $2.25 anywhere in the country at the same time as the same quantity is being sold in Thief River Falls for one dollar.

Get Your Coffee Cards.

Twelve merchandising establishments have agreed to foot a part of the loss on this coffee. They are: Larson Furniture company, Loken Brothers, Hermanson Hardware company, The Sapero Company, E. O. Mogensen, Simonson Meat and Grocery company, A. M. Langseth, Hall Brothers Company, Carl Froseth, Palace Clothing House, Lieberman Bros., E. L. Rolland.

In order to secure this five pounds of 45 cent coffee for one dollar it will be necessary for the buyer to visit all ten of these stores. Nothing need be purchased and none will be urged to do so. As the object of these Market Day Bargains is to get acquainted with the neighbors, a visit to the different stores is more essential than that purchases shall be made. Those who wish to take advantage of the special bargains offered may do so, but there is nothing compulsory about this.

The visitor may start making the rounds wherever convenient. The rotation indicated in the Round Robin page in this issue is simply for the purpose of convenience. Start any place. The first merchant visited will provide the visitor with a coffee card and affix his stamp. The others will thereafter simply sign or stamp the same card. When eleven stores have thus been visited the bearer may take the card to the City Meat Market where the coffee will be handed out upon the payment of one dollar. That is all there is to it.

One thousand cans—5,000 pounds—of this coffee has been set aside by the importers to meet the demands of this Market Day. Being sold in the regular order this amount of Red Label coffee would bring $2,250. It will be sold on Market Day for a total of $1,000—a clear saving to the consumers of $1,250. And this is but one item. When the reductions in price on other commodities are taken into consideration it is easy to be seen that the total saving made possible by this Market Day will run into the tens of thousands.

Come to Thief River Falls on July 27 and secure your share of the bargains.

Mrs. Anna Dock, of the clerical force at Sapero's, who is enjoying a month's vacation, left Monday afternoon for Crookston and Grand Forks where she will spend a few days visiting friends.

FARMERS IN FAVOR OF WATERWAY PLAN

Minnesota Potato Growers in Convention Favor Great Lakes Project.

The proposed Great Lakes St. Lawrence waterway project was endorsed in resolutions adopted by the Minnesota Potato Growers' association, in annual convention at Minneapolis last week.

Two pounds of potatoes for man, woman and child in the United States was the crop of "spuds" raised in Minnesota last year, according to a report read at the convention.

Potatoes handled through the Minnesota Growers' Co-operative exchange last year totalled 2,405 carloads and were valued at one million five hundred dollars.

The convention expressed confidence in resolutions in the management of the potato exchange and urged creation of a department of field instructors to educate shippers in local exchanges against neglect in preparing shipments and thus minimize complaints.

The new board of directors elected follows: John Hoffman, Oglivie; John Erickson, Aitkin; W. A. Ferguson, Osseo; E. P. Nauertz, Little Falls; E. E. Schaulkė, Ten Strike; A. M. Funsten, Bagley; John Husby, McIntosh; J. A. Marshall, Wadena and R. C. Kiel, Hankinson, N. D.

Airship Service Installed.

A giant dirigible airship, 130 feet long, will be seen in a short time in the air above Baudette. It will ply between Fort Frances and Kenora and will make the trip in two hours. It will carry eight passengers besides the pilot and engineer and will be under the supervision of the Canadian military authorities. An airdrome 170 feet long, 70 feet wide and 70 feet high is being built at Fort Frances to house the ship. A sister airship is to be located at Kenora.—Baudette Region.

Successful County Fair.

The Marshall county fair closed in a blaze of glory last Wednesday evening when the finest display of fireworks ever seen in Warren gave the finishing touch. Motor races and a big double program were the day's attractions. Owing to the rain on Tuesday, nearly all the events for the two days were crowded into the last day's entertainment.

The stock parade on Wednesday afternoon was excellent. Each year this event shows marked improvement and indicates that the raising of purebred stock is receiving more attention by the farmers. Very few counties in the northwest can stage a better livestock parade than the one seen here this year.

The free attractions staged at the grand stand were better than at former fairs. It was a great disappointment to the fair management as well as the children that the merry-go-round which had been engaged for the fair failed to get here. It requires a great deal of work to stage a county fair of the size of ours. Dr. E. T. Frank has given a great deal of his time and energy to the upbuilding of the Marshall county fair and the people of the county are greatly indebted to him for his unselfish efforts to make the fair a success.—Warren Sheaf.

A Home Course in Domestic Science.

"Twenty Lessons in Domestic Science," by Marion Cole Fisher has recently been received by us for review.

This is a complete advanced course in domestic science and home economics boiled down to meet the requirements of the housewife and the student.

The entire course consists of twenty practical lessons—one hundred pages filled with the most valuable information the housewife can possess—heretofore taught only in domestic science schools.

Do you know the relative value of food, which fruits to use for cooking, what purpose salads serve, the correct use of condiments, about proper kitchen equipments, about U. S. Government's bulletins, how to reduce the high cost of living, how to promote and protect your own and your families health, how to make housekeeping simpler and more economical and pleasant by utilizing modern science in the home.

This book, we note, is priced at $2.00 per copy and from what we understand it contains a complete $100.00 college course, condensed and it is practically FREE to every interested housewife.

Write the Home Economics Department of the Calumet Baking Powder Co., 4100-28 Fillmore St., Chicago, Illinois, for full particulars regarding the book and how to secure it.

Lonesome For His Wares.

Mooney, the traveling salesman, was a bit depressed, for trade was bad. It was the end of another blank day and the discouraged drummer called on another merchant to display his samples.

"But I want nothing today," said the merchant.

"At least you will examine my line of goods?" suggested Mooney.

The merchant thought not.

"In that case," suggested Mooney meekly, "will you permit me the use of your counter to look at them myself? I have not had the opportunity to do so for some time."—Philadelphia Ledger.

EVERYBODY IS WONDERING IF PRICES ARE GOING UP AGAIN.

Frankly, we don't believe they are; but the trade journals say that many prices that have already been decisively reduced may swing back to higher levels again, because so many manufacturers, in order to stimulate their industries, had cut prices below production costs, and below what the goods can be produced for, even under the new conditions.

Now, this may be true or not. Certainly it is well within the probabilities that some prices will go up again. It is also possible that a few prices may go further down.

But, aside from these exceptions, which will be a small percentage of the whole, it is a generally accepted trade fact that prices are at rock-bottom right now!

Also, it is a further fact that most of the special offerings in this rock-bottom price event are being presented at less than the regular rock-bottom prices.

This makes it not only safe to buy everything that you need now; but protects you from the chance of any of the prices going higher later on.

Many of the best offerings were the last odd lots the manufacturers had and they cannot be duplicated later on.

Take prompt advantage of these opportunities to provide yourself with the needed things, while all prices are at rock-bottom.

AN ECONOMIC MOVEMENT DESERVING OF SUPPORT.

The wholesalers, jobbers and manufacturers are joining together with the merchants in a movement to foster the development of the dairying industry in the northwest. This is a step in the right direction, and deserves the earnest consideration of the grocers.

The proponents of the movement offer several valid reasons for its hearty support by all business men. From selfish motives—if for no other reason—the plan should appeal to business men. It is one of the surest panaceas that has yet been submitted for that greatest of all bugaboos to the merchant in rural centers—credit.

It has been found that the farmer who gets his milk check regularly each month always has ready cash and is less inclined to seek long terms of credit than is his neighbor who depends upon a one-crop income and is often financially hard pressed between harvests. He does not put all his eggs in one basket and find himself in narrow straits when there is a crop failure. It is a poor year indeed when there is not forage of some kind to tide the cattle over.

The dairy farmer, thus assured of a steady income, is less chary about spending some money on the so-called better things of life. He buys knick-knacks in food lines, invests in good furniture and slicks up himself and his family.

The soil—the originator of all wealth—is benefited by this move. There is nothing that exhausts the soil so much as small grain crops. This is proved by the necessity of renewal by fertilization or rotation of crops after a short period. Dairy products ravage the soil least of any form of wealth taken from it. In fact, it has been found that ground is in a high state of productivity after it has been pastured.

With its wonderful climate, in which severe heat seldom comes to harass milch cows, the northwest is ideally suited for dairying. There are thousands of hills and valleys now in a low state of productivity that could easily be made into great wealth producers.

From wheat to dairy products is but a short step—but it is an important one. State Senator J. M. Hackney of Minnesota is on the right track when he urges this transition. The merchant will do well to follow his lead, for this would be not only doing the public a great service, but it would redound to his material advantage.

Valuable propaganda can be spread in the rural districts by the merchant. The northwest has already come to be recognized as a great producer of dairy products. Let the grocers get behind the movement and help to make its supremity in this line so marked that there will be no question as to its position.

The New Temptation.

"How do you manage to sell so many fireless cookers?"

"It's due to my method of approach," said the smart salesman. "I begin my little talk by saying, 'Madam, I have called to enable you to spend every afternoon at the movies.'"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

VACATION DAYS, THE DAYS OF CARE-FREE HAPPINESS, THE REWARD OF A YEAR'S LABOR.

The children are free from the study hours—

Mothers are taking their families away to mountain and sea-shore for weeks of freedom from housekeeping responsibilities and social exactions—

School teachers are enjoying their freedom as much as the scholars—

Young men and young women are planning their two-weeks' vacations from all-year-round employment—

Working people everywhere, and business men and women of every capacity, are getting ready for the glorious days of freedom and fun, for which all of us work and look forward throughout the year—

And our vacation days are here! Or they are just ahead of us.

They are so long in coming, and so quick in going, that we have to make the utmost possible out of them while we have them.

There must be no dull moments—there must be no disappointments—there must be nothing lacking—nothing forgotten—nothing to lose time to send back home for.

We must have all the right apparel. We must have all the things needed to make us comfortable and to play with.

What a joy it is to be able just to play!

There is more health in play, and the youthful spirit of happiness that goes with it than in all the medicine of all the pharmacies in the world.

Go away with the determination to make every minute a happy one.

We can do a lot to help you make things that way, by supplying your vacation day needs on Market Day, Wednesday, July 27.

JULY FESTIVAL AMONG THE DRESS COTTONS

Superb Assortment of Cotton Tissues and a New Down-Fall of All Prices.

Just when every woman and girl has her heart set on several new summer frocks, comes this occasion that we have been preparing for during the past few weeks.

Many of the choicest groups are from our own stocks, of course—marked down to be in keeping with the big news. Weeks ago we started to watch the market for the big opportunities—didn't miss a chance to pick up beautiful cotton fabrics of the right grades and colorings, when prices were tumbling down.

Now they're all here—the most interesting collection and the smallest prices that we've ever shown.

Three dress patterns for the price of two; and sometimes even two for the price of one. See them Market Day, July 27.

PIAZZA NEEDLEWORK FOR THE SKILLFUL FINGERS.

So many delightful new designs are ready for clever embroiderers—decorative things for one's own wear, and such pretty things for baby.

Such an alluring array of suggestions for sweaters and other knitted things, with all the right yarns and needles. Special displays on Market Day, Wednesday, July 27.

NOW FOR THE BIG CELEBRATION, MARKET DAY, WEDNESDAY, JULY 27.

It all started over a "tax on tea"—together with other high costs of things.

So our ancestors of those old days refused to pay the prices—dumped the tea into Boston harbor and sent George the 3rd on his way.

Last year we had another American rebellion against high prices, and prices came down with a crash!

Just think back to what the prices were last year—for sugar, for cotton, for suits, for towels—and compare those old figures with the smaller ones that are quoted today.

Every time prices go down your dollars go up in value. Every dollar that you earn this year is worth one and a half of last year's dollars, and some of them are worth two.

Everybody who makes the same wages they did last year has had a tremendous increase in pay, because they can get almost twice as much for the dollars as they could last year.

So there is a double reason to celebrate this year.

We're ready to help people celebrate in the best way and to their fullest satisfaction.

Here are the sports clothes for men, women and children—best kinds—so very much less in price than a short time ago.

Here are the accessories of all the popular sports—base ball, golf, tennis, bathing, camping, fishing, shooting, and everything for motoring.

How may we serve you on Market Day, Wednesday, July 27?

A Nose For Trade.

An Auborn, Mo., merchant named Myers decided to quit business and offered to sell his stock to a born trader of the neighborhood named Meriweather at what it invoiced, $1,900.

"I won't take it at that," said Meriweather. "I'll give you twenty-five cents for every article and package in the store."

Myers thought of his big line of slate and lead pencils worth a cent apiece and agreed. Two men were hired to help check up. Slate pencils, clothes pins, packages of chewing gum and papers of pins were listed at twenty-five cents each. So were automobile tires, barrels of sugar and coffee. An egg was worth as much as a 50-yard bolt of cotton. The result was that Meriweather bought the stock for $1,866.25, just $33.75 less than the invoice price. You can't beat a born trader.—Capper's Weekly.

Is There Value to Credit Besides Making It Easy to Run Bills?

A great many persons believe that the chief value of keeping their credit good is that it makes it possible to keep buying on credit As a matter of fact, this is only the primary value of a credit standing. There is a bigger value attaching to unblemished credit which every person must appreciate if he gives the matter thought.

Good Credit Like Insurance

A credit rating is like a life insurance policy. The more premiums in paid bills that are chalked against it, the higher its loan value. If a man has a life insurance policy partially paid for he can borrow money on it. If a man has a record for paying his bills promptly over a certain length of time he is considered a good loaning risk by merchants and banks.

Tides You Over Dry Spells

The man or woman who pays his or her bills promptly need never fear the occasions known as "tight periods" when it is sometimes impossible to meet obligations promptly. Merchants are especially anxious to help their prompt patrons when the occasion demands it.

Danger! Don't Put Them Off!

Don't let your bills slide just because it will be a little easier to pay them next month.

Pay every month, even if you can't pay all of each bill.

It is the constant willingness to pay that pleases your creditors and makes them your firm friends in time of need.

A sheaf of paid bills is one of the best assets any man or woman can have. Don't get the sliding habit. It injures you more than your creditors. Pay your bills promptly, and they will repay you tenfold.

EDUCATING THE CHARGE ACCOUNT.

Credit, so we are told, is the backbone of our national prosperity. The producer of raw materials extends credit to the manufacturer, who passes it on to the wholesaler, who accommodates the jobber, who "carries" the retailer, who "charges" it to Mrs. Jones.

All for the best, but—

Suppose Mrs. Jones isn't good credit, and credit of this kind predominates on the books of the retailer: he cannot pay the jobber, the jobber disappoints the wholesaler, and the wholesaler lets the sheriff settle for him with the manufacturer. It is the old story of the old woman getting the pig over the sty.

The retailer's credit to his customer has this difference from those credits extended along the line and finally reaching him; he extends consumption credit, which, by its very nature, is the poorest kind of credit. Of course, the greater proportion of his credit is accommodation credit, and this, while being "sure-pay" credit, has its drawbacks, too.

While it is comparatively easy for the retail merchant to refuse to extend credit to the customer who is not financially sound, it is harder for him to refuse it to a customer whose credit is sound, but whose method of using a charge account makes that account unprofitable.

Let us take the case of a woman buying shoes—on credit. She has a couple of tickets for the matinee, and she is in a hurry to get the transaction over with and be on her way. She looks at several pairs of shoes and finally takes a pair, knowing that if they prove unsatisfactory she can return them and they will be charged off. All she has to do to accomplish this return is to phone the firm, and the wagon will call for the shoes. Then when she is down town again, she can buy another pair of shoes at her leisure.

Confronted with this problem, and having determined that the return of three pairs of shoes on one account during the year made the account unprofitable, a well-known Chicago shoe store has worked out a plan whereby it aims to cure the evil.

The usual questions which are asked of anyone wishing credit in any retail shop are asked, and then:

"Why do you want this credit? Why do you not continue to pay cash?"

It is a store which caters to the higher class trade, which has the cash, consequently the answer almost invariably is:

"It is a matter of convenience."

If the applicant for credit happens to be one of peculiar frankness, he may add:

"——in the exchange of unsatisfactory purchases."

And here the store takes up the offensive. It explains through its credit manager that it wants its customers satisfied, but that, alas, there is a peculiar psychology about credit which makes the credit customer more careless about satisfying himself before purchasing than is the cash customer. The credit manager admits that he extends credit not only as a matter of accommodation to the customer, but also as a business getter for himself—but that such business, like all other that comes to the store, must be profitable or it is not wanted.

"If, for example," the applicant is told, "you return three out of five purchases during the year, you will automatically be deprived of your credit privileges."

This knowledge has the effect, the credit manager says, of insuring more careful selection of goods before they are taken home, and has materially reduced the amount of returned goods. Customers understand that the privilege to charge is a privilege, extended only to preferred customers, and they show a desire to maintain the right by not abusing it.

The general effect of this plan is good, too. Credit, like every other service which the retailer provides for his customer, costs money, and this cost must be passed on to the customer. But where credit is extended merely on the basis of "sound" credit the cost is spread miscuously over the entire list of customers; the person who respects his credit pays in part for the sins of those who abuse it. Where the cost of credit has been figured closely enough so that the store knows it cannot permit more than a limited exercise of the return privilege, then the customer who is guilty is the one who pays the penalty of that guilt, and the credit customers as a class do not pay in excess of their credit. And this consciousness is an asset to the merchant who has the courage of his convictions and cuts short the credit privileges of the patron who abuses them.

Even the layman realizes that the public takes a different view of credit obtained from different classes of merchants. The man who would not think of letting his grocery bill slip over the first of the month may consider it perfectly ethical to let his coal bill run month after month. He may pay his electric light bill early in order to get the discount, and yet his tailor may suffer the proverbial fate of tailors. He may keep his lodge dues paid up because they carry an insurance value, and let the doctor who has saved his life, or that of his wife, wait impatiently for payment.

It is commonly believed by many merchants, and not without reason, that credit means more business. Mrs. Smith will buy for cash what she absolutely needs, but finding it easy to say those magical words, "Charge It," she will buy more goods and they will be paid for. This is a credit for credit, a mark on the right side of the ledger.

But there is another side to this story, too. A grocer in a live town in the middle west had an opportuntiy to buy out a competitor who operated on a cash basist. It was a comparatively small city, so it was a simple matter to carry out the experiment which he determined upon. He kept the transaction secret and did not appear in the cash store at all. It had its manager and its old corps of salespeople—trade went on much as under the guidance of its former owner.

Among the duties of the manager was that of keeping track of customers who visited the store. He was a local man and he knew the housewives from long experience; then, too, there were the telephone orders, which were self-identifying.

It was proved beyond doubt that a certain class of customers, whose bills were paid promptly on the first of each month, bought more from the cash store than from the "credit" store. It was found that many credit customers patronized the credit store only when the cash store did not have in stock the particular article wanted. Others patronized the cash store until the latter part of the month and then, when funds were running low because of an imperfect system of home economics, bought on credit.

The psychology which makes the customers believe that goods bought on credit cost more has had ample material upon which to grow strong and flourish during these days following the war. Prices are up, and the use of the telephone and credit, many believe, gives the merchant an added opportunity to lay on stiff prices.

It is because of this trend of the times that it will pay the merchant to make a careful survey of his trade, to determine whether his credit extension is a profitable affair—whether it means more business and profitable business.

ANNUAL INDEPENDENCE SALE OF WOMEN'S BLOUSES.

Just before the big county fair—a rousing distribution of smartest and prettiest blouses of the season, at prices that have declared their everlasting independence of the first intentions of the manufacturers as to what such blouses should sell for.

Of course, they were made to sell for much more—

Of course, they cost much more a few weeks ago than we paid for them the other day. That's the reason the news is so good and your savings will be so large.

And yet they are the best models of the season, and they are spick-span-new, just out of their boxes—ready to brighten your holiday outfit and serve you all through the summer.

REDS FIRST AMONG COLORS FOR HATS.

Outside of the little acessories that go to make up the smart woman's costume such as the jewelry novelties in necklaces and bracelets, which always must harmonize or be in just the right color contrast to the blouse, it is the hat that is most closely allied and which must have proper color consideration in its relation to the blouse.

Colors for the fall promise to be just as varied and as intense as they have been in the past season as far as millinery is concerned, and in this regard there is much talk on the subject of all the red tones. Paprika, ember, cardinal and Bordeaux are the reds that have been spoken of mostly by those buyers and manufacturers returning from the Paris market.

There is also some little talk here of purple having a demand, and this is explained by the fact that the orchid and hyacinth colors have received so much attention for the summer season that the demand may later go to the deeper shades of purple. Red yellows and the mahogany tones are also in line for use, and there has been some discussion on the deep greens, it being said that some of the French milliners have already started to use these.

SALES AGENCY FOR STOCK OPENS SOON

Drive to Centralize Co-OPerative Marketing Spreads to Wisconsin and Dakota.

The new livestock marketing agency organized by Minnesota farmers to centralize co-operative selling in the northwest will open for business on the South St. Paul market next month, W. A. McKerrow, manager, announced last week.

It will begin active operations with the expectations of handling 10,000 cars of stock in its first business year, Mr. McKerrow said. With 250 Minnesota co-operative shipping associations signed up as members of the new selling agency, its officers believe that amount of business assured.

Minnesota farmers once more have taken the lead in co-operative marketing enterprises, according to an announcement from state farm bureau headquarters. The new livestock organization this week became an interstate marketing agency when the work of organizing Wisconsin shippers to sell through the South St. Paul co-operative firm was begun. Shipping associations in South Dakota will be offered membership in the Minnesota agency next week, Mr. McKerrow said.

Lightning Strikes.

Lightning struck the barn on A. P. Hallstrom's farm during the electrical storm early Monday morning, killing one mule and causing some damage to the barn. No fire started from the bolt which was fortunate as the barn was filled with stock.—St. Hilaire Spectator.

New Executive Secretary For Health Association

The appointment of Dr. William F. Wild as executive secretary of the Minnesota Public Health association has been announced by Dr. C. L. Scofield, president of the Health association. Dr. Wild took office July 1, and succeeds Dr. H. W. Hill, who resigned to become director of the Institute of Public Health at London, Ontario, Canada.

The policy of the association to prevent disease, tuberculosis in particular, and to help every person in Minnesota to be healthy and efficient through demonstration, legislation, and education; that is, by demonstrating the methods of keeping well, by educating the public in the rules of health, and by securing the passage of laws which will provide for the protection of health, will be continued under Dr. Wild's leadership, the association states.

The past year's work has been marked for its accomplishments, according to the Executive Committee, the governing body of the association. 43,307 persons have been given expert medical examination and advice free in the 699 health clinics given under the auspices of the Minnesota Public Health association and the County Public Health associations; 200,000 school children have participated in the Minnesota Health Crusade and performed daily the 'health chores,' such as, washing the hands before and after meals, drinking a certain amount of water, sleeping the required number of hours each night with windows open, eating cereals and vegetables, brushing the teeth regularly and taking a full bath frequently; 172,000 pamphlets on health have been distributed; a health journal has been published each week and sent to 5,000 persons; talks on health given, and all forms of health work encouraged and assisted. During the last session of the legislature, the Minnesota bill for the protection of mothers and infants was sponsored and supported by the Minnesota Public Health association and became a law. This bill provides for the state acceptance of the Sheppard-Towner bill in the event of its becoming a law. Other bills relating to the advancement of public health, such as those providing for appropriations for the work of the tuberculosis sanatoria and the State Board of Health were actively supported.

The work of the Minnesota Public Health association and the County Public Health associations is supported by the annual sale of Christmas seals.

Rust in Polk County.

Reports of rust damage have been received this week, says the Crookston Times, and while the areas reported as affected have been limited, the damage where there has been any has been rather severe. Reports from the neighborhood of Angus place the damage as high as to affect a reduction of 50 per cent in yield. South of Erskine the damage is reported as 25 per cent. In all instances the damage has been reported on late grains only, the early grains being considered as wholly safe. Enquiry close about Crookston disclosed no material damages, although there were numerous indications of rust.

O. A. Larson, state grain inspector of Marshall arrived Thursday to relieve Mr. Keating, who started Saturday on his 30-day vacation. This is the first vacation Mr. Keating has taken for several years and expects to leave in a few days for Omaha, Neb.

Simple, But Important.

An expedient knowledge and practice of which has saved lives in the past and can save more in the future should be familiar to all motor car drivers. An automobile that stalls on a railroad crossing with the engine "killed" can be propelled out of danger by putting the gear in first speed and employing the self starter as the motive power. Any battery that is strong enough to operate a motor car for starting, ignition and lighting has power enough to move its car off any crossing. Hundreds of motorists have been killed because they were unfamiliar with this simple operation. A practice demonstration of it would prove the plan's efficacy and increase the confidence of the driver.—Sioux City Journal.

South St. Paul, July 18—Although general cattle receipts were somewhat larger than last Monday, and killing classes sold on a slow, steady to weak market, no quotable loss in values was registered at the week's opening. Fed yearling steers and heifers mixed sold in last week's late trade up to $8.90, with several sales from $8.25 to $8.75 and heavy fed steers from $8 to $8.50. Similar grades were eligible to about the same money today. No fed yearlings sold, however, but some 1473 lb. averages were purchased by packers at $8. Bulk of the supply consisted of grass steers, which sold from $6 to $7.50. Practically no fed cows or heifers were offered, most of the grassy kinds on hand selling from $4 to $6, with a few up to $6.50. Canners and cutters are going from $1.50 to $3.25, bologna bulls, $3.75 to $4.75. Veal calves steady, packer top $8.50, seconds $5.50. Feeding steers sold steady to strong, a few good to choice kinds selling from $5.50 up to around $7. Stock steers from 750 pounds down sold strong to 25c higher, going largely from $3.50 to $5.50.

Market opened stronger on lightweight hogs, best lights going from $10 to $10.35, bulk of medium and heavyweights $9 to $9.75, and rough heavy packers down to $8. Good pigs mostly $9 to $9.25. Lambs opened 25 to 50c lower, good natives mostly $8, culls $4, ewes largely $2.50 to $3.50.

After Better Service.

At a meeting Wednesday evening, the Gonvick Community club strongly condemned the present freight, express and passenger service on the Duluth-Plummer Soo line. Officials of the club were instructed to inform railroad heads and the state warehouse commission that Gonvick had tolerated the inadequate service long enough and asked for immediate improvement through resolutoins which were adopted. It was pointed out that the curtailment in service has worked hardships and discomforts on the business houses of Gonvick and even caused loss in some cases. Other resolutions were passed enlisting the co-operatio nof commercial bodies of neighboring towns in this move to have the former good service re-established all along the line between Plummer and Duluth.—Gonvick Banner.

"The Sky Pilot"

Just as Ralph Connor wrote it—with Colleen Moore, as Gwen, the mountain girl; with John Bowers, as "The Sky Pilot," who packs a punch in a fist and under his arm; with David Butler as big Bill the rancher, hard fighter but a regular guy.

Four thousand cattle in a stampede, charge straight for the little ranch girl who has fallen from her horse, while the Sky Pilot stands in the track of the approaching steers and risks his life to save the girl. It's a gasp you never had before, if you have read Ralph Connor's great story "THE SKY PILOT"

BANNER FAIR OF NORTHWESTERN MINNESOTA OPENS DOORS WIDE WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 3

Every Indication Points to Record-Breaking Attendance and Facilities Are Provided By Fair Management to Care For Huge Crowds.

Exhibits in All Departments Promise to Excel Both in Quality and Number Those of Previous Fairs Held in Pennington County.

Just a few more days and the Pennington county fair will be on in full swing. Next Wednesday morning is the opening date of the greatest agricultural fair and industrial exhibition ever attempted in Northwestern Minnesota and indications are that all attendance records will be broken. The fair management and others responsible for preliminary arrangements have been hard at work for many weeks and everything to the minutest detail, has received the most careful attention. With the large list of entries in all departments and the exceptionally fine list of amusement attractions, nothing but a siege of extremely unfavorable weather can possibly keep the fair from being a complete success.

Splendid New Facilities.

By making use of the new exhibition hall, recently completed at the fair grounds, the management has a better opportunity than ever before to furnish adequate facilities for the proper display of all exhibits brought to the fair. The new building provides the necessary floor space to house every department properly. The woman's department, school and industrial exhibits are particularly well taken care of in the new structure.

The floral exhibit at the fair this year will undoubtedly be the best ever shown here, the cut flowers and potted plants to be grouped about the center pole in the new building. Exhibits should be brought in as early as possible on Wednesday morning, the first day of the fair. Each year has seen a steadily improving display of plants and flowers, and people have taken an active interest in the growth of new varieties.

Some Fine Livestock.

Prospects are for the best display of livestock ever shown here. All space in the barns has been alloted to exhibitors from all over this section of the state. Several animals from other counties and North Dakota are also to be brought here, according to Secretary Herbert Fuller.

Judging in this department will be done by men from the University of Minnesota who are experts in their line and able to mark the score cards according to the merits of the animals. Poultry and agricultural products will also be judged by special judges from the university farm.

Arrangements are now being made to have the Baudette band appear here during the fair. This is a high-class musical organization and no doubt will be accompanied by a large delegation of boosters from the country to the north of Thief River Falls.

The Goodridge band has also been secured, and this, in addition to the Thief River Falls band, which can always be depended upon to furnish the very best of music, makes this phase of the amusement program well provided for.

One Baseball Game.

Only one game of baseball is scheduled for the fair this year. On Wednesday afternoon St. Hilaire and Viking will stage a contest and both teams are determined that it will be a good exhibition of the national sport. Wednesday has been designated as St. Hilaire day at the fair, and people from that neighborhood propose to show their colors in no uncertain fashion.

Of free attractions more than the usual amount will be furnished this year. The Little Giant shows, a high-class carnival company, has secured permission to occupy a place on the grounds during the fair, and are said to feature some very creditable entertainments.

Fireworks a Feature.

However, the greatest free attraction of all is the exhibition of fireworks to be given Thursday and Friday evenings. This display is put on under contract with the largest manufacturer of fireworks in the world and is the most elaborate thing of its kind ever attempted in this part of the country.

Then the Ferris Wheel Girls, auto polo events, acrobatic stunts and everything of that nature without which a county fair would not be complete. These numbers are the best to be had and every attraction is guaranteed.

Special Culinary Awards.

The Calumet Baking Powder company is offering additional premiums on 27 articles in the culinary department, in all of which articles baking powder is an ingredient. The prizes offered are a one pound can of baking powder, for first, a half pound can for second and a quarter pound can as third prize. These prizes are in addition to the regular premiums given by the association.

First Grain of Season Marketed Here Tuesday

Two loads of rye, the first to be threshed in this vicinity this season, were marketed at the Hanson & Barzen elevator on Tuesday. The grain was raised on the farm of Ole Skaar, six miles west of Thief River Falls and was of very good quality.

Threshing throughout the county will become general within a few days, much of the rye being already in the shock. Some barley and early oats have also been harvested, but none has yet been threshed and brought to the local market. As a general thing, farmers report wheat, oats and barley as being considerably below an average crop, but with the excellent rye and good prospects for corn and flax, the average production on Pennington county farms will not be so bad after all.

FATS AND LEANS IN BASEBALL BATTLE

"Hey, Skinnay, We're Goin' Swimmin.' Tubby'll Also Be There. Oh, Boy!"

The first gun of the campaign for a swimming pool for Thief River Falls will be fired tomorrow, Friday night, at 6:15 o'clock at the fair grounds. It will be up to all of the people of the city to make this gun a regular Big Bertha. Thief River Falls needs a swimming pool in the worst possible manner and this is the golden opportunity for them to get out and support this worthy proposition.

All of the old timers that have the fondest recollections of the old swimming holes that they used when they were kids know what fun and joy the present kids are missing. They also realize the anxiety and anguish of fond parents that know their children are swimming in the treacherous river. As long as boys are boys they'll go swimming so that the present object is to provide an absolutely safe place for them to go. Every parent in the city should get behind this swimming pool and boost it through to completion.

In order to stimulate city-wide interest in this modern necessity a baseball game and band concert will be staged at the fair grounds Friday night. The game will be played between the Skinnays and the Tubbies, all of them old big league players. Without a question of doubt this will be the most interesting, exciting and enjoyable game ever played in this city. It is a real local game that promises to be the talk of the town for years.

It is up to each and every citizen to support this to the limit. A minimum charge of twenty-five cents will be made for all adults, children free, but there will be no limit to the amount that anyone can pay for his ticket. You won't miss a dollar or two for this cause and it will certainly be the best you ever spent. Bring the whole family.

MAKES SEARCH FOR BLACK RUST CAUSE IN COUNTY'S FIELDS

Expert to Cover Ground Thoroughly in Effort to Eradicate Barberry Bush.

A. P. Graham is here under the auspices of the farm bureau office this week to cover Pennington county in search of the common barberry bush. These bushes are the cause of the black stem rust of wheat and by their eradication this disease will be stamped out. The surrounding counties are being covered by state men so that by the end of summer it is hoped that the entire Red River valley will be free from this bush.

Mr. Graham came here from Red Lake county, where he found eight bushes of barberry, or enough to cause rust over a considerable area. The small spores blow to the barberry in the spring and there change to the red form. In this stage the wheat is infected by the wind blowing the spores from place to place. In the autumn the red spores turn black to pass through the winter on the straw and stubble, and in order to infect the wheat the following year must go to the barberry to undergo the transformation into the red stage.

In 1903 Denmark eradicated the common barberry and since then that country has had no epidemic of black rust.

Returns From Trip.

G. Howard Smith returned this week from Los Angeles, Cal., where he had been in attendance as delegate from the local lodge to the Elks national convention. From Los Angeles Mr. Smith enjoyed a motor tour into Old Mexico, and returned to Thief River Falls by way of San Francisco and Seattle. He covered a lot of ground and says he had a fine time.

ASKS CONGRESS TO HURRY HELP IN R. R. TANGLE

President Wants U. S. Corporation to Buy Securities to Pay Railroad Claims.

Federal Board Asked to Give Additional Relief to Farmers and Stock Raisers.

Plan Held Opening Way to Adjustment of Serious Economic Problems Soon.

President Harding on Tuesday in a special message asked congress to broaden the powers of the War Finance corporation so that it could give financial relief to the railroads and agriculture. He made this request in a short message addressed to the senate and house of representatives.

Mr. Harding gave only the bare outline of the plan he wants congress to approve. Details are to be given out later by the railroad administration.

Wants Relief for Farmers.

The president, however, made clear these salient points of his plan:

That the War Finance corporation be empowered to buy railway securities now held by the director general so that officials may have funds to settle with the railroads without dipping into the treasury.

That the powers of the corporation be broadened so that it can extend further relief to the livestock raisers and farmers.

Mr. Harding also revealed that to hasten a settlement with the government the railroads have consented to waive their claims based on the assertion that labor depreciated in value during government control and that the government should pay for this. The waiver, however, will not prejudice their rights if they should take their claim to the courts.

Sees Way for Adjustment.

Mr. Harding then explained that the government owed the railroads and the roads owed the government and that settlements have already been made for claims totaling $225,568,764.

"The way would seem clear to very early adjustment and relief except for the fact that the railway administration, though possessing assets, does not command the funds necessary to meet what will be its admitted obligations," the message said. The proposal that the war finance corporation be empowered to negotiate these assets was then made.

While the government is thus making payments to the roads, the roads' debt to the government will be funded—that is, payment spread over a period of years.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR PAVING SOON

Attorneys having the paving matter in charge for the intervenor in the paving case are ready to file an appeal to the supreme court at once, the motion for a hearing to be made tomorrow. The case will be rushed through with all possible speed and it is anticipated that a decision will be rendered in sufficient time so as not to interfere with the delivery and sale of the city's bonds with which to finance the paving project.

It is understood that no difficulty other than the supreme court decision stands in the way of securing the money, the bonding company and its attorney having passed favorably on the contract recently entered into with the city.

With a favorable decision from the supreme court, which no one conversant with the case doubts for a moment will be forthcoming, the last remaining obstacle to the paving program will be removed and actual work will be undertaken at once. The more optimistic members of the city council believe that actual work can be started about Aug. 10.

FARM BUREAU'S FUTURE STATUS IS NOW SECURE

Adequate Support Pledged to Continue Work For Another Year Among Members.

Farmers and Business Men Give Generous Aid to Popular Local Institution.

Plan to Confine General Service For the Present to Members of Bureau.

The Pennington county farm bureau will not be discontinued, but will be maintained in the future by membership and subscription. During the past week a canvass of the county has been made and a large number of farm bureau enthusiasts have pledged sufficient support for the maintenance of the bureau for another year. Local farmers have come to appreciate the value of the farm bureau and do not propose to do without the valuable service furnished by the institution.

Service Curtailed.

Through the method of financing now followed, it will be possible to give service only to members of the farm bureau association, as they are the ones bearing the running expenses of the organization. In the past the expenses were partly paid by a county appropriation of $2,000 a year, which was an assessment of approximately 25 cents on the average per quarter section of land, or 1-30th of a cent per dollar in valuation.

At a recent meeting of the county commissioners the usual appropriation was refused, a majority of the board members holding to the belief that the farm bureau was not favored as a general thing among farmers and therefore not entitled to county aid.

Referendum Vote Taken.

The members of the county board who opposed the appropriation also based their action on a vote which was taken at the spring elections throughout the county, in which a majority was returned against county support of the bureau. At that time the work was much misunderstood and misrepresented in many localities, which accounts for the unfavorable attitude.

Later a second vote was taken, according to the request of the county commissioners, which resulted in a total of 514 in favor of continuing the appropriation and 51 against. Despite this overwhelming vote a majority of the board decided against county aid for the bureau. The vote carried in every commissioner's district. In the districts comprising North, Rocksbury and River Falls, not a single opposing ballot was cast.

It is to be regretted that the work of the farm bureau association cannot be carried on in as broad a scope as in the past and supported in the same manner as in neighboring counties. For the present, however, only members of the association can be given attention by the bureau, a service to which these men are entitled because they are paying for it out of their own pockets.

Sentiment throughout the county is so strong in favor of continuing county aid for the farm bureau that it is more than likely such aid will be forthcoming next year. At the present time 81 counties in the state and 42 states in the union are operating farm bureau associations under the system followed here in the past—expenses borne by membership fees and appropriations of county funds.

Aged Woman Committed to Hospital at Fergus Falls

Mrs. Johan Johanson, aged 61, for many years a resident of Thief River Falls, was on Monday examined as to her sanity and ordered committed to the state hospital at Fergus Falls for treatment. She was taken to Fergus Falls Tuesday afternoon.

The unfortunate woman has been acting queerly for some time, laboring under the hallucination that someone was trying to do her bodily injury. She finally grew so bad that relatives were unable to care for her and the authorities were asked to take her in charge. Except for this one particular delusion, Mrs. Johanson's mind does not appear to be badly affected and physicians believe a term of treatment in the state institution will serve to return her mind to a normal condition.

Augsburg Sextette to Sing Here Next Monday Evening

Lovers of music will be given another opportunity of hearing a splendid concert on Monday evening, Aug. 1, when the Augsburg Sextette is slated to appear at the Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls.

These singers come from Augsburg Seminary, Minneapolis, and are under the leadership of Prof. H. N. Hendrickson. They appear here in a sacred concert and the highly trained voices are said to be among the best in the Northwest. The singers render a program of solos, duets, quartette and sextette numbers, each man in the organization being an artist.

SEASON CLOSED BY BALL TEAM IN BIG VICTORY

Fast Drayton Team Shut Out in Fine Exhibition on Local Grounds Monday.

Salaried Players Are Discharged and Team Disbands After Successful Season.

New Club Composed of Home Players Continues to Represent Thief River Falls.

As a fitting conclusion for a very successful season, the Thief River Falls baseball team on Monday evening defeated the Drayton, N. D., team by a score of 5 to 0, in a high-class game played on the local grounds. Fedetolf did the pitching for Thief River Falls and performed faultlessly. His support all the way through was of the best and at no stage of the game did the Drayton lads stand a ghost of a chance of winning. Several errors on the part of Drayton in the early part of the game account in a large measure for the one-sided score.

Different at Drayton.

Last Friday evening the locals went to Drayton and were defeated by a score of 9 to 3. Jenkins, a pitcher hailing from Hallock, occupied the mound for Thief River Falls but was at the mercy of the Drayton sluggers from the start. All chance of victory for the locals was gone after a few innings of play.

Red Lake Falls fell an easy victim to the locals last Sunday afternoon in a game played on the Red Lake grounds. When the records were finally straightened out it was found that Thief River Falls had piled up a total of 23 scores, while Red Lake Falls had garnered 7. Keifenheim, who pitched for the down-river team, was at the complete mercy of Fox's sluggers from the start, the boys simply pounding him all over the yard and running wild. Brazel pitched for Thief River Falls and showed up in his usual excellent form.

Team Disbanded.

The salaried team of Thief River Falls is now a thing of the past, the organization having disbanded after the game on Monday. Several of the players have secured positions on other teams for the remainder of the season, some of them will remain here for the present and others have returned to their homes.

It was a good ball team and won more than its share of games played. The principal difficulty encountered by the management lay in booking a sufficient number of games to keep the boys busy. As the season advanced and other semi-professional teams in this section were disbanded one by one, it became apparent that the team could no longer be maintained and accordingly Monday's game was decided upon as the last of the season.

Home Boys Organize.

In order to keep Thief River Falls on the baseball map for a while longer, a team composed of home players was organized here last week. This team has played several games and seems to be able to deliver the goods in a highly satisfactory manner.

The management of the new team announces that a number of games have been booked with neighboring teams and fans will be given an opportunity to witness some real contests.

FRIENDS VERY KIND TO BADLY CRIPPLED SILVERTON FARMER

Show Benevolent Spirit By Rendering Substantial Aid in Time of Need.

John Hegrenes, Silverton township farmer, was a caller at The Times office on Tuesday. Mr. Hegrenes is just able to be about after having been confined to his bed for eight weeks as the result of an accident in which he sustained a badly fractured thigh. Although his injuries are healing as rapidly as can be expected it will be some time before Mr. Hegrenes is able to take his former place in doing the work on the farm.

But the afflicted man is fortunate in that he has a multitude of good friends and neighbors. Last Sunday a number of these gathered and tendered him a surprise party at his home, leaving as a token of their friendship a cash purse containing nearly four hundred dollars. This act, at a time when Mr. Hegrenes has been put to heavy loss through doctor's bills and hiring help in his place on the farm, is deeply appreciated. It was a neighborly thing to do and Mr. Hegrenes, though badly crippled, is happy in the thought that he lives among the best people in the world.

Enjoying Western Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Jacobson and daughter, who are making a tour of the West, in a communication to The Times this week, state they are having a very enjoyable vacation. At the time of writing they were in Seattle, taking in the sights and expected to continue their swing around the circle on the homeward trip within a few days.

Warren Team Disbands.

The semi-professional baseball team at Warren was disbanded last week and for the remainder of the season that city will be represented in the field by a team composed of all home players. Warren, in common with other towns of its size, found it difficult to carry the financial load incident to a salaried baseball team.

Claims Gopher Bounty.

A lad living on a farm near Mavie came to town yesterday with his parents to attend market day. The boy walked into the office of County Auditor T. P. Anderson, placed a bundle containing 156 gopher tails on the counter and wanted to know how much money he had coming as bounty. As the result of his prowess in hunting gophers, the lad has earned a five dollar bill, lacking a nickel.

AUTO RACES TO FURNISH SPORT HERE SATURDAY

Lovers of Speed to Be Provided Excitement Galore on Last Day of County Fair.

Several of Country's Fastest Drivers Are Slated to Appear on Race Program.

Keen Competition For Trophy Among Contenders For Dirt Track Victory.

With Saturday set by the sanction board of the International Motor Contest association as the last day for entries to be received for the auto race meet to be held Aug. 6, the closing day of the 20th annual Pennington county fair, events are rapidly taking final shape for the starter's flag. Not only has a track expert from Minneapolis been secured to take charge of the track work and put the oval in tip-top shape for the racers, but Secretary Fuller has also signed up some of the best dirt track stars of the country to compete for the $2,500 purse and bonus money offered.

With O. T. Barr, southern dirt track champion, clashing against such veterans of the racing game as Les Allen, Ted Rick, Cy Cobb and Rowe Brainerd, the people of the Northwest will witness the greatest display of speed ever put on in the state and a contest that will be a battle from start to finish. These pilots are bitter rivals for the championship trophy now on display in the window of E. O. Mogensen on Third street, offered by the Grand hotel of San Diego to the dirt track star corraling the most points in race meets during the 1921 season. Sig Haugdahl is leading the field at present by a narrow margin, with Barr and Allen tied for second only three points behind, and Ted Rick coming in a close third. Each driver hopes to jump to the lead at the end of this meet by adding the ten points offered to the winner of this race to apply toward the trophy.

But a feature event on the race program and the special attraction for the four days of the fair is the auto polo contest between the All-Americans and the Canadians. The All-American team, captained by Irwin Braitley, arrived in town yesterday and are overhauling their machines and making final preparations for the strenuous series ahead of them. They will clash every afternoon and evening beginning Aug. 3, and the result will no doubt have a bearing on the season's title, which is so hotly being contested for this year. Captain Dailey of the fast Canadian aggregation wired he would arrive Saturday with his crew to warm up to the location and get a line on the attack of the All-American team.

HOME BOYS WIN IN TUG WITH WARREN

Thief River Indians Give Good Account of Themselves in Contest Here Sunday.

Warren was taken into camp last Sunday afternoon by the Thief River Indians, the score being 9 to 4. Gulrud did the pitching for the locals while Guy Lane officiated behind the bat. This was the first appearance of the Indians on the local diamond and they gave a splendid account of themselves. There is an abundance of good material in the team and any club which scalps the Indians will know it has accomplished something.

A number of games have been booked with neighboring teams for the near future. Next Friday the boys go to Viking to try conclusions with the team representing that village, and the Vikings are said to be a fast bunch. Next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the same club will meet the Indians on the local grounds for a second contest. Fans may feel assured of getting their money's worth at both events.

SECOND MARKET DAY GETS FINE POPULAR BOOST

Success of New Plan Assured By Gratifying Response to Many Bargain Offers.

Bad Weather in the Morning Keeps Down Crowds to a Certain Extent.

Business Men Put Shoulders to Wheel and Prepare For Next Regular Event.

Despite the threatening weather which prevailed Wednesday morning, a large number of people arrived before noon to take advantage of the bargains offered by Thief River Falls merchants on the second market day of the season. While the attendance was not as large as on the first market day a month ago, every business establishment in the city reports a good business. Merchants are unanimous in the opinion that market days are successful ventures and have already begun preparations for the next big event to take place in August.

Many Bargain Hunters.

One thing was particularly noticeable about the crowd which assembled yesterday. Every person apparently came for the purpose of securing his share of the bargains offered and supplied himself generously in all lines.

Many people were here from far outside of the regular trading territory of Thief River Falls and were well repaid for making the trip. They came because of certain bargains which local merchants had advertised and went away knowing they had saved real money by trading here.

No Auction Sale.

The free auction sale which was to have been held did not materialize because a sufficient number of articles was not brought in to make it worth while. Secretary Smith of the Merchants' association suggests that for the auction sale to be held next bargain day all articles to be sold should be listed in advance. In this way articles to be placed on sale may be included in the regular market day advertising and the event secure the necessary publicity to make it a success.

The free auction sale should prove a valuable feature when the public comes to realize what use can be made of it. In almost every household there are articles of little use which may be just the thing someone else wants. It is principally for the exchange of such articles that these auction sales are arranged.

A Coffee Day.

While the first market day was featured by the sale of large quantities of sugar, yesterday coffee was the staple which a large number of householders provided themselves with. In the "Round Robin" sale, with Rolland's store as the distributing point, nearly a ton of good coffee was sold at the rate of five pounds for a dollar.

Drawing Proves Popular.

The free distribution of prizes on the First National bank corner at three o'clock proved very popular. A throng of people was present in the hope that their names might be drawn from the ballot box. Following are the winners of prizes, and the names of the donors: 100 lbs. sugar, Mrs. Scott Laird, Loken Brothers; case tomatoes, Mrs. W. Jorde, Bottem Hardware company; box soda crackers, Henry Esplee, Christofferson & Co.; case corn, Mrs. Fred Protz, Lieberman Bros.; case peas, R. M. Nyhus, Hall Bros.; case prunes, P. A. Peterson, Hall Bros.; Sack Vivo flour, Mrs. Ellen Halvorson, Oen Mercantile company; case macaroni, Mrs. T. T. Tharaldson, Bottem Hardware company; case mason jars, Mrs. B. Saugen, Lieberman Bros.; box Spearmint gum, H. Saltveit, Chas. Lieberman.

New Features Planned.

Many new features are planned for the next market day, to be held on Wednesday, Aug. 24. Thief River Falls merchants propose to make it worth while for people from this entire section to visit the city on that day, and nothing will be left undone which might prove an inducement for them to come.

Valuable Service Provided For County Fair Visitors

Mrs. J. J. Richter announces that the Public Health and Child Welfare association will conduct a rest room in the Woman's building during the fair. Cots, baby cribs and cold water will be provided. In addition to this an information bureau and a "lost and found" station will be maintained.

Mrs. A. W. Swedenburg, who is a trained nurse, will conduct practical demonstrations from 10 to 12 a. m. and from 2 to 4 p. m. each day. Her program includes: How to give first aid to a person taken from water; what to do in case of hemorrhage, fracture, etc. She will demonstrate baths of adults and babies, sterilization of milk, babies' feeding, how to give hot and cold packs, how to dress a cut and not infect it, and other home emergency measures.

The children frolicked on the lawn until the approach of the lunch hour at five o'clock. A feature of the lunch was a large birthday cake with one burning taper. Those present were Gladys Weeks, Ione and Ruth Loken, Ruth and Carmen Moline, Frances, Clara and Bernice Vigness.

The newly appointed executive board members are Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Mrs. Crown and Mrs. L. A. Hermanson. A delightful lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. J. O. Sether.

Holmes-Conner.

On Friday, July 22, occurred the marriage of Miss Palnia Holmes of St. Hilaire and Chas. E. Conner, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Conner, LaBree Ave. N., at the parsonage of the Trinity Lutheran church. Rev. T. E. Sweger, pastor of the church, read the service. Both young people are well known here and were graduated with the class of '17. Since that time the bride has been engaged in teaching school in South Dakota, while the groom is employed by the Soo railroad here. They will make this city their home. At present they are spending a two weeks honeymoon visiting with relatives at various points in the state.

League of Women Voters Picnic.

The picnic of the League of Women Voters which was arranged to have been held at Lovers' Lane was held in the Commercial club rooms instead, because of the threatening weather. Mrs. T. L. Melgaard, retiring county chairman, gave a brief outline of the work the league has been doing throughout the year and the work that would be carried out the coming year, which will be the influencing of the project "Limitation of Armament," the support of child welfare work and political education. Two new officers were elected, Mrs. E. M. Stanton as county chairman and Mrs. C. E. Glines as city chairman. Miss Doris Halvorson very graciously favored the club with two piano selections, which were greatly appreciated. The question of raising money was also brought before the league. In addition to the subscription which the county must submit per year it was decided to hold social affairs in the future for the purpose of raising money. A picnic lunch concluded a successful meeting.

Larson-Hanson.

A wedding of particular interest to residents of Thief River Falls is that of Miss Harriet Gertrude Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Hanson, Minneapolis, to Clarence M. Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Larson, of this city. The ceremony occurred at the Central Lutheran church, Minneapolis, on June 29, with Dr. J. A. O. Stubb, officiating. Dr. Larson is well known in this city, having completed his high school course here. He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and is now practicing medicine in the above named city where he is associated with Dr. Theo. Tennyson. Although having practiced but a comparatively short time, he already has acquired a large and rapidly increasing business. Mrs. Larson is a graduate of the nurses' training school of the Minneapolis Swedish hospital. Dr. Larson has taken his bride on a two weeks' automobile trip which will be spent in visiting various points in Minnesota and Wisconsin, after which they will return to Minneapolis where they will be at home at the Curtiss hotel, after Aug. 1.

Wrist Watch Found.

The wrist watch lost by Mrs. C. O. Johnson while she was witnessing the sports program at the Community Club picnic a few weeks ago, was found recently in a peculiar manner. Pete Burstad was milking a cow in the pasture and she appeared to be favoring one foot, so Mr. Burstad investigated and found the watch wedged between the two parts of the hoof. The watch was uninjured and started running as soon as wound.—St. Hilaire Spectator.

BAD STORM SWEEPS DAKOTA ON MONDAY

Farmer Killed By Lightning. Bolt Destroys Three Elevators as Flames Spread.

One death and a property loss of $275,000, including three elevators, is the toll estimated after storms near Mandan, N. D., Monday night. There was a cloudburst at Mandan and McLean county also suffered heavily.

August Marks, farmer, living nine miles northeast of Underwood, was killed by lightning while returning from the fields and a horse he was riding also was killed. His young daughter, who was riding another horse, was not injured.

Lightning struck the Occident elevator at Turtle Lake, starting a fire which destroyed it and the Farmers' elevator and Andrews Grain company elevator, to which the flames spread. Another elevator caught fire, but the flames were extinguished. The loss is estimated at $60,000 to $75,000, according to information from Turtle Lake.

Some basements were flooded in Bismarck during a heavy rainstorm at midnight in which 1.28 inches of rain fell in about three hours, but no other damage was reported there.

Under cloudless skies, citizens of Mandan on Tuesday began taking stock of damage wrought by the cloudburst which sent water rushing from the hills surrounding the city through streets with the speed of a millrace, to a depth of three feet. Water in basements of hotels, department stores and other business houses is believed to have caused a loss which will total $100,000, while as much more loss was caused to homes, city property, street paving and sewers. Every house in the city was damaged.

In the higher sections, sewers backed up and flooded cellars, while in the level section water filled the streets, overran the lawns and seeped into windows.

The storm covered a territory from Glen Ullen to Mandan, a distance of 50 miles, and according to meager information available, was 15 to 20 miles wide.

At Lyons the storm ripped a hole 100 feet across in a high bank, picked up thousands of tons of sand and spread it over the main line of the Northern Pacific. Coast bound No. 3 ran to the edge of the cut, found the sand and returned to the city. A force of 100 section men had the track cleared in about four hours.

LEGION COMMANDER GIVES OPINIONS ON COMPENSATION LAW

Feels That Government Will Sooner or Later Pass Desired Soldier Relief.

"Senator Kellogg's speech on the adjusted compensation bill carries a considerable measure of satisfaction for the ex-service men, although the American Legion of this state was strenuously opposed to the postponement of the measure and believes it could and should have been enacted now," said A. S. Vernon, Department Commander of the American Legion.

"Senator Kellogg recognizes the justice of the adjusted compensation bill and gives assurance of its passage as soon as the Legislation requested by the President is disposed of. Personally, I know that Senator Kellogg is a sincere friend of adjusted compensation, and will do everything in his power to secure its early enactment. I appreciate that a very delicate situation was created by the President's request and I am glad that Senator Kellogg served notice that adjusted compensation is just and fair, that the bill must be passed as soon as the legislation requested by the president is disposed of, and passed with appropriations, so that, even though postponed, its provisions may become effective as soon as if it were enacted now.

"Ex-service men generally, I think, fully understand that the pending bill levied no taxes, carried no appropriations, and that its provisions would not be effective until July, 1922. But, they felt the measure recognized the justice of adjusted compensation, fixed fairly and equitably the basis of that adjustment and know that, with the obligation established, congress would find a way to provide funds to carry out its provisions. The tax levies and appropriations originally contained in the bill were omitted at this session, as the Legion understood, because congressional leaders felt the better course was to enact the measure and fix the country's obligation and have the general fiscal legislation provide the necessary funds for adjusted compensation, as well as other expenses of the government. In calling attention to these features of the bill, Senator Kellogg shows that the measure carries no present financial menace to the country and that the advocates of the measure had allowed time for the enactment of the legislation, requested by the president, and the adjustment of the fiscal problems of the government, before any payments were to be made under the adjusted compensation bill.

"My information is that the sentiment in Washington and in both branches of congress, is strongly in favor of the adjusted compensation bill and I am confident that a satisfactory measure will be enacted to take effect just as soon as if the pending bill had been passed now."

Home Brew Recipe.

W. sock to keep it from working, then bottle and add one grasshopper to each pint to give it the kick.

COAL DEALERS WILL ANSWER QUESTIONS

Wholesalers and Retailers Summoned to Appear Before State Investigators.

Wholesale and retail dealers in coal will be called before the state department of agriculture at public hearings next week to give information as to coal supplies and prices, it was announced on Tuesday. "We hope to have the matter cleaned up and a report for the governor in about 10 days," said J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture. Commissioner N. J. Holmberg is absent on business, but work is under way framing the information that coal dealers will be asked to give.

Mr. Hay said that the Wisconsin authorities will be asked to co-operate because of the coal docks at Superior, which supply a large part of Minnesota's coal.

Congressman Frank Clague of the second Minnesota district has written a letter to the department of agriculture, received today, telling of efforts being made at Washington to obtain a reduction in freight rates on coal. He has the signatures of the house members from Minnesota and both Dakotas, he says, to a petition addressed to the interstate commerce commission, and they will take the matter up with Herbert Hoover and try to get the help of his department.

Mr. Clague said he had word from Luverne that retail dealers there are paying $19 for hard coal, with the threat that prices will be higher this winter unless consumers buy now.

Odd Fellows Entertain Grand Lodge Officials

A large meeting of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs was held Monday evening in I. O. O. F. hall, the lodge having as guests of honor Grand Master J. O. Werntz of Moose Lake, and his wife, Grand Chaplain of the Rebekahs. The grand officers are on a tour of the state and plan to pay an official visit to each lodge once a year.

The session Monday evening was an open meeting, at which both Odd Fellows and Rebekahs were present. Grand Master Werntz is an excellent speaker and gave a very interesting talk, taking as his subject "Fraternity." Mrs. Werntz also favored those present with a brief address.

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served and a social good time enjoyed. A visiting delegation of Odd Fellows from Argyle was entertained by the local lodge and felt well repaid for the long drive necessary in order to be present.

This will be a Style Show of decidedly uncommon attraction, taking place in the beautiful new Woman's Fair Building and will be staged on walks built especially for this Style Show. Eighteen models have been selected for this display, each representing a distinct type of Northern Minnesota beauty. We believe that styles should be adapted to the types for which they were intended; accordingly garments will be shown on models which would "carry off" these garments most appropriately—most artistically. You will notice the individuality possessed in every garment and hat shown, that divines that beauty lies not merely in the garment or hat, per se, but in the manner of its wearing.

To see this Style Show is to see the finest advance fall and winter fashions, expressed here from New York, Cleveland and Chicago especially for this show. Identically the same styles as shown at the New York and Chicago Style Shows.

THE SINCEREST FLATTERY.

A wise man once said that "imitation is the sincerest flattery." And it is generally conceded that he knew what he was talking about. When an idea or a thing has sufficient merit to be imitated, that idea or thing is in very little danger of being abandoned as a mistake or failure.

When the merchants of Thief River Falls got together early in the season and made plans for a series of special market days to be held during the summer, they felt reasonably sure of having originated a good idea. The unquestioned success of the first two of these events is sufficient proof of the soundness of the plan.

But, as before stated, the real value of the market day idea is best proven by the fact that other trading points in this section are adopting the same plan to stimulate business. Red Lake Falls and Bemidji both conducted market days this week and curiously happened to pick out the same day and date for the purpose as that widely advertised by Thief River Falls merchants for the second bargain event here. While this coincidence in the matter of dates likely was unintentional on the part of Red Lake Falls and Bemidji, there are those who insinuate that it may have been done for a purpose. A fear that an occasional bargain seeker from these towns might come to Thief River Falls on market day may have had something to do with the setting of their own market day dates.

But be that as it may. The fact that Bemidji and Red Lake Falls see fit to imitate the market day idea originated early in the season by Thief River Falls and advertised for a certain day each month during the summer, must be considered fairly strong evidence that the scheme has merit. Imitation is the sincerest flattery, now as always.

THE 1921 CROP.

Farmers in Pennington county will soon know to what extent they have been enriched through garnering the crops of 1921. From a prospect which a few weeks ago gave promise of breaking all former records, unfavorable weather conditions have interfered to an extent which no doubt will cut down production to a point variously estimated at from 50 to 75 per cent of normal. Rye, corn and flax have suffered least from the excessively hot weather and will help greatly in offsetting the poor yields expected in wheat, oats and barley.

But there is one redeeming feature in the situation. A large number of Pennington county farmers have long since discontinued the practice of placing their sole dependence on small grain crops, and are providing themselves with a dependable source of income through the medium of the local creamery. A glance at the statement published in The Times last week giving a list of checks issued by the creamery is convincing proof that Pennington county farmers have a side line which is paying them very well indeed.

Ordinary weather uncertainties have little or no effect on the income from a herd of milch cows. Cattle feed and forage in sufficient quantities can be raised here when everything else fails, and the farmer who depends on the dairying industry is playing a game with every chance in his favor.

An occasional season like the present cannot be considered a calamity. Whatever loss is sustained through a partial failure of the grain crop is largely offset through the increased number of farmers who will as a result adopt the only safe method, that of dairy farming and stock raising.

OBSERVATIONS

(Bill Noonan in Baudette Region.)

In making home brew there is one safe practice to follow. Invite the neighbors to try it first.

A city daily devoted a column to discussing women's skirts last Sunday. That's a long article for such a short subject.

We note that a man out west slept for three years. Evidently none of his neighbors owned a phonograph.

Thompson, who stole a million from an Austin company, was a live wire, but a live wire with glue on his hands is a dangerous lad to have in your employ.

We hate to be considered a doubter but it's difficult to believe that Noah took only one pair of mosquitos on board the ark.

Only 150 days until Christmas.

Our idea of a poor way to return good for evil is to get bad whisky and pay good money for it.

The old ladies of both sexes who recently met in Minneapolis to start a war on tobacco have a brief and simple slogan: "If it is popular it must be wrong."

England and Ireland had a peace meeting this week, without the scenery being splashed with gore. Even Baudette and Spooner may get together one of these days.

If for no other reason than from the standpoint of health, one would think that several Baudette parents would stop their young sons and daughters from roaming around after midnight. Nobody but Edison or a cross baby can get along with four or five hours' sleep.

What Everybody Should Know.

That fire is a treacherous servant and a most cruel master.

That fire hazards exist on every hand.

That the only way to get cheaper fire insurance is to stop burning property.

That a fire occurs somewhere in this country every time your clock registers a minute. That five schoolhouses and colleges burn every day in the United States.

That working along fire prevention lines can do but little without community co-operation. Are you doing your share in the conservation of life and property in your community?

Do you realize that the fire losses in the country represent a fire tax each year of approximately three dollars per capita for every man, woman and child?

At an average of 5 hours each day during 200 days in each year, twenty-five million children are in the schools of the United States. The attendance is compulsory. No fundamental educational problem is greater than the safety of children. Statistics available show there are five schools that burn every day.

Fire is one of the worst perils that confronts any community and good citizenship demands that each individual do his part to prevent waste by fire. Can we have your assistance?

An insurance company is merely a clearing house and collects money from the many for distribution to the few who suffer loss by fire. If the destruction of property can be reduced, the fire premiums should be proportionately reduced which will result in a large saving to the citizens of the state.—Exchange.

Minnesota's Wealth.

Do you know that Uncle Sam gave the state for common schools, 2,976,154 acres; for a university, 91,521 acres; for internal improvement, 296,182 acres; swamp or overflowed lands, 4,709,038 acres; other lands, 172,463 acres; a total of 8,445,961 acres.

That every cent ever received from the sale of land or timber or from royalty on iron ore is still in these funds.

That the common school fund now amounts to $32,670,710.69; that iron ore now under lease will add not less than $30,584,000; that much valuable land, timber and mineral, belonging to this fund remains unsold and unleased.

That the university permanent fund contains $2,079,217.87; that iron ore now leased will add not less than $2,000,000; that much valuable land, timber and mineral belonging to the university remains unsold or unleased.

That the swamp land fund amounts to $7,756,708.04; that swamp land minerals now under lease will add not less than $7,222,000; that from one iron ore lease covering a lake bed the state will receive not less than $1,500,000; that there are several other lakes having enormous tonnages of ore in their beds, not under lease; that there is much timber and mineral on swamp lands not sold or under lease.

That there are millions of acres of non-agricultural land in the state admirably located and adapted to timber culture; that an acre planted to spruce or other forest trees will in the course of a few years yield a return almost equal to that of arable land.

That geologists declare 4.14 per cent of the earth's crust to be composed of iron.

That iron is the most useful as well as the most abundant of all metals.

That civilization could get along without gold, useful as it is, but would perish if bereft of iron.

That only a few centuries ago, owing to its rarity, steel was a royal metal. Today it is used by every man, woman and child in the land.

That during the past century the production of steel has grown at a pace bordering on the romantic.

That in 1810 the U. S. produced 917 gross tons of steel, in 1918, 44,462,432 tons.

That of the world's annual production in recent years of from 150 to 175 million tons of iron ore the U. S. twice contributed more than 75 million tons thereto.

That during the world's war, Minnesota produced and shipped as high as 45 million tons in one year and in 1920 forwarded over 40 million tons.

That during several seasons in recent years her shipments have been 60 per cent of the total output in the U. S.; one year over 62 per cent.

That the manufacture of iron and steel products is the mightiest industry in America.

That it has become the acknowledged barometer of the land's commercial and financial status.

That the basis of this stupendous industry is the high grade iron ore deposits of the Lake Superior District, the great bulk of which are found in the Minnesota ranges.

That of the billion tons, shipped from the Lake Superior district since its development, 555 million tons thereof have come from the Mesabi, the greatest of the three Minnesota ranges; and it is, so to say, the backbone of steel industry in the U. S.

That the taxable value of all mineral lands in Minnesota for 1920 was $297,790,872.

That the total state tax on above was $1,614,026.

That the state gross earnings tax on iron ore shipments amounted in 1920 to $2,000,000.

The loans in this association mature in one hundred and eight months and the payments are $1.50 per month for each $100.00 borrowed. It has funds on hand and furnishes the money to all applicants as soon as the papers are executed and the title approved. If you desire to borrow, address the Northwestern Building Association, Fergus Falls, Minnesota, and circulars and applications will be sent to you.—J28.

Pennington Farmers Will Certify Spuds For Seed

Reiner Bonde, state certified seed potato inspector, was in Pennington county Monday and Tuesday inspecting plots of growers who had application for the raising of certified seed. Each plot is to be inspected three different times during the year and must pass each inspection before its product can be sold as certified stock.

The plots belonging to Lloyd E. Crown, Jens Letnes, John Bratrud, H. C. Woolson, Paul Engelstad, A. E. Anderson and H. P. Rued all passed inspection the first time and if kept in good condition will in all probability pass the final two inspections.

FAIR BOOKS BIG FIREWORKS SHOW

A big fireworks show, embracing every type of open air pyrotechnics invented during recent years, will be a feature of the Pennington County Fair this year, according to the announcement made today by the secretary.

Contracts for a complete fireworks display, comprising a full evening's entertainment, were signed this week with the Thearle-Duffield Fireworks Display Co. of Chicago.

The full program of the evening show will be announced some time within the coming week. It will embrace nearly two hours of evening features of all sorts. Ground devices, aerial effects, set pieces and sensational explosive charges will be used in great variety to make up the general schedule of entertainment. In addition to these, the fair board has announced a special series of miniature spectacles, portraits of famous men done in fireworks, animated figures in colored fire, reproductions of famous landmarks and scenic settings of all kinds.

A special corps of experts from Chicago will be brought here to produce the spectacle.

"This will be one of the greatest fireworks attractions ever brought into the state," the secretary of the fair said today. "It will combine displays of elaborate beauty with a series of real explosive thrillers. We expect to pack the grounds every night."

SPECIAL CAR FOR BIG SHOW

A special fireproof car has been chartered by the Pennington County Fair to bring from Chicago the big outdoor stage setting and the tons of explosives and set pieces of all kinds which will be used in the night fireworks show to be produced at the fair this year.

Word was received yesterday that the special equipment and ground structures for use in the spectacle were practically completed and that the special car would leave Chicago within a few days.

A great chain of electric and battery wiring is to be put in here, as many of the big explosive effects are controlled by battery charges operated at a distance. The equipment for this spectacle is said to be the most elaborate ever brought into the state for any production of this kind.

WAR FIREWORKS RETURN

The fireworks which was manufactured in pre-war times is coming back.

The secretary of the Pennington County Fair has just received word that the night fireworks displays to be produced at the fair this year will embrace not only those pyrotechnic effects known before the war but also a number of new devices developed during the last year.

The evening show which will be staged here this year by the Thearle-Duffield Fireworks Co. of Chicago requires tons of explosives and color fire features of all types. It will be especially elaborate in set pieces, aerial effects and "special numbers.

EVENING SHOW FOR FAIR

A complete evening show, in addition to the regular features of the fair open to the public during the day, will be provided by the Pennington County Fair this year, the secretary has just announced.

Featuring a full evening's entertainment will be a big fireworks display. It will present practically every type of modern pyrotechnics. The entire spectacle will be produced on a big open-air stage which will be constructed immediately before the opening of the fair.

The show will be put on by the Thearle-Duffield Fireworks Co. of Chicago, the world's largest producers of fireworks displays.

Set pieces, aerial fireworks and beautiful scenic work of all kinds will be included in the production, the secretary has announced.

PICTURE HARDING IN FIRE

The portrait of President Harding in fireworks will be one of the headliners on the evening entertainment program of the Pennington County Fair according to the program just issued by the fair board.

All kinds of scenic and action fireworks will be included on the schedule for the evening show which has just been issued. In addition to President Harding's portrait other features of the fireworks spectacle will be: "Niagara Falls", "Satan's Dance," "The Temple of Solomon," "Grove of Jeweled Palms," "National Yellowstone Wonders," and many other subjects of similar nature.

A special attraction will be a pageant in which animated figures in fire will take part. These burning figures of men and animals will enact a little spectacle of their own as a climax of the evening exposition.

All the regular set pieces and aerial effects of the ordinary fireworks show will also be included. The production will cover nearly two hours. It will be one of the most spectacular ever enacted in the state, the secretary has stated.

Warren Water O. K.

During the past few days City Health Officer Dr. H. M. Blegen has been the recipient of many communications by letter and phone inquiring as to the truth of the rumor someone had put into circulation to the effect that Warren's water supply had been contaminated by dead sparrows in the water tank. The commission was notified of the rumor and on Tuesday sent two men up to inspect the tank and they reported the rumor absolutely without foundation. The state board of health made an analysis of the water last December and found it pure and wholly free from any injurious substances. The city health authorities, to set at rest the mind of anyone who might have any doubts about the matter have requested the state board to make another analysis at once. Naturally, rumors such as this, when set afloat, greatly alarm the users of the water and persons responsible for them should think twice before giving them currency—better yet, any suspicion one may have should first be communicated to the proper authorities, as they are the ones to remedy the situation, if such exists.—Warren Register.

SENATOR CLIFF ON TOUR OF DISTRICT

Father of Drainage Law Finds Roads Good on Minnesota Side of River.

Senator F. L. Cliff, of Ortonville, H. M. O'Neill, president of the First National bank of Beardsley, Mrs. O'Neill and Rev. James Cavanaugh, brother of Mrs. O'Neill, are among the prominent Minnesota people in Crookston today, says the Crookston Times of Monday. The party is on the way home from a trip to Winnipeg and points in Manitoba at which Mr. O'Neill has interests. Going up the trip was made by way of the North Dakota side of the river and the return on the Minnesota side, and Senator Cliff had no hesitation in declaring the roads on the Minnesota side very superior to those of North Dakota, notwithstanding which, stated Senator Cliff, they were advised in Winnipeg to take the North Dakota side to get the best roads. Senator Cliff, who is the father of the new law under which the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy board and other boards of like character in the state are organized, is naturally a close student of land conditions where ever he travels, and it is a matter worthy of note that he spoke particularly of the road between this city and Euclid and questioned why it had been laid there instead of in the better settled section to the west of the state agricultural school. Senator Cliff strongly urged that the matter of location be brought before the state highway commissioner before anything in the way of permanent improvement was done on the present location.

The party leaves this afternoon on the way south via the King of Trails to Moorhead. Senator Cliff pronounced himself as highly pleased with the progress that was being made by the Red Lake Conservancy board in working for the control of flood waters in this section of the state, stating that he had been keeping in close touch with all developments and tendered his own enthusiastic assistance where ever it could be of use.

REPEAL OF ACT IS URGED AT MEETING

Farm Bureaus Resolve Action Against Section 15 of Esch-Cummins Railway Law.

Resolutions urging that officers of the American Farm Bureau Federation endeavor to secure repeal of section 15 of the Esch-Cummins act, providing that railroads be entitled to 5½ per cent on their book value and one-half of one per cent return for betterment, were passed by delegations representing farm bureau federations of 12 central western states in closing sessions last week.

The conference was called to discuss the relationship of the United States Grain Growers, Inc., to the farm bureaus; federal and state taxation and reduced freight rates for farm products. More than 25 representatives from central western states attended.

The representatives also went on record as urging the American Farm Bureau Federation officials to bring influence to bear on congress to sustain, uphold and, if possible, grant further powers to the federal trade commission, and recommended establishment of a statistical and investigating department for the facilitation of collecting data for the United Farm Bureaus of the country.

The proposal to contract for the purchase of elevators by the United States Grain Growers, Inc., was opposed by the representatives, who passed a resolution urging that the grain organization refrain from such purchases for at least a year.

A meeting of the board of directors of the United States Grain Growers, Inc., probably will be held in Chicago next week to discuss the acquirement of the Equity Co-operative Exchange elevators for the handling of part of the grain contracted for by the grain growers, C. H. Gustafson, president of the Grain Growers' association, announced to the representatives.

Postmasters' Examination.

The United States Civil Service commission will conduct an open competitive examination at Thief River Falls, Friday, Aug. 13, to fill the positions of postmaster at Red Lake Falls and Plummer. The Red Lake Falls job pays $2,100 a year while the Plummer job pays $1,200. Applicants must submit to the examiner on the day of examination their photographs taken within two years, securely pasted on admission cards sent them after their applications are filed. Under an executive order issued by President Harding the successful candidate will be chosen from the three highest on the list.

Notice

There will be no regular meeting of the Rocksbury Farm Bureau until Saturday, September 3rd, as the regular meeting day comes on the last day of the Fair.

BOY SCOUTS HOME FROM FINE OUTING

Thief River Falls Lads Have Splendid Time in Summer Camp at Union Lake.

The delegation of Boy Scouts from Thief River Falls which had been in camp at Union lake for ten days, returned to this city Monday evening, showing every indication of having had a good time. The party consisted of 24 scouts. Eighteen of these pitched the original camp and were joined by six others during the outing.

As a troop the boys nearly completed their second class tasks on the trip. Two of the boys, Clifford Storholm and Allison Stitt, a little farther advanced in scout work, completed their first class tasks. Two other lads, Lee Melgaard and Willis Nason, who had been on a tour of Itasca park, joined the others at Union lake and returned with them.

W. J. Brown of Thief River Falls, who is spending the summer in his cottage at Union lake, invited the scouts over for a feed on Friday and treated the boys to a real spread. And it is said the way eatables disappeared was nothing slow.

The boy scouts have nothing but words of praise for scout Executive White, who was in charge of the camp. He put them through the routine strictly according to rules and every boy came home improved in health and morals as a result. Little George Johnson, who is not yet old enough to become a member of the scouts, acted in the capacity of mascot during the outing.

WOOL POOL SELLS AT FAIR RETURNS

Co-Operative Selling Proves Its Value By Finding Market Despite Conditions.

Twelve million pounds of wool, pooled almost entirely through the farm bureaus of the wool producing states, have been sold during the first six months of 1921, the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation announced this week.

The announcement was based on a report from C. J. Fawcett, director of wool marketing for the American Farm Bureau federation.

"In spite of adverse market conditions," the farm bureau said, "the wool pool has demonstrated the power of co-operative enterprises in the open market. Because the pooled wool was graded, collected in large quantities, and kept constantly ready for immediate use by the mills, the farm bureau pool occupied a strong position. Most of the pooled wool has been sold and sold at full market value, because it was acceptable for immediate manufacture; while wool held on farms in most cases remains without attractive offers."

Present indications are that the 1921 wool will be even larger than last year's, the federation said. Ohio has pooled more than 4,000,000 pounds, 1,000,000 more than last year; Michigan expects to pool 4,000,000 pounds; New York predicts double the quantity of its 1920 pool will come in this year; and shipments from Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Illinois, Wisconsin, South Dakota and Missouri are on the way to Chicago warehouses, the federation announced.

Meningitis Epidemic.

There have been approximately 200 cases of spinal meningitis in Wadena county, centering around Sebeka, Dr. A. J. Chesty, executive secretary of the state board of health, said Saturday. There have been six deaths in cases under supervision of physicians. Drs. C. Halliday and J. N. Gehlen of the state board of health, have been sent to Wadena county in efforts to aid local physicians.

Weekly Market Review.

(Quinn-Shepherdson Co.)

Under the weight of an extremely heavy movement of winter wheat, good prospects of another bumper corn crop and a staleness in the repetition of damage reports in the spring wheat and oats territory, prices of all grains during the week continued to have a sagging tendency.

That most of the new wheat crop is for sale is clearly indicated by the unusually heavy and early marketing of the crop in the southwestern states. In fact, wheat receipts at all primary markets are now running about three times as large as during the corresponding time last year.

By reason of the hedging pressure in all grains at present, drastic declines might have been expected, but values yielded only moderately, evidently being checked by the possibilities of extraordinary demands from European sources due to foreign drouth damage, by additional scattered reports of damage to the Canadian wheat crop and by a general public sentiment that the world wheat supply and demand situation is in extremely close adjustment and that were Foreign Exchange and European finances in a healthier condition there should be an undeniable demand for every surplus bushel of American foodstuffs. What foreign requirements will amount to during the coming season for the present is largely guess-work. Up to the drouth period a materially larger European yield than last year was in prospect and consequently lighter American imports. With the exception of Italy however, every European country is reported to have sustained extensive crop damage. Germany has already secured additional American credit and is a steady buyer of wheat and corn.

Recent rains have been of great benefit to the Northwestern corn crop. Very optimistic crop reports come from all parts of the corn belt. Bearish sentiment induced by the large corn stocks is being counteracted by the unusual conditions of American corn supplanting the Argentine in supplying foreign demands. The heavy clearance of American corn for export is attributed to the exhaustion of the Argentine carry-over from previous crop and the unsuitable shipping condition of new corn from the southern hemisphere.

With the movement of new oats now commencing, old oats are also being freely shipped to all terminals. Export business in oats of late is also noteworthy, but the demand so far is mostly for the heavy Canadian varieties. We would anticipate lower prices only for the immediate future.

Government Specifications for Gasoline Do Not Mention Gravity

When the Government buys gasoline for Army or Navy use, it does not consider gravity. It specifies various temperatures at which definite amounts of the gasoline shall vaporize; in other words, it fixes the low and high boiling points, and specifies that the intermediate boiling point fractions must be so arranged as to boil off at the correct temperature to insure a maximum of service.

Red Crown
—the High-Grade Gasoline
Has a Perfect Chain of Boiling Point Fractions

Red Crown more than meets Government specifications. Its initial is about 40 degrees F. lower, meaning easier starting than the Government requires.

Red Crown has the correct range of boiling point fractions to insure quick getaway, smooth acceleration, and the correct range for tremendous power and speed. Red Crown is fast gas.

Red Crown is the best gasoline you can buy. It will give you better service, more power, more speed, and greater mileage per gallon. It is a waste of money to pay more than the price of Red Crown.

Thomas entered the military service at Camp Dodge, Ia., in 1918. His health had been failing since before he received his honorable discharge in 1919. Most of his time since he has been forced to spend in military hospitals where he underwent four operations in hopes of recovery. It was after the fourth operation which he had at Asbury hospital, a week previous to his death, that he gradually grew worse until death came as an end to his suffering. To mourn his death, he leaves, beside an aged grandmother, his father, O. A. Anderson, one sister and five brothers, John, Arthur, Alex, Oliver and George. The sympathy of many friends and relatives is extended to the bereaved family.

Auto Tags Yield Profit.

The Minnesota tax on an automobile about equals the price of a good tire for the car licensed. The tax revenue this year will yield approximately $5,500,000 to the trunk highway fund. The benefit from wise expenditure of that large sum and other money for trunk highway maintenance and improvements in the state certainly is worth the price of one tire a season. It will add fully 25 per cent to the mileage from each of the four tires on his car. The extra savings on upkeep, gasoline and other items, and the comfort and convenience of travel on good smooth roads, steadily getting better, represent the car owner's net profit under the Babcock plan. So the state motor vehicle tax is, in fact, a profitable investment.—Highway News.

Drainage Men Busy.

A party of prominent men who visited in Gonvick Wednesday included Adolph Meyer, Minneapolis; E. V. Willard, St. Paul; Geo. Walker, Thief River Falls and C. G. Selvig, Crookston. The first three are engineers of no mean ability and are connected with the Red Lake drainage undertaking. Mr. Selvig is chairman of the board of directors for flood control districts. The party motored to Gonvick after a trip of inspection up the Red Lake river to the outlet at Red Lake and after a short visit with Andrew Johnson, meadows farmer, who is also a member of the board of directors. Mr. Selvig advises that work over the district is progressing most satisfactorily and especially in the territory coursed by the Clearwater river which is to be straightened and deepened and contract for which improvement will in all probability be let this coming fall.—Gonvick Banner.

American Legion Corner

Is the Legion Selfish?

To glance over the five hundred daily and weekly newspapers published in Minnesota and note the scores of instances where Legion and Legion Auxiliary members are busily engaged in helping their home town in one way or another, is to be impressed by the extent to which the efforts of the Legion and its Auxiliary are bound up with the welfare of our great state, notwithstanding the fact that three years ago the organization had not been thought of and its members were spread throughout the world, honorably performing whatever duty Uncle Sam saw fit to assign them to.

Yet some people say that the Legion is a selfish organization. If reverently receiving the bodies of its dead comrades and laying them tenderly to rest with all the honors due them, is selfish, then the Legion is selfish. If fighting in the state and national legislatures for justice to those who served their country, particularly those who lost their limbs and health in defense of Old Glory, is selfish, then the Legion pleads guilty. If getting back of plans to boost for and brighten community life in the old home town is selfish, then the Legion surely wins the prize. And if lending a helping hand to a buddy in distress is dishonorable, then the Legion has reason to be ashamed of itself.

Occasionally, other unfair criticism is made of the organization which those who honorably served their country have built up, criticism which plainly indicates that those who make it, do so maliciously or through ignorance of that of which they speak. But in the heart of the great state of Minnesota, in the minds of the majority of its citizens, the American Legion has earned for itself an esteem and a confidence of which it may justly be proud. Perhaps every Legion post in Minnesota has not burned up the world, perhaps it does not expect to, but in its own quiet way it does its bit and is always ready to lend a hand when help is needed either in the community or individually.

To ex-service men of this great state who have been undecided as to whether or not they should join their comrades, the Legion extends the hand of friendship. If you are one of them, and do not think the Legion is what it might be or ought to be, Legionaires will value your advice. They cannot promise you that all your ideas will be adopted, because democratic organization must be governed by the will of the majority, and the majority may not always accept the best judgment of one member. But if you will lend a helping hand, your vote will count, and you will have the satisfaction of boosting for your home town, for Minnesota, your country, and your buddies.

"Ex-service men do not want to ruin their country. They think just as much of it as the men who made large profits or earned unprecedented wages while they were in the army or navy, but they cannot see how the distribution of less than the cost of a single month of the war will bankrupt the country or cause business depression," declared State Commander A. H. Vernon, adding, "President Harding's message is very disappointing to all ex-service men and, I believe, to the average American, in that it treats the adjusted compensation bill as a mere gratuity and opposes it on the grounds of its ultimate cost, which will be approximately the same no matter when the measure is enacted. The American Legion believes the measure acknowledges a moral obligation of our country to treat the soldiers with approximate economic justice as compared with other citizens. The president's message may succeed in postponing consideration of the bill, but adjusted compensation is far from dead. Sooner or later it will become law."

Just American.

Just today we chanced to meet
Down upon the crowded street;
And I wondered whence he came,
What was his nation's name.

So I asked him, "Tell me true,
Are you Pole or Russian Jew,
Irish, Scotch, Italian, Russian,
Belgian, Spanish, Swiss, Moravian,
Dutch or Greek or Scandinavian?"

Then he raised his head on high,
And he gave me this reply,
"What I was is naught to me,
In this land of Liberty,
In my soul as man to man,
I am just American."

The American Farm Bureau Federation, with more than a million members, has joined hands with the Legion in obtaining legislation for the relief of disabled soldiers of the great war. More than 1800 bureaus of the Federation have endorsed the legislative program of the Legion. Enactment of the bill consolidating the three government bureau handling ex-soldier affairs will save the national budget $15,000,000 a year through eliminating much work now done in duplicate and triplicate, and will cut miles of red tape which hitherto has rendered relief ineffective. The bill has passed the House of Representatives unanimously and is on the calendar of the U. S. Senate with a favorable committee report behind it.

State Commander A. H. Vernon has sent invitations to the state commanders of the various patriotic organizations in Minnesota to be guests at the Winona Legion convention, and letters of acceptance are arriving at state headquarters daily. Commander Vernon has also invited the Commanders of the Legion departments of North and South Dakota, Montana, Iowa, Wisconsin and Illinois to attend the Convention. One or more representatives from National Headquarters will also be present. Everything points to a record convention.

"Labor and the Legion have a common aim to make America a better place in which to live," said Alvin M. Owsley of the Legion National Americanism Committee, who spoke before the American Federation of Labor National Convention in Denver, being introduced by Samuel Gompers. The mutual understanding between the two organizations is growing stronger every month. Messages have been received at Legion National headquarters from labor leaders throughout the country, congratulating the Legion upon its success in making clear to the labor men the real purpose of the Legion.

The American Legion of Minnesota has protested to Minnesota senators against postponement of the consideration of the adjusted compensation bill. Legionaires all over the state are urging Senators Nelson and Kellog to work for and vote for the bill and secure its enactment now. Legionaires of Minnesota feel that the majority of the people of this state believe that the American Legion bill is just and fair and that it should be enacted now. Both bodies of the Minnesota Legislature have endorsed it. It passed the National House of Representatives and has twice been approved by the Finance Committee of the United States Senate. It has been endorsed by the legislature of many states beside our own. The United States Chamber of Commerce is reported to be heading the fight against the Legion's bill, but practically every Minnesota commercial body to which the measure has been explained has endorsed it. Many misleading estimates as to its cost have been printed in a barrage of editorials throughout the country recently. Other editorials deliberately ignore the principles of justice underlying the bill. None of them cite the fact that the adjustment of compensation for the defenders of our country will cost less than it cost to carry on the war for a single month. Neither do they explain that the money needed to do justice to ex-service persons is only two-thirds of the amount promptly appropriated for the adjustment of compensation of cancelled contracts for war materials. Instead, they try to frighten the country into repudiating its debts to its defenders by crying, "It will ruin the country." This eleventh-hour attack on the bill won't succeed if Minnesota Legionaires can avoid it.

Commenting on the plans of local Legionaires to construct a bathing beach at Jordan, Minn., the Jordan Independent writes: "This plan of the Legion is entitled to our support. What finer and more appropriate memorial to our brave soldier boys could there be than the boulevarding and parking of the millpond, the building of necessary bath houses; the preparation of the necessary roads and bridges and probably the erection of a grandstand for summer evening band concerts?"

Garbed in war paint and their native costume, twenty or more full-blooded Chippewa Indians marched in the parade, watched the ball game, and danced with the Legion boys at the Itasca County Rally of the Legion in Grand Rapids, Minnesota. Daredevil airplane stunts and a parachute drop from a speeding plane formed part of the entertainment.

When the Legion and its Auxiliary at Chisholm, Minn., decided to raise several hundred dollars to be expended by the Legion Auxiliary State Hospitalization committee for sick and disabled soldiers in hospitals, every civic organization in Chisholm helped put on a benefit entertainment which netted $600 for the soldier welfare fund.

Disabled veterans at the Aberdeen hospital in St. Paul are setting a fine example to their comrades who came back from the war uninjured. Practically every wounded buddy is learning a new trade or profession. Their handiwork includes practically everything you could mention—beautiful examples of what perseverance and industry can accomplish. To help their disabled buddies market these articles, members of the St. Paul East Side Legion post will stage a carnival July 14th, at which the articles will be raffled. Thousands of tickets have already been sold by St. Paul Legionaires and the St. Paul citizens who purchased them expressed satisfaction in being able to help in this manner.

Nearly every Minnesota town boasts of a few former members of the 88th Division, who will be glad to know that they can attend the 88th Division Reunion at Camp Dodge, near DesMoines, Iowa, Aug. 26, 27 and 28. A reduced fare of approximately $15 for the round trip has been arranged. Members will be quartered in regimental sections just the same as when the boys were preparing for war, so that there will be no difficulty in getting in touch with the buddies who meant so much to them "over there."

To Aid Creamery Drive.

The county agents of Minnesota are receiving from F. E. Balmer, county agent leader at University Farm, the suggestion that they assist A. J. McGuire, organization manager of the new Minnesota Co-operative Creameries Association, Inc., in putting through a complete state-wide organization. A series of meetings of the patrons of each co-operative creamery will be held, scheduled by counties, one meeting every evening until the patrons of all of the creameries in every county have met. County agents and farm bureau presidents are expected to confer as to arrangements for such meetings, after which farm bureau presidents will see to issuing calls.

So Near and Yet So Far.

E. W. Backus has 100 cases of champagne at the Fort Frances depot but he can't get at them. The wine was shipped to Mr. Backus from France, but when it arrived this week the Canadian inspector refused to turn over the shipment on the ground that Ed. was not a resident of Canada. Many thousands of dollars are involved and interest over the outcome of the case is great.—Baudette Region.

University Man Buys Farm.

A. D. Wilson, who for the past 15 years has been associated with the extension work of the agricultural department of the University of Minnesota and who has been head of that department for many years, has resigned and will engage in active farming near Bemidji. Mr. Wilson has purchased a farm containing 320 acres 12 miles south of Bemidji and is now completing a new modern bungalow there. He is now living on the place and is making preparations to begin clearing a large acreage of his farm. The new farm home which is being completed by Mr. Wilson will be one of the most modern farm homes in this part of the state. He also plans on developing a modern farm as soon as possible. During the 15 years that Mr. Wilson has been associated with the agricultural department of the state of Minnesota he has been called to practically every agricultural district of importance and the fact that he has selected a location near Bemidji as his own farm home is considered the highest recommendation for agricultural lands in this vicinity.—Bemidji Sentinel.

A True Philosopher.

The county agent of LeFlore County, Okla., tells in his report about one farmer in his county who has found out a way to stop worrying. They have had tremendous rains down in that section of the county and there was too much mud for plowing. The agent met this man and said: "I don't understand why you are looking so much happier than you did the last time I saw you; what's the matter?" He replied: "Nothing is the matter. I gave up worrying because I got nothing left to worry over—crops all gone, money all gone, credit all gone, food's about played out, can't get work, got nothing, so I've got nothing to worry about and have stopped worrying."

Keeping the House in Order

It is in caring for the needs of its patrons, be they big or little, which stamps the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) as a service organization of the first order.

Whether the product be a major one, as for instance, gasoline, or one of the highly refined motor oils, or a secondary one, such as Standard Road Oil, facilities have been provided by which the patron, wherever he may live, may get what he wants with as little delay as possible, and at a minimum of expense.

For many years Standard Road Oil has been used by communities and individuals in providing a semi-hard surface to highways. Roads so treated are dustless, are not so easily affected by rains, and carry a heavier load with less power than is possible where plain dirt roads, however well cared for, are used.

Recently it has been apparent that many want to use this dust preventive on the roads about their homes. Some need but a single barrel; others two or three, but these small amounts they want badly.

As soon as it became apparent that there was a demand for Standard Road Oil in small quantities, the Company assigned to this product a sufficient number of iron barrels to care for the trade. These barrels are not sold but are used merely to transport the oil; to be returned as soon as they can be emptied.

By thus cooperating with its patrons, the Company can furnish small quantities of Standard Road Oil at a minimum price, and the user can get it in quantities of one barrel, or a thousand barrels, without having to pay for the container.

This is but one of the many ways in which the highly specialized organization of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) serves the public, individually and collectively, to the profit of all.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Twelve Dollars, which became due on the 11th day of April, 1920, and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Bertha O. HIGHWAY ENGINEER SUMS UP PLANS IN STATE ROAD WORK

Excellent Showing Made During First Year of New Babcock Law's Operation.

Grading of 677 miles, gravel surfacing of 438 miles and paving of 80 miles, a total of nearly 1,200 miles, will represent permanent improvements on Minnesota trunk highways during the first year under the Babcock plan, according to a forecast this week by John H. Mullen, assistant commissioner and chief highway engineer.

The preliminary figures are based upon expectation that the usual $2,840,000 federal aid apportionment will be made available this year in Minnesota. Otherwise, the grading may be reduced to about 500 miles, gravel surfacing to 350 miles and paving to 65 miles, a 915-mile total.

Mr. Mullen's forecast of new construction does not take into account the maintenance improvements for which $3,000,000 has been set aside this season to spread immediate benefits of the Babcock plan to every mile of the 7,000-mile trunk highway system. The division includes more than 1,140 patrolmen now repairing and smoothing trunk routes and is counted on to bring first general benefits under the new highway development program.

The new construction is scattered in more than 75 different sections and when completed will make new totals of 2,176 miles of grading, 1,739 miles of gravel surfacing and 192 miles of paving on the state trunk system. It will cost approximately $10,000,000, if carried through without curtailment, and will represent expenditures of $5,000,000 of county reimbursement bond money, $2,840,000 of federal aid, and the balance of the motor vehicle tax revenue after $3,000,000 is deducted and placed in the maintenance fund.

The highway department, as previous progress figures show, is speeding good roads work but is now forced to await action by congress on federal aid legislation.

FEWER INDIANS IN NORTH STAR STATE

Census Figures Indicate Indian Population on Decrease. More Colored Folks.

According to information made public by the United States Census Bureau, last week, the Indian population of the state has fallen off 292 in the last ten years. In 1910 the population was given at 9053 while the statistics now given out indicate but 8,761. Of this number 1825 are to be found on the reservation in Cass county. The largest number are no doubt on the White Earth reservation where according to the only statistics we have been able to locate, those of the state census of 1905, there were almost 5,000, to be exact 4,968. The same census gave 1920 on the Chippewa reservation, which compared with the present estimated population would indicate a falling off of 97. However Superintendent Myers states that the population for some years past remains practically stationary around the 1,825 mark.

While the Indians within the state show a slight decrease some other races are increasing in number, notably the Chinese, which is credited with an increase of 85 per cent. This does not mean so much however, as the total enumerated is but 308. The Japanese number only 85 so the yellow peril is not very alarming as far as the North Star state is concerned.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press states that the census figures indicate an increase of 25 per cent in the colored population which in 1910 numbered 7,084 and which now count up to 8,869. Other colored races number but 26 persons representing Filipinos, Hindus, Malays and Hawaiians.

The population of the state showed a total of 2,387,125 for 1910, comprised of 1,245,537 males and 1,141,588 females, which the corresponding figures for 1910 were: Total, 2,075,708; males, 1,108,511; females, 967,197, a total increase of 311,417, the males by 197,026, or 12.4 per cent, and the females by 174,391, or 18 per cent, the ratio of males to females in 1920 being 100.1 to 100 as against 114.6 to 100 in 1910, indicating the stork's preference for boy babies during the decade.

FERRIS WHEEL ACT IS NEW AND NOVEL

Splendid Free Attraction Offered to County Fair Visitors Here Next Week.

When Eli Ferris invented the Ferris wheel, which first appeared at the Chicago World's Fair, he provided an idea for a new gymnastic performance that has been incorporated in the "Ferris Wheel Girls," who will appear at the Pennington county fair Aug. 3 to 6. So unique is this act that it was a feature at the New York Hippodrome for one season and startled the staid New Yorkers, just as much as it has the thousands of spectators who have since seen it on the vaudeville stage and at 275 fairs throughout the United States. Identically the same act which appeared at the famous Hippodrome will be shown those who attend the fair.

Combined with an athletic performance of exceptional merit is a musical act, which makes the presentation two big features in one, either of which is worthy to stand on its own merits as a number out of the ordinary. Together the acts make up a really meritorious combination which has never failed to win praise and applause wherever it has appeared.

Upon the whirling Ferris wheel, which stands 35 feet above a specially constructed stage, five beautiful girls perform, while the nickel-plated apparatus circles at a dizzy speed through the air. Feats which other performers present on stationary equipment these five young women, whose wardrobe is as beautiful as money and material can make, perform while traveling through the air like so many birds, absolutely unafraid. The act is as thrilling as it is beautiful.

The musical program offered by the same young women is a pleasing and perfectly constructed and executed bill which is a strong rival for popular favor with any individual musical performance given by performers who have not the added grace and gymnastic ability of these charming Ferris wheel girls.

DAIRY MARKETING CAMPAIGN BEGINS

Farm Bureau Launches Statewide Drive to Unite 600 Creameries Into Body.

The second statewide co-operative marketing enterprise to be started in Minnesota this summer was to be launched this week, in an intensive drive to unite 600 co-operative creameries into a powerful association.

Every co-operative creamery in the state is to be given an opportunity, between now and September 5, to join the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries' association, Inc. The objects and powers of the new association will be explained to the directors and patrons of every creamery by actual farmers, acting under the direction of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation and the new marketing agency.

The organization drive has been mapped out by A. J. McGuire, representing the association, and by the organization department of the farm bureau. The state has been divided into 12 campaign districts, and a farmer placed in charge of each district, with the job of explaining the new agency to every co-operative creamery in the district. Meetings are being called by the presidents of county farm bureaus and the local creameries, to consider joining the association.

Shares of stock have a par value of $25; in order to join, a creamery must take one share of stock for each 50,000 pounds of butterfat handled annually.

HE BELIEVES IT SAVED HIS LIFE

Pinard Would Have Given Anything He Possessed for the Relief Tanlac Brought.

"I don't believe there is anything that will put a man who is down and out on his feet as quick as Tanlac will," said E. P. Pinard, of 1021 Minnesota Ave., Duluth, Minn., in relating his experience with the medicine.

"For a good many years I had such a bad case of stomach trouble and was in such fear and dread my food wouldn't agree with me that I could not enjoy a meal. I suffered so from indigestion and bloating, and had such terrible pains up through my chest that many times I would have given anything I possessed for relief. Why, if I hadn't gotten hold of Tanlac I believe I would have been a goner altogether by now.

"Tanlac just keeps me going, for it has not only fixed up my stomach but it has given me a good appetite also. I keep Tanlac on hand all the time, and whenever I feel myself slipping it doesn't take the medicine long to straighten me out again. It keeps up my strength and weight, and I'm now feeling better and looking better than I have in a long time. Tanlac is the only medicine that ever gave me relief and I am certainly lucky to have run across it, for it saves me all the suffering and misery I had to endure before I got hold of it."—Advertisement.

Reach Agreement on Ditch Repair Program in Kratka

A large number of interested farmers appeared at the court house last Saturday, when the final hearing in the matter of repairing county ditch No. 39 was taken up. After heated arguments on both sides, it was finally decided to appoint a committee of three men from each faction to come to a final understanding in the matter.

These men finally agreed on what work should be done this year on the ditch, an amount considerably less than originally planned, and the undertaking will be started as soon as possible. Ditch No. 39 is located almost exclusively in Kratka township and is one of the most important in that section. It was the original intention to deepen the ditch and add some new laterals, but the objectors to this program were strong enough to prevent this being carried out. Instead only a comparatively small amount of repair work will be done at this time.

Work is Progressing on Peat Experimental Farm

Supt. C. G. Selvig returned last evening from a trip to the Golden Valley Peat Experimental Farm located 14 miles east of Holt, says Monday's Crookston Times. This experimental work with peat was begun in 1918 and is conducted by the University of Minnesota. Prof. G. H. Nesom is at the farm now. Acid phosphate fertilizer is producing increased yields on peat with the various crops in contrast to smaller yields or no crops at all of untreated peat soil.

A visiting day will be held at the peat farm on Aug. 11 or 13, the date to be determined at a conference with Dr. F. J. Alway and Supt. Selvig. Profs. McCall and Larson of the farm school faculty were also on this trip. Mr. Selvig also had as his guest, Mr. T. Sanderson, of Harmony, Minnesota, who returned greatly impressed with the agricultural possibilities of Red River Valley.

Much Grain Wasted By Carelessness in Threshing

Hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain are lost to consumption each year on American farms because of improper adjustment and lack of efficiency in the operation of threshing machines. The United States Department of Agriculture has given considerable attention to this loss with a view to ascertaining how far improved methods can be economically introduced to adjust waste. It is true, experts point out, that sometimes the time and labor involved in checking a small loss is worth more than the saving. Nevertheless, there are many leaks on almost every threshing job which might easily be stopped if the farmer or machine operator would spend a few hours in the study of the problem and a few dollars in replacing worn and damaged parts.

Feeding the grain into the machine adjustment of the cleaner, and other small items go to make up a total that may mean gain or loss. Much grain is wasted by failure to clean up at the end of the setting. The United States Department of Agriculture has issued Farmers' Bulletin 991, "The Efficient Operation of Threshing Machines," which contains much good advice on this subject. This bulletin may be obtained by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Potato Crop Light.

It is too early yet to predict with any certainty as to the probable price of potatoes this year, but the indications are for a light crop.

Locally the crop will be below the normal, this being especially true of those planted early. There are only three or four in each hill. The dry spell prevented them from getting well started.

The Right Power Plowing Combinations

WHEN you buy a tractor and plow not especially designed for use together, your chances for satisfactory service from the outfit may not be as good as if you bought a combination built and sold for service as a plowing unit. For one thing, the plow hitch or drawbar adjustment of the tractor may not be sufficiently flexible to insure a straight line of draft from the point of greatest resistance. For another thing, in the event that replacements or special adjustments are needed, if the outfit is not designed and sold as a co-ordinating unit, you have to deal with two different companies instead of just one.

You are relieved of such difficulties and annoyance when you invest in a Case Kerosene Tractor and Grand Detour Power Plow. These machines are designed for use together. The same high standards of workmanship and high quality materials are employed in building both tractors and plows. We recommend the following outfits as the most logical plowing combinations:

Case 10-18 Tractor and 2-bottom 14" Grand Detour Rigid Beam Plow
An ideal outfit—not too large for the farmer who is cultivating 160 acres of land or less.

Case 15-27 Tractor and 3-bottom 14" Grand Detour Rigid Beam Plow
For the farmer who is cultivating from 200 to 300 acres or more this outfit will prove the most satisfactory.

Case 22-40 Tractor and 4-bottom 14" Grand Detour Rigid Beam Plow
This outfit is very popular among Dakota and western Minnesota farmers who raise grain on a big scale. In well-worked ground or light soil the 22-40 tractor will pull five plows without over-loading the engine.

Write for catalog descriptive of these up-to-date Outfits and other power farming machinery, including Grand Detour Disk Harrows, also Case Steel-built, Galvanized Threshers, Silo Fillers and Hay Balers.

Weather Continues Ideal and All Attendance Records Will Likely Be Broken.

The twentieth annual Pennington county fair opened yesterday morning and is now proceeding with full steam ahead. Weather conditions the fore part of the week caused considerable worry among those immediately interested in the success of the fair, but the threatening clouds rolled away and Wednesday morning the sun shone brightly and continued to do so throughout the day.

While the crowds on Wednesday were not as large as the more optimistic had predicted, the attendance fully equalled those on the first day of previous fairs. Nearly all of the exhibits were in place by noon and afternoon visitors found everything in tip-top shape. Most of the "white way" was in operation by Tuesday evening, when quite a number from the city were on hand to ride the merry-go-round and enjoy the other amusement features furnished by the Little Giant shows. While this is, strictly speaking, a carnival, it is one of the best and cleanest on the fair circuit and allows nothing objectionable to be staged under its franchise.

Some Wonderful Exhibits.

Every department of the fair shows up well, and exhibits in many lines far surpass those of previous years. Especially is this true of the livestock. Every stall in the three barns is filled to overflowing and almost all of the open sheds are occupied by excellent specimens of cattle, sheep and hogs produced in Pennington county. While Holstein and Guernsey cattle are in the lead, Shorthorns and other breeds make a very creditable showing. The livestock exhibits at the fair this year should prove beyond question that Pennington county farmers are making rapid strides in the right direction.

Poultry also occupies a prominent place at the fair. Row upon row of coops containing beautiful specimens of the feathered tribe fill the large poultry building to its very doors. Purebred poultry is now generally recognized as a very profitable side line on the farm, while many residents of the city find their flock of chickens a paying investment.

Fine New Building.

But the one thing which adds most to the general arrangement of things on the fair grounds is the new building occupied by the woman's department and industrial exhibit. Every inch of space in the structure is filled with something of interest to visitors. Fancy work of all kinds, the culinary department, samples of work from city and county schools, horticultural display, special booths conducted by local business establishments, and a wonderful showing of articles made by patients at Oakland Park sanatorium are only a few of the things to be found here. In this place also are located the women's rest room, information bureau and other conveniences for women visitors at the fair.

The new building fills a long felt want and furnishes an ideal location for some of the most important features of the annual county exhibition.

Free Attractions.

Splendid music was furnished yesterday by the Thief River Falls band, which played several selections on the streets of the city before marching to the fair grounds. The afternoon program consisted of performances by the Ferris Wheel Girls, half an hour of exciting auto polo, more music by the band and a ball game between St. Hilaire and Viking. Yesterday being designated officially as St. Hilaire day, a large delegation of visitors from that section of the county was present.

The program last evening was a repetition of the afternoon performance with the exception of the ball game. At 9 o'clock the first style show was put on by Loken Brothers' department store and Johnson's Millinery, to the delight of a large number of women visitors. It was an elaborate affair and elicited much favorable comment.

Good Things in Store.

Many good things are in store for fair visitors today and tomorrow. In addition to the free attractions shown on Wednesday, the evening performance will be concluded with an extraordinarily elaborate display of fireworks. Tonight will be shown "The Siege of the Dardanelles," while tomorrow evening an equally fine display called "Pioneer Days," will be put on. For Saturday afternoon are scheduled a series of the fastest automobile races ever witnessed on a half mile track in the state. People who love to be thrilled should make it a point to be on the grounds Saturday afternoon.

Young Man Disobeys Order Of Holdups and Saves Hide

Harry Mjelde, a young man living in the west part of the city, on Sunday night reported to the police that two men had attempted to hold him up while he was on his way home. Instead of following orders, young Mjelde turned and ran so fast that the footpads made no effort to follow him. The lad took a chance and got away, but was badly frightened and does not care to repeat the experience.

It is considered likely the attempted holdup was the work of hard characters who had drifted into town to operate during fair week. No further examples of the popular Minneapolis pastime have since been reported, however, and it may be possible the desperadoes decided not to linger in Thief River Falls.

VALLEY BOOSTERS JOURNEY THROUGH SEVERAL COUNTIES

Development Association Tour Proves Marked Success. Visitors Impressed.

Arriving right on schedule time, the Red River Valley Development association tourists drove into Thief River Falls last Thursday at 1 o'clock. The party was composed of boosters from all along the line and about a dozen cars were pressed into service to make the trip.

A delegation from this city consisting of Mayor John Bratrud, E. O. Mogensen, C. L. Hansen and Olaf Ramstad met the travelers at Red Lake Falls and piloted them to the gates of Thief River Falls. A short stop was made at St. Hilaire and brief talks given.

Upon their arrival here the boosters gathered at the bank corners and after a short concert by the local band, a number of short speeches were made by members of the party. Among the speakers were R. C. Mathwig, president of the association; R. C. Rutledge, of the state immigration department; James Cumming, president of the Minnesota potato exchange; C. P. Bull, state weed inspector, and G. C. Selvig, president of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston. Mayor Bratrud introduced the speakers.

At the conclusion of the speaking part of the program, the entire party was escorted to the Evelyn hotel, where dinner had been provided under the auspices of the Thief River Falls Commercial club. After dinner the tourists continued on their way northward, making short stops at all towns and spending the night at Roseau. The following day the distance to Warren was traversed and the tour ended with a big evening meeting at which a number of excellent talks were given. Several auto loads of Thief River Falls people attended the meeting at Warren.

LOCAL MUSICIAN TO APPEAR IN RECITAL

Miss Doris Halvorson Will Render Program at Lyceum on Tuesday, August 16.

The Woman's club of Thief River Falls will present Miss Doris Halvorson in a piano recital at the Lyceum theatre on Tuesday evening, Aug. 16. Miss Halvorson has recently returned from Oberlin, Ohio, where she has completed a most thorough and rigid four-year course in music at the Oberlin College Conservatory. She is a Thief River Falls girl and the first graduate from the city to receive honors at a college of music.

The program will consist of piano compositions of the foremost masters, such as Liszt, Grieg, Chopin, etc., which require marvelous technique and skill. Miss Halvorson will be assisted by Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, contralto.

The Woman's club takes pleasure in announcing to the public this musical treat, and it is hoped that all will avail themselves of the opportunity presented at this recital. Further particulars will appear in next week's issue of The Times.

Five Large Plate Glass Windows Broken in Storm

During the wind storm last Friday evening, the awning on the west side of the Oen Mercantile company building was blown down and the rods smashed through five of the large plate glass windows in the twinkling of an eye. The storm came up without much warning and employes of the store did not get time to roll up the awning before the wind struck.

The damage is estimated at upwards of a thousand dollars, with insurance to cover the greater part of the loss. The windows have been sheeted up with boards temporarily and new plate glass will be put in place as soon as it can be secured.

Sons of Norway Picnic.

Several automobile loads of members of the local lodge Sons of Norway lodge, went to Crookston last Sunday to attend a picnic and celebration given by the lodge in that city. The day was ideal for an outing of this kind and everybody concerned spent a very enjoyable day.

AUTOS COLLIDE AND OCCUPANTS SUFFER INJURY

Ford Car Completely Demolished in Head-on Collision With Big Imperial.

Hardy Bjerke, Riding in Ford, Comes Out of Scrape With Fractured Jaw.

Accident Occurred Saturday Evening on Holt Road North of Thief River Falls.

The most serious automobile accident to occur in this locality so far this season happened on the Holt road about two miles north of Thief River Falls late Saturday evening. A Ford driven by Hardy Bjerke and S. G. Swenkeson of Holt collided with an Imperial driven by Ed. Peterson of this city, resulting in severe injury to the occupants of the Ford. Bjerke was brought to the local hospital suffering from a broken jaw and other injuries, while his companion sustained severe sprains and bruises. Mr. Peterson, Oscar Evans and Arthur Liden, riding in the Imperial, escaped without injury except for a severe shaking up. Bjerke was able to leave the hospital for his home this morning.

Cars Badly Demolished.

The two cars, the Imperial going south and the Ford traveling north, were both going at a high rate of speed when the collision occurred. The cars came a little too close together in passing and the front wheels locked, causing the Ford to turn over two or three times. Three wheels were knocked off, top and windshield smashed—in fact everything but the gasoline tank seemed to be twisted or bent all out of shape. One front wheel was torn from the Imperial, causing it to nose deeply into the bank alongside the road. Aside from the broken wheel the Peterson car was not badly damaged.

Thieves Get Busy.

During the time elapsing between the accident and daylight the next morning, someone passing by the wrecked Ford removed everything of value which could be taken off and carried away. The three loose rims and tires were taken, as were tools, extra equipment and many other things of value. Someone evidently saw an opportunity to stock up on Ford extras and did not let it slip by.

While the accident proved serious enough to suit those concerned, it must be considered extremely fortunate that no one was killed. It was a narrow escape and should be an object lesson to drivers who are inclined to be careless in passing other cars on the road.

Thief River Indians Win One Game and Lose One

The Thief River Indians lost one battle and won a victory the past week. Last Sunday they defeated the Viking team on the local grounds by a score of 11 to 6. Gulrud did the pitching while Prugh and Lane took turns behind the bat. Gormon and Sumner composed the Viking battery.

After the game here was over the boys went to St. Hilaire and engaged the team there in a contest which resulted in a score of 3 to 1 in favor of the down-river team. Battery for Thief River Falls, Herron and Morse; for St. Hilaire, Mellquist and Brink. The Indians secured five hits to St. Hilaire's one, but managed to lose the game through costly errors.

TWO YOUTHS BREAK INTO AUTO GARAGE

Bound Over to Await Action of District Court — Bonds Furnished Immediately.

At a hearing conducted before Judge N. W. Tarrant in municipal court yesterday morning, Julius and Leonard Morstad were bound over to the grand jury on the charge of breaking into the Aga machine shop on the evening previous. Bonds were furnished and the young men are now at liberty.

From the evidence produced at the hearing it appears that the brothers were seen to go into and leave the machine shop about 10 o'clock Tuesday evening, and an examination of the door next morning showed that its fastenings had been broken. The proprietor of the shop, after hurriedly checking things over, could not account for anything missing, this being extremely difficult owing to the number of tools and other things lying about the place. Witnesses also testified at the hearing concerning other suspicious moves the boys are alleged to have made recently in prowling about private property at night.

No testimony was offered in defense, H. O. Chommie, attorney for the prisoners, merely asking that bail be placed at a figure which it would be possible for them to procure.

Dr. F. H. Gambell to Speak Here Next Sunday, Aug. 7

Dr. F. H. Gambell, for many years a prominent resident of Thief River Falls, is expected to arrive in the city the latter part of this week. The Gambell family now resides at Willows, in the famous Sacramento valley of California. After leaving Thief River Falls, Dr. Gambell served for a year with the Red Cross in Siberia and went through some very interesting experiences while there.

Next Sunday Dr. Gambell will deliver two lectures at the Presbyterian church, one at 11 o'clock in the forenoon and the other at 8 o'clock in the evening. In these lectures he will describe his experiences in Siberia and the talks should prove of much interest to local people.

Mrs. Christiansen Injured.

Mrs. F. Melius Christiansen, wife of Professor Christiansen of St. Olaf college, was seriously burned last Sunday in a gasoline tank explosion near Christmas Lake, following a collision between a street car and the automobile in which Mrs. Christiansen was riding. The victim of the accident is in a serious condition but will recover. Prof. Christiansen will be remembered by Thief River Falls people as leader of the St. Olaf choir which gave a concert here early this summer.

TRY TO STEAL CAR AND RUN INTO BIG HEAPS OF TROUBLE

Caught in Act of Taking Automobile From Premises, Two Lads Languish in Jail.

When members of the J. M. Bishop family were awakened by a peculiar noise in the yard last Friday morning about 2 o'clock, they discovered someone trying to make a get-away with their large touring car. The culprits who were attempting to back the car out of the yard beat a hasty retreat down an alley when they realized someone was aware of their operations. About an hour later the authorities rounded up two men at the Soo station who looked like suspicious characters and these were placed in jail. After a grilling by Sheriff LaBree the young men admitted they had attempted to steal the Bishop car and also that they had made an attempt earlier in the evening to steal the car of C. C. Gulrud, but were frightened and ran away.

At a preliminary hearing before Judge N. W. Tarrant in municipal court the would-be auto thieves were bound over to the grand jury on a bond of $500 each, which they have up to this time been unable to furnish.

RESULT AT GOLDEN VALLEY PEAT FARM TO BE SHOWN SOON

Annual Visiting Day Set For Saturday, Aug. 13—Excellent Crops Obtained.

Geo. H. Nesom, in charge of the peat experimental plots at Golden Valley, was in Thief River Falls yesterday making preliminary arrangements for the visiting day which is to be conducted at Golden Valley on Saturday, Aug. 13. Work has been in progress on the plots since early spring and it is said the results produced on this peat soil will prove a revelation to those who have formed the opinion that nothing of value can be raised on such ground.

A short program will be provided at 2 o'clock on visiting day, and there will be inspection of the plots both before and after the program. It is expected people from all parts of this section of the state will be present and provisions are being made to care for a large crowd. Experiments on the Golden Valley plots last year showed up very well considering the season, and from experience gained then it has been possible to produce vastly better results during the present summer.

Visitors are asked to bring a picnic lunch and come prepared to spend all day. Anyone interested in peat land experiments will find it well worth his while.

Syndicate Buys Big Tract of Land in North Dakota

One of the biggest land deals in the Northwest in recent years was closed last week, when Col. Joseph M. Kelly and John Kelly of Devils Lake sold their 12,000 acre tract of land surrounding Knox and Pleasant Lake, N. D., to a Southern Minnesota syndicate.

Approximately $500,000 was involved in the deal, it was reported, and 28 complete farms changed hands in the transaction, including the famous Pleasant Lake Stock Farm.

The Minnesota syndicate which acquired the land is composed of German Lutherans headed by Rev. Alfred F. Winters of Mankato. Rev. Winters announced his plans to include the erection of a German Lutheran church and community cities as well as the establishment of a Lutheran college on the banks of Pleasant lake.

FARM BUREAU'S RURAL PLAN IS GIVEN CONGRESS

Inadequate Credit, Unfair Deflation, High Freights Declared Ruining Farmers.

Specific Remedies Urged By Federation to Secure Needed Relief Immediately.

Favor Co-operative Marketing and Declare Opposition to General Sales Tax.

Congress must act immediately to give farmers relief from high freight rates, inadequate credit, foreign competition and inefficient marketing if it expects to restore nationwide prosperity. That is the warning sent to Washington yesterday by the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation. It accompanied a detailed summary of the agricultural problems of the state, supported by evidence of specific injuries suffered by the producers as a result of present economic conditions.

The Minnesota federation also outlined specific remedies, urging speedy legislation action to put them into effect. The complete statement with its supporting evidence was presented to all members of the joint congressional committee, under Representative Sydney Anderson, which is investigating agricultural conditions.

Recommendations Made.

Five recommendations were laid before congress by the Minnesota federation, as follows:

Finance—Credit facilities must be adjusted to the needs of agricultural production and financing. The 30 to 90 day loan suited to ordinary commercial and industrial enterprises is not equally adapted to the needs of agriculture; it puts the farmer under a serious financial handicap as compared to the manufacturer and merchant.

Transportation—Railroad freight rates must be reduced to a level that will restore the movement on the necessities of life, before the farmers' purchasing power can be restored or the consumer can be benefitted by the decline in the original selling price of farm products.

Seek Tariff Protection.

Foreign Competition — American agriculture cannot prosper unless it is accorded the same tariff protection that is accorded other American industry. So long as the farmer is compelled to buy on a protected market, he must be allowed to sell on a protected market or be reduced by competition with foreign peasants and peons to a condition disastrous and unthinkable.

Marketing—Co-operation of the producers in distributing their products is entitled to a fair trial in open competition with the existing system, and congress should enact necessary clarifying legislation to guarantee the right of the producer and the consumer to this trial.

Oppose Sales Tax.

Taxation—The farmers of Minnesota are virtually unanimous in opposition to the enactment of a general sales tax, a tax on land holding, and repeal of the excess profits tax.

"Commerce and industry are so dependent on the farmers' normal purchasing power," the statement said, "that restoration of that purchasing power is absolutely essential to bring the whole economic fabric of the United States back to normalcy."

Big Style Show at County Fair Exceeds Expectations

One of the most interesting features among the attractions at the county fair on Wednesday evening was the style show given by Loken Brothers and the Johnson Millinery. The entire exhibition was excellent and only words of praise have been heard regarding it. Wearing apparel displayed, including garments and hats, represented an approximate value of $8,000. A pyramid of flowers formed a beautiful background for the promenade, around which the models walked. The models were particularly well chosen and displayed to very good advantage the garments worn.

The order of presentation was as follows: Sport dresses, serge dresses, high grade cloth coats, fur coats, silk dresses, suits, children's dresses, waists and skirts, children's coats, $25 coats, knitted coats, bridal party.

The models included Misses Sybil McGinn, Helen Langseth, Ella Krohn, Esther Soards, Margaret Patterson, Evangeline Burns, Alvina Jonas, Lena Evenson, Jeanette Oftedahl and Effie Christianson. The children's garments were exhibited by Helen Johnson, Jeanette Mogensen, Ruth, Ione and Muriel Loken, Esther Bennes and Ellen Crandall.

Mrs. J. H. Hardesty, superintendent of the women's department at the fair, was highly pleased with the display and pronounced it most excellent. The same performance will be given this afternoon at 4 o'clock and this evening at 8, and will be repeated Friday at the same hours. The Johnson Millinery store will be in charge of Miss Gilma Ostvolden during the remaining days of the fair.

Light Hail Storm Does Damage to Growing Corn

A heavy wind and rain storm passed over this section of the country last Friday evening about seven o'clock. While no damage is reported in the immediate vicinity of Thief River Falls, considerable injury was done by hail and wind in the southwestern part of the county. Beginning at the Clemens farm south of Thief River Falls and extending for several miles in a southwesterly direction, growing corn was badly riddled by hail and the prospects for a bumper crop of corn in this territory is much less promising as a result. Ripened fields of small grain also suffered considerable damage.

During the past week the weather has been very unsettled, with frequent showers. This has interfered to a considerable extent with harvesting and some farmers report ripe grain as lodging badly.

LEANS OUTCLASSED BY HARD SLUGGING OF FAT OPPONENTS

Exciting Base Ball Battle Cut Short By Rain in Beginning of Fourth Inning.

Forced to an abrupt end in the fourth inning on account of rain, which some people believe was an act of kind providence for the protection of the leans, the base ball game staged last Friday evening at the fair grounds between the fats and leans of the city resulted in a score of 4 to 1 in favor of the overgrown boys. It was a good game while it lasted and furnished considerable amusement for the large crowd present.

John Morgan and Daniel Shaw officiated as umpires, and of course could not expect to escape without criticism. The leans claim Mr. Morgan's eyesight was sadly deficient when it came to differentiating between balls and strikes and that he was largely responsible for the success of H. W. Protzeller, heavyweight pitcher, in keeping the batting average of the leans below normal. The fats, on the other hand, claim that Mr. Morgan is a strictly A No. 1 umpire and showed no partiality whatever.

Louis DeCremer did the twirling for the leans and showed good form. His support was rather shaky at times, however, and luck seemed to be against him from the start. General opinion among the leans seems to be that had the weather man been kind enough to let the game run a few more innings, there would have been a different story to tell. The lanky ones claim they were just getting their bearings when the rain started and would have run the fat boys to death in a few more innings.

Anticipating the need of their services, an auto load of nurses equipped with an ample supply of first aid paraphernalia, closely followed by Larson's automobile hearse, took up their position on the side lines, ready for any emergency which might arise. It was a thoughtful provision and undoubtedly would have been brought into use had the game proceeded much farther.

Something over one hundred dollars was added to the swimming pool fund from the collections at the gate, which will form a very nice beginning for this worthy object.

NEW OWNER TAKES OVER MUSIC HOUSE

Lars H. Larson Buys Interests of F. S. Ebert, T. J. Hagen and Roy P. Halseth.

A deal was closed this week whereby the business of the Thief River Music company passed into the hands of Lars H. Larson, who purchased the interests of F. S. Ebert, Theodore J. Hagen and Roy P. Halseth, for several years past, owners of the corporation. Mr. Larson, in turn, disposed of his interest in the Larson Furniture company to his brother, Carl B. Larson, who will continue this business as formerly.

The new proprietor of the music store needs no introduction to the people of Thief River Falls. He has for several years been associated with his brother in the furniture business, enjoying a wide acquaintance and the full confidence of the public. While he does not plan any radical change in the music store, he will add to the already large stock and make it one of the most complete establishments of its kind in this section of the state. Mr. Halseth will remain in the music store with the new proprietor and for the present will have charge of the picture framing and repair department, which will be maintained as formerly.

Mr. Ebert and Mr. Hagen have not yet formulated their plans, but expect to remain in Thief River Falls for the present. It is more than likely, however, that they will re-establish themselves in business in this section of the state before long. They are both good citizens and good business men and have a host of friends in Thief River Falls who will wish them an abundance of success wherever they may decide to locate.

REAL SPEEDERS TO HOLD FORTH LAST FAIR DAY

Daring Drivers and Fast Racing Cars Already on Ground For Big Race Meet.

Lovers of Auto Racing to Be Given Feast of Thrills Next Saturday.

Everything Indicates Greatest Speed Contest Ever Staged in Minnesota.

With their motors tuned up for the big race meet Saturday, the closing day of the twentieth annual Pennington county fair, the drivers are now putting the finishing touches to their cars in preparation for the big battle. When the starter's flag is waved on Saturday afternoon, one of the greatest fields of dirt track pilots ever assembled in the Northwest will begin their mad dash around the oval, vying with each other for track records and the lion's share of the cash purse offered.

Extra Feature Likely.

Probably one of the features of the race program will be a match race between Les Allen and O. T. Barr, since Allen has challenged Barr to a special match race to decide the track honors of the Northwest and the bitter dispute that has existed between these drivers for the dirt track title. Each of these drivers is a dare devil at the wheel and willing to fight for every inch of ground. Latest developments, however, indicate that both Cy Cobb and Ted Rick are trying to shove their entries or challenges into the battle and are willing to post their side money for the race, with winner take all. It is probable that Barr will accept these challenges to settle all arguments to his title and furnish one of the hottest contests ever put on in the Northwest.

Floyd Willard, light car champion, has his fast Monroe in top-top shape for the meet and predicts that the light car will have the advantage over the heavy cars in holding to the track. He has made a few mechanical adjustments in his car to fit the course here and says that he intends to get up in front in the battle here and stay there. Billy Jackels, the young St. Paul boy who is invading northern territory for the first time, has entered with his Stephens to make his bid for a share of the cash purse of $2,500.

Precautions Taken.

All the drivers were given notice by the International Motor Contest association, under whose sanction this meet is held, that they must observe the rules set forth to them or be disqualified in the race, as the association is working in co-operation with the fair board to prevent any accidents or injuries which seem so liable with such bitter rivalry among the drivers. All precautions possible have been taken by Secretary Fuller to avoid any spills or collisions, which seem so probable with the keen competition expected.

Work on the track is nearly completed and the expert in charge predicts the course will be in ideal condition for the drivers on Saturday, providing favorable weather conditions prevail.

The entertainment program features many thrillers never seen in the Northwest. Headliner of headliners will be the thrilling passage of Lieutenant James from a speeding auto to a low-flying aeroplane in front of the grandstand each day. Dr. Carver's diving horse, ridden by a girl, will leap from a platform 40 feet in the air, into a shallow pool of water.

The gigantic railroad collision, featured in 1920, will be repeated on a greater scale before the grandstand Saturday, Sept. 3, one day only.

RAILROADS SAY FREIGHT RATES CANNOT BE CUT

Reduction in Wage Scales Is Claimed Insufficient to Warrant Rate Slashing.

Facts and Figures Are Cited Tending to Show Roads' Side of Question.

Contend That Country's Railways Have Suffered Seriously in Late Years.

The Times gives space to the following article, not because it favors the railroad view of the rate suestion but because it believes the general public is entitled to know both sides of the controversy. The article below contains a great deal of information on the subject and is well worth reading:

A good many persons and newspapers recently have expressed the view that general reductions of railway rates should be made in the near future. Some even contend that in view of the reduction of 12 per cent in railway wages the Railroad Labor Board has ordered, the entire advance in rates the Interstate Commerce Commission granted last August should be wiped out. On the other hand, one of the country's leading organizations of shippers, the National Industrial Traffic League, at its recent convention at Cleveland, adopted a resolution opposing general reductions of rates and urging its members in all parts of the country individually to oppose them.

The National Industrial Traffic League for years before the war was the foremost organization of shippers seeking reductions and opposing general advances of rates. Since the concerns its members represent ship a larger tonnage of raw materials and finished products than perhaps any other class of shippers in the United States, its attitude is significant. The principal reason given for its stand is that the railways must have opportunity to rehabilitate and expand their properties if in future they are to give good and adequate service; that they cannot rehabilitate and expand their properties unless allowed to make larger net returns for a long time to come, and that they cannot make adequate net earnings if there are soon to be general reductions of rates.

The National Industrial Traffic League is composed of industrial traffic experts who spend their business lives in the study of rates and other transportation problems, and undoubtedly the chief reason why they have gone on record opposing a general reduction of rates is that they understand the railroad situation better than those who advocate such reductions.

One argument which is now very often advanced for general reductions is that the rates are so high they are preventing a revival of general business and of railway traffic, and that therefore the railways as well as the public would be benefited by reductions of rates which would permit of an increase in traffic. But incontrovertible facts show that the present rates are not preventing a revival of business or an increase of traffic. The freight business of the railways declined about 40 per cent between October, 1920, and the end of February, 1921. Since then there has been a steady increase in the freight shipped. The number of carloads of freight shipped the last week of February, when the business had reached its lowest ebb, was 658,282 has increased steadily, and in the weeks ended May 28, the last week for which statistics are available, it was 787,237 carloads, an advance since the end of February of 19 per cent.

The heaviest slump in traffic which ever occurred before was between the signing of the armistice in 1918 and the spring of 1919. In 1919, as in 1921, freight shipments reached their lowest ebb in the last week of February, being in that week only 667,708 carloads. It will be noted that in 1921 the traffic declined to a lower point than in 1919. The recovery of traffic in 1919 was regarded as rapid, but the recovery which has occurred in 1921 thus far has been more rapid than it was in 1919, for in the last two weeks of May the total shipments of freight exceeded those in the last two weeks of May, 1919, being 1,441,081 carloads in 1919 and 1,455,567 carloads in 1921. The traffic moving is still 20 per cent less than last October, but it is increasing faster under the present rates than it did under the lower rates in effect in 1919.

Special complaint has been made regarding the rates on fruits and vegetables, and it has been widely charged that the movement of this traffic is being prevented and that products are rotting in the hands of the growers. Statistics recently published by the bureau of markets of the United States department of agriculture entirely disprove this contention. They show that during the present season up to June 4 the total fruits and vegetables shipped was 367,741 carloads, an increase over the same period of last year of 58,560 carloads. There were substantial increases in the shipments of apples, celery, lettuce, peaches, potatoes, strawberries, tomatoes and watermelons, and decreases only in cabbage, cantaloupes and onions. The evidence is conclusive that the present freight rates are not "throttling" business.

Since it is clear that reductions in rates are not needed to enable the traffic of the country to move, it is desirable and necessary to consider the effects which would be produced upon railway earnings and service by premature general reductions of the rates. It is well known that when the Interstate Commerce Commission last August fixed the present rates, it estimated that the railways would derive certain earnings from them and have certain operating expenses, and would receive a net operating income of 6 per cent upon the valuation of their properties made by the commission. In the last four months of 1920, when the railways handled the largest business they ever have handled in those months, the net return earned by them was at the rate of only 3.3 per cent. This was because their expenses were higher than had been estimated, and because the rates did not cause as large increases in earnings as had been estimated. The slump in traffic entirely wiped out the net operating income of the railways in January and February, and the net return earned by them from September, 1920, to June, 1921, averaged only a little over 2 per cent. This is hardly enough to enable the railways as a whole to pay the interest on their bonds. Furthermore, even the very small net returns obtained in recent months have been gained only by terrific reductions of maintenance expenditures. For example, owing to these retrenchments in maintenance there recently were in the country 325,000 freight cars which were in bad order.

The railways, under government control, were not allowed like most business concerns to make large profits and accumulate large surplusses, but were restricted to the same net return they earned in the three years before this country entered the war. Their poperties were allowed to deteriorate. The number of freight cars available actually decreased 126,000 under government control. They perhaps have suffered more severely from the recent depression in business than any other class of be allowed to rehabilitate their properties and get upon their feet financially if they are to be able to render the service the country will demand when general business improves and traffic increases. They cannot do this if general reductions in rates are soon made.

It is argued in some quarters that the last advance in rates was made to offset the advance in wages granted by the Railroad Labor Board last July, and that the rates should be reduced to where they were last August because the Labor Board has ordered two-thirds of the advance in wages eliminated. The facts are that the advance in wages made last July was estimated at the time at $625,000,000, while the advance in rates was estimated at $1,500,000,000. The advance in rates had to be made so much greater than the last advance in wages because when the railways were returned to private operation, before the last advance in wages was granted, they were incurring under government operation a deficit at the rate of almost $1,000,000,000 a year. Furthermore, the advance in rates when the railways were handling a heavy business proved to be about $500,000,000 less than was needed to enable them to earn a return of 6 per cent. Obviously a reduction in wages of only $400,000,000 a year is not sufficient to justify a demand that the entire advance in rates of $1,500,000,000 be wiped out, especially in view of the fact that this advance in rates proved to be entirely inadequate.

The railways do not contend that no reductions in rates should be made. They concede that as a result of the percentage increases in rates which have been made in recent years, many unfair discriminations and inequalities have developed, and contend that these should first be eliminated. Thousands of them already have been eliminated and thousands more are in process of elimination, the result being in almost every case reductions in rates. General reductions of rates which would result in large reductions of railway earnings should be postponed until the net earnings of the railways have become large enough so that general reductions of rates will not completely disable them from restoring their properties to good physical condition.

It is only a matter of time until the production and commerce of the country will completely revive again, and unless the railways get ready to handle a larger business than ever before the country will suffer enormous losses from the inability of its transportation system to handle its business.

The fact seems to be overlooked by many people that the movement of traffic can be much more seriously hindered by physical inability of the railways to handle it than by the application of rates which seem high compared with those in 1917 before the enormous advances in railway operating expenses due to the war and government control occurred. The average advance in passenger fares since then has been 45 per cent and in freight rates 70 per cent. The average increase in railway operating expenses has been over 100 per cent. Most of this increase in operating expenses has been due to increases in the wages of labor, and the fact should not be overlooked that the reduction of $400,000,000 in wages will wipe out less than one-fifth of the advances in wages which have taken place since 1917.

RAIL UNIONS WIN BY BOARD RULING

Carriers Must Deal With Organized Men in Drafting New Working Pacts.

Railroad unions this week gained a victory by the decision of the United States railroad labor board that the roads must treat with the unions exclusively in forming new working agreements.

The case arose over a petition of the Pennsylvania lines which asked that it be allowed to conduct conferences with employes who were popularly elected, instead of with the regular representatives of the unions.

In railroad circles the decision is considered a victory for the closed shop in the rail industry.

Declaring election of employes' committees conducted by the Pennsylvania shopcrafts union illegal and void, the railroad labor board ordered a new ballot to select a committee on negotiation of rules covering conditions to replace the national agreements established during federal control.

The decision also canceled rules now in force as a result of agreements reached by the railroad with the committee selected on the Pennsylvania ballot.

The shopcrafts unions are fully recognized in the board's decision, although nonunion men were declared to have full and equal rights. In a form ballot drafted for use in the new election, employes are to be given their choice of representation by the Pennsylvania system federation, affiliated with the railway employes' department of the American Federation of Labor, the American Federation of Railroad Workers, or by any other organization or individual for whom a majority vote is cast.

The labor board refused to be drawn into a discussion of the open shop, for which the Pennsylvania has openly contended.

STATE WILL CARRY PHONE QUESTION UP

Proposition of Basing Charges on Service Going to United States Supreme Court.

The question of service as solely affecting the right of public utility companies in increase in rates will be decided by the United States supreme court for the first time, when the state railroad and warehouse commission late this week appeals to the supreme court against the increases recently granted to the telephone companies of the twin cities by three judges in the United States district court, O. P. B. Jacobson, member of the commission, said on Monday.

The case is being watched with extraordinary interest all over the United States, especially by members of public utility commissioners and by the United States interstate commerce commission and federal trade commission, Mr. Jacobson said.

"The state commission, in its order denying the increase, which was appealed to the federal courts, made the denial so solely because of bad service," Mr. Jacobson said. "The question of adequate rates was absolutely not considered by the majority members, Judge Ira Mills and myself, as we felt that a public utility company should furnish adequate service, which the telephone service certainly was not, before asking for an increase. The supreme court will decide whether we were right or not."

Henry C. Flannery, the commission's legal adviser, is in charge of the appeal. He is making it on the grounds that the service rendered has been so poor that the company loses the right to demand a reasonable return on the fair value of its property and that the principle that the public should be charged only a reasonable return for the service rendered, has been established in previous cases. The appeal will be filed in St. Paul federal court late this week.

Minneapolis rates were increased from $2.50 a month to $3 for residence phones, to $3 and $3.75, and for business phones from $4 and $6 to $8 and $10 for business service. The increase gave the company $1,177,000 additional revenue a year.

Minnesota Fifth Richest Farming State in Union

Minnesota is the fifth richest farming state in the union, according to figures just received at University Farm, St. Paul, from the census bureau. The total worth of all farm property in Minnesota, according to these figures is $3,787,420,118. Only four other states are richer. These states are Iowa, whose farm property is worth $8,525,270,956; Illinois, $6,666,817,235; Texas, $4,461,579,497; Nebraska, $4,193,825,242.

By far the richest part of the country, also, is the west north central section, which includes the states of Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas. The total value of farm property in these states amounts to $27,984,547,351. This is $10,000,000,000 in excess of the east north central section, including Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

SOLDIERS TO HOLD ANNUAL GATHERING

Nearly 100,000 mid-west service men, who trained for war service at Camp Dodge, will have their final opportunity next month to inspect the historic cantonment before its complete demolition, it was announced on Monday.

Over 6,000 veterans will take a final look at the old camp during the Eighty-eighth division reunion, which is to be held in DesMoines, August 26, 27 and 28. Every man who trained at Camp Dodge is entitled to attend the reunion, it has been announced. The cantonment, now being demolished rapidly, will be thrown open for inspection on these three days. Local committees have made arrangements to provide free automobile transportation from the city to the cantonment for the men who trained there.

Work is to be started on a great tent city at the fair grounds where the service men will be housed free of charge during the reunion. A reduced railroad rate of fare one one-half for all points in the mid-west has been granted the Camp Dodge men.

"PULL OFF YOUR COAT!"

A Tramp Story by Clarence Sousley in Dry Goods Reporter

A friend took me out to his house Saturday afternoon. He had challenged me to a game of chess and I was to remain over and take dinner with the family.

We were sitting on the back porch in the shade, at our chess game when a delivery wagon from a department store drove up. There was a man of about thirty-five and a boy of seventeen in charge of this wagon. The man did the driving and directing, and the boy took the packages from the wagon to the various customers.

Both man and boy were dressed in uniforms of dark grey woolen cloth trimmed with silver buttons and braid. They wore caps to match and white celluloid standing collars with the coat buttoned up tight.

The thermometer registered 83 degrees.

The man was perspiring and the boy was perspiring. In fact my friend and I in our shirt sleeves were not suffering from the cold.

"Why don't you pull off your coat, boy, on a day like this?" I said.

"Against the rules, sir," he panted. "We got to keep our uniforms buttoned up tight, or else get the can."

"Awfully hot weather for that!" I remarked.

"We ain't supposed to know anything about the weather," replied the boy.

And then my thoughts harked back to the days of kings and gold braid, and wonderful costumes, and court etiquette and a lot of other tom-foolery. The man and boy on the delivery wagon in sweltering uniforms were merely to me a reflection of a remnant handed down from the days of trifling autocrats, and shriveling souls that had no thought or feeling for the plebians working under them.

Wouldn't this man and boy in shirt sleeves be more comfortable and in consequence more efficient and make a more pleasant impression upon the customers of they were dressed in cool and sensible attire?

What kind of a fool was it in authority in this department store, what kind of a shriveled, heartless soul was it who said these delivery employes must be condemned to dress as uncomfortably as possible in order to be a better advertisement for the firm?

Surely this order of wearing heavy uniforms buttoned up tight in the summer time could come from no other basis than that of advertising for the store. Nonsense. Besides being heartless and soulless, such an order is pure bonehead, official idiocy.

Driftwood ideas from tottering thrones. The first big department store in any of the big cities that shows its customers that it has a heart and soul by dressing its delivery employes in hot weather with comfort as the first consideration, will make a big hit with the people of that community, and if the matter is given sufficient publicity, it will make a big hit with the people all over the country.

The customers of the department store are more human than the officials of the department store give them credit for being.

The only possible reason for ordering a man and boy to wear sweltering costumes on a sweltering day is that it lends dignity to the institution. It's the same old idea handed down from the toppling crown where all attaches were compelled to dress to do honor to the king.

And this is the United States of America—where all men are equal; and some are more so.

After this delivery wagon had gone on its way, my mind instead of following the chess game went back behind the counters of the department stores of America and there I could see the silk salesmen and the dress goods man and the domestic clerk waiting on customers in a humid atmosphere of 85 or 90 degrees wearing their coats and vests, or without a vest and the coats buttoned and feeling perspiringly uncomfortable and waiting upon customers who were perspiringly uncomfortable.

I can hear a lot of people agree with me that it is all foolishness and heartlessness to compel a delivery man to wear his coat while on duty, but I can hear an equally large congregation disagreeing with me when I say that a man behind the counter selling silks or dress goods, or ready-to-wear or any other department store merchandise should be allowed to wait upon the trade in his shirt sleeves.

Holy horrors! Shades of impoliteness! Remnants of les majestie! Fires of Southern chivalry! We will have none of such generous ideas!

Ho, ho! and har, har! Let's get down to common sense! Who said that a man must wear his coat in the presence of a lady in order to show proper respect for that lady? What is there about a heavy uncomfortable coat on a man's shoulders in summer time that indicates that he has the proper respect for the female sex? Who issued that order; where did it come from? Isn't it merely part of the stuffing handed down from the upholstery of the worn-out throne? Isn't it idiotic? Aren't men asses for adhering to it? Aren't women soulless and heartless for demanding it?

There you are! Let me answer: The men are asses. The women are not soulless and heartless; they do not demand it. This idea, this order or whatever you may call it, was handed us by men and it has been upheld by men. The women themselves have had nothing to do with it. It's only a matter of worn-out custom established by men who paid more attention to pomp than they did to common sense.

Everybody in this world craves comfort. Comfort is as much sought after today as if it were a perpetual fountain of eternal youth. We are always searching for comfort and yet it is always at our very door. For comfort lies within the individual.

When we change a person's environment we change his state of mind. Many folks in this world enjoy privileges which are denied to their fellows.

Welfare work among industrial institutions has reached a high level of efficiency, yet here and there we find a cog that has slipped.

We find millions of brainy officials in big industrial institutions, and in the brain cells of each individual we find a few cobwebs.

In this matter of dress, for instance, the female of the species can adorn herself in the sheerest of the sheer during the summer period and is commended for her courage, while man must grin and bear the heat of the day, sweltering under the same coat that protected him from the elements in winter.

Traditions are peculiar; they are difficult to modify. And yet there are men who throw locomotives on the scrap heap every morning before breakfast because they are ever in vanguard for something better.

When the edict goes forth that men may appear in seasonable clothing upon any and all occasions, there will appear an increase in efficiency and poise and power that is beyond the power of computation, and thanks of gratitude will ascend on high.

It is a movement that should be fostered in America, because it is in line with progress. Who will blaze the trail and become immortal?

Getting down from my stilts, who among the Dry Goods Reporter family will issue an order tomorrow morning that hereafter all male employes of the store may appear for duty in shirt sleeves?

I was in Ogden last August. It was 105 in the shade. In order to keep comfortable I watched a man working in the sun, putting a slate roof on a house. I sat in the shade of a tree, figuring how long it would take him to drop off the roof from sunstroke.

A newsboy came along selling afternoon papers and I parted with a nickel in order to look over Ogden's department store advertising.

And here I came to "MENDEL'S—THE COOLEST STORE IN TOWN."

Well, "the coolest store in town" certainly had an attraction for me, and I stood on my feet and started that way.

I found Mendel's Department Store with a 75-foot front and one entrance that ran back into the store about 25 feet before I came to the front door. In front of the front door was a ceiling fan to keep the flies out and the dust away. Inside the store was done in white, ceilings and walls and shelvings and the sides of the counters.

A big exhaust fan in the rear wall kept a breeze gently going through the building. The girls were in white shirt waists and the salesmen were in shirt sleeves. Even the floor-walker, who came forward to greet me, wore shirt and belt and bow tie.

Shades of roughneckness! I thot Where am I at? "This is the Tramp," remarked the floor-walker before I found my speech. "My name is Mendel. How do you like the weather?"

I mopped a quart of perspiration off my face and neck before answering, and then replied, "Mr. Mendel, you are the first sensible dry goods merchant I have met in 40 years. Please tell me how you had the nerve to do it."

"It's only a matter, Tramp," said Mr. Mendel, "of departing from tradition and telling society to go to hell. It's hot in Ogden. You probably have discovered that. When it's 100 degrees in this store a salesman with a coat on will register about 115 degrees.

"A salesman registering 115 in the shade is not comfortable; he is miserable and he will inoculate the customer with his miserableness and make the customer miserable, and when you get a miserable customer and a miserable salesman together you have a miserable business. Change the thing about and you have a good business. That's all there is to it.

"I've tried every way I can to make my employes as comfortable as possible, because when they are comfortable they feel better, and when they feel better they make the customer feel better, and when the customer and the employe both feel better we do better business.

"Come back, Tramp, and sit down under this fan. Have a fresh stogie. Say, Tramp, I know what you are thinking about. When you saw my salesmen in shirt sleeves, the first thing you thought was that the customer would go up to the counter and be greeted by a salesman in shirt sleeves and then she would turn up her nose and leave the store, feeling that she had been insulted.

"The reverse is true, Tramp. Women adjust themselves to new customs and new conditions quicker than men do, and when my salesmen first appeared in shirt sleeves the women were offended less than the men who came into this store. In fact, the women were not offended at all.

"When I issued an order to my salesmen that they might work in their shirt sleeves I also issued a proclamation in the form of a page advertisement in the Ogden newspaper, in which I said that hereafter all of the male employes of the Mendel Department store would work in their shirt sleeves during the hot weather in order to increase their comfort and efficiency and I invited the customers to write me of their approval or disapproval. The only disapproving letters I received were from men, and they came from preachers and school teachers. The preachers and school teachers haven't any money to spend, anyway; so I should worry.

"This is the second summer, Tramp, that my men have gone without their coats, and they'll never put them on again in summer time.

"Tramp, there are lots of good business reasons and a lot of good moral reasons for male employes in the department stores going in their shirt sleeves, and there isn't a good reason of any kind why they should wear their coats.

"Tramp, why do you wear that long-tailed Prince Albert this kind of weather? Why don't you take it off and go in your shirt sleeves?"

"Mr. Mendel," I replied, "I heartily approve of your idea in regard to your salesmen; but I haven't any shirt, and I do not use underwear, so my presence in uniform is imperative."

NEW STATE GRAIN LAW TAKES EFFECT

Trading Expected to Continue as Usual Under Amended Act Covering Futures.

A new law designed originally to stop all trading in grain futures that did not involve actual or potential wheat and passed by the last legislature, went into effect on Monday. Members of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce said they did not see how the new law, as amended, called for any change in their practices. It was their opinion that they would go ahead trading as they always have done, and if there is any violation those who have the law enforcement responsibility should proceed to stop it.

THE HOME FAIR.

As these lines are written, the twentieth annual Pennington county fair is on in full swing. And it is no boast to say that it is a better fair in all departments than any of its predecessors. Every year the county fair shows improvement over previous exhibitions, thus reflecting the gradual and certain forward movement of the country surrounding Thief River Falls. A section which is poorly developed and inhabited by a class of people who take no interest in such matters cannot hope to make a creditable showing at an agricultural and industrial exposition.

Purebred livestock is rapidly coming to the front in Pennington county and the wonderful display of animals in the stock barns at the fair grounds this week should prove a revelation to visitors. An ever increasing number of Pennington county farmers are going into the raising of purebred stock exclusively, and every farmer who does this adds proportionately to the wealth of the community. Particularly is this increase noticeable with regard to the two leading dairy breeds—Holsteins and Guernseys. Some of the foremost animals of these breeds in the Northwest are to be found in Pennington county.

It is this transition from grain raising to livestock which insures the future prosperity of the Red River Valley. This section has long since passed its zenith as a grain raising country, but contains untold millions of wealth which may be extracted from the land through the medium of livestock and the proper rotation of forage crops. Taking everything from the soil and never putting anything back will eventually bankrupt the fertility of the best farming country in the world.

Products of the soil are occupying a prominent place in the exhibits and include some very fine specimens. If evidence were lacking to prove that Pennington county is situated in the midst of the most productive region of the state, it may easily be found this week among the samples of farm and garden products on display at the fair. Samples of corn, particularly, are far in advance of former years, showing that farmers are taking an increasing interest in this staple and are succeeding admirably in producing varieties which are particularly suited to this section. Excellent grains and grasses of all kinds also are on exhibition.

Other sections of the fair, including the woman's department, school and industrial exhibits, are even better than formerly, though these have been the pride of the fair for a number of years. The new building in which these exhibits are housed makes a wonderful difference in the effectiveness with which the products are placed in public view, with the result that these sections are now receiving the attention from visitors which they deserve. Upon the ladies having these matters in charge has fallen a large amount of hard work and Mrs. J. H. Hardesty, together with her corps of able assistants, are entitled to a full measure of credit for their energy and perseverance.

Entertainment features of the very highest grade have been provided and there is something worth-while going on every minute of the afternoon and evening. Viewed from all angles, the fair this year is the best ever, and visitors are practically unanimous in the opinion that it is the banner county fair of Northwestern Minnesota. President Herbert Fuller and the other members of the board are justified in feeling jubilant over the success of the undertaking as a whole. Upon their shoulders rests most of the responsibility, and they have performed their parts well.

ROADS COST MONEY.

During the past five years the federal government has been spending money under what is known as the federal aid road act. From 1916 to 1921, $75,000,000 was appropriated to aid post roads, plus $1,000,000 annually for ten years for road building in the national forests. An amendment to that act in 1919 appropriated an additional $50,000,000 for that year, and $75,000,000 for the years 1920 and 1921; also $3,000,000 for forest roads for each of the years 1919, 1920 and 1921. This makes a total of $294,000,000 which the federal government has appropriated for road building since 1916.

In addition a majority of the states of the Union have materially assisted over and above the 50 per cent which they were obligated to expend in conjunction with the federal government, the federal funds above mentioned being appropriated upon the 50-50 basis. It has not been possible to tabulate all of the funds expended by states and counties for road building but, according to the American Automobile Association which has made the most comprehensive compilation of data upon that subject, approximately $1,000,000,000 was made available during the years 1919, 1920 and 1921 by the issuance of either state or county road bonds. No tabulation has been made of the amount of funds derived from road construction from motor vehicle tax, local taxation, and other sources. The figures above given, however, show that in the last five years there has been considerably in excess of $2,000,000,000 expended for the construction and maintenance of improved highways.

Praise For County Agents.
(Walker Pilot.)

The county agents have come and gone. They are men of vision, men of heart and purpose—a power for good in bettering conditions on the farm. They are the instructors pointing out the way for a better agriculture. The importance of the county agent becomes evident when it is shown that the farmer is the real backbone of the nation. Today when others are halting, hesitating, the farmer is going forward. If the manufacturer would show the same faith in America as that evidenced by the farmer the wheels would be turning with greater velocity than ever before, for the world needs production. The farmer conducts the greatest business of the country; beside it all other industries fade into insignificance. Eighty per cent of the wealth of this country annually comes from the farm. The mines which furnish our coal and iron, our copper, gold and silver, follow with but 17 per cent, so it can easily be seen that the big business is not the Standard Oil, the packers or U. S. Steel. No, it is agriculture, and the important job, the great big job of the county agent right now is the problem of bringing this source of wealth back to a point where it will give remunerative returns to the millions who are tilling the soil. As farm leaders the county agents are bending their every effort, their every energy, to increasing the returns from the soil, to save that which is produced and see that it is placed on the market with the least expense possible. They have a great task before them and we hope that they have benefited by their conference and their vacation at Walker. Here among the pines they have had an opportunity to commune with nature, to replenish their fund of energy and to start out anew with a determination to materially assist in bringing back prosperity to the farm. It is a great work, one in which less zealous men might falter, but as sons of the farm they are going forward, blazing the way to an era of more enjoyment and contentment for those who make up such an important part of our national life.

Optimism Necessary.
(Bemidji Sentinel.)

Imagination is playing a leading part in the present economic situation. The world expected a period of financial depression to follow the war and what the world expects it usually gets. Pessimists and calamity howlers are now preventing the world to get back on a sound basis. As long as we permit ourselves to see the dark side of the situation, hard times will continue. There never was a time in history, however, when optimism and pep would bring so large returns as they will today. A business that sits tight and breathes bad news will be far behind when conditions change. One year ago, advertising wasn't necessary to sell goods; today, the firm that advertises and passes out optimism and cheerfulness with its merchandise is going to prosper. There is a world of logic in the saying, "A hen doesn't stop scratching when worms are scarce." It may not be as easy to see the bright side of life as the dark, but it is far more profitable.

A Coal Controversy.
(Lincoln Journal)

The controversy between President Howat of the Kansas coal miners and Commissioner Johnston of the coal operators' association has produced some undisputed statistics on coal costs. The miners get $1.25 a ton for mining Kansas coal. The consumer pays $10 to $15. The cost or mining labor is accordingly a minor factor in making the retail price of coal—a matter of 10 to 12 per cent. The coal mine operators get $5.25 for the coal which the miner digs for $1.25. Mining labor is accordingly only a minor element in making up the mine price for coal, a matter of about 25 per cent. The consuming public is entitled by these figures to take at a large discount the current assertions that coal prices are high because of the wages the miners get.

Idea Commended.

The merchants of Thief River Falls are putting on a "market day" in that thriving little city today, and the Times got out an eight-page "Market Day Special" for the occasion. The special was well filled with bargains offered by the merchants and was neatly gotten up and printed.—Ada Herald.

OBSERVATIONS
(Bill Noonan In Baudette Region.)

"Was there a life preserver for each passenger on the boat?" asked Jack Kennedy of one of the 46 ladies who went to the missionary society picnic at Wheeler's Point last Friday.

"No, there was only one man on board," she replied.

Out on an island in the Lake of the Woods is a recluse who has never read a newspaper, never saw a street car, an aeroplane, nor an automobile and who has not been to town in years. It is hard to understand how he escaped being called on a jury or elected to the legislature.

Of course Thomson, who stole a million from a packing company, is a bad egg, but as long as he insisted on going wrong his decision to pick on some of the lads who sold us bacon and ham during the war won't fill the consumer's soul with anguish.

The human race isn't as husky as it used to be, according to some experts, but the fact that we have survived the liquor coming over from Canada for the last two years demonstrates that Baudetters are a pretty hardy bunch.

An exchange wonders what speeders do with all the time they save, and the Shakopee Tribune thinks that they ought to spend it in jail.

We gather from the billboards that each Baudette merchant has the biggest store in town. The information is for the public—not the assessor.

"Our Composition Will Make Any Wet Cellar Dry," reads an adv., but what the average lad wants is something that will make a dry cellar wet.

The farmers around Baudette will soon be hauling in wagonloads of clover seed and hauling back wagonloads of money.

Some of the paragraphers are commenting in a joking way about two sets of twins arriving in 15 months in a Thief River Falls family, but we don't intend to joke about it. It's no joke when they come that fast.

There must be close to a hundred brands of Scotch in circulation in Baudette, but none of them are any good.

One of the nice things about being on the council is that you get a lot of advice about how to spend the village money after you've spent it for something else.

Storage Room for the Grain Crop

Many farmers at this season of the year find themselves short of facilities for storing their surplus grain stocks.

A good serviceable granary is a necessity on every farm. It need not be an expensive building, but must provide ample protection against the elements. At present prices of lumber such a building can be put up for a very reasonable amount of money.

We urge farmers to come in and let us prove to them that building costs have come down. And then in addition to being in a position to offer the very best lumber at a reasonable price, we have a service feature which should appeal to prospective builders. We stand ready to furnish plans and suggestions for any building which you may have in mind. We have been doing it right here for twenty-five years and our scores of satisfied customers stand as an attest to the success of the plan.

Threshing Rigs Exempt.

Threshing operations are not covered by the workmen's compensation law, according to a letter received by the state leader of county agents, F. E. Balmer, from F. A. Duxbury, chairman of the Industrial Commission of Minnesota. Mr. Duxbury says that the supreme court of the state has decided that the business of threshing as farm labor is exempt from the operation of the law. Mr. Duxbury, however, suggests to threshermen that the common law liability arising from negligence does prevail in threshing operations and that while there is no law requiring insurance of the risk involved, "business prudence might dictate protection by insurance against this common law liability."

30x3½ STANDARD NON-SKID

The Fastest Selling Tire In America

The increasing popular demand for the Firestone Standard 30x3½ inch tire over a period of years has given us big volume. Our Plant No. 2 devoted wholly to this size tire with a capacity of 16,000 tires and 20,000 tubes per day cuts costs on every operation.

On May 2, we dropped our price to $13.95 passing on to the car owner the full benefits of this big sales volume and this labor-saving plant. This tire has been our standard for years—four plies long staple fabric—extra gum between plies—heavy non-skid tread. The greatest value ever offered car owners. Insist on Firestone.

Our Cord Tire Values

Firestone Cord tires are made exclusively in Plant No. 1. Our process of double gum-dipping each ply of cord gives thicker insulation. The massive non-skid tread, with extra thickness where wear is most severe, gives real effectiveness in holding the car against slipping and adds many extra miles of service.

Firestone Cord tires are sold at the lowest prices in cord tire history: 30x3½, $24.50; 32x4, $46.30; 34x4½, $51.90.

Buying Gasoline Indiscriminately Is Unwise

Impartial tests made by the U. S. Bureau of Mines from 82 samples collected at different points from New York to San Francisco show a range of boiling point fractions of wide variation.

Some showed an initial of 176 degrees F. Red Crown has an initial of about 95 degrees F.

Some showed 50 percent off at 162 degrees F. Red Crown boils 50 percent off at 281 degrees F.

Some boiled off at 392 degrees; others at 510. Red Crown boils all off at 427 degrees F.

The point being that to buy one gas today and another tomorrow means constant carburetor adjustment to get even fair service. This adjustment cannot be made with success except by an expert. The carburetor is a highly sensitive instrument.

Buy RED CROWN —the High-Grade Gasoline and Stick to It!

Then you will never have to readjust your carburetor. You can get Red Crown everywhere and you will get the utmost in gasoline service, easy starting, quick get-away, smooth acceleration, and all the power and speed your engine can develop.

Never mind gravity. Pay no more than 23.5c a gallon for gasoline. That's the price of Red Crown. It not only meets Government specifications; it betters them.

Had Narrow Escape.

Joe Farrell, who drives the mail between Baudette and Birchdale, had a thrilling experience Wednesday evening, when a bolt in the steering gear of his auto broke and he chashed through the railing of the Silver Creek bridge. The front wheels of the car hung over the bridge with the water thirty feet below. The car was perfectly balanced and if it had gone two inches farther off the bridge it would have crashed to the river below, with almost certain death for the driver. Messrs. Moloney, Wefsenmoe and McGregor came along just in time to rescue Mr. Farrell, who will never have a closer view of death and live to tell the story. —Baudette Region.

Weekly Market Review.

(Quinn-Shepherdson Co.)

The damage area affecting spring wheat extended into new ground last week. North Dakota was the principal source of distress. It was evident, however, that the black rust complaints were quite spotted, somewhat isolated and not a general condition. Due to the recent rains and lower temperatures fair recovery from heat damage is confidently reported from many sections. The Canadian Northwest also contributed its annual quota to the crop killing list. Some black rust in Manitoba was reported.

Not the least of developments assisting prices upward last week was the continuance of drought in Europe. Export business in wheat also was reduced, large quantities of new wheat being reported booked for shipment via the Gulf. Another constructive feature which has considerably brightened foreign trade prospects is the report of a twenty million dollar credit to Germany consummated by American and English bankers.

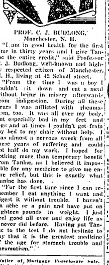
Corn and oats only reluctantly and to a moderate extent follow the advance in wheat. The new corn crop continues with appearances excellent. Compared with the bumper yield last year the oats crop has fallen to lower figures, but the prospect in coarse grains is for stocks of unprecedentedly large size next fall and unless a strong foreign demand develops or there be serious deterioration later in corn, most of the trade is looking for heavy markets with advances difficult to sustain.

In wheat there are many possibilities. For the present at least it is undoubtedly a two-sided market. [illegible] Argentine and Australia and the final out-turn in Europe, but barring calamitous possibilities we are still inclined to the belief that with the heavy receipts at all markets conditions are temporarily in favor of a lower level in all grains.

Entrenching Against the Spread of Rust in Grain

Minnesota and the United States government are co-operating this summer in cutting a barberry-free strip along the western boundary of Minnesota, from the southern to the Canadian border. This strip will be from 80 to 100 miles wide, according to Leonard W. Melander, University Farm, St. Paul. While there are not many barberry bushes in western Minnesota, there are more than enough distributed over the whole area to start early spring infections of black stem rust which later in the season may cause enormous losses to farmers.

The federal government and the state have divided up the territory. The Red River counties from Clay county northward are in charge of Lee R. Boyd, deputy state weed inspector. The counties from the Minnesota river up to Clay county are divided between government forces and a staff under the direction of A. G. Ruggles, state entomologist.



PROF. C. J. BUDLONG,
Manchester, N. H.

"I am in good health for the first time in thirty years and I give Tanlac the entire credit," said Professor C. J. Budlong, well-known and highly respected citizen of Manchester, N. H., living at [illegible] street.

"From the time I was a boy I couldn't sit down and eat a meal without being in misery afterwards from indigestion, and all these years I was afflicted with rheumatism, too. It was all over my body, but especially bad in my feet and legs and at times I couldn't get from my bed to my chair without help. I was almost a nervous wreck from all these years of suffering and could not half do my work. I hoped for nothing more than temporary benefit from Tanlac, as I believed it impossible for any medicine to give me entire relief, but that is exactly what Tanlac has done.

"For the first time I can remember I eat anything I want and digest it without trouble. I haven't an ache or a pain and have put on eighteen pounds in weight. I just feel good all over and enjoy life as I never did before. Having put Tanlac to the test I do not hesitate to say that it is the greatest medicine of the age for stomach trouble and rheumatism."

RED RIVER VALLEY GIVEN GOOD BOOST AS RESULT OF BIG TOUR THROUGH SECTION LAST WEEK

Representative of Minneapolis Journal Gets Favorable Impression of Northwestern Minnesota—Country Developed Beyond Expectations—Finds Good Schools.

A new organization of farm interests, which it is hoped will play a prominent part in advancement of the eleven counties that comprise the northwestern section of Minnesota, was established at Warren last week as the result of the first annual tour of the Red River Valley Development association. The new organization is none other than the association reborn, and comprises the membership of 27 commercial clubs and eleven farm bureaus.

After a two day tour of Polk, Red Lake, Pennington, Roseau, Kittson and Marshall counties, the organization has drawn up a program of aims and objects tending not alone to knit the Red River valley in closer acquaintanceship and a clearer understanding of mutual problems, but to draw attention of state and government officials to the real needs of the region.

The problems of the valley, as outlined by R. C. Mathwig, president of the Warren Commercial club and likewise president of the Red River Valley Development association, are:

Reducing the farm size and increasing the farm number.

Securing the co-operation of state and government immigration officials in settling the 2,500,000 tenantless acres of the valley.

Conversion of the region from a strictly grain belt to a district not alone famous for its crops but its livestock as well.

"The Red River valley is famous the world over for its wheat and grain crops," said Mr. Mathwig in explaining the new organization's aims. "This should not be the whole truth. This region has the soil and moisture, the railroads and the markets to make it one of the greatest dairy and livestock sections of the country. We have made a beginning and already have achieved national fame in the Spaulding Holstein herds at Warren, the Green Duroc pigs at Stephen and the dairy products of Gentilly parish, but the association must carry the message of full blooded livestock to more farmers if the valley is to realize its resources.

Seeks Livestock Leadership.

"This the association plans to do. We already have the Crookston winter livestock show, staged every February at the Northwest school of agriculture, as the nucleus for bringing farmers of the region together to talk over problems. Last year alone we exhibited more than 600 of the finest livestock to be found in the state. We will augment this show until it is not alone one of the biggest agricultural events in the northwest, but the largest, most practical and instructive course for the amateur as well as experienced cattle breeders that can be found in the whole country."

That communities of the Red River valley are behind the new organization in seeing that its program becomes an accomplished fact was evident from the enthusiasm displayed during the week along the route of the association's tour. At Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire, Thief River Falls, Middle River, Greenbush, Roseau, Bronson, Hallock, Kennedy, Donaldson, Stephen, Argyle and Warren, farmers left the harvesting of their crops for an hour or more in order that they might catch the message being delivered. Bronson farmers drove seven miles to Halma in order to meet the tourists and escort them to town.

Bands Meet Tourists.

The Badger Commercial club sent a delegation of 25 farmers to Greenbush to introduce the tourists to the "finest highway in the state of Minnesota," and to learn of the turn of events in the Red River valley. At Thief River Falls and Warren there were bands to meet the travelers, and delegations from surrounding towns drove into county seats to hear the addresses of the association officials as well as the half dozen state department officials who accompanied the party.

For a part of the journey Rev. A. N. Theillan accompanied the tourists. Everyone in Northwestern Minnesota knows him. He typifies the spirit of the Red River valley. He came to Polk county from France in 1888 and settled in Gentilly, about 12 miles northeast of Crookston. It was considered the poorest farming township in the county but under the guiding hand of its leader it has become the leading township of the district. For Father Theillan long ago discovered that the Red River valley should be famous not alone for its crops but for its livestock as well. Gentilly was backward until it took to heart what Father Theillan urged them to do. 'Conversion from a solely grain district to a livestock section as well was a hard lesson for the Gentilly parishioners to learn, but they now are the strongest boosters for the new organization's work. Gentilly has captured so many first premiums in dairy products at Minnesota state fairs and national food shows that its cheese and butter are now referred to only as "first premium butter and cheese."

Friends tell how Father Theillan helped make Gentilly cheese famous. When his parishioners were ready to market their first dairy products, he took a train to Minneapolis and spent three days eating in Minneapolis restaurants. At each place he would pose as a connoisseur of cheeses. He would demand of the waiter that he be served the finest of such products made, preferably Gentilly cheese. The waiter would look non-plussed and when his patron would register disgust at his ignorance would call the restaurant proprietor to pacify him. The result would be that the proprietor would admit his ignorance and place Gentilly cheese on his menu. Today the product is served in all the exclusive restaurants from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

While Gentilly specializes in Holstein cattle, Red Lake Falls, in the adjoining Red Lake county, has become the center of many Guernsey breeds. Theodore LaBissoniere, mayor of the county seat, who welcomed the tourists at that point, predicted the prosperity that has been realized in Polk and Red Lake counties since the advent of full blooded livestock will find duplication in the more northern counties of the valley as the result of the new organization's work.

Roads were once the stumbling block to advancement of the Red River valley. It no longer is so. From Thief River Falls, gateway to the Lake of the Woods country, the state highway department has constructed roadways to the north, as fine if not finer than can be found in any other section of the state. The northern valley is bidding the tourist welcome and from Thief River Falls to Middle River; from Strathcona to Badger, Roseau and Warroad, there is not a community, large or small, that has not provided "tourists' camping grounds." Schools, another former problem in the region, have likewise given way to other issues, for today there is not a district without its new consolidated school, of the latest design and finest architecture, and as complete in equipment as any city school.

"Roads and schools may have been the problems of this region yesterday," said C. H. Zealand, secretary of the association, in speaking at Roseau, "but such needs have now been realized and there now are other pressing matters. First and foremost of these is securing settlers for the more than 2,000,000 untilled acres in the valley. The soil is rich and productive, the acres are traversed by good roads; there are neighbors and fine schools; phone service, markets and all the other facilities for a happy and contented farm population. To see that this rich land is settled upon should be one of the first steps of the state in converting its liabilities to assets."

More than 100 boosters went on last week's tour. The association proposes next year to tour the southern half of the Red River valley.

Ice Cream Social.

The Silverton Young Peoples' society will give an ice cream social and "flode grot" supper at H. Fodstad's farm on Sunday, Aug. 7. An address will be given by Rev. Ordahl of Holt at 2:30 p. m. Everybody is invited.

C. C. Bergan.

Last Thursday occurred the death of C. C. Bergan at his home near the east end of Bridge street. Mr. Bergan suffered a paralytic stroke last March and had been confined to his bed since that time.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from the Larson undertaking parlors and interment made in Greenwood cemetery. The services were in charge of A. E. Kolberg of Bemidji, and the remains were escorted to the cemetery by a large number of relatives and friends.

Deceased was 74 years old at the time of his death and had resided in Thief River Falls for two years. Prior to coming here the family made their home at Russell, N. D. Mr. Bergan is survived by his wife and six children: Mrs. I. E. Wilson, Hazel; Eugene, residing at home; Mrs. Minnie Arbuckle, Rhame, N. D.; Chris., Altoona, Wis.; Dugna and Otto, at home. All were present at the funeral with the exception of Mrs. Arbuckle.

SOLDIER BOY DIES AFTER LONG FIGHT

Pennington County Lad Succumbs Following Operation in Military Hospital.

St. Hilaire Spectator—Thomas Anderson, son of O. A. Anderson, died Saturday at the military hospital at Minneapolis where he underwent an operation a short time before. Thomas was in military service during the latter part of the war and was stationed at Camp Dodge. It is believed that during one of the numerous sandstorms at camp, a grain of sand became lodged in his ear. The ear began to pain while he was in camp and grew gradually worse after his release. He took treatments at various times without getting relief, and as a last resort consented to the operation, which is one of the most delicate known. He failed to rally promptly so his father was called to his bedside and was with him when the end came. The remains were shipped here Monday and a military funeral held the same afternoon from the Norwegian Lutheran church, Rev. C. M. Grimsrud officiating. Members of the local post American Legion acted as pall bearers, while the Elmer Eklund post of Thief River Falls, of which Thomas was a member, furnished a guard of honor and firing squad.

After services at the church, the funeral cortege, numbering over fifty autos in all, wended its way to the Swedish cemetery east of town where after the flower-covered casket had been lowered to its last resting place, three volleys were fired over the grave, and "taps" sounded by comrades of the departed.

He leaves to mourn his sudden and untimely end, his father, O. A. Anderson, five brothers, Arthur, Oliver, John, George and Alec, and a sister, Inga Anderson, besides a large number of other relatives. All immediate relatives with the exception of John, were present at the funeral. Relatives from out of town present were: Mrs. A. Johnston of Crookston; Mr. and Mrs. P. Johnson of Crookston; Mr. and Mrs. Ole Johnson of Holt; Mrs. Lokker and Inga Anderson from Grafton, N. D.

Heartfelt sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved relatives in their loss of one who was held in high esteem by all with whom he came in contact.

WOMEN ARE URGED TO DO JURY DUTY

Women are being urged to answer the summons for jury service with a full sense of the responsibility involved in this new civic duty by Miss Florence Monahan, chairman of the committee on uniform laws for women for the Minnesota League of Women Voters.

Miss Monahan, who was among the active workers at the Legislature, to put through the bill making women eligible to service, announced recently that while women have already served in Minnesota, the first general call for women would come in the fall, according to information received from the district judges.

League chairmen in every county have been asked to see that women are drawn in proportion with the men for jury service by Miss Monahan.

"One benefit of the new law already apparent," Miss Monahan said, "is the general cleaning up of the courthouses reported in all parts of the state. It may be predicted that women jurors will have much the same effect in changing the general atmosphere of the courtroom as women voters have in changing the old-fashioned voting place.

"Women who are good citizens will feel that it is their duty to serve on juries, and unless it is unavoidable, they should not ask to be excused," Miss Monahan said. "Women are needed on juries as many verdicts show. Especially in cases involving women and young girls, and in cases affecting public morals, women should be anxious to give their point of view and judgment.

"It is well to remind ourselves that the bills making women eligible for jury service were not passed without opposition, and that some people regard the carrying out of the new provisions with misgiving. 'In designating women for jury service,' writes one judge, 'I hope that those drawn will realize that jury service is one of the highest duties of citizenship now extended to women on a parity with men and will accept such service voluntarily as by far the larger number of men now accept it, frequently at considerable sacrifice.' Moreover, while jury service for women is still a novelty, the dignity and good sense of the women who sit in the jury box, in the minds of many interested and perhaps skeptical observers, will be on trial almost as much as the prisoner at the bar.

"Members of the League of Women Voters, set an example to your communities by cheerfully and willingly doing your civic duty. Do not give trivial excuses to avoid this obligation. Do not, as a woman in St. Paul has recently done, publicly declare that you will never serve again. If there are conditions in jury service which need improving we can only learn of them and improve them through first-hand knowledge."

GOLDEN VALLEY PEAT PLOTS TO DISPLAY CROPS

Saturday, August 13, Set Apart as Visiting Day By Men in Charge of Plots.

Wonderful Results Already Obtained By Scientific Management of Peat Soils.

Everybody Interested in Peat Experiments Invited to Be Present on Saturday.

Next Saturday, Aug. 13, will be a big day at the Golden Valley Peat Experimental station. This day has been designated by the department of agriculture, state university, which has the station in charge, as official visiting day, and arrangements have been made to care for a large number of visitors.

The Golden Valley plots are located 16 miles east of Holt and roads are said to be in fine condition all the way. The plots are located on the main road one mile east of Golden Valley postoffice.

A Successful Year.

The present year has been a very successful one at the peat experimental station. Crops are excellent, in fact fully up to the standard set in 1918 when all previous records on peat soil were broken at Golden Valley. Winter rye showed up exceptionally well this year. To guide visitors next Saturday, signs have been placed along the roads from Holt, Goodridge and Grygla. A large number of people from all parts of this section plan on viewing the Golden Valley experiments next Saturday, the large peat areas in Northwestern Minnesota making it a very important subject among the farmers.

Program Arranged.

A short program will be given, beginning at 2 o'clock. This will consist of brief addresses and an explanation of the experiments, their purpose and their teaching. At the close of the program the plots will be visited with university guides.

Those wishing to leave right after the program should come early and bring their lunch. In the grove just southeast of Golden Valley will be found a pleasant picnic ground with a good well. Guides will be at the service of visitors any time after 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

Phosphate Fertilizer Used.

Many farmers in this section of Minnesota have used phosphate fertilizer this season on peat soils, with uniformly good results. This form of fertilizer has been used chiefly at Golden Valley and experiments there prove that its proper application brings wonderful results on peat soils.

All farmers who cannot visit the experiment plots in person are asked to write the office of publications, university farm, St. Paul, for a copy of Bulletin 194, which is a report of the Golden Valley experiments for 1918 and 1919.

BAD CHECK USED IN PAYING FOR GOODS

Local Store is Stung For $25.00 in Taking Bogus Voucher From Stranger.

A warrant was issued the first of the week by Judge N. W. Tarrant in municipal court for the arrest of one Ruth West, a transient, charged with having passed a worthless check for $25 on the J. C. Penney company last week. The check was given in exchange for merchandise and was drawn on a Duluth bank. In the course of a few days the voucher came back marked "no funds" and steps were immediately taken to apprehend the lady who had used it as cash.

The warrant is now in the hands of officers and every effort is being made to locate Ruth. It is rather a difficult task, however, she having nearly a week's time in which to make her get-away. While it is not certain, it is considered likely the woman was connected with one of the concession outfits which were here for the county fair last week.

Local business people are as a rule very careful in taking chances with strangers during a time when the town is full of questionable characters and this is the only instance brought to light where anyone accepted a worthless check during fair week.

Large Audiences Assemble to Hear Dr. Gambell Speak

Dr. F. H. Gambell, for many years a resident of Thief River Falls, delivered two very interesting lectures at the Presbyterian church last Sunday. Mr. Gambell and his family now reside at Willows, Cal.

The doctor spent two years with the American Red Cross in Siberia and his lectures here concerned things as he found them in that part of the globe. Conditions are very bad in that country, according to the speaker, and there seems to be no hope for improvement for some time to come. There is no permanent nor responsible government, no stable currency, no markets worthy the name, and a hopelessly inadequate transportation system. These, together with the natural viciousness of a certain element of the population and the darkest illiteracy of millions of others, make for continual strife and turmoil among the natives. Added to this is the constant effort of eastern powers to gain a foot-hold in the fertile districts of Siberia. Dr. Gambell feels that the immediate future is very dark for Siberia, and all of Russia, too, for that matter.

The lectures were very interesting and were highly appreciated by the large audience present on both occasions.

Windows Replaced.

The five large plate glass windows in the store of the Oen Mercantile company which were broken in the storm of two weeks ago are being replaced this week. These large pieces of plate glass are expensive and great care is required in handling them and getting them into place.

POLICE FIND CACHE OF BOOZE AND OLD SETTLER IS NABBED

Ole Peterson Bound Over to Grand Jury After Hearing on Liquor Charge.

Conducting a business establishment not strictly in harmony with the intentions of the Volstead law brought Ole Peterson, an old settler of Thief River Falls, before Judge N. W. Tarrant in municipal court on Friday. Ole was arrested by Chief of Police E. O. Erickson, on the charge of maintaining an unlicensed drinking place and the officer succeeded in gathering considerable damaging evidence through a search of his premises on Knight avenue. The defendant waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury under a bond of $500, which was immediately furnished.

Among the contraband supplies found in Ole's rooms by the officer were five pints of whiskey, one quart bottle of the same liquid, a large number of empty bottles, some corks and a quantity of distilled water. This is the first instance on record in these parts where the ultimate consumer has been safeguarded by the use of distilled water in the mixing of "moonshine." Some believe, however, that the distilled water would eventually have found its way into the battery of Ole's automobile if the law had not stepped in.

LADS ACCUSED OF ATTEMPT TO TAKE AUTO DRAW FINES

Reformatory Sentence Suspended and Boys Given Chance to Earn Fine Imposed.

Stanley Death and Clyde Lawson, the two young men who had been held in the county jail for a week on the charge of attempting to steal the automobile of J. M. Bishop, appeared before Judge William Watts at a special session of court held here last Friday and entered a plea of guilty to the charge.

Considering the youth of the prisoners, the fact that the car was not removed from the premises and other extenuating circumstances connected with the case, the court charged the lads with a fine of $150 each and also gave them an indeterminate sentence to the St. Cloud reformatory. The latter part of the sentence was suspended pending the good behavior of the boys and with the provision that the fines be paid at the rate of $15 per month. In addition the boys are to report regularly to a probation officer appointed by the court and will be allowed their freedom as long as the foregoing provisions are complied with in every particular. Any violation, however, will mean a reformatory sentence without further ceremony.

Transients Neglect to Pay For Room and Eats; Beat It

Four men, evidently connected with the carnival company located at the fair grounds, left town this week. This they had a perfect right to do, but overlooked one little formality in the transaction—they neglected to settle with Landlord Garvey of the Brumund hotel for a week's board and lodging. This ungentlemanly procedure naturally irritated the landlord and he had warrants sworn out for the four, whose names are given as F. D. Brock, J. W. Kelley, A. E. Miller and Wm. Cooper.

The absconders had a considerable start of the officers armed with the warrants and have not yet been apprehended.

First Wheat Marketed.

The first wheat of the season was marketed at the Hanson & Barzen elevator on Tuesday. It was threshed on the farm of D. P. O'Neill, south of Thief River Falls, and early returns indicate a yield considerably in advance of what was expected. The grain is clean and of fair quality, although showing effects of the extremely hot weather during the ripening period.

GREATEST FAIR BREAKS RECORD IN ATTRACTIONS

Attendance is Slightly Smaller Than Last Year But Earnings Show Up Well.

Directors in Charge Highly Pleased With Results—Exhibits Best Ever.

Weather and General Condition Prevent Concessions From Amassing Wealth.

One of the very best fairs in the history of the local association closed Saturday evening, after continuing for four days. Everything connected with the fair—exhibits, attractions and amusements—received unstinted praise from visitors, being pronounced better than ever before. General conditions were such that a record-breaking attendance could not be expected, yet the unusual record established last year came very near being equalled. Gate receipts were a little less than those of last year, but net earnings were greater due to expenses being reduced.

Wonderful Exhibits.

Displays in all departments of the fair were simply wonderful and show the great interest taken by Pennington county people in such matters. Cattle, horses, hogs, sheep, grains, grasses, vegetables, flowers—everything produced on farms and in gardens were there in profusion, and some of the finest specimens to be found in the Northwest. The poultry building also contained a large number of high class exhibits.

The new building occupied by the women's department, educational and industrial exhibits elicited much praise from visitors. An attempt to describe everything here in detail would require several columns of space. It was the center of attraction for lady visitors and the men also found many things of interest, chiefly among the educational and industrial departments.

Free Attractions Good.

The fee attractions given in front of the grand stand each afternoon and evening were exceptionally good and of a class rarely seen at county fairs. Particularly was this true of the fireworks display. It was advertised as a magnificent thing and fulfilled every expectation. The usual class of shows were run by the carnival company on the gounds, some of which were fair and others not so good. The ferris wheel and merry-go-round did a very small business compared with last year, the cool weather being largely responsible for this condition. Other concessions on the grounds also complained of poor business, these people finding it extremely difficult to pry loose the nickels and dimes from visitors.

Makes Good Financially.

While all figures are not yet available, it has been announced that the total receipts this year will run in the neighborhood of $7,000. After all expenses are paid this will leave a tidy sum for the association to apply on new buildings and other permanent improvements. Taking everything into consideration the fair directors have good reason to feel gratified over the results. They worked hard to make the fair a success and deserve credit for the highly efficient manner in which the thing was handled.

GETTING READY FOR GREAT SCHOOL YEAR

Board of Education Holds Organization Meeting and Chooses Officers.

The recently elected board of education of district No. 18 held its organization meeting on Saturday. Dr. H. W. Froehlich was chosen president of the board for the coming year, Dr. O. F. Mellby, vice president, Mrs. L. G. Larsen, secretary, and Lars Backe, treasurer.

Plans for the coming school year were considered and much accumulated routine work done. All vacancies on the teaching staff, with two exceptions, have been filled, and applicants for these positions are under consideration. Teachers are more plentiful this season than last and no difficulty has been experienced in completing the staff.

School will begin in earnest on Tuesday, Sept. 6, in all buildings except the Knox, where half day sessions will be maintained until such time as the new building is ready for use. Work on the structure is progressing at a very satisfactory rate and it likely will be completed in the course of about three months. Indications point to a very large enrollment and the board looks forward to a successful school year.

County Assessments Equalized.

The board of county commissioners met last Friday as a board of equalization and finished its work for the year. It is a herculean job to go over all the assessments for the entire county and several continued meetings were necessary to complete the task.

Large Automobile Catches Fire and Burns Completely

A big Reo automobile belonging to the Nash Motor company of Grand Forks and driven by an employe of that concern, caught fire on the Jefferson highway about a mile south of Thief River Falls Monday afternoon and in a few minutes was only a heap of ashes and scrap iron. The driver made a desperate attempt to put out the fire but his efforts proved futile. A terrific explosion occurred when the fire reached the gasoline storage tank, which contained nearly twenty gallons of the inflammable liquid. No one was hurt although several spectators had gathered on the scene by this time.

While nothing definite can be ascertained as to the cause of the fire, it is considered likely that it was started either through the engine back-firing or by a short circuit in the electric wires.

Elks Meet Friday.

On account of the fair and other counter attractions last Friday evening, the regular meeting of the Elks' lodge was postponed for one week and will take place tomorrow evening, Aug. 12. All members are asked to bear this change in mind and to be present this Friday evening.

LOCAL BANKERS TO SEND SHIPMENT OF GUERNSEYS TO FAIR

Bankers' Association Gets Behind Project to Place Animals on Exhibition.

A carload of Pennington county Guernsey cattle are to be shown at the state fair this year. Such was the decision reached at the meeting of the Pennington County Bankers' association, held Monday evening at the Farmers and Merchants bank in Thief River Falls. Representatives of every bank in the county were present at the meeting and unanimously endorsed the proposition of standing the expense of sending the Guernseys to the fair.

The bankers' association also proposes to furnish each animal to be placed on exhibition with a blanket on which will be stenciled in large letters the words, "Guernsey Breeders of Pennington County." It is also considered likely by those having the matter in charge that the carload of Guernseys may be taken to Bemidji on the return trip and shown at the Beltrami county fair. This will entail but very little additional expense and will prove of considerable advertising value for the local Guernsey breeders.

Pennington county Guernseys have made some wonderful winnings at leading fairs in the Northwest during the past two years in competition with the best animals to be found and there is little doubt but what they will make a good showing at the state fair. At least the bankers of the county propose to show the rest of the state what is being done here in the live stock industry, and their action in taking upon themselves the financial burden of sending the cattle to the fair and back is creating much favorable comment.

SEASON SOON HERE FOR GATHERING OF PRAIRIE CHICKENS

Short Open Period Begins Sept. 16 and Continues Until End of Month.

A supply of five hundred hunters' licenses was received this week at the office of County Auditor T. P. Anderson, and it is expected that all of these will be issued before the opening of the hunting season on Sept. 16. Geo. C. Streeter enjoys the distinction of applying for the first license issued this year, he having been granted a permit on the very day the blanks arrived.

Prairie chickens may be hunted this year in Minnesota. The season opens Sept. 16 and continues until Sept. 30. This rule also governs grouse. The season for ducks opens the same day and continues until Nov. 30. Some of the rules governing hunters this year are as follows:

Water fowl cannot be taken with a rifle. It is unlawful to carry guns while training dogs during the closed season on lands frequented by game birds. The limits on prairie chicken, mourning dove or pinnated grouse is nine birds, with a season limit of 18 prairie chickens.

Small game licenses cost $1 and are required of all persons over 14 years of age (except persons shooting on land owned or leased and occupied by themselves as permanent residence.)

Five New Citizens Added to Nation's Voting Army

A hearing of applications for citizenship was conducted at the Pennington county court house last Friday by Judge William Watts of Crookston. Five applicants passed the necessary examinations and were granted full citizenship. They are Axel Olson, Olof Helmer Sorenson, Robert Vance, William Poirier and Aanond Gunlekson. Two other applications were continued until the next hearing, which will be held in February.

HOME PICTURES WILL BE SHOWN IN MOVIES HERE

Movie Scenes Taken in Thief River Falls to Be Flashed on Lyceum Screen.

Pictures to Consist Chiefly of Local Street Views, Interiors and Exteriors.

People Asked to Be on Streets Saturday Afternoon to Be Photographed.

Thief River Falls in motion pictures is the next thing on the program. E. W. Ewing, of the Commercial Photo Plays company, St. Paul, arrived in the city yesterday and is busy completing arrangements for the new venture. It is expected the new picture will be ready to be thrown on the screen in two or three weeks, when they will be shown at the Lyceum.

A New Picture Idea.

Mr. Ewing is meeting with the Commercial club this noon for the purpose of explaining the proposition in detail to the business men of the city. The idea back of the work is, of course, commercial and community advertising, besides the educational features of the pictures. Included in the film will be street scenes, residences, public buildings and other things of interest in the city and community. Added to this will be interior and exterior views of various business establishments, showing everything which the proprietors deem of advertising value.

Next Saturday the Day.

Next Saturday afternoon between the hours of two and four o'clock the street scenes of Thief River Falls will be taken. To make the best possible showing it is requested that all who can possibly do so be on the streets with automobiles, vehicles and on foot. The main idea is to make it appear that Thief River Falls is a live town and to get as many local people into the pictures as possible, thus adding interest to the films when they are thrown on the screen. Farmers are also extended a special invitation to be in the city Saturday afternoon to have their pictures taken.

Many Years in Business.

Mr. Ewing, who is here for the purpose of making these films, has been in the motion picture game game since 1905. In that time he has been associated with some of the greatest concerns in the country, including Lubin, Pathe and others. Before coming to Minnesota he was with the Art-O-Graf company, with headquarters at Denver.

According to Mr. Ewing, Minnesota possesses numerous natural beauty spots in which moving picture scenes may be taken, and he predicts that within a few years many concerns will have companies filming plays in different parts of the state. He says that a short time ago, for instance, he filmed a stretch along the St. Croix river which will appear in pictures as the Grand Canon of Colorado.

Mail Carrier on Vacation.

Fred Protz, city mail carrier on the east side of the river, is at present enjoying his annual vacation. He and his family drove to Maple Lake in their car and are spending their time in a pleasant outing. Fred walks a good many miles in a year and a short rest will do him good.

INDIANS RECEIVING BADLY NEEDED AID

Chippewas to Be Given Per Capita Payment to Tide Over Tight Period.

Th following telegram, received on Wednesday from Congressman Halvor Steenerson, explains progress being made in important legislation which Mr. Steenerson is attempting to get through for the benefit of the Chippewa tribe of Indians:

"The committee on Indian affairs of the house of representatives today made a favorable report on the Steenerson bill authorizing a per capita payment of $100 to the Chippewa Indians of Minnesota, of whom there are $12,273, out of the principal fund to their credit in the treasury of the United States, derived from the sale of their lands and timber under the act of congress approved in 1889.

"The Indians have petitioned congress for the relief of distress growing out of failure of crops and inability to obtain employment, and extraordinary conditions common to the rest of the country. The secretary of the interior, after investigation in the field, has recommended favorable action on the bill."

Interest in East Side Auto Company Sold This Week

A deal was closed the first of the week whereby Solomon Erickson sold his half interest in the East Side Auto company to Morris Sorenson of Roseau, who will henceforth be associated with Pat Howlett in conducting the business.

The new man has for some years been engaged in business at Roseau and is known as a hustler among his business associates. For the present he will spend most of his time at Roseau looking after his business affairs but expects to spend a few days each week in his newly acquired establishment.

Mr. Erickson, the retiring partner, acquired a quarter section of timber land in the northern part of the state in the deal and plans on putting in the fall and winter cutting logs and clearing the place. He will continue to make Thief River Falls his home for the present.

Aga Secures Contract.

Aga's Garage and Machine Shop was on Tuesday evening awarded a contract by the city council for installing a new set of flues and otherwise putting the boiler in the city auditorium in good repair. The Thief River Iron Works was the only other bidder for the work. The Aga concern offered to do the work and furnish all materials for the sum of $448, which was considerably lower than the bid submitted by the other company.

HEART FAILURE IS BLAMED AS CAUSE FOR SUDDEN DEATH

Guest at Local Hotel Drops Dead in Lobby—Remains to Be Interred Here.

John A. Roberts, a transient aged about 60 years, dropped dead Tuesday forenoon at the Central hotel in this city. He had complained of being short of breath that morning, and a subsequent examination by Coroner H. W. Froehlich showed death to be due to heart failure.

Little is known about the dead man except that he came here about three weeks ago and since then has been staying at the hotel. It is understood he had come here for the purpose of taking treatments at a private sanitarium operated near Thief River Falls. The coroner ascertained that the dead man had lived in Grand Forks before coming here and immediately got in touch with authorities there. It was learned he had made his home in the Dakota city for several years, but had lived entirely alone and so far as known had no relatives or close friends there.

Another clue led to relatives at Toronto, Canada, and these were communicated with by wire. Instructions were received to bury the dead man here, and arrangements are being made to comply with this request. Sufficient money and property was left by deceased to defray all expenses connected with the burial.

ONE MORE ALLEGED 'MOONSHINER' NOW FACES GRAND JURY

Anton B. Remmem Arrested on Charge of Selling Pint of Contraband Liquid.

Anton B. Remmem, proprietor of a livery business on Third street, was arrested yesterday on the charge of selling intoxicating liquor and at a hearing conducted in the afternoon before Judge N. W. Tarrant in municipal court was bound over to await the action of the grand jury, with bonds fixed at $500. The necessary signatures were affixed to the bond in short order and the defendant is assured his liberty until next February.

According to the testimony offered at the hearing, Remmem is alleged to have sold a pint bottle to Irving Carlson, charging $4 therefor. Carlson testified that he in turn gave the bottle to another party and could not vouch for its contents. He did not deny, however, that he went to Remmem for the purpose of securing liquor and purchased the fluid under the impression that it was liquor. It seems the mistake was made in letting the third person get possession of the bottle, for it was not long until a warrant was sworn out and the arrest made. The evidence of this third person evidently was not desired by the authorities and he did not appear at the hearing. Neither was the bottle of alleged liquor offered in evidence.

Sons of Norway Celebrate at Maple Lake on Sunday

Varden lodge, Sons of Norway, of Grand Forks, is planning a big picnic and song festival at Maple Lake next Sunday, Aug. 14. A great time has been arranged and an unusually large attendance of lodge members from this section of the state is expected.

A special invitation has been sent to Snorre lodge of Thief River Falls to send a delegation to the celebration, as well as any others who might wish to be present. Many have signified their intention of making the trip and it is likely several auto loads will be ready to make the start on Sunday morning.

Building and Repair Permits.

At Tuesday evening's session of the city council a repair permit was granted to H. B. Newell, for placing a new basement beneath and otherwise improving the building occupied by the drug store. L. O. Kongelf also was granted permission to construct a new garage.

GETTING READY FOR NEXT HUGE BARGAIN FEAST

Wednesday, Aug. 24, Decided Upon as Date For Next Monthly Market Day.

Thief River Falls Merchants Propose to Break Previous Records in Bargains.

Ordinary Money Will Really be Worth Something if Spent Here on Aug. 24.

Merchants of Thief River Falls are busy preparing for the next big market day event and the date for the August bargain festival has been set for Wednesday, the 24th. Much experience was gained in conducting the first two events and everything will naturally be placed on a broader and better scale this time than previously, with better deals for buyers and a smoother running organization all around.

Many Special Offers.

All merchants will present a large list of special bargain offerings for the benefit of people who visit Thief River Falls on market day. The Times next week will contain these announcements and prospective visitors should post themselves in advance regarding the many items offered at prices away below normal.

Dollar bargains will be featured by many business men for this event, and a dollar will go farther here that day than any place in the country.

Something New Provided.

Anyone making purchases in Thief River Falls will be entitled to participate in a drawing at which a large amount of valuable merchandise will be given away absolutely free. There are absolutely no strings attached to this offer. Merchandise certificates will be issued by merchants with each 25c purchase or with each 25c paid on account. All of these certificates will be used in the drawing and there is no limit to the number which one person may accumulate.

No Auction Sale.

The association has decided to dispense with the auction sale feature of market day until later in the season. Owing to the fact that so little merchandise has been brought in for sale this privilege has not proved a success at previous market days. In order to put on a successful market day auction sale it is necessary to list articles with the secretary of the Merchants' association at least two weeks in advance so that everything may be included in the list to be advertised in the special market day edition of The Times. The Merchants' association is glad to render this service if the public desires it.

DISTINGUISHED MEN TO COME SATURDAY

Prominent Men of State Expected on Occasion of Event at Golden Valley.

One of the principal subjects to come up for discussion at the weekly noon-day luncheon of the Commercial club today will be arrangements for the visiting day at the Golden Valley peat experiment station next Saturday. A number of prominent men of the state have accepted invitations to visit the plots on Saturday, and the club is making arrangements to entertain them properly while here. A run will be made to Golden Valley on Saturday under the supervision of the club, which will provide free transportation to visitors from other points who are their guests for the day.

Among the prominent men who have been invited to make the trip to Golden Valley are N. J. Holmberg, state commissioner of agriculture; R. P. Chase, state auditor; Oscar Smith, immigration commissioner; A. J. Logg, university comptroller; Andrew Boss, vice director of the experiment station, and Theodore Christianson, for the past three sessions chairman of the house appropriations committee in the legislature. Invitation also has been wired President Quamme of the Federal Land bank to be the guest of the club for the day.

Anyone having a car which will accommodate extra passengers for the trip is requested to inform Scott Laird of the fact. Those who desire to go but have no car also are requested to inform Mr. Laird of the fact, in order that all arrangements may be made in advance.

Local Catholics Plan Big Outing For Next Sunday

The choir and a considerable number of members of St. Bernard's church are planning a pleasant trip for next Sunday. They will go to Jane, a small inland town east of Middle River to spend the day as guests of the congregation there. After attending high mass in the new Catholic church at Jane, the afternoon will be spent picnicking. Plans are now being made for 12 to 15 cars making the trip providing the weather is favorable.

William Treat Upton, instructor of piano at the Oberlin conservatory, has the following to say of Miss Halvorson: "I have found her possessed of excellent musical ability. Her piano playing is technically adequate, intelligent and attractive."

Mrs. Ruth Chamberlain Miller, a graduate of Oberlin college and a former instructor of Miss Halvorson, gives the following testimony: " I am glad to recommend Miss Doris Halvorson as a solo pianist and accompanist. She possesses a brilliant technic and good style, combined with fine tone quality and an ease of manner in public playing. Her ability to read at sight makes her a desirable accompanist."

RED CROSS RESENTS FALSE STATEMENTS

Local Executive Committee Submits Facts to Set Aright Wrong Impression Made.

The following article, submitted for publication by persons who have authority in the matter, should set at ease any rumors which may have been started by unwarranted attacks upon the local Red Cross organization by persons who apparently have an object in seeing that reflections are cast upon certain members of the organization:

"The Executive Committee of the local Red Cross Chapter of Pennington County, after observing an editorial in a local paper of August 9th concerning the work of the local Red Cross Chapter, feels that it is fair to the people of Pennington county to make the following statement concerning the matters referred to in the editorial:

"First. Miss Ruth Houlton of Chicago, who has supervision of the field work for this territory, visited the local chapter of Pennington county in the regular course of her work and not in the capacity of special investigator.

"Second. Miss Marie Knutson, the Red Cross county nurse, has been during her term of service here, under the direction and supervision of the chairman of the nursing committee of the local Red Cross chapter. The nursing committee is composed of the following persons: Dr. M. George Milan, chairman; W. A. Barnard; Mrs. R. H. McDonald, Goodridge; Mrs. Asp, Hazel, and Mrs. Fred Bjerken, St. Hilaire.

"Third. Miss Knutson in the pursuance of her work has recommended certain medical attention in numerous cases. Miss Knutson has not in any instances recommended any particular physician but has left the choice of the physician entirely and in every case to the family or to the person concerned. All information at hand is to the effect that in cases where the Junior Red Cross paid the hospital expenses the physician made no charge for medical services. The Red Cross has paid out no money for the services of any physician.

"Fourth. The hospital expenses of cases where the people concerned were unable to meet them have been paid from the treasury of the Junior Red Cross. This has been done only after this use of the Junior Red Cross chapter money had been authorized from headquarters.

"We invite fullest and freest investigation if anyone wishes to verify the above statement.—Executive Committee, Pennington Co. Chapter, American Red Cross."

Improving Building.

The building occupied by the Newell drug store is undergoing quite extensive repairs. A full concrete basement is being put in and a modern heating plant is to be installed before cold weather sets in. These improvements will add greatly to the capacity, convenience and comfort of the Newell drug store.

The Kretzer Potato Crate.

Do not dig your potato crop this year without crates. In the long run you will save both time and money and the work will be a pleasure instead of a drag both to you, your pickers and your haulers. The old way sticks pretty hard sometimes and it's hard to break away from the sacks or the baskets or the pails, or whatever you are accustomed to using. But let a man once use crates and he would no more think of growing potatoes without crates than he would think of growing grain without a binder, at least that is what the potato growers around Fertile, Minn., tell us, where we sell carloads of crates every year.

We had a letter from a man near Fertile the other day. This is his first year in potatoes and his letter reads like this:

"Clearbrook Box & Crate Co., Clearbrook, Minn. Gentlemen: Please let me know the price of potato crates this year. I want 200 of them. Will pay for them in advance, if necessary. I must have them. I have 30 acres of potatoes and nothing to pick them in."

This man knows what he wants simply because his neighbor growers have told him what he needs.

Society and Club

Entertained.

In compliment to Miss Anna Skeim who leaves the city soon, Mrs. H. W. Froehlich entertained a number of young ladies at her home on Saturday evening.

Ladies' Aid.

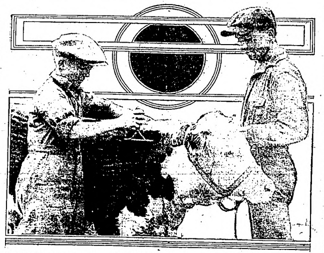
DOLLING HER ALL UP FOR BIG CATTLE EXHIBIT



If cattle like this one were grown on every farm there would be no trouble about keeping the boys and girls away from the city. You simply couldn't pry them away from the farm. To encourage the raising of pure-bred cattle, officials are offering the most liberal premiums in years. A big attendance is anticipated at the Minnesota State Fair, Twin Cities, Sept. 3 to 10.

RACING CARS GIVE THRILLS TO CROWD AT SATURDAY MEET

Fair Attendance Despite Decidedly Bad Weather—Good Numbers Are Shown.

Despite the decidedly unfavorable weather, a fairly large crowd gathered at the fair grounds on Saturday to witness the automobile races. The day was extremely chilly and heavy rain clouds hung low all forenoon, which served to keep away many from a distance who had planned on coming.

Four cars, a Deusenberg, Essex, Stephens and Monroe, took part in the first event and considering the difficulty of driving on a half mile dirt track, some very creditable records were made. The Monroe car, with Willard driving, led the field in this event, making the six laps in 4:45.

Event No. 2 was a four-mile race in which the Maxwell, driven by Allen, took first, making the four miles in 5 minutes and 20 seconds. This was one of the most exciting races of the afternoon and the driver of the Maxwell showed some real skill in maneuvering his car through the tight places. The third event was a free-for-all half mile race, in which the Frontenac driven by Barr made the lowest record—35 and 3-5 seconds.

Event No. 4 was a three cornered match race of four laps, which was won by the Frontenac in 2 minutes, 37 and 2-5 seconds. This was followed by an exciting session of auto polo, and the last race of the afternoon, a five mile contest in which six cars participated. The Essex, driven by Rick, came out victor in this event.

ACCEPTS HONORARY CHAIRMANSHIP FOR BUDGET COMMITTEE

Mayor John Bratrud Named Member of Body to Back Program of Gen. Dawes.

Hon. John Bratrud, Mayor of Thief River Falls, has accepted the invitation of the National Budget Committee to serve as honorary chairman of the local committee of that organization, which is engaged in a nation-wide effort to gain popular support of the efforts of Gen. Charles G. Dawes, Director of the Budget, to effect a reduction of the burden of federal taxation.

Announcement of the acceptance of the mayor was made yesterday by Stanley H. Howe, Director of the National Budget Committee, whose headquarters are at 7 West 8th street, New York City. The mayor will join with the chief magistrates of a thousand other cities throughout the country in fostering the spirit of popular approval of the policy of federal retrenchment.

Active heads of local committees are being selected daily from among the most prominent business and professional men in their respective communities, and efforts are under way to secure the co-operation of leading citizens in a thousand cities by the formation of a nation-wide "Budget Guard" whose members will simply pledge their support to the establishment of a business-like administration of governmental appropriations and expenditures.

Every member of the National Budget Committee, which was instrumental in initiating and passing the National Budget bill, is asked to urge upon his fellow citizens the necessity for solidly supporting the present program of governmental efficiency and economy by the elimination of every possible item of expenditure. Every taxpayer who favors a reduction of the present unbearable tax burden is invited to join with his fellow townsmen in helping to crystallize public opinion and defeat unnecessary additions to federal expense.

Mayors of Mankato, St. Cloud, Fergus Falls, and Stillwater, have also become honorary members of the organization. Prominent members of the Board of Directors of the National Budget committee include: John T. Pratt, chairman; ex-president, William H. Taft, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Alton B. Parker, Samuel McCune Lindsay, Paul M. Warburg, R. C. Leffingwell, William M. Chadbourne, Henry L. Stimson, Manny Strauss, Benjamin Strong, Stanley H. Howe and Joseph P. Cotton.

BLOODED HOLSTEIN SIRES OFFERED ON TERMS TO FARMERS

Pure Bred Bulls Will be Sold on Easy Plan to Replace Grades and Scrubs.

An effort on the part of the Minnesota Holstein Breeders' association to replace the grade and scrub sire with pure bred animals for the benefit of the farmers who have scrubs or grade bulls at the head of their herds, is being made by that association which offers liberal terms for the purchase of such animals. The association placed a good many animals in the fire district of northern Minnesota, two or three years ago, giving the settlers liberal terms to pay for the animals. Owing to the present money famine it is felt by the association that many farmers would secure pure bred sires if they felt capable of handling the financial end.

Following is an extract from a letter received from the association by the county agent of Pennington county:

"At the present time we are suffering from a money famine. We believe that there never was a better time for dairy extension work than now, and as the banks are unable to help, this association will undertake to furnish your farmers with pure bred bulls on practically the same terms as were given to the farmers of the burned over districts. We will furnish good sires, ready for service at $150.00 each with two year's time to pay at six per cent interest, with the understanding that the grade or scrub bull now in use will first be shipped to the slaughter house and the net returns received from his sale be turned in as first payment on the pure bred bull. The executive committee of this association will see that every bull offered is well worth the money, of good type, good breeding and in good condition. In fact, we have a number already offered in the interest of this extension work that are worth two or three times the $150.00. All the bulls spoken for will be assembled at the State Fair grounds at the time of the National dairy show in October and they will be distributed impartially through the drawing of numbers. The bulls will be delivered to their new owners at the fair grounds."

TOWNLEY APPEALS TO SUPREME COURT

Famous Case Started at Jackson During War to be Carried to Highest Tribunal.

A. C. Townley, president of the Nonpartisan League will appeal to the United States supreme court his conviction on the charge of conspiracy to violate the Minnesota sedition act, according to an announcement this week by Vince A. Day, counsel for Mr. Townley. The appeal will operate to stay execution of the 90 day jail sentence imposed on Townley and his fellow defendant, Joseph Gilbert in the Jackson county court. Mr. Townley will remain at liberty on bail pending the decision.

The state court upheld the trial court by a unanimous decision given recently. The appeal, according to Mr. Day, will allege unfairness in the conduct of the trial. No attacks upon the Minnesota law will be made in the proceedings, he said.

WINTON WILL HEAD COMMUNITY DRIVE

Well Known Lumber Man to Head Charity Drive in Minneapolis This Year.

Appointment of David N. Winton, vice-president of the Winton Lumber company, as general chairman of the next Community Fund drive, was announced on Tuesday by Joseph Chapman, chairman of a subcommittee of 29 men and women who unanimously approved the choice. Mr. Winton has been interested in charitable and community organizations for many years.

A tentative program for the conduct of the campaign was also announced. The drive will probably take place during the week beginning November 1. The budgets of the 65 agencies participating this year indicate that $1,250,000 will be necessary to meet their needs for 1922.

Mr. Winton was a member of the Community Fund's budget committee last year. In accepting the appointment yesterday, he declared that the Community Fund would seek 75,000 givers this year, as compared with 24,000 last year.

"Our campaign will be organized similar to the Liberty loan campaign, and there will be no dallying," he said.

Mr. Winton succeeds Fred C. Clifford as chairman. He has served on the governing boards at Pillsbury Settlement house and the Children's Protective society for several years.

FAVOR SUPPORT OF TOWNSEND MEASURE

Development Association Goes on Record in Favor of New Federal Road Law.

Following a conference of officials of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association, held by long distance telephone Friday evening, telegrams and letters were dispatched to Senators Nelson and Kellog and Representative Steenerson commending support of the Phipps-Dowell bill in preference to the Townsend highway measure. The former is strongly supported by Commissioner C. M. Babcock, of Minnesota, who left Friday night for Washington to appear before the senate and house committees in the connection.

Commissioner Babcock has been urged by federal bureau of public roads and other officials to assist at Washington in the campaign for farm-to-market highways before rich men's boulevards, congress being deadlocked on the subject. He has been a leader in the fight by highway officials of progressive states in which the American Farm Bureau federation and various public organizations extended special aid.

The vital importance of continuance of federal aid on the old basis to Minnesota's new highway development program, especially during the first year, already has been pointed out, Commissioner Babcock said. The Phipp-Dowell bill for farm-to-market roads rather than transcontinental boulevards de luxe, and which he is advocating because Minnesota can meet every requirement advantageously, he said, is supported by an overwhelming majority in the House and by many Senators opposed to any material change in the existing law.

Commissioner Babcock quoted from the speech made in the house by Representative John M. Robinson, Kentucky, as follows:

"The Townsend plan contemplates just a few interstate roads. A commission in Washington lays out the system. This commission will disregard, in my judgment, the system of roads which has been laid out in each state. These systems have been partly built and contracts have been let for other portions. To cut down this system and destroy it after we have spent five years and millions of dollars in building it up would be next to a crime."

"The Phipps-Dowell bill for which we are fighting provides for farm-to-market highways and the Minnesota plan adopted under Good Roads Amendment No. 1 fits it to a nicety. Our plan, as the people of the state know, transfers to the state the big burden of improving and maintaining the arterial highways and sets aside motor vehicle tax revenues and federal aid for that purpose, leaving the counties larger amounts of current funds with which to build up the farmer roads."

Asserting that the existing federal aid law is operating satisfactorily, Commissioner Babcock, expressed regret that an attempt is being made to disrupt plans and necessitate new beginnings on federal aid projects. He foresaw danger that proposals for a federal commission and interstate tourist highways may result in a great reaction among the farmers who now appreciate the importance of the good roads movement.

Commissioner Babcock will confer with officials of the bureau of public roads in Washington and with Minnesota members of congress, virtually all of whom are giving active support to the farm-to-market road legislation, and will have a special conference Tuesday with Senator Frank B. Kellogg. He expects to return to St. Paul about August 15.

HOG PRICES MAKE QUICK RECOVERY

Much of Last Week's Late Loss Regained—Light Runs Help Cattle.

(By U. S. Bureau of Markets & Crop Estimates & Minn. Dep't. of Agriculture.)

Monday's Closing

Cattle 5,500. Market closing steady to 25c higher. Calves 1,000. Market steady, packer tops $7.50. Hogs 4,800. Market unevenly 25 to 75c higher, top $10.85. Sheep 1,600. Market steady. Montana wethers $6.00, native lambs $9.00.

South St. Paul Minn., Aug. 8, 1921: Influences for betterment in the cattle market at the week's opening included generally light receipts especially at Chicago, a higher market at that point, and a continued good demand for stockers and feeders. Better grades of killing steers and she stock ruled strong to 25c higher, with steers showing most gain. Best steers here were fifty-six head of Dakota rangers showing a little grain feeding, that averaged about 1,300 pounds and sold to packers at $8.35. Bulk of the steer sales ranged from $5.75 to $7.50. Packers were bearish on in-between grades of cows and heifers selling from $3.50 to $5.00, and such kinds held only steady to strong, but better grades showed strong to higher spots. Bulk of sales $3.50 to $5.00, with a few good cows up to $6.00 and a few heifers at $6.50 to $7.00. Canners and cutters steady at $2.00 to $3.25. Bulls were slow, about steady at $3.25 to $4.25 for bulk of bolognas. Veals were unchanged, packer tops $7.50. Stockers and feeders mostly 25c higher, spots more, with quite a few stockers up to $5.00 and a fair showing of feeders up to $6.00. Best feeders here today and for some time were 26 very good fleshy steers averaging about 1,060 pounds that went to outsiders at $7.25.

Hogs made up a good share of last week's late losses today when uneven advances of 25 to 75c were scored. Range $8.00 to $10.85, bulk $8.25 to $10.50. A few choice pigs $10.85. Choice 126-pound Montana wethers $6.00, choice native lambs $9.00, best light ewes $4.00 to $4.50.

HE BELIEVES IT SAVED HIS LIFE

Pinard Would Have Given Anything He Possessed for the Relief Tanlac Brot Him.

"I don't believe there is anything that will put a man who is down and out on his feet as quick as Tanlac will," said E. P. Pinard, of 1024 Minnesota avenue, Duluth, Minn., in relating his experience with the medicine.

"For a good many years I had such a bad case of stomach trouble, and was in such fear and dread my food wouldn't agree with me and I couldn't enjoy a meal. I suffered so from indigestion and bloating, and had such terrible pains up through my chest that many times I would have given anything I possessed for relief. Why, if I hadn't gotten hold of Tanlac I believe I would have been a goner altogether by now.

"Tanlac just keeps me going, for it has not only fixed up my stomach but it has given me a good appetite also. I keep Tanlac on hand all the time, and whenever I feel myself slipping it doesn't take the medicine long to straighten me out again. It keeps up my strength and weight, and I'm now feeling better and looking better than I have in a long time. Tanlac is the only medicine that ever gave me relief, and I am certainly lucky to have run across it, for it saves me all the suffering and misery I had endured before I got hold of it."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Obituary

Mrs. Ross Trickle.

Mrs. Ross Trickle died at her home on Duluth avenue at 6:30 Monday morning, from pleurisy, after an illness which extended over six weeks. She leaves to mourn her demise a husband, three children, a father, three brothers and five sisters. She was the daughter of John T. Bundy of this city.

Hilda Lovida Swanson.

Hilda Lovida Swanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Swanson, was born in Marshall county, Minn., on the 23rd day of March, 1886. Here she grew to womanhood and spent most of her time at home assisting with the housework on the farm, being very loyal to her parents and home. She was confirmed in the First Evangelical Swedish Lutheran church in Thief River Falls, on the 11th day of September, 1904 and has been a member and faithful worker ever since.

After a two week's illness she died at the Swedish Lutheran hospital at Warren, on the 2nd day of August, 1921.

She was of a kind and loving disposition, always willing to give a helping hand wherever it was needed and her death came as a shock not only to the family but to the entire community as well. It is a loss that can never be replaced, but we only hope that we can so direct our lives that we will again meet her face to face in the Great Beyond.

When from life's strife, toil and care
Thou calls us to Thy rest,
We will not ask wherefore, O Lord,
But trust Thy way as best.

The funeral was conducted from the Swedish Lutheran church, Friday afternoon, Rev. Albin A. Larson officiating. Interment was made in the Greenwood cemetery. The deceased is mourned by her aged parents, five sisters and five brothers: Mrs. H. C. Sorenson, of Balfour, N. D.; Mrs. Herman H. Beckman of DesMoines, Ia.; Mrs. T. S. Brokke, Mrs. Augusta Anderson, Sarah, Victor, Albert, Oscar, Will and Edwin of this city and a host of other relatives and friends. —Contributed.

THE WINNER AGAIN.

Marketing conditions are far from satisfactory to the ordinary farmer these days. Prices for his produce, particularly grain, have taken a decided slump from their position of a year ago. In an average year the wheat price would not appear so bad, but in this section many farmers were forced to buy seed at a high price, the labor cost has been above the average all through the growing season and everything that he has had to buy in the way of machinery has been far above normal. Combined with all these disadvantages is the fact that unfavorable weather conditions cut the yield to a point considerably below normal. Had the price of his commodity held where it was a year ago he would not have any more than broke even. As it is he is decidedly up against a hard proposition.

Dairy product prices are still holding up well and with the winter season coming on there is not much likelihood of a drop. The man with the milk herd is fortunate in more respects than one, particularly in this section. He is not hit by the general decline and besides secured an excellent fodder crop for the winter. He faces no serious falling off in the size of his cream check and need not worry over the feed problem during the time that his cattle must be housed. While as a general thing his position is the most secure of all our husbandmen, this year he is decidedly the winner.

The situation again shows the need for more dairy cows on the farm. The man who depends on grain or other field crops is liable to disappointment even under the most favorable circumstances while there is very small likelihood of the stock owner ever getting caught. This fact is coming to be generally recognized and our farmers are turning to cattle more and more every year. Conditions such as those confronting our farm population at this time will have the effect of boosting this industry and will serve to correspondingly depress those who still cling to the old method.

The dairy cow is the salvation of this section. Year in and year out she will prove the dependable standby for the man who pins his faith to her.

OBSERVATIONS

(Bill Noonan in Baudette Region.)

Heaven must be just a little more heavenly with Caruso's wonderful voice added to the choir up there.

The best way to escape the hot weather is not to fuss. Keep cool.

Spats are coming in style again, says a city daily. They always have been in style in married circles.

"Drink only when you are thirsty," says a doctor. We try to, but can't always connect.

Cheer up, the clover crop is just around the corner, and Old Man Prosperity is wending his way hither.

The Baudette fair is offering a prize for mules, and almost any married woman thinks that her husband could win it.

Perhaps someone poured a bottle of home brew into that Williams water tank, which exploded Wednesday.

Baudette has many poison ivy victims, and, in a manner of speaking, they might be said to have joined the smart set.

Another expedition is being headed for the interior of Africa, but we hope not for the interior of the Africans.

In the opinion of a lot of lads a good doctor is one who is good for a pint prescription.

Prohibition is here, but we still notice the bloom of youth on many a lad's nose.

"Women at city beaches dress for camera instead of water," says an exchange. There is just a bare possibility of that.

The coming disarmament conference ought to be successful. Everybody will be peaceable until the next war.

The man who clears an acre of land and lets it grow to weeds is converting nothing into something worse, but a lot of farmers near Baudette don't seem to realize it.

This may surprise you. Tom Gibbons, the prize fighter, who visited Baudette this week, puts in most of his spare time reading high brow literature.

On the other hand Jack Dempsey has never exercised his right to vote. But he has exercised his right to jaw as George Carpentier can testify.

Some holdup artists are engaged in robbing banks—others in running hotels, says the Olivia Times editor, who evidently has been traveling.

Another doctor has discovered a cure for cancer. Now if he will discover a remedy to stop a lad's checks from turning sour on the bank's digestion everything will be hunky-dory.

Modern bathing costumes are awfully simple, says an exchange. Yes, and some of them are simply awful.

Exchange says that husbands and wives should spend their vacations at different places. That's killing two bank rolls with one suggestion.

What of the Country Press?

(Minneapolis Journal.)

In Minnesota farming conditions are not ideal; the cities are working through a business depression; industry feels hampered; the livestock market is off; and so on.

But who knows, or cares, about the situation of the country press? Very few, we should say. Yet the prosperity and happiness of Minnesota will perhaps be measured as much by its country press as by any other factor.

It is well, therefore, to realize the conditions under which the country press of Minnesota labors. It is only by touring the State that one can learn the full facts. Small town editors are so busy enlisting sympathy for the other fellow, that they have little time to arouse interest in themselves. It would seem that every side is being reported but that of the country press. The editors are not skilled in tooting their own horns.

This, after all, is but natural. Most editors in rural Minnesota have their hearts in their work. They are the chief bulwarks of loyalty and progressivism in their districts. They are so interested in making their communities better places to live in, that they have little thought for self. In towns with a population of barely three hundred, you will find the country editor living on the most meager of incomes, but mingling with his flock, who may support his stand half-heartedly, with only smiles and good cheer. And no matter what happens, the chronicle of the town's events receives its ink baptism regularly every week.

Minnesota should be thankful for its country newspapers. They are pioneers blazing the trail through the forest and across the prairie for better communities, more progressive farms and keener citizens.

Roseau Neighbors.

(Minneapolis Journal)

The other day a little weekly in Roseau, Minn., published a story on its front page about the burning of the Emil Morenson home. Judging from the account, there was nothing sensational about the fire or anything differentiating it from the usual fire. Nevertheless, buried beneath the main incidents of the fire was a striking fact.

In a paragraph of a few lines the item went on to say that, Mr. Morenson not being in a position to stand the loss, his neighbors had dropped their own work, purchased materials and at the end of four days had erected a new home for the Morenson family.

In the city such a story would be a "find" for any newspaper. From the matter-of-course way in which it was treated in Roseau, one would gather that the practice of the Golden Rule is not unusual in that town. All of which reflects a wholesome spirit most cheering to read about. Also, it points the fact that the pioneers of Northern Minnesota are building a sure foundation for the happiness and prosperity of their section.

Lots of Weeds.

(Warren Register)

The writer took a run out into the country one day last week a distance of some twenty miles and noted at many points along his route a condition that should not exist. That was the prevalence of noxious weeds, particularly sow thistles, along the roadside, both outside the ditches and on the sides of the grades. In most cases it would have been a comparatively small job to cut down these weeds with a mower. In a few places it would be necessary to use a scythe for the purpose, but even then the time and cost involved would be really trifling. In some of the localities where the roads were so infested with foul weeds, the adjoining fields were comparatively free from them. Failure to cut the weeds on the road is not going to help any to make or keep those fields free from weeds.

A County Fair Booster.

(Grygla Eagle.)

Nearly everyone and their friends from this part of the country are attending the Pennington county fair this week. Very little attention is paid to horse racing and more to products and works of art, which is certainly wonderful. Anyone who tries to deny the fact that this is a producing country would find their mistake in the vegetable hall.

They're Good Hosts.

(Red Lake Falls Gazette.)

Thief River Falls' Commercial club is establishing an enviable reputation as an entertainer and the reputation certainly is well merited. Monday of last week the club entertained the Chippewa Trail at a fine dinner, and on Thursday the club was host to the Red River Valley Development tourists at a dinner. No matter what the occasion whenever a party or delegation or tour or convention visits Thief River Falls the Commercial club rises to the occasion and "does things up right." It makes the visitor feel at home and it is mighty good advertising, too. The Thief River Falls club is one of our sister city's biggest assets and it has set an example that many other clubs in Northwestern Minnesota would do well to emulate.

GETTING THEM READY FOR RACES

Every farrier in this part of the country is wearing a smile like this these days. With the racing season on, all kinds of work must be done to keep horses in shape. Horse racing will feature the big Minnesota State Fair, Twin Cities, Sept. 3 to 10.

Good Rule.

Commissioner Babcock has laid down a rule which cannot be controverted—that the strength of all roads built be in proportion to the amount of travel upon them. To pave a road that is little traveled, when a graveled highway will serve the purpose equally well, would be as great a waste of money as to build a graveled road when the traffic is more than it will stand. The expenditure of money, on that basis, will be in proportion to the services afforded by the roads and those who travel will obtain the greatest amount of service for their money.—Olivia Times.

Farm Roads a Necessity.

The necessity of keeping country roads in good condition is shown by a report recently compiled by the bureau of markets and crop estimates, United States department of agriculture, detailing the extent to which they are used in hauling farm products to market. According to the report which shows the tonnage of eleven products hauled on country roads, giving the yearly average for the period from 1915 to 1919, there were twenty-seven tons of these eleven crops hauled to every 100 acres of land. The average tonnage of the eleven crops hauled on country roads each year for the period mentioned amounted to 86,660,000 tons. The eleven crops referred to in the report are corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, flax seed, rice, cotton, including seed, tobacco, potatoes and cultivated hay.—Mankato Free Press.

The Harvest Season.

The harvest season means a lot to the country people. It brings to the farmer and the business man something of the feeing which the ship owner has when his vessel gets back to port after a stormy voyage.

The farmer begins his adventure in the spring. He invests a heavy sum in preparation of the ground, in seeds and fertilizers, and keeps spending all through the season, as he hires labor and buys equipment. He must keep spending a long time before his returns come in.

He is constantly running the risk of adverse chances. Protracted droughts may ruin his crop. Some new insect pest or unknown disease may spoil all his cherished plans. He must be on the watch for the slightest indications of weather and plant growth, and be ready to meet nature's emergencies as they arise. An error of judgment for a few days may take all the profit out of his season's work.

Every day he runs the gauntlet of fresh perils. When finally he brings the crop safely past all these dangers, it is difficult to describe his feeling of elation. The farmer is naturally a reticent fellow, and he does not holler very much. But he feels some good inside. And the good and faithful wife, who has given her toilsome labor and shrewd advice at every turn, feels even better.

The business man in the country center, whose success is so intimately related to the prosperity of the growing crops of his district, is just as happy. No wonder that in many places they are getting up rural festivals to celebrate harvest. The farmer feels more in celebrating mood than he does on any July Fourth. Bring on your fire crackers, now, by heck, and he might let a few of 'em off!

Leaves on Buying Trip.

H. O. Loken of Loken Brothers' Department store, left last Sunday on a tour of the eastern markets to select new goods for the fall and winter season. A representative of the Loken store makes these trips to Chicago, New York and other leading markets several times each year to make personal selection of goods for the store, it being found that this is the most satisfactory way of securing a stock of goods particularly desirable for the local trade. Buying conditions are now said to be better than for a long time and Mr. Loken promises to bring back with him some very desirable bargains. Announcements concerning the new goods will appear in the columns of The Times in due season.

American Legion Corner

"With bowed heads we pause amid our usual avocations of life in silent tribute to our beloved dead, realizing the while that only through death may we, the living of our beloved country, be reborn to peace, democracy and freedom," said Dr. A. A. Van Dyke, as the bodies of seventy-nine comrades went past him in the St. Paul Union Depot the morning after his election as State Commander. The bodies were consigned to points throughout the Great Northwest. A blood-red Legion poppy was placed on every casket.

Among the distinguished visitors at the Legion National Convention in Kansas City this fall will be Stubby, hero of Seichprey, who recently was awarded a gold medal for bravery and faithfulness. The decoration was presented by General Pershing. Stubby has been invited to attend the convention as a guest of honor. He is a Boston bull terrier, wounded in the St. Mihiel Drive.

"The American Legion is one of the bulwarks of the world," said Marshal Foch of France in a recent interview with an American newspaper correspondent. Referring to the Paris post of the American Legion, the marshal said, "It is the American heart of France."

Convention Sidelights.

Approximately 1800 delegates attended the conventions of the American Legion and its Auxiliary in Winona, August 1, 2, 3, 1921. They came by boat, auto, airplane, on foot and by "box car special." And they brought with them an unbounded enthusiasm and an unlimited supply of pep, good nature, and determination to work as well as play while at the convention. Here are a few of the sidelights:

"The Flag is used for decorating and becomes common, and men stand with their hats on as if it were some rag passing down the street. When the flag goes by, take off your hat and stand at respectful attention, for it is the spirit of Washington, of Lincoln, of Roosevelt, of the heroes of Bunker Hill, of Gettysburg, of Santiago, of our own comrades who fell on the battlefields of France, that is passing by," declared F. O. Norton, of Des Moines, representing the National Americanization Commission.

"Minnesota Legionaires and the laboring man have no quarrel," said State Commander Vernon in his convention address, "Most Legionaires are men who toil. They know the Legion is for a better America and that labor is just as loyal and anxious to carry out this purpose as any other portion of the population." Later, the convention expressed its sympathy for, and desire to co-operate with labor on all matters for the public good.

"The women of the American Legion Auxiliary hold a sacred trust for coming generations," declared President Helen Hughes Hielscher. "We are laying the foundations for an organization which is destined to be world-reaching in its influence. We are the most democratic organization in existence, save and except the American Legion, of which we are proud to call ourselves Auxiliary. Our part is not to be told in a few words, but must be worked out in loyalty and toil and endurance."

"It is the duty and the object of the Legion to help every ex-service man who needs help," announced Commander Vernon in his convention address, adding, "Service is the watchword of the Legion and that service is for our country and for the men who served the colors of our country when the colors needed them. We must investigate the complaint of every service man, no matter how trivial. It is our duty to see that every buddy receives a square deal."

At the State Executive Committee meeting preceding the convention, the reports of Commander Vernon and those of two special investigating committees were considered, dealing with the newspaper controversy at Lamberton, Minn. The executive committee directed Department H q, to inform all Minnesota Legion posts that the Lamberton newspaper situation is a "personal, business and political controversy outside the province of the American Legion, no post of which should concern itself with the matter."

"If the fat boys of the East could see this convention they wouldn't try to stave off the bonus any longer," said State Commander Vernon when the delegates had cheered themselves hoarse in applauding Mayor Leach of Minneapolis, who declared that he was at the convention, and would be at every other Legion convention "to fight for the bonus until we get it."

There were mayors from every corner of the state attending the convention, as well as state and county officials, including Mayors Emple of Virginia, Quinn of Faribault, Mayor Maertz of New Prague, the Mayor of Rochester, Lt. Governor Louis Collins, Frank Cullen, secretary to Mayor Leach, and many others. The fighting "151st F. A." was well represented—by its colonel, George Leach, by its Chaplain, Father William Harrington, by one of its corporals, Louie Collins, and one of its sergeants, "Dad" Whitmore.

One of the first delegates met by Commander Vernon was Miss Ida E. Twedten of Crookston, who nursed him at Fort Snelling during the war when he broke his leg while in training there. She, with two Minneapolis and one Robbinsdale women delegates, flew by airplane from the Twin City to the convention, representing Robbinsdale, Crookston and Minneapolis posts.

"The Flag of our country shall not be used to drape the belt of any Jack Dempsey or be thrown over the saddle of a broncho to be ridden on by a cowpuncher," read part of the report of the committee on American Citizenship, before the American Legion Auxiliary convention. The report was enthusiastically received, especially the phrase above quoted.

The "Hook-Em-Cow" delegation from South St. Paul rode down via "Box Car Special," bringing with them the life-size image of a red-haired cow bearing the label "South St. Paul Hook-Em-Cow Legion delegation." Underneath were the words, "This is no bull." The South St. Paul boys gave a good account of themselves both in the fun-making and the more serious work of the convention.

The new Legion state officers are: Commander A. A. Van Dyke, St. Paul; Vice Commander, J. A. Gates of Kenyon; Vice Commander, H. E. Lamb of Worthington; Vice Commander Amy Robbins Ware of Robbinsdale; National Executive Committeeman, R. A. Rossberg, Crookston; Historian, Samuel Iverson of St. Paul and Chaplain Ezra Clemans of Owatonna. The new State Treasurer will be named by the Executive Committee and the Department Adjutant will be selected by the State Commander.

Shot by Unknown Assailant.

While walking along the Soo tracks, west of the Mississippi bridge late Friday night, Otto Voss, son of George Voss of 719 Twelfth street, was shot in the left shoulder above the heart by some unknown assailant. According to Voss, he had started for Nymore when he was shot by an unseen party. After crawling to the Union station, Voss made his way to an auto livery station and was taken to his home in a car. Upon arriving home he did not inform his family of his wound until it was discovered by his sister. A physician was summoned and the police department informed, but the police were unable to find any clue or motive for the shooting.—Bemidji Sentinel.

Pool Clover Seed.

Approximately 800,000 pounds of sweet clover seed were pooled by 12 farmers of Marshall county for sale to farmers of southern states through the local Farm Bureau at a meeting held in the Farm Bureau office last evening. The seed will be cleaned and scarified in Warren and then shipped in carload lots directly to the county Farm Bureau of the southern states to be distributed to the farmers. There is a great demand for sweet clover seed down south where the sweet clover is used for various purposes, such as pasturing and plowing under for enriching depleted soils, processes which do not produce for the farmers a seeded crop. Since it is necessary for the southern farmers to buy seed from another locality they prefer the northern grown seed which shows a vigor and vitality not found in southern grown seed. A. R. Rubinow, sales manager for the Sweet Clover Growers' exchange in Grand Forks, was present at the meeting and explained the system whereby the farmers of Marshall county may get together in disposing of their sweet clover seed in a way that eliminates the old peddling process of selling their seed as formerly employed.—Warren Sheaf.

Tractors on Street Work.

Four giant Holt caterpillar tractors and graders are at the present time working on the city streets and roads in this vicinity. The State Highway Department received fifty-six of these ten-ton Holts with service trucks and other equipment from the United States government following the armistice, and the department is using the entire fleet this summer for grading and general road work. Under favorable conditions the tractors can grade more than three miles of road a day and the difference in expense between tractor graded roads and those graded by large crews of men and horses will probably eventually result in a victory for the machines. The fleet has a crew of only twelve men and in addition to the tractors and graders carries a service truck and cook car. The crew started grading in Winona early in June, working their way through Park Rapids and Itasca park. After several weeks work in this part of the state the fleet will move on to International Falls. The department intends to gravel the sandy roads in this vicinity following the grading and give this territory roads that will compare favorably with the best in the country.—Bemidji Sentinel.

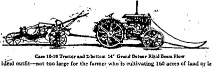
The Right Power Plowing Combinations

WHEN you buy a tractor and plow not especially designed for use together, your chances for satisfactory service from the outfit may not be as good as if you bought a combination built and sold for service as a plowing unit. For one thing, the plow hitch or drawbar adjustment of the tractor may not be sufficiently flexible to insure a straight line of draft from the point of greatest resistance. For another thing, in the event that replacements or special adjustments are needed, if the outfit is not designed and sold as a co-ordinating unit, you have to deal with two different companies instead of just one.

You are relieved of such difficulties and annoyance when you invest in a Case Kerosene Tractor and Grand Detour Power Plow. These machines are designed for use together. The same high standards of workmanship and high quality materials are employed in building both tractors and plows. We recommend the following outfits as the most logical plowing combinations:



Case 10-18 Tractor and 2-bottom 14" Grand Detour Rigid Beam Plow
An ideal outfit—not too large for the farmer who is cultivating 160 acres of land or less.

Case 15-27 Tractor and 3-bottom 14" Grand Detour Rigid Beam Plow
For the farmer who is cultivating from 200 to 300 acres or more this outfit will prove the most satisfactory.

Case 22-40 Tractor and 4-bottom 14" Grand Detour Rigid Beam Plow
This outfit is very popular among Dakota and western Minnesota farmers who raise grain on a big scale. In well-worked ground or light soil the 22-40 tractor will pull five plows without over-loading the engine.

Write for catalog descriptive of these up-to-date Outfits and other power farming machinery, including Grand Detour Disk Harrows, also Case Steel-built, Galvanized Threshers, Silo Fillers and Hay Balers.

You Just Try NR For That Indigestion

Get your organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination working in harmony and watch your trouble disappear. NR does it or money back.

One Day's Test Proves NR Best

The stomach only partly digests the food we eat. The process is finished in the intestines where the food is mixed with bile from the liver.

It must be plain to any sensible person who realizes this, that the stomach, liver and bowels must work in harmony if digestive troubles are to be avoided or overcome.

This fact also explains why sufferers from indigestion also suffer more or less from headaches, biliousness and constipation.

If you are one of the many unfortunate persons who cannot eat without suffering afterward, if you are constipated, have bilious spells, headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, variable appetite, are nervous, losing energy and feel your health slipping away, take this advice and get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) right today and start taking it. Give it a trial for a week or two and just see how much better you feel. See how quickly your sluggish bowels will become as regular as clock work, how your coated tongue clears up and your good, old-time appetite returns. See how splendidly your food will digest and how your energy, "pep" and "ginger" revive. Just try it.

You take no risk whatever for Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is only 25c a box, enough to last twenty-five days, and it must help and benefit you to your entire satisfaction, or money returned.

Five million boxes are used every year,—one million NR Tablets are taken by ailing people every day—that's the best proof of its merits. Nature's Remedy is the best and safest thing you can take for biliousness, constipation, indigestion and similar complaints. It is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

BABCOCK MAKES GREAT RECORDS FOR ROAD WORK

Facts and Figures Show Rapid Progress on New Highway Development Program.

Excellent Results Obtained in All Parts of State Under Amendment No. 1.

Large Army of Employes Now Busy on Maintenance and New Construction Work.

Minnesota highway developments under the Babcock Plan are spreading benefits to every section of the state, according to the showing in a bulletin issued this week by the state highway department which reviews progress during the first 90-day period under the new highway laws.

The bulletin presents facts and figures from official records and while no comment is made, the key-lines indicate the achievements of that short period:

6,197 Miles Taken Over.

State designates temporarily about 90 per cent of the 7,000-mile trunk system for maintenance.

1,100 Patrolmen Employed.

Big army of road menders covers entire system to smooth surfaces and insure early benefits to every locality.

20 Big Fleets Assisting.

Heavy maintenance crews, equipped with 150 big trucks and 50 heavy tractors, rebuilt war machines, sent out to shape and build up poor stretches.

$8,000,000 Contracts Let.

About 75 new construction projects in as many scattered districts placed under contract for 1921 completion at prices from 15 to 50 per cent less than counties paid last year.

3,000 Employees Recruited.

Field and office forces increased from small nucleus to a working organization numbering nearly 3,000, exclusive of contractors crews, but administration expense is being kept under 7 per cent.

Fights For Federal Aid.

Seeking to include $2,225,000 more grading and graveling and $500,000 more paving in 1921 construction lists, Commissioner goes to Washington to continue fight for farm-to-market road funds.

"The figures speak for themselves," said Commissioner Babcock, "and the progress is due to the loyal and untiring efforts of members of this department. While the 7,000-mile trunk system cannot be permanently improved in a year, much less in 90 days, a good, business-like start has been made with fairness to every section. It is hoped that maintenance results will meet expectations and that funds will be forthcoming to further speed the movement to pull Minnesota out of the mud."

Handicapped at Start.

Advancement of the new good roads program in Minnesota, as indicated, has been in spite of the handicap of beginning only when the construction season was fairly on and the fact that a vast amount of preliminary and other organization work was necessary.

Commissioner Babcock was reappointed under the new laws shortly after April 25 when they took effect. Up to that time there was neither authority nor funds for any preparatory work—the start was with a clean slate.

The program well launched now, however, the commissioner expects that the highway administration will soon reach high efficiency and reports show that benefits already are spreading rapidly.

Aim for Early Results.

To get practical results in the shortest time this season and improve showings for each year in the future, is one of the important policies adopted by the highway department, as announced in the beginning by Commissioner Babcock.

A plan for effective maintenance work on the entire trunk system, accordingly, was worked out and put into operation. Then steps were taken to distribute new construction by improving first the poor stretches on long mileages of trunk routes in good condition otherwise.

Temporary designations were made of trunk routes enumerated in Good Roads Amendment No. 1 and then improvement plans were applied.

Speed Features Work.

Commissioner Babcock made a fast-schedule automobile tour of the trunk system with John H. Mullen, assistant commissioner and chief highway engineer, who has through long experience gained comprehensive, expert knowledge of Minnesota road conditions and needs.

Location and improvement designations were wired to headquarters in St. Paul. Trunk route sections were taken over and patrolmen hired to put and keep them smooth. Survey parties were rushed out to gather data on which to base plans for new construction.

By grouping contract projects in three lists of $1,000,000 each, Commissioner Babcock attracted a big field of bidders and secured low figures. Proposals on grading and gravel surfacing jobs were about 10 per cent and paving 15 per cent under those counties paid last year.

Special Work Advanced.

Trunk highway projects involving expenditures this year of nearly $5,000,000 of re-imbursement bonds by various counties also claimed the attention of Commissioner Babcock and his aids who assisted with plans and contract lettings.

The big job of marking trunk routes to guide tourists and other users was started. Yellow stars bearing the trunk numbers and turn arrows are now going up in every district.

Surveys and investigations of routes in doubt or controversy also were made, hearings were given and much correspondence handled, and other miscellaneous work disposed of.

New Records in Making.

Three months of strenuous work having fairly started the 1921 program, Commissioner Babcock left for Washington to join in the fight for a federal aid appropriation without delay to enable Minnesota to carry out the full plan.

In any event, Minnesota will break all highway improvements records this year with total funds aggregating $26,000,000 at its disposal. The available moneys will include nearly $6,000,000 of automobile revenue, $5,000,000 of county reimbursement bond money and $2,840,000 of federal aid, it is expected, for use on trunk routes, also $10,850,000 of local taxes and $1,650,000 of state aid, or nearly $12,500,000 at the disposal of county authorities for betterments on the feeder or local roads.

Water Tank Explodes.

The residents of Williams were awakened shortly after six o'clock Wednesday morning by a thundering noise and for a few minutes they were afraid that an earthquake had arrived in their midst. Investigation showed, however, that the big water tank of the C. N. R. had collapsed, flooding the surrounding scenery with thousands of gallons of water and scattering timbers and boards in all directions. Luckly nobody was close to the big tank at the time of the explosion, or whatever it might be called, and nobody was injured. The morning train had gone through about twenty minutes before, and a serious accident might have resulted had the tank exploded at the time, as the timbers were hurled a distance of a hundred feet. The cause of the accident is unknown. The tank was repaired last fall and appeared in excellent order.—Baudette Region.

Mrs. Hans Olson and daughter Mable, left yesterday afternoon on a two week's visit with relatives at Montevideo.

THREE JUDGES WILL GIVE SCHOLARSHIP

Announce Names of Men Who Will Read Essays Written in Good Roads Contest.

Three distinguished judges, each widely known in his individual field, will constitute a national committee to award the four years university scholarship offered for the best essay written on the subject "Good Roads and Highway Transport" in a national contest among high school pupils conducted under the auspices of the Highway and Highway Transport Education committee which has headquarters at Washington, D. C.

According to announcement of the committee, the judges will be Dean A. N. Johnson, Department of Engineering, University of Maryland, chairman; Harford Powell, Jr., editor of Collier's Weekly, and C. H. Huston, Assistant Secretary of the Department of Commerce and President of the Lee Highway association.

Upon the decision of these judges rests the hopes and ambitions of tens of thousands of high school boys and girls from every state in the union. During the last six weeks offices of high school principals and city and state superintendents of schools have been deluged with essays and manuscripts. These now are being sifted and sorted, the best from each state being chosen by a process of elimination. It is these essays that will be presented to the national judges, together with the best essay submitted from the District of Columbia, Porto Rico and Alaska respectively.

The scholarship is the gift of H. S. Firestone of Akron, Ohio, a member of the committee, offered at the request of his associates on the committee. The contest represents the first renewal of the Firestone scholarship, the first having been won by Miss Katherine Butterfield, of Weiser, Idaho, who attended school last year under its provisions. It is believed a similar contest will be held next year, the committee being urged by eminent educational authorities to repeat a contest that enlists the activities and sympathies of pupils and teachers alike. The 1922 contest will be announced in February, according to present plans, and closed prior to commencement exercises in the schools.

Arrangements are being made by the highway committee to have each of the fifty-one essays typed uniformly and given a serial number for the consideration of the judges. In that manner the judges will be unaware of the sex of the writer, or the section of the country from which the essay comes. They will, therefore, be swayed by no motives except the inherent qualities of the manuscripts themselves.

After the judges have eliminated all but the best of the fifty-one they will read, a meeting will be called at Washington, when they will again go carefully over the essays and make their final decision. It is believed the result will be known in time for the successful contestant to enter college the coming school year, if the winner is a senior student. In the event the national prize is given any pupil other than a senior in high school, the award of the scholarship will be deferred until the winner is ready to take advantage of it. The scholarship has a value of not less than $4,000.

LOWER COAL PRICE NOT VERY LIKELY

Alleged Buyers' Strike Said to Be Paralyzing Coal Trade in Minnesota.

Information that the "buyers' strike" seriously has paralyzed the coal business in Minnesota has been received by the state department of agriculture, which this week began actively questioning wholesale and retail coal dealers on the fuel situation.

J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner, said the "buyers' strike" cannot bring about reduced prices this season.

"There is no concerted action about the 'buyers' strike'" Mr. Hay said, "but the public seems to be waiting for lower prices. Reports from retail dealers show us in many cases practically no coal is moving out of their yards, though the customers' bins are empty.

"If the buyers are waiting for lower prices there is nothing to be gained by such tactics. Any rate reduction that may come will not affect this year's supply. The present wage scale for miners is fixed until April 1, 1921. The only thing accomplished by the failure to buy is to block the channels of distribution."

Several large concerns are being asked to make more complete statements than they had prepared for the hearing last week.

Other states are displaying interest in the Minnesota coal inquiry. A letter from the South Dakota department of agriculture expressed a desire to co-operate and said a meeting of their retail coal men would take place in a few days. Wisconsin is conducting a similar investigation and North Dakota is inquiring into conditions with the idea of supplying lignite to meet deficiencies in the shipment of coal by the lake.

Coal prices in Minnesota give no indications of going lower and there is little danger of a coal shortage in the state according to testimony given by A. H. Snyder, secretary of a coal company, at the investigation being conducted by N. J. Holmberg, state agricultural commissioner, at the request of Governor Preus.

Coal prices are governed almost wholly, Mr. Snyder said, by freight rates and as dealers look for no possible reduction in transportation costs from the mines to their yards there can be no appreciable difference in the prices of today and next winter.

Other witnesses representing the coal dealers in the twin cities are to appear before the commission this week.

The Art of Industry

A PROMINENT editorial writer says that the records of Caruso's wonderful voice will be enjoyed for a thousand years, and that this is close to immortality.

This wonderful heritage for posterity is made possible by the art of industry.

But the art of industry has accomplished other things as well.

Sixty years ago men found oil in quantities, from which they produced light.

The Standard Oil Company took that oil and, in addition to light, produced from it, power, and lubricants for the parts which transmit the power—not to mention hundreds of other useful products.

Fifty years ago people were delighted with the oil which gave them abundant light; but none could foresee the development which this "Rock Oil" would make possible.

It was the vision and courage of the men who founded the Standard Oil Company that made it possible for the automotive industry to come into being.

It is the ability of the men who manage the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) of today that has made it possible for the automobile to develop from the clumsy vehicle of twenty years ago to the smoothly-driven machine of today.

For the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) constantly anticipated demand and produced gasoline of such quality, and in such quantity, and distributed it in a manner so thorough, that the automotive manufacturer could produce in large enough quantities to keep his product within the range of the modest purse.

The art of industry is exemplified in the achievements of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), which will live for centuries and benefit posterity in a practical way, as the perpetuation of Caruso's voice will benefit in an aesthetic way.

VALUE SEEKERS WILL GATHER IN BARGAIN FEAST

Dollar Takes on Prewar When Exchanged for Goods Here Next Wednesday.

Third Regular Market Day Hailed With Delight By All Thrifty Shoppers.

Many Fine Features Offered to Attract Shoppers Who Wish To Save Money.

People in this section of the state who are interested in getting full value for their money when they go shopping, will hail with delight the announcement of another Market Day in Thief River Falls for next Wednesday, Aug. 24. This is the third event of the kind arranged by the Merchants' association of Thief River Falls for the summer and fall of 1921. The two previous market days proved successful beyond the hopes of the most optimistic and the selling event scheduled for next Wednesday—in the matter of unprecedented bargains in all lines of seasonable merchandise—bids fair to eclipse in all respects the two previous sale days.

Dollar Has Real Value.

To add variety to the proceedings, a number of the merchants are arranging "Dollar Day" specials for next Wednesday. A glance through the advertising sections of The Times this week should convince the most skeptical that the dollar has "come back"—in Thief River Falls at least. A dollar isn't much money these days, but the old silver cart wheel will have wonderful power when brought into play next Wednesday.

Each business establishment in the city is doing its share in cutting prices for next Wednesday and if real bargains appeal to the buying public, there should be a grand rush of bargain seekers on hand to take advantage of the unusual price reductions quoted.

The "Latch String" Feature.

One big feature has been provided at each market day, and next Wednesday is to be no exception to the rule. Instead of selling sugar, coffee or other staples at give-away prices, the merchants have evolved a plan by which visitors may secure a number of valuable articles, which are to be given away absolutely free.

Purchasers' certificates will be issued, one certificate with each 25 cent cash purchase and one with each payment of 25 cents on account. Twenty prizes are to be given away at the distribution, which will take place at 5:30 in the afternoon. Among the articles to be given away are listed a sewing machine, 100 pounds sugar, sack flour, box of soap, box soda crackers, five pounds coffee, box marshmallows, gallon maple syrup, case pork and beans, case corn, five pounds cheese, case syrup, five pounds tea and five merchandise certificates ranging in value from $1 to $5.

Merchants Co-operating.

The following merchants are co-operating in the prize distribution and purchasers' certificates may be obtained at their places of business all day Wednesday:

Lieberman Brothers, Chas. Lieberman, Simonson's Meat and Grocery, Mulry's Bazaar, Hermanson Hardware company, Larson Furniture company, The Kleanall, City Meat and Grocery, A. M. Langseth, Bottem Hardware company, Laird's Specialty Shop, Tessum company, Lambert's Drug Store, Jung's Bakery, Palace Clothing Store, Peoples' Co-operative company, E. O. Mogenson, Froseth's Shoe Store, Hall Brothers, Carl Christofferson & company, Loken Brothers, The Prichard company, Oen Mercantile company, The Supero company.

CREAMERY EXPERT TO HOLD MEETINGS

A. J. McGuire, organization manager for the Minnesota Co-operative Creamery association, has made out a schedule of meetings to be held in the state, with presidents and secretaries of each co-operative creamery. Other patrons or directors are also invited to attend. The schedule for Pennington county is as follows:

Thief River Falls Co-operative creamery, Thief River Falls, Aug. 26, day. President, Hans Anton, St. Hilaire; secretary, Peter Engelstad, Thief River Falls.

St. Hilaire Co-operative creamery, St. Hilaire, Aug. 26, evening. President, Olaf Larson, St. Hilaire; secretary, Fred Erdman, St. Hilaire.

Hazel Co-operative creamery, Hazel, Aug. 27, day. President, Anton Peterson, Hazel; secretary, O. J. Peterson, Hazel.

Goodridge Co-operative creamery, Goodridge, Aug. 27, evening. President, Stuart McLeod, Goodridge; secretary, Theo. Tandberg, Goodridge.

Mr. McGuire states that this will offer a splendid opportunity to give first-hand reliable information to a large number of people if efforts are made to have a good attendance of patrons at the meetings.

Pennington Roads Best.

C. W. Vorachek of the Citizens State bank returned last week from a motor trip which took him to Mahnomen, Fergus Falls, Ada and other points. Mr. Vorachek says that roads in Pennington county are better than in any of the other sections traversed with Red Lake county a close second. Crop conditions in Pennington also show up well when compared with those in neighboring counties, according to Mr. Vorachek.

Dr. Mellby to Return.

Friends of Dr. O. F. Mellby, who is at present doing post graduate work in the Chicago Eye and Ear hospital, have been advised that he expects to be back Sept. 1 to again take up his work with the Thief River Falls Clinic.

THEO. QUALE WINS IN ACTION STARTED TO RECOVER WAGE

City Must Pay For Year's Services as Attorney, Holds Judge Grindeland.

Judge Andrew Grindeland, in a decision rendered this week in the case of Theo. Quale against the City of Thief River Falls, awarded the plaintiff his claim in full, together with interest from the time the sum was due. The suit involved $600 claimed to be due for Mr. Quale's services as city attorney in 1919. In addition to this the plaintiff is allowed $32, representing expenses incurred on a trip to St. Paul, at which time Mr. Quale represented the city at a telephone hearing.

The suit grew out of a controversy between Mr. Quale and Dr. G. A. Penney, former mayor of Thief River Falls. Mr. Quale had been appointed city attorney and was acting in that capacity on Jan. 1, 1919, when he assumed the office of county attorney, to which office he had been elected at the previous election. The city council still retained Mr. Quale as its counsel, but when a warrant representing the first month's salary was presented to Mayor Penney for his signature, the latter refused to sign it and put up the claim that the office of city attorney automatically became vacant when Mr. Quale assumed the duties of county attorney. The city council, however, could not see matters in that light and continued to employ Mr. Quale as attorney. The latter went to court in an effort to force the mayor to sign the warrants, the case finally going to the supreme court, where it was dismissed for some technical reason without the merits of the case being considered.

A suit was then started in district court to recover salary alleged to be due, with the result that Mr. Quale was awarded $600 for his year's work, together with interest and traveling expenses, as above stated.

BOY BADLY BITTEN WHEN VICIOUS DOG POUNCES UPON HIM

Little Son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hoiden is Victim of Serious Attack.

The two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hoiden, 402 Duluth avenue north, was badly bitten about the face and head last Thursday evening, by a dog belonging to A. B. Remmem. The child was left on the walk in front of the Bredeson grocery store while the mother went into the store for a few moments. The dog came running between the buildings from the alley and pounced on the boy without warning, tearing several ugly gashes over the left eye and about the head.

Bystanders immediately came to the rescue and drove the dog away. The child was taken at once to a doctor and the wounds were given proper attention. Nothing serious is expected to result from the wounds, it being the opinion of physicians that the dog was not suffering from rabies at the time it bit the child. The animal was shot without delay and subjected to a thorough test for signs of hydrophobia, but none were found. The dog was a general favorite among children in the neighborhood and had never before been known to show ugliness towards anybody.

Elks to Hold Big Annual Picnic on Sunday, Aug. 28

Thief River Falls Elks are making preparations for their annual picnic, which will be held at Squaw Point on Sunday, Aug. 28. These outings are held every year and are looked forward to with much delight by lodge members and their families.

The picnic a week from Sunday will begin at 10:30 o'clock and will be a regular basket affair. All who attend are requested to bring sufficient in the way of eats for their own party and enough to take care of bachelors and visiting Elks who may come minus the necessary provisions. Coffee, ice cream and treats for the youngsters will be furnished.

The program for the day includes sports, games, boating and bathing. It will be a regular picnic in every sense of the term and everybody concerned will no doubt have a good time. Free transportation from the city to the picnic grounds will be furnished.

NEW APPEAL DELAYS PAVING START

One new development in the Thief River Falls paving controversy is taking place today. An appeal is being made to the supreme court by the plaintiffs in the Hamre case, and it is expected the evidence will be considered in conjunction with that submitted by the intervenor two weeks ago. The plaintiff first made application for retrial of the case in district court but this application was denied by Judge Grindeland.

While some advocates of paving are inclined to be discouraged over the turn events have taken, others contend that no serious delay will result. It is asserted by men in a position to know that unless the objectors make an effort to file their briefs and arguments without delay, the supreme court will render a decision in the intervenor's case, which it now has under consideration. In that event any further attempt of the plaintiff to get a hearing is likely to prove useless.

It is pointed out, however, that the supreme court wishes to consider all angles of the case and that therefore the decision will be delayed for a reasonable length of time to give the original plaintiffs an opportunity to be heard.

It is understood from good authority that the bonding company which contracted for the purchase of the city's certificates to cover the cost of paving is going ahead on the presumption that the money will be needed in a very short time. It is said the certificates have already been printed and other necessary arrangements made for carrying out the company's part of contract when called upon.

While the season is getting late, the contractors predict that a good share of the paving work can still be done this fall if they can begin operations soon. No time will be lost in getting to work the moment a solution of the legal tangle is forthcoming.

STAGE ALL SET FOR OPENING OF CITY'S SCHOOLS

Indications Point to Most Successful School Year—Large Enrollment Expected.

Work in Knox Building to Be Hampered Temporarily By Lack of Needed Room.

Teaching Staff Practically Secured and Organization Work Nearly Complete.

Vacation days will soon be over and Young America once more engaged in acquiring an education. The public schools of Thief River Falls will begin the new term on Tuesday, Sept. 6, when it is expected everything will be in readiness to start out "hittin' on all six." Supt. I. T. Simley, new head of the city's educational establishment, has been on the job for some weeks and appears to have the difficult phases of the organization work already accomplished.

Smaller Corps of Teachers.

Through a reorganization of several departments it has been found possible to reduce the teaching staff somewhat for this year. A total of 51 instructors will handle the work instead of the 56 employed during the past term. Economy has been the watchword with those having the schools in charge and expenses have been cut down wherever it has been possible to do so without impairing the work.

M. P. Rapacz, principal of the high school, has been here this week getting a line on his work and preparing for the opening of school. Upon the superintendent and principal fall the heaviest duties in advance of the opening of the term, it being up to these men to see that every wheel in the gigantic machine is ready to turn on the first day of school.

Advance Registration.

Tuesday and Wednesday this week were advance registration days for the members of the high school classes. A large number of prospective students presented themselves for registration on these days, it being estimated that about one-half of the total number to be enrolled have already gone through the formality of registration.

A meeting of all teachers will be held at the high school assembly rooms on Monday afternoon, Sept. 5, for the purpose of perfecting the organization of the teaching staff for the term.

Night School a Feature.

Among the new innovations planned by the superintendent is a night school. Should it be found that the schools can be of service to adults by giving certain night school courses, an effort will be made to arrange for it. Further announcement regarding this feature will be made later.

Mid-year promotions have been inaugurated. Thief River Falls has a large enough system to warrant this practice and there will be two divisions in each grade, approximately one-half year apart. These divisions are to be known as "B" and "A" respectively.

During the first half of the school year, kindergarten departments will be maintined in the Central building during the forenoon for all children residing on the west side. A church in the vicinity of the Knox school will likely be used for children on the side during the afternoon.

Half Day Sessions.

Until the new Knox building is ready, each grade in this building will attend school one-half day each day. Each half-day will be lengthened, however, the forenoon sessions lasting from 8 o'clock to 12 and the afternoon sessions from 1 o'clock until 5. To get in the required number of hours it may be necessary to hold school on Saturdays also.

This arrangement may prove somewhat inconvenient to some but it is the best that can be done under the circumstances.

ACCIDENT RESULTS FATALLY TO YOUTH

Harold, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Koepp, farmers residing near Middle River, died Saturday evening as the result of an accident which occurred on the Koepp farm that afternoon.

Young Koepp was working about a threshing machine and in helping to move a portable grain bin with a crow bar to a position where the grain spout could reach it, the bar with which he was working caught in a belt on the threshing machine. The bar was torn violently from his hands and one end of it struck him on the back of the head with such force as to fracture the skull. The lad regained consciousness for a brief period but all efforts to help him failed and death came about four hours after the accident occurred.

Harold was a very active and energetic youth, large for his age, and was taking a man's place on the farm. His sudden death is a severe blow to his parents, doubly so because of the fact that he was an only son.

TAXABLE VALUE FOR THIS YEAR IS MUCH LOWER

Taking Automobiles From Personal Property Tax Lists Makes Difference.

Moneys and Credits Throughout County Show Up Well Considering Conditions.

Total Valuation of Property in Pennington $324,894 Less Than Year Ago.

The total assessment of personal property in Pennington county for the year 1921, from which taxes of 1922 will be derived, is $324,894 less than for 1920, according to the figures compiled by County Auditor T. P. Anderson from the assessment sheets of the different village, town and city assessors, and ready to be forwarded to the Minnesota tax commission.

A meeting of this commission is to be held some time this month for the purpose of equalization. They may deduct from or add to this assessment as they see fit, but it is not considered likely that any material changes will be made.

Big Reduction Noted.

Most of the reduction in the assessed valuation of personal property in the county this year is chargeable to the absence of automobiles from the assessment lists. Automobiles now pay a special tax under the Babcock law and are exempt from all other forms of taxation.

Low prices of live stock and farm products are chargeable with part of the reduction in assessed valuation.

Moneys and Credits Decrease.

A considerable decrease also is noted in the moneys and credits listed in the county. The total for 1920 was $1,010,721, while the assessors this year could find only $932,625 divided among the people of the different subdivisions of the county. This is a difference of $78,096 and is a good showing considering the general conditions prevailing everywhere at the present time.

Black River, Highlanding, Hickory, Kratka, North, Polk Centre, River Falls and Star are the only subdivisions in the county showing an increase in moneys and credits over last year. All the others register a substantial falling off, the comparison in the city of Thief River Falls being $658,835 in 1920 and $641,562 in 1921.

All Show Less Property.

Every subdivision in the county shows a reduction in the amount of personal property listed. The difference in the city of Thief River Falls is very marked, being $466,763 for 1920 as against $302,012 for 1921.

PEAT PLOTS AT GOLDEN VALLEY BIG REVELATION

Visitors to Experiment Station Are Firmly Convinced of Peat Soil Value.

Phosphate Proves Ideal Fertilizer For Bringing Best Results at Many Trials.

Excellent Program Carried Out and State Soil Experts Give Good Talks.

Visiting day at the Golden Valley peat experimental station last Saturday proved a decided success in every way. Delegations were present from Crookston, Red Lake Falls, Goodridge, Grygla, Warren, Roseau, Middle River, Holt, St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls, it being estimated that between four and five hundred people visited the grounds during the day.

A Splendid Program.

A fine program was carried out, with C. G. Selvig of Crookston as chairman of the proceedings. Andrew Boss, director of the farm management department of the university, A. C. Arne of the grain division, G. H. Nesom and F. J. Alway of the soils division, gave very interesting talks on the progress being made in Minnesota in developing the soil by the use of phosphate and other fertilizers which have proved to be a success on the various demonstration farms conducted by the state.

The plots at Golden Valley demonstrate the use of phosphate on peat soils and show in no uncertain manner what can be grown on peat when the proper fertilizing element is applied to the ground.

Revelation to Visitors.

There is no question in the minds of those who visited Golden Valley last Saturday but what excellent crops can be grown on peat soils. That fact was proved to the ample satisfaction of everyone. It is entirely a matter of providing the proper fertilizer, which peat soil in its natural state is lacking.

Phosphate in its various forms and in different quantities has been used exclusively in the experiments at Golden Valley and the results speak for themselves. Crops of all varieties compare very favorably with and in many cases surpass those grown on the best mineral soil in the state.

Other Experiments Tried.

This is only one of the many experiments carried on by F. J. Alway, chief of the soils division. In Pennington county Mr. Alway has tried out, with the co-operation of the farm bureau, the use of phosphate on mineral soils. This has met with as much success as its use on peat soils.

Many of the field in Pennington county where phosphate had been applied yielded two or three times as much as thoi fields where none had been used. Phosphate will be employed extensively on both mineral and peat soils during the coming year in Pennington and adjoining counties, for farmers are rapidly learning its value as a fertilizer.

State Convention of Elks At St. Cloud Next Week

St. Cloud is making great preparations to entertain the Elks next week, when the state convention of the order will be held in that city. Quite a number of local Elks, besides the regularly elected delegate to the convention, plan on making the trip. Most of these will likely make the trip by automobile if the roads and weather are favorable. The convention is scheduled to continue for three days, Aug. 24, 25 and 26.

Suffers Painful Accident.

Ed. Johnson, employed by the Rambeck & Stone company, got his fingers too close to the machinery while oiling a tractor the first of the week and is now carrying one hand in a sling. He came out of the deal with some badly lacerated fingers.

Suffers Peculiar Accident.

Fred Hincik, manager of the Winton-Nichols lumber yard at Mavie, was the victim of a peculiar accident last Sunday. He was out in his car with his family when one of his little girls requested that he cut a small sapling for her to use as a whip. Mr. Hincik stepped out of the car and proceeded to cut the sapling with his pocket knife, which happened to be very sharp and pointed. The knife slipped from the sapling and entered Mr. Hincik's leg just above the shoe top, the point cutting a deep gash and severing an artery. First aid measures were brought into use but it was with extreme difficulty and not until a physician reached the scene that the flow of blood was entirely stopped.

FORMER CREAMERY MANAGER HERE IN GOVERNMENT POST

L. Haslerud Appointed Butter Market Inspector With New York as Headquarters.

L. Haslerud, for some time manager of the Thief River Falls Co-operative creamery and later connected with the state creamery of North Dakota, this week entered upon his duties as butter market inspector for the bureau of markets, U. S. department of agriculture, and for the present his headquarters will be in New York city. This is a decided promotion and will be pleasing news to Mr. Haslerud's many friends in Thief River Falls and vicinity.

Mr. Haslerud recently returned from a trip to Norway, Sweden and Denmark, where he had spent several months visiting relatives and viewing the scenes of his boyhood. He also gained much valuable information concerning marketing and the butter industry generally while on the foreign trip.

For many years Mr. Haslerud has been regarded as one of the most successful creamery operators in the Northwest, and while in Minnesota he was a director in the Creamery Operators' and Managers' association and for some time secretary of District No. 3.

TEN FRAMES TAKEN FOR FATS TO BEAT LEANS ON DIAMOND

Base Ball Game Sunday Afternoon Proves Prowess of Big Men as Sluggers.

The fat men of Thief River Falls are better ball players than their lean brothers. There can be no question about it now. For haven't the heavy boys won two straight victories over their lanky opponents within a short time? Last Sunday afternoon at the fair grounds the leans went down to defeat for the second time, although it must be admitted they had no walk-away. The score stood 9 to 9 at the end of the ninth inning, and the fats managed to get over the winning run in the tenth.

Two umpires, each built along the lines of the team he was supposed to represent, officiated at the game. They were Judge N. W. Tarrant and O. L. Ihle, and they of course came in for the usual amount of abuse. Judge Tarrant is accused of favoring the fat men at bat, while Ole is said to have developed a blind spot in his eye for the shortcomings of the thin men on bases. But that is neither here nor there. It was a rattling good game and furnished no end of amusement for the spectators. The crowd was not as large as it should have been, and only about $30 was added to the swimming pool fund from receipts at the gate.

Whether another game between these teams will be played this season is somewhat uncertain. The fats figure they had better quit while their credit is good, and the leans on the other hand do not see how they can hope to win with the kind of umpires foisted on them by their opponents. And there you are.

Bonus Claims Soon to Be Acted on By Review Board

The board of review of the Minnesota soldiers' bonus board will hold a session in Thief River Falls in the near future, under the auspices of Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion, for the purpose of giving personal hearings to all bonus claimants whose claims were rejected or have not been passed on.

All soldiers having unpaid bonus claims, are requested to send their names and number of claim to G. Howard Smith, Thief River Falls, and they will then be duly notified as to the time the board will hold its meeting here.

This is the last opportunity to get these matters before the bonus board and all adjustments made at this time will be final.

Reports Poor Crops.

E. S. Wilcox arrived home last week from a trip through South Dakota. He reports all small grain in the eastern half of state as being little more than half a crop but says that section has a very good corn crop. Too much hot and dry weather in the growing season raised havoc with the small grain.

OPENING LARGE INDIAN TRACTS PROBABLE SOON

Strong Sentiment in Favor of Throwing Part of Reservation Open to Settlers.

Area Comprising 324,000 Acres Near Red Lake to Be Affected By Action.

Indian Commissioner Burke Favors Idea—Would Open Finest Farm Lands.

A movement started some time ago in this section of the state looking to the eventual opening for settlement of a large tract of land in the Red Lake Indian reservation is gaining ground daily, and prospects are growing bright that in the near future the government will see fit to take the desired action.

The tract proposed for settlement comprises approximately 324,000 acres and is situated principally south and west of the lower Red lake. In this territory is to be found some of the choicest land in this section of the state and progressive men everywhere agree that to leave it lie in its present state is an economic waste which is unpardonable.

The Drainage Question.

Most of the land in this area requires artificial drainage to fit it for cultivation, but those who favor throwing it open for settlement contend that the drainage problem will be simplified materially as soon as the work under way by the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy board has been accomplished. The deepening of the Red river and the establishment of flood control devices at Red lake will make it possible to provide adequate drainage for the entire 324,000 acres through the construction of a local system of drainage ditches emptying into the river near the lake. The present capacity of the river is inadequate for carrying off the surplus water which would accumulate from a complete system of drainage ditches in this territory.

Commercial Clubs Active.

The commercial club at Clearbrook recently drew up and forwarded to Washington a set of resolutions asking that immediate action be taken in the matter. Bemidji also has been working on the proposition for some time and is doing everything possible to bring about the opening of this part of the reservation. Some weeks ago the question was brought to the attention of the Thief River Falls Commercial club and a committee was appointed to lend its aid in bringing the question to an early solution.

People generally all over this section of the state are waking up to the importance of getting this land opened for settlement and it is more than likely that action will be forthcoming at Washington within a very short time.

Indian Commissioner Here.

Charles H. Burke, commissioner of Indian affairs at Washington, paid this section of the state a visit last week. A conference was held at Red lake, at which time a proposal to establish a consolidated bureau of Indian affairs in Minnesota was considered. Mr. Burke is visiting the Indian reservations in Minnesota with particular reference to the proposed Indian headquarters and the distribution of the tribal funds of the Minnesota Chippewas. The Indian payroll in Minnesota amounts to about $3,000,000 annually, the number of Indians being given at 8,761.

The matter of opening the Red lake tract for settlement was called to the attention of Mr. Burke while here and he now has the proposal under consideration. It is stated by those in close touch with affairs that the Indian commissioner is entirely in favor of such a move.

Excellent Band Concert At Lovers' Lane Sunday

The Thief River Falls band will give a sacred concert at Lovers' Lane next Sunday afternoon at 2:30. This is to take the place of the regular Friday evening concert, which will be omitted this week. In addition to a well selected program of appropriate music to be rendered by the band, Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher and Carl Sundahl have consented to sing several solos with band accompaniment.

Lovers' Lane is now one of the beauty spots of the city and it is to be hoped that a large crowd will be present Sunday afternoon to enjoy the band concert. It will prove a truly delightful way of spending an hour or two. The band is rehearsing an especially pleasing program for the occasion and this, together with the vocal selections, should make the occasion a most enjoyable one for all lovers of music.

A DESPICABLE PRACTICE.

This is the season of the year in Northwestern Minnesota when wild fruits are ripening in abundance. Such fruits as plums, blueberries, choke cherries, strawberries, etc., grow in profusion in all parts of this district and a large number of people gather them in quantities to be preserved for future use. This in itself is a commendable proceeding. So long as people do not trespass on private property, ruin the trees and bushes or otherwise make nuisances of themselves, it is perfectly proper that these fruits should be gathered and preserved for human food.

But the trouble is that many do not consider the other fellow's rights when they go berrying. They seem to have no consideration for the farmer upon whose land the berries are found, many instances having been brought to light where these parties have gone right into a farmer's garden and orchard to help themselves to fruit which looked good to them. The damage done to trees and vines is often greater than the value of the fruit taken.

One farmer near Rosewood reported the other day that while his family was away from home for a short time on Sunday afternoon, an automobile load of berry pickers drove right into his yard and proceeded to help themselves to some particularly choice cherries which grew on trees within a few yards of the residence. Upon being surprised by the return of the farmer and his family, the marauders cut down and tore off large branches of the trees and filled the car with them before making a hurried escape. Such conduct is reprehensible, to say the least, and farmers may be pardoned for being somewhat peeved.

Another farmer had a patch of plums on a piece of land situated some distance from his home. He had been watching the fruit all summer, knowing it was the best crop of plums raised on the tract for many years. Imagine his chagrin last Sunday morning when he went to gather some of the fruit and found that someone had ransacked every tree, breaking down a number of large branches, and that practically every plum had been taken.

Stealing fruit from another's property is nothing more nor less than larceny, and destroying trees and bushes makes the crime all the more reprehensible. And the further fact that many people in the habit of doing these things are prosperous citizens driving large touring cars does not make it any the less a misdemeanor. Farmers in the neighborhood are up in the air over the matter, and who can blame them?

Quit Laxatives, Purges; Try NR

NR Tonight—Tomorrow Feel Right

It is a mistake to continually dose yourself with so-called laxative pills, calomel, oil, purges and cathartics and force bowel action. It weakens the bowels and liver and makes constant dosing necessary.

Why don't you begin right today to overcome your constipation and get your system in such shape that daily purging will be unnecessary? You can do so if you get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one each night for a week or so.

NR Tablets do much more than merely cause pleasant easy bowel action. This medicine acts upon the digestive as well as eliminative organs—promotes good digestion, causes the body to get the nourishment from all the food you eat, gives you a good, hearty appetite, strengthens the liver, overcomes biliousness, regulates kidney and bowel action and gives the whole body a thorough cleaning out. This accomplished you will not have to take medicine every day. An occasional NR tablet will keep your body in condition and you can always feel your best.

Try Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and prove this. It is the best bowel medicine that you can use and costs only 25c per box, containing enough to last twenty-five days. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Magnifying the Finger Print

THE proved oil producing area in the United States is estimated as only 4500 square miles. When you contrast this with the area of the United States—3,026,789 square miles—the proved area is but a finger print on the map.

Yet from this 4500 square miles must come the raw material to drive all of our motor driven machines, and practically all of the oil to lubricate the machinery which makes possible the happiness and prosperity of the nation.

To magnify this finger print is the task in which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is engaged.

By reason of the Burton Process, which largely increases the amount of gasoline recoverable from a given quantity of crude oil, and dozens of other methods developed in its laboratories and refineries, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has multiplied the quantity of finished petroleum products available for the use of men wherever they may live.

The development of the Burton Process has done more to promote the manufacture of automotive machinery than any other single discovery since the usefulness of gasoline as a fuel was made known. Because of it there is a plentiful supply of crude oil available today, and gasoline is selling for a low price. Without it the price of this fuel would be beyond the reach of the average man.

The use of this process is not confined to the refiners of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) alone, but is being made available to others under conditions which are just and equitable to all.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has a just pride in the work it has done, and is doing, to so increase the quantity and quality of its products as to make possible the use of labor saving machinery throughout the world.

Thus is the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) doing a big work in conserving the natural resources of the nation, and in helping others to do likewise.

Would YOU Order Gasoline by the Pound?

Then abandon the gravity idea, for gravity is a comparison of weight in relation to water, and nothing else.

It is performance on the part of the car that you want—snappy response, get-away before the rest, smooth acceleration for a spurt, an abundance of power for the hard pull, and tremendous speed for a thrill, or an emergency—you get that by the gas vaporizing at the right temperatures, meaning the correct range of boiling point fractions.

Red Crown has a perfect chain of boiling point fractions.

DEPARTMENT TO HOLD SERIES OE 'SPUD' MEETINGS

State Department of Agriculture to Aid Potato Growers in Marketing Crop.

Proper Methods of Grading and Loading to Be Discussed By Experienced Men.

Meeting to Be Held in Thief River Falls on Thursday, September 15th.

Improper grading and loading of potatoes and other perishables causes the Minnesota farmer and shipper a loss that runs well into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. This loss is largely due to lack of knowledge of what constitutes proper grading for marketing and to improper methods adopted in loading, also to careless and improper methods of billing and accounting.

Schedule of Meetings.

The state department of agriculture believes that the best way to offset these losses is to carry the story of how they may be avoided direct to the shipper prior to the opening of the heavy shipment season. It announces the following schedule of grading, loading and accountig meetings: North Branch, August 10; Cambridge, August 11; Elk River, August 12; Alexandria, August 29; Fergus Falls, August 30; Moorhead, August 31; Detroit, September 1; Wadena, September 2; Little Falls, September 3; Park Rapids, September 12; Ada, September 13; Crookston, September 14; Thief River Falls, September 15; Bemidji, September 16; Grand Rapids, September 17; Aitkin, September 19; Carlton, Duluth, September 20 and Moose Lake, September 21.

The aim of the department will be to demonstrate at each of these meetings the methods essential to proper grading, shipping and business accounting. The meetings will take on the nature of demonstrations and individual work with shippers. Difficulties that shippers have encountered in the past will be met and the manner of overcoming them will be explained.

Competent Men in Charge.

The department of agriculture party will consist of Hugh J. Hughes, director of markets, and George Wicker, special assistant in auditing and accounting, together with a competent corps of assistants including an expert in potato grading, loading and marketing. The party will also be accompanied by Prof. Paul Miller of the Minnesota university department of agriculture, and probably by a representative of the United States bureau of markets.

One-day stops will be made at each of the points named in the itinerary, and, unless otherwise definitely arranged, the grading, the loading demonstrations and accounting work will begin promptly at 9 o'clock and continue throughout the day. The director of markets in charge desires that each person attending these meetings bring his own particular difficulty and present it for explanation. Any special difficulty that may come up locally will be considered by the director of markets and his corps of workers.

Railroads Co-operate.

The railroads are lending their co-operation and will have freight and refrigerator cars on track and convenient to the places of meeting for purposes of demonstration. Arrangements are now being made with those locally interested as to the exact place of meeting, and announcement of such meeting place will be made through the local press.

While these meetings are designed primarily to assist local association managers, individual buyers and carlot shippers, to cut out their losses in grading, loading and forwarding, all who are interested in proper methods of grading, loading and handling of potatoes are invited to be present at these meetings. There will be no set program; there will be no long speeches. All are urged to bring their shipping troubles to the place of meeting, state them to the director of markets and the problems will be turned over to the person in the party best qualified to help solve them.

Excellent Band Concert At Lovers' Lane Sunday

The necessity of keeping country roads in good condition is shown by a report recently compiled by the Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, United States Department of Agriculture, showing the extent to which they are used in hauling farm products to market. According to the report, which shows the tonnage of 11 products hauled on country roads, giving the yearly average for the period from 1915 to 1919, there were 27 tons of these 11 crops hauled for every 100 acres of land. The average tonnage of the 11 crops hauled on country roads each year for the period mentioned amounted to 86,560,000 tons. The 11 crops referred to in the report are corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, rice, flaxseed, cotton (including seed), tobacco, potatoes and cultivated hay.

Very Best Seed Corn Can Only Be Found Near Home

Only by selecting good seed corn at the right time and taking good care of it after it has been selected can the best results in growing be obtained. Farmers long ago found it was not advisable to depend on seedsmen for corn planting stock. In northern Minnesota only corn that matures there is suitable for seed.

The central zone has a somewhat longer season and can grow larger corn than the north, and, in an emergency, can use seed from outside states. Southern Minnesota can grow corn almost as large as corn raised in Iowa and Nebraska.

However, it has been the experience of farmers in all three zones of the state that home grown and adapted varieties of seed corn give far better results than can be obtained from imported seed. The movement for seed selection in corn producing districts should become general by Seed Corn Time, Sept. 5 to 15, as recommended by staff men of the division of agricultural extension and state experiment station at University Farm.

Praises County Fair.

The Pennington county fair, held four days last week in Thief River Falls, was a great success as far as exhibits at least are concerned, and we judge financially also, judging by the crowds in attendance each day. Every department was well filled, the agricultural hall was a surprise as it was supposed that crops this year were nearly a failure. The outside attractions were fine. Especial interest was taken in the auto polo contests, which kept one holding his breath about half the time. The fireworks in the evening were the best ever shown in this part of the state. Many improvements have been made in the building and arrangements. It showed that the managers of the fair were all hustlers and boosters and deserving of much credit.—Grygla Eagle.

New Farmer Concern.

The American Farm Bureau Federation announced last week that the farmers' livestock marketing committee of fifteen, appointed by President J. R. Howard, has agreed upon the essentials of a co-operative livestock selling plan.

The farmers will organize a national livestock producers' association with headquarters in Chicago.

Membership in the national organization will be held by farmer owned and controlled commission companies at various terminal markets. It is expected that the livestock producer will join with his neighbors in forming a co-operative livestock shipping association, and the shipping association will be a member of the terminal commission association.

Band Had Good Trip.

The Baudette Booster Band arrived home Saturday morning from Thief River Falls, where they played a two-day engagement at the fair. They were splendidly treated and report a good time.—Baudette Region.

State Road Accepted.

The county board was here Monday after an inspection tour over the newly completed state road between here and Hazel. The work was accepted, and the contractors loaded their outfit here for shipment to Grant county, where they have another contract.—St. Hilaire Spectator.

Buys Banking Interests.

B. Docken has purchased A. L. Halvorson's interests in the Holt State bank and now holds the controlling iterest in that institution. Mr. Halvorson's interests at Hillsboro and elsewhere need all of his time, so he decided to sell out here and will move back to Hillsboro as soon as he can get a house. Mr. Docken will move his family into the Bakke residence, vacated by the Halvorson family.—Holt News.

May Open Reservation.

A delegation from Grygla motored to the Red Lake Agency Saturday to meet with Mr. Burke, U. S. Indian Commissioner, and Harold Knutson, Congressman, relative to the opening of the reservation and the possibilities of a railroad, so as to give better transportation for farm produce from this country. Mr. Burke and Mr. Knutson both stated that as soon as the drainage system, which is under way at the present time, was completed, that the reservation would be opened. Twelve miles of railroad are being built at the present time running due west from the agency, which looks promising to the people in this country.—Grygla Eagle.

Will Exhibit at Bemidji.

D. C. Dvoracek, county agent for Beltrami county, has returned to Bemidji from Thief River Falls, where he judged fat cattle, dairy Shorthorns, hogs and sheep during the Pennington county fair there, and on his return to the city he announced that several of those who exhibited at the Pennington county fair will show their stock at the Northwestern Minnesota fair which will take place here next month.—Bemidji Sentinel.

Minister Discusses His Wife's Troubles

Rev. A. H. Sykes, former pastor of the Watkins Park Presbyterian church, Nashville, Tenn., says:

"After seing what Tanlac has accomplished in my wife's case, I am convinced that it is a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit. I do not think I have ever seen anything give such prompt results. Mrs. Sykes had been in delicate health for ten months, suffering from stomach trouble and nervous breakdown. "I frequently sought medical advice but Tanlac is the only thing that gave her any relief. After taking the medicine only a short time, she was able to sit up and help with the household duties. I think it only a short time until her health will be fully restored."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Thief River Falls Merchants' Association

MARKET DAY SPECIAL

Supplement to The Thief River Falls Times, Thursday, August 18, 1921

GREATEST OF ALL MARKET DAYS ARRANGED FOR NEXT WEDNESDAY

Thief River Falls merchants will feature Dollar Bargains on their Third Market Day---Wednesday, August 24---but the price reductions will extend to everything handled by them. Read every line in the following pages. By doing so you will be the better enabled to take advantage of the opportunity offered.

Credit; Its Use and Abuse

"The retail merchant extends credit to his customers, not as a means of helping them through financial difficulty by enabling them to buy goods for which they are unable to pay at the time of the purchase, but as one phase of his service to them. The theory of the thing, you know, is that when a customer buys goods on credit he should have available, at the time, the money with which to pay for what he's buying. Credit merely enables him to pay for his purchases at the time when it is most convenient for him to pay all of his bills, the first of the month.

"But the public, generally speaking, doesn't understand the thing. The public doesn't understand why merchants give credit. Besides—and there's the rub—the public, generally speaking, doesn't realize the importance of keeping its credit good."

"The retail merchant, in opening an account with you, has two thing in mind: First the convenience to you, and second the convenience to the store. It is intended to be a mutual arrangement. Your charge account allows you the privilege of paying once each month, rather than for individual purchases. This arrangement saves you the trouble and annoyance of writing a check or paying cash each time you buy.

"Your part of the bargain implies prompt payment of the account when the statement is rendered. When the merchant carries out his part of the agreement, is it not unfair for you to allow your account to become overdue? By so doing you impose an extra burden upon the merchant, which results in a loss of interest to him and adds materially to his cost of doing business. These extra costs invariably increase the prices of the goods he has to sell to you.

"If you account is paid promptly, a credit arrangement is a convenient and satisfactory way for the merchant to handle your business without extra expense. If your account is slow it places a burden upon the merchant which he should not be asked to carry. Aside from all this, your standing is injured and your good rating impaired. Isn't it better to plan your finances so that you can pay your bills promptly and do your part in making the credit arrangement mutually beneficial?"

Another observer differentiates between charge accounts one the one hand and installment and contract accounts on the other. He says:

"Have you formed the habit of making a partial payment on the account each month instead of liquidating the full amount owing, and, if so, have you stopped to consider how seriously you are impairing your credit by so doing?

"This practice denotes one of two things—either you do not understand the terms under which the account was opened or you have obligated yourself beyond your ability to pay promptly.

"Your charge privilege is a courtesy extended to you by the merchant in order that your shopping may be made more convenient and the only reciprocal return required of you is that your settlements be made promptly and in full on or before the 10th of the following month.

"An account not cared for in accordance with these terms becomes a liability rather than an asset, due to the expense entailed in its handling, and must eventually be discontinued."

The Salesman

"You will pardon me if we edge into the picture for a few moments and say a few words in behalf of the salesman," reads Foley's Folder, a house organ. "We are speaking now of the salesmen who represent good reliable houses, whose integrity and fair dealing cannot be questioned and whose merchandise can be relied upon. This chap comes to your place of business once a week, probably twice a month, as a personal representative of his house, and with two ideas uppermost in mind—he is there to sell you merchandise, and particularly is he there to sell you service, because he knows that the good-will engendered today has a distinct bearing on the business he may do tomorrow.

"An intelligent salesman is a business asset to the merchants that he visits. He brings merchandising information from reliable sources; his contact with other successful retailers is the means of bringing suggestions that are of value; he is acquainted with local conditions, enabling him to be of great assistance in arranging credit terms in the house—as a matter of fact when he visits the house he is the dealer's representative, and take it from us he renders mighty valuable assistance to his customers in this way.

"You may hear many superficial arguments to the contrary, but salesmen are the life blood of business. An overwhelming percentage of the nation's commerce is transacted through these good-natured, hard working chaps.

"Salesmen representing this type of house are primarily interested in constructive merchandising; they take more interest in your future success than they do in the immediate order. This has been demonstrated in your own store time and again. Salesmen can be a source of great comfort and service to you in trying times such as these. Encourage them and accept their advice and suggestions as a sincere effort to be of real service to you."

The Era of Jazz is Passing

Let those who have been cultivating sound principles be undismayed; the era of jazz and clap-trap is passing, warns a writer in Harp Square Dealer. The premium on incompetence is already being taken away. In manufacturing we are again paying attention to detail and fractional cost rather than to mere output.

In selling, the small order is no longer despised, and in our private lives there is a turning towards the things which make for stability rather than those which are a mere vent for exuberant feeling. Take heart, ye plodders, "This year's fool next year's Solomon's Seat."

Revenue derived by the state thru the Minnesota game and fish commission for the season of 1919-1920 totaled $298,638.67, while the disbursements for the period were $229,569.35, leaving a net profit to the state of almost $60,000 for the year, not taking into consideration the benefits of game propagation and regulation and supervising of hunting and fishing.

Jumping on the Retailer

It is always a popular game with the politicians, jumping on the retail merchant and calling him names. The manufacturers are always well organized, and when the politicians jump on them, they jump back. The producers are usually so numerous that by the very fact of their big voting power the politicians are led to respect them. But the retailer, well, he is not well enough organized to command the respect of the political forces, and he is not numerous enough in any one class to make his vote important, and anyway he is pretty likely to overlook the slaps of the politicians and vote straight after all.

So it happens that the politicians can condemn the retailers as profiteers, and claim that they are responsible for the failure in prices to come down, and, in short, make them the goats of the economic situation.

The fact that countless merchants did not raise a price to take advantage of the advancing market gets them no credit when they do not reduce prices and take a loss on every stock item now. The merchant, especially the retail grocer, is expected to take his losses both going and coming. Has anyone seen a noticeable tendency in that direction on the part of the manufacturers and big distributors of the country?

Let us, as grocers, take time to write to our congressmen and senators, when Washington goes into a paroxysm over the profiteering retailers, and tell those gentlemen in plain language, such as a politician can understand, that the retail grocers of their constituency are not bands of crooks, and that the big money in their districts is not being made by the men in the retail provision business. Congress does not hear enough direct from the retail grocers of the country. Lift up your voices and make a noise that can be heard in the legislative halls.

What He Was Trying to Do

The proprietor of a grocery store saw a small boy lingering round a barrel of apples that was exhibited on the pavement.

"Hey, there," he said, going to the door. "What are you doing?"

"Nothing," answered the boy, with his eyes still fixed on the barrel.

"Nothing eh?" doubtfully returned the man. "Aren't you trying to steal some of those apples?"

"No, sir," returned the youngster. "I'm trying not to."

High Brows and Low Heels

Traveling salesmen for shoe manufacturers say they sell more "sensible" shoes for women to retailers in Boston than to dealers in any other city of the same class in size in the country. It is a fact that observation on Boylston street, or Tremont street, or almost anywhere in Boston will reveal a surprising preponderance of low-heeled shoes on feminine feet. Inquiry in two directions developed two diametrically opposite theories as to the reason.

"Boston women wear 'sensible' shoes because they do a lot of walking," said a shoe retailer on Tremont street. "They have to walk because taxicab rates in Boston are so high—higher than in any other city of the same size."

"Yes," admitted the taxicab agent at one of the Copley Square hotels, "our rates are pretty high. But we have to make 'em high in order to live. The people of Boston—especially the women—do an awful lot of walking!"

And there you are.

Why Salesmen Have Wrinkles.

Mother was very keen on correct deportment and never lost a chance of instilling it into Mabel.

"There's one important thing, my dear," said she. "You must never point at anything."

"But, mama," objected the little girl, "suppose I am shopping and don't know the name of a thing?"

"Then let the assistant show you everything in stock until he comes to the article you desire."—St. Augustine Record.

Helping the Locomotive

Workers in business organizations who kick, growl and make trouble for the management during the reconstruction days when managers of business everywhere have problems confronting them that require every bit of energy they possess, remind me of the green brakeman who was making his first trip up the Sierras.

The train was going up a very steep grade, and with unusual difficulty the engineer succeeded in reaching the top. At a station, looking out of his cab, the engineer saw the new brakeman and said with a sigh of relief: "I tell you what, my lad, we had a job to get up there, didn't we?"

"We certainly did," said the brakeman, "and if I hadn't put on the brakes, we'd have slipped back."—Tom Dreier in Forbes Magazine.

SYRUP OF SWEET POTATOES.

The morning stack of buckwheats may soon be flavored with a delicious sweet potato syrup if it can be manufactured as economically as other syrups. The United States department of agriculture has established an experiment station at Fitzgerald, Ga., to find out about it.

Dr. H. C. Gore, of the bureau of chemistry, worked out the laboratory process of making the syrup. It is brown in color, rich in sugar, and is said to be easy to consume. But it has not yet been determined whether it can be produced cheaply enough to compete with cane, corn and other syrups.

Clothes may not make the man, but the man with clothes conspicuously unfit will lose confidence in himself and his clothes may be the cause of his failure.

Costly Economy

Motorists are warned against so-called "Gasoline Economizers" in a report issued by the national vigilance committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, which declares such "economizers" have no effect upon gasoline efficiency, but are, in reality, nothing more than colored moth balls.

The report quotes the United States Bureau of Standards, Washington, with the statement that these moth-ball economizers have no appreciable effect in giving gasoline more "pep" and explains that the testimonial letters used by the many manufacturers of such tablets result from the fact that along with the tablets the maker sends instructions concerning the adjustment of the gasoline supply for the motor.

It is a well known fact, says the report, that motorists use a richer mixture of gasoline than is really necessary for the proper operation of the engine, using such a mixture because the car will start with greater ease with a carbureter adjusted for a rich mixture.

Doubtful Bargains

"Sugar, 5 cents a pound."

Advertisements headed in this manner will not be published by the Detroit newspapers again, as the result of an investigation by H. C. Dart, secretary of the Better Business Bureau of that city, according to a bulletin from the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

Mr. Dart bought one of those sample "bargain sale" offers from a Chicago mail order house, and compared the statements in the advertisements with the facts. He found:

1—That the prices which the advertisement said were being obtained by local grocers were untrue. No such prices were asked.

2—That the qualities described in the advertisement were exaggerated except where standard products were mentioned, in which, of course, only the name of the product was used.

3—That the statement that Detroit people could save money was untrue.

In connection with the third finding, Mr. Dart showed that when the price of a sample order was added to the express charges the price of the order was 70 cents higher than the total price asked by the highest priced Detroit grocer consulted, and $1 higher than the lowest priced Detroit grocer.

An Undeveloped Empire.

Northern Minnesota is an undeveloped empire.

There is a vast domain up there that will eventually prove to be a great dairying and farming region.

A policy of selfishness in this matter would be short-sighted indeed. We should not forget for an instant that we are all members of the same commonwealth.

They are pioneering up there now and our heart goes out to the brave men and women who are hewing and hacking homes out of the forest and making fertile places out of spots laid waste by forest fires.

It takes courage to do these things—the same sort of courage that sent our forefathers out into the wilderness of the west to build up the country, battling against heavy odds, and fighting beasts and still more savage men.

It is from the people with the pioneer spirit and instincts that our greatest Americans have come. Reared in poverty, struggling against privations, attending the district school in winter, working long hours under all sorts of conditions, these people were undaunted and unafarid and it is due to their valor and spirit that our country is what it is today—the foremost nation of the virile courage in many portions of Northern Minnesota today. Many have been burned out of house and home by the red volcano of the forest fire, losing all their worldly possessions in the flames, but after the smoke had cleared away they renewed the battle—and today they are winning! It is a lesson for those of us whose lot is cast in softer places, and after seeing what we have seen we believe we would be false to the best interests of the state if we did not do all we can to aid these heroes of peace in their struggle for making of a better Minnesota.—F. E. Hadley in Winnebago City Enterprise.

And you will see the same sort of world.

IF YOUR HOUSE WERE ON FIRE

Would You Write a Letter Asking Some Mail Order Concern to Put Out the Blaze?

Not you. You'd jump for the nearest telephone and speed along a hurry-up call to your local fire department—and they would respond instantly. Who pays for that fire protection, anyway? Mail order concerns? Not much. Its running expense comes out of the city's taxes—and those taxes are paid by people who live here—citizens like you—and merchants.

That money must come out of the pockets of home people. Then spend your money with local dealers—keep it in circulation here, where it will buy not only fire protection, but better roads, better schools, better parks, better libraries—better everything that must be bought with money taken from the city's "coffer."

Not one penny of the money you spend with mail order concerns is passed along to anyone in this vicinity. You get the goods it purchases. You wear them out or eat them up. And that's the end of it. Who HERE, in this town, gains by it? Not a soul!

You may think you do. May be deluded with the idea that you saved money. A comparison of local dealers' prices and those of mail order concerns will prove you're wrong.

In return for your home-spent dollar the dealer delivers to you without cost for delivery the biggest quantity and quality worth that dollar can purchase. The profit portion of that dollar stays right here at home. A share of it finally finds its way into the pay of firemen and policemen—it helps foot the bills for many public improvements. It makes your town a better town. And buys goods that can't be bettered in quality at prices that can't be beat for real savings.

Don't clog the city's fire plugs, and throw stumbling-blocks in the way of more perfect public "service"—by sending your dollars to distant dealers.

You enjoy the benefits paid for largely by home business men—then do business at home.

DEPARTMENT TO HOLD SERIES OE 'SPUD' MEETINGS

State Department of Agriculture to Aid Potato Growers in Marketing Crop.

Proper Methods of Grading and Loading to Be Discussed By Experienced Men.

Meeting to Be Held in Thief River Falls on Thursday, September 15th.

Improper grading and loading of potatoes and other perishables causes the Minnesota farmer and shipper a loss that runs well into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. This loss is largely due to lack of knowledge of what constitutes proper grading for marketing and to improper methods adopted in loading, also to careless and improper methods of billing and accounting.

Schedule of Meetings.

The state department of agriculture believes that the best way to offset these losses is to carry the story of how they may be avoided direct to the shipper prior to the opening of the heavy shipment season. It announces the following schedule of grading, loading and accountig meetings: North Branch, August 10; Cambridge, August 11; Elk River, August 12; Alexandria, August 29; Fergus Falls, August 30; Moorhead, August 31; Detroit, September 1; Wadena, September 2; Little Falls, September 3; Park Rapids, September 12; Ada, September 13; Crookston, September 14; Thief River Falls, September 15; Bemidji, September 16; Grand Rapids, September 17; Aitkin, September 19; Carlton, Duluth, September 20 and Moose Lake, September 21.

The aim of the department will be to demonstrate at each of these meetings the methods essential to proper grading, shipping and business accounting. The meetings will take on the nature of demonstrations and individual work with shippers. Difficulties that shippers have encountered in the past will be met and the manner of overcoming them will be explained.

Competent Men in Charge.

The department of agriculture party will consist of Hugh J. Hughes, director of markets, and George Wicker, special assistant in auditing and accounting, together with a competent corps of assistants including an expert in potato grading, loading and marketing. The party will also be accompanied by Prof. Paul Miller of the Minnesota university department of agriculture, and probably by a representative of the United States bureau of markets.

One-day stops will be made at each of the points named in the itinerary, and, unless otherwise definitely arranged, the grading, the loading demonstrations and accounting work will begin promptly at 9 o'clock and continue throughout the day. The director of markets in charge desires that each person attending these meetings bring his own particular difficulty and present it for explanation. Any special difficulty that may come up locally will be considered by the director of markets and his corps of workers.

Railroads Co-operate.

The railroads are lending their co-operation and will have freight and refrigerator cars on track and convenient to the places of meeting for purposes of demonstration. Arrangements are now being made with those locally interested as to the exact place of meeting, and announcement of such meeting place will be made through the local press.

While these meetings are designed primarily to assist local association managers, individual buyers and carlot shippers, to cut out their losses in grading, loading and forwarding, all who are interested in proper methods of grading, loading and handling of potatoes are invited to be present at these meetings. There will be no set program; there will be no long speeches. All are urged to bring their shipping troubles to the place of meeting, state them to the director of markets and the problems will be turned over to the person in the party best qualified to help solve them.

Excellent Band Concert At Lovers' Lane Sunday

The necessity of keeping country roads in good condition is shown by a report recently compiled by the Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, United States Department of Agriculture, showing the extent to which they are used in hauling farm products to market. According to the report, which shows the tonnage of 11 products hauled on country roads, giving the yearly average for the period from 1915 to 1919, there were 27 tons of these 11 crops hauled for every 100 acres of land. The average tonnage of the 11 crops hauled on country roads each year for the period mentioned amounted to 86,500,000 tons. The 11 crops referred to in the report are corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, rice, flaxseed, cotton (including seed), tobacco, potatoes and cultivated hay.

Very Best Seed Corn Can Only Be Found Near Home

Only by selecting good seed corn at the right time and taking good care of it after it has been selected can the best results in growing be obtained. Farmers long ago found it was not advisable to depend on seedsmen for corn planting stock. In northern Minnesota only corn that matures there is suitable for seed.

The central zone has a somewhat longer season and can grow larger corn than the north, and, in an emergency, can use seed from outside states. Southern Minnesota can grow corn almost as large as corn raised in Iowa and Nebraska.

However, it has been the experience of farmers in all three zones of the state that home grown and adapted varieties of seed corn give far better results than can be obtained from imported seed. The movement for seed selection in corn producing districts should become general by Seed Corn Time, Sept. 5 to 15, as recommended by staff men of the division of agricultural extension and state experiment station at University Farm.

Improves Eating House.

E. M. Stanton, Jr., proprietor of the Thief River cafe, this week finished the job of repainting, remodeling and generally overhauling the interior of his popular restaurant. Besides adding to the convenience and capacity of the place, the eating house now looks a hundred per cent better to the eye.

Praises County Fair.

The Pennington county fair, held four days last week in Thief River Falls, was a great success as far as exhibits at least are concerned, and we judge financially also, judging by the crowds in attendance each day. Every department was well filled, the agricultural hall was a surprise as it was supposed that crops this year were nearly a failure. The outside attractions were fine. Especial interest was taken in the auto polo contests, which kept one holding his breath about half the time. The fireworks in the evening were the best ever shown in this part of the state. Many improvements have been made in the building and arrangements. It showed that the managers of the fair were all hustlers and boosters and deserving of much credit.—Grygla Eagle.

New Farmer Concern.

The American Farm Bureau Federation announced last week that the farmers' livestock marketing committee of fifteen, appointed by President J. R. Howard, has agreed upon the essentials of a co-operative livestock selling plan.

The farmers will organize a national livestock producers' association with headquarters in Chicago.

Membership in the national organization will be held by farmer owned and controlled commission companies at various terminal markets. It is expected that the livestock producer will join with his neighbors in forming a co-operative livestock shipping association, and the shipping association will be a member of the terminal commission association.

Band Had Good Trip.

The Baudette Booster Band arrived home Saturday morning from Thief River Falls where they played a two-day engagement at the fair. They were splendidly treated and report a good time.—Baudette Region.

State Road Accepted.

The county board was here Monday after an inspection tour over the newly completed state road between here and Hazel. The work was accepted, and the contractors loaded their outfit here for shipment to Grant county, where they have another contract.—St. Hilaire Spectator.

Buys Banking Interests.

B. Docken has purchased A. L. Halvorson's interests in the Holt State bank and now holds the controlling iterest in that institution. Mr. Halvorson's interests at Hillsboro and elsewhere need all of his time, so he decided to sell out here and will move back to Hillsboro as soon as he can get a house. Mr. Docken will move his family into the Bakke residence, vacated by the Halvorson family.—Holt News.

May Open Reservation.

A delegation from Grygla motored to the Red Lake Agency Saturday to meet with Mr. Burke, U. S. Indian Commissioner, and Harold Knutson, Congressman, relative to the opening of the reservation and the possibilities of a railroad, so as to give better transportation for farm produce from this country. Mr. Burke and Mr. Knutson both stated that as soon as the drainage system, which is under way at the present time, was completed, that the reservation would be opened. Twelve miles of railroad are being built at the present time running due west from the agency, which looks promising to the people in this country.—Grygla Eagle.

Will Exhibit at Bemidji.

D. C. Dvoracek, county agent for Beltrami county, has returned to Bemidji from Thief River Falls, where he judged fat cattle, dairy Shorthorns, hogs and sheep during the Pennington county fair there, and on his return to the city he announced that several of those who exhibited at the Pennington county fair will show their stock at the Northwestern Minnesota fair which will take place here next month.—Bemidji Sentinel.

Minister Discusses His Wife's Troubles

Rev. A. H. Sykes, former pastor of the Watkins Park Presbyterian church, Nashville, Tenn., says:

"After seing what Tanlac has accomplished in my wife's case, I am convinced that it is a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit. I do not think I have ever seen anything give such prompt results. Mrs. Sykes had been in delicate health for ten months, suffering from stomach trouble and nervous breakdown. She frequently sought medical advice but Tanlac is the only thing that gave her any relief. After taking the medicine only a short time, she was able to sit up and help with the household duties. I think it only a short time until her health will be fully restored."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Thief River Falls Merchants' Association

MARKET DAY SPECIAL

Supplement to The Thief River Falls Times, Thursday, August 18, 1921

GREATEST OF ALL MARKET DAYS ARRANGED FOR NEXT WEDNESDAY

Thief River Falls merchants will feature Dollar Bargains on their Third Market Day---Wednesday, August 24---but the price reductions will extend to everything handled by them. Read every line in the following pages. By doing so you will be the better enabled to take advantage of the opportunity offered.

Credit; Its Use and Abuse

"The retail merchant extends credit to his customers, not as a means of helping them through financial difficulty by enabling them to buy goods for which they are unable to pay at the time of the purchase, but as one phase of his service to them. The theory of the thing, you know, is that when a customer buys goods on credit he should have available, at the time, the money with which to pay for what he's buying. Credit merely enables him to pay for his purchases at the time when it is most convenient for him to pay all of his bills, the first of the month.

"But the public, generally speaking, doesn't understand the thing. The public doesn't understand why merchants give credit. Besides—and there's the rub—the public, generally speaking, doesn't realize the importance of keeping its credit good."

"The retail merchant, in opening an account with you, has two things in mind: First the convenience to you, and second the convenience to the store. It is intended to be a special arrangement. Your charge account allows you the privilege of paying once each month, rather than for individual purchases. This arrangement saves you the trouble and annoyance of writing a check or paying cash each time you buy.

"Your part of the bargain implies prompt payment of the account when the statement is rendered. When the merchant carries out his part of the agreement, is it not unfair for you to allow your account to become overdue? By so doing you impose an extra burden upon the merchant, which results in a loss of interest to him and adds materially to his cost of doing business. These extra costs invariably increase the prices of the goods he has to sell to you.

"If you account is paid promptly, a credit arrangement is a convenient and satisfactory way for the merchant to handle your business without extra expense. If your account is slow it places a burden upon the merchant which he should not be asked to carry. Aside from all this, your standing is injured and your good rating impaired. Isn't it better to plan your finances so that you can pay your bills promptly and do your part in making the credit arrangement mutually beneficial?"

Another observer differentiates between charge accounts one the one hand and installment and contract accounts on the other. He says:

"Have you formed the habit of making a partial payment on the account each month instead of liquidating the full amount owing, and, if so, have you stopped to consider how seriously you are impairing your credit by so doing?

"This practice denotes one of two things—either you do not understand the terms under which the account was opened or you have obligated yourself beyond your ability to pay promptly.

"Your charge privilege is a courtesy extended to you by the merchant in order that your shopping may be made more convenient and the only reciprocal return required of you is that your settlements be made promptly and in full on or before the 10th of the following month.

"An account not cared for in accordance with these terms becomes a liability rather than an asset, due to the expense entailed in its handling, and must eventually be discontinued."

The Salesman

"You will pardon me if we edge into the picture for a few moments and say a few words in behalf of the salesman," reads Foley's Folder, a house organ. "We are speaking now of the salesmen who represent good reliable houses, whose integrity and fair dealing cannot be questioned and whose merchandise can be relied upon. This chap comes to your place of business once a week, probably twice a month, as a personal representative of his house, and with two ideas uppermost in mind—he is there to sell you merchandise, and particularly is he there to sell you service, because he knows that the good-will engendered today has a distinct bearing on the business he may do tomorrow.

"An intelligent salesman is a business asset to the merchants that he visits. He brings merchandising information from reliable sources; his contact with other successful retailers is the means of bringing suggestions that are of value; he is acquainted with local conditions, enabling him to be of great assistance in arranging credit terms in the house—as a matter of fact when he visits the house he is the dealer's representative, and take it from us he renders mighty valuable assistance to his customers in this way.

"You may hear many superficial arguments to the contrary, but salesmen are the life blood of business. An overwhelming percentage of the nation's commerce is transacted through these good-natured, hard working chaps.

"Salesmen representing this type of house are primarily interested in constructive merchandising; they take more interest in your future success than they do in the immediate order. This has been demonstrated in your own store time and again. Salesmen can be a source of great comfort and service to you in trying times such as these. Encourage them and accept their advice and suggestions as a sincere effort to be of real service to you."

The Era of Jazz is Passing

Let those who have been cultivating sound principles be undismayed; the era of jazz and clap-trap is passing, warns a writer in Harp Square Dealer. The premium on incompetence is already being taken away. In manufacturing we are again paying attention to detail and fractional cost rather than to mere output.

In selling, the small order is no longer despised, and in our private lives there is a turning towards the things which make for stability rather than those which are a mere vent for exuberant feeling. Take heart, ye plodders, "This year's fool next year's Solomon's Seat."

Revenue derived by the state thru the Minnesota game and fish commission for the season of 1919-1920 totaled $298,638.67, while the disbursements for the period were $229,569.35, leaving a net profit to the state of almost $60,000 for the year, not taking into consideration the benefits of game propagation and regulation and supervising of hunting and fishing.

Jumping on the Retailer

It is always a popular game with the politicians, jumping on the retail merchant and calling him names. The manufacturers are always well organized, and when the politicians jump on them, they jump back. The producers are usually so numerous that by the very fact of their big voting power the politicians are led to respect them. But the retailer, well, he is not well enough organized to command the respect of the political forces, and he is not numerous enough in any one class to make his vote important, and anyway he is pretty likely to overlook the slaps of the politicians and vote straight after all.

So it happens that the politicians can condemn the retailers as profiteers, and claim that they are responsible for the failure in prices to come down, and, in short, make them the goats of the economic situation.

The fact that countless merchants did not raise a price to take advantage of the advancing market gets them no credit when they do not reduce prices and take a loss on every stock item now. The merchant, especially the retail grocer, is expected to take his losses both going and coming. Has anyone seen a noticeable tendency in that direction on the part of the manufacturers and big distributors of the country?

Let us, as grocers, take time to write to our congressmen and senators, when Washington goes into a paroxysm over the profiteering retailers, and tell those gentlemen in plain language, such as a politician can understand, that the retail grocers of their constituency are not bands of crooks, and that the big money in their districts is not being made by the men in the retail provision business. Congress does not hear enough direct from the retail grocers of the country. Lift up your voices and make a noise that can be heard in the legislative halls.

What He Was Trying to Do

The proprietor of a grocery store saw a small boy lingering round a barrel of apples that was exhibited on the pavement.

"Hey, there," he said, going to the door. "What are you doing?"

"Nothing," answered the boy, with his eyes still fixed on the barrel.

"Nothing eh?" doubtfully returned the man. "Aren't you trying to steal some of those apples?"

"No, sir," returned the youngster. "I'm trying not to."

High Brows and Low Heels

Traveling salesmen for shoe manufacturers say they sell more "sensible" shoes for women to retailers in Boston than to dealers in any other city of the same class in size in the country. It is a fact that observation on Boylston street, or Tremont street, or almost anywhere in Boston will reveal a surprising preponderance of low-heeled shoes on feminine feet. Inquiry in two directions developed two diametrically opposite theories as to the reason.

"Boston women wear 'sensible' shoes because they do a lot of walking," said a shoe retailer on Tremont street. "They have to walk because taxicab rates in Boston are so high—higher than in any other city of the same size."

"Yes," admitted the taxicab agent at one of the Copley Square hotels, "our rates are pretty high. But we have to make 'em high in order to live. The people of Boston—especially the women—do an awful lot of walking!"

And there you are.

Why Salesmen Have Wrinkles.

Mother was very keen on correct deportment and never lost a chance of instilling it into Mabel.

"There's one important thing, my dear," said she. "You must never point at anything."

"But, mama," objected the little girl, "suppose I am shopping and don't know the name of a thing?"

"Then let the salesman take down everything in stock until he comes to the article you desire."—St. Augustine Record.

Helping the Locomotive

Workers in business organizations who kick, growl and make trouble for the management during the reconstruction days when managers of business everywhere have problems confronting them that require every bit of energy they possess, remind me of the green brakeman who was making his first trip up the Sierras.

The train was going up a very steep grade, and with unusual difficulty the engineer succeeded in reaching the top. At a station, looking out of his cab, the engineer saw the new brakeman and said with a sigh of relief: "I tell you what, my lad, we had a job to get up there, didn't we?"

"We certainly did," said the brakeman, "and if I hadn't put on the brakes, we'd have slipped back."—Tom Dreier in Forbes Magazine.

SYRUP OF SWEET POTATOES.

The morning stack of buckwheats may soon be flavored with a delicious sweet potato syrup if it can be manufactured as economically as other syrups. The United States department of agriculture has established an experiment station at Fitzgerald, Ga., to find out about it.

Dr. H. C. Gore, of the bureau of chemistry, worked out the laboratory process of making the syrup. It is brown in color, rich in sugar, and is said to be easy to consume. But it has not yet been determined whether it can be produced cheaply enough to compete with cane, corn and other syrups.

Clothes may not make the man, but the man with clothes conspicuously unfit will lose confidence in himself and his clothes may be the cause of his failure.

Costly Economy

Motorists are warned against so-called "Gasoline Economizers" in a report issued by the national vigilance committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, which declares such "economizers" have no effect upon gasoline efficiency, but are, in reality, nothing more than colored moth balls.

The report quotes the United States Bureau of Standards, Washington, with the statement that these moth-ball economizers have no appreciable effect in giving gasoline more "pep" and explains that the testimonial letters used by the many manufacturers of such tablets result from the fact that along with the tablets the maker sends instructions concerning the adjustment of the gasoline supply for the motor.

It is a well known fact, says the report, that motorists use a richer mixture of gasoline than is really necessary for the proper operation of the engine, using such a mixture because the car will start with greater ease with a carbureter adjusted for a rich mixture.

Doubtful Bargains

"Sugar, 5 cents a pound."

Advertisements headed in this manner will not be published by the Detroit newspapers again, as the result of an investigation by H. C. Dart, secretary of the Better Business Bureau of that city, according to a bulletin from the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

Mr. Dart bought one of those sample "bargain sale" offers from a Chicago mail order house, and compared the statements in the advertisements with the facts. He found:

1—That the prices which the advertisement said were being obtained by local grocers were untrue. No such prices were asked.

2—That the qualities described in the advertisement were exaggerated except where standard products were mentioned, in which, of course, only the name of the product was used.

3—That the statement that Detroit people could save money was untrue.

In connection with the third finding, Mr. Dart showed that when the price of a sample order was added to the express charges the price of the order was 70 cents higher than the total price asked by the highest priced Detroit grocer consulted, and $1 higher than the lowest priced Detroit grocer.

An Undeveloped Empire.

Northern Minnesota is an undeveloped empire.

There is a vast domain up there that will eventually prove to be a great dairying and farming region.

A policy of selfishness in this matter would be short-sighted indeed. We should not forget for an instant that we are all members of the same commonwealth.

They are pioneering up there now and our heart goes out to the brave men and women who are hewing and hacking homes out of the forest and making fertile places out of spots laid waste by forest fires.

It takes courage to do these things—the same sort of courage that sent our forefathers out into the wilderness of the west to build up the country, battling against heavy odds, and fighting beasts and still more savage men.

It is from the people with the pioneer spirit and instincts that our greatest Americans have come. Reared in poverty, struggling against privations, attending the district school in winter, working long hours under all sorts of conditions, these people were undaunted and unafarid and it is due to their valor and spirit that our country is what it is today—the foremost nation of the world.

And you will see the same sort of virile courage in many portions of Northern Minnesota today. Many have been burned out of house and home by the red volcano of the forest fire, losing all their worldly possessions in the flames, but after the smoke had cleared away they renewed the battle—and today they are winning! It is a lesson for those of us whose lot is cast in softer places, and after seeing what we have seen we believe we would be false to the best interests of the state if we did not do all we can to aid these heroes of peace in their struggle for making of a better Minnesota.—F. E. Hadley in Winnebago City Enterprise.

IF YOUR HOUSE WERE ON FIRE

Would You Write a Letter Asking Some Mail Order Concern to Put Out the Blaze?

Not you. You'd jump for the nearest telephone and speed along a hurry-up call to your local fire department—and they would respond instantly. Who pays for that fire protection, anyway? Mail order concerns? Not much. Its running expense comes out of the city's taxes—and those taxes are paid by people who live here—citizens like you—and merchants.

That money must come out of the pockets of home people. Then spend your money with local dealers—keep it in circulation here, where it will buy not only fire protection, but better roads, better schools, better parks, better libraries—better everything that must be bought with money taken from the city's "coffer."

Not one penny of the money you spend with mail order concerns is passed along to anyone in this vicinity. You get the goods it purchases. You wear them out or eat them up. And that's the end of it. Who HERE, in this town, gains by it? Not a soul!

You may think you do. May be deluded with the idea that you saved money. A comparison of local dealers' prices and those of mail order concerns will prove you're wrong.

In return for your home-spent dollar the dealer delivers to you without cost for delivery the biggest quantity and quality worth that dollar can purchase. The profit portion of that dollar stays right here at home. A share of it finally finds its way into the pay of firemen and policemen—it helps foot the bills for many public improvements. It makes your town a better town. And buys goods that can't be bettered in quality at prices that can't be beat for real savings.

Don't clog the city's fire plugs, and throw stumbling-blocks in the way of more perfect public "service"—by sending your dollars to distant dealers.

You enjoy the benefits paid for largely by home business men—then do business at home.

Bring the Whole Family—Hear the Band—Make it a Holiday

Can You Beat It?

The department store management denied it, and vehemently. The store detective himself, when questioned later, denied it, and loudly. The two New York newspapers that printed it admitted that the story couldn't be verified, officially. But both observed that it made a "good yarn" anyway. And here, boiled down, is the story:

A woman—well dressed, of course, for they always are well dressed in stories like this—entered the fur department of a big New York department store and let it be known that she purposed to buy some furs. She selected some, about $5,000 worth.

"Now," she told the department head, "I'd like to take these things home with me in my car, so that my husband can see them. He's an invalid. And, because you don't know me, I'd like to have you send one of your store detectives along."

That seemed fair enough. The furs—$5,000 worth—were loaded into the woman's sedan, along with her and her chauffeur, and a store detective was assigned to go with them. He went.

The car headed for a residence district. But, at a command from the woman, it stopped at the curb before a big brick building surrounded by much lawn and a high iron fence.

"I'd like to stop in here for just a moment and then we'll go on," the woman told the detective.

"Sure," he said, "go ahead. I'm enjoying the ride."

The woman went into the big brick building. What she didn't tell the detective was that the place was an institution for the incarceration of the insane. She went to the office of the superintendent.

"I have my husband out in my car," she told the superintendent. "He has gone suddenly and strangely insane. I want you to send a couple of men out and bring him in."

The superintendent hesitated and referred to "the necessary papers."

"I know," the woman conceded, agitatedly, "but this is an emergency, an extreme case. I haven't had time to get the papers. He may become violent at any moment. I have succeeded in bringing him here on a pretext and it's a good opportunity to place him where he can't do any harm until I can make the necessary legal arrangements. I want you to bring him in and just detain him until I can get the papers. Please do as I ask! I'm afraid of him. He has the delusion that he's a store detective. You will have to send a couple of strong men to bring him in, for he may resist. But, please help me, won't you?"

The superintendent consented. Reinforced by two of his huskiest guards, he went out to the car. One of the guards, in uniform, opened the limousine door and invited the store detective to "come on out."

"Eh?" said the detective.

"Come on out,' the guard invited, "we want to show you something."

"Nothing doing," the detective said. "Not any!"

But come out he did. He was dragged out, wild-eyed. He swore but the guards were complacent. To them it was old stuff. They headed him up the walk toward the big brick building.

"I'm a store detective at So-and-So's," the detective spluttered, and tried to trip one of his captors.

"Sure," said the guard soothingly, and kicked him on the shin, "sure, we know you are. But we've got Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson here, too. They'll be glad to see you."

The three of them went up the walk and into the building, the superintendent following, officially, behind, and the doors closed upon them. But why continue the story? Of course, the woman drove away in the limousine, and she hasn't been seen since. Neither have the furs.

Can you beat it? You can't even tie it!

An Unusual Stunt

Any sort of an advertising idea or "stunt" so very unusual that a man is wont to tell his friends about it is mighty good advertising without a doubt. Witness the case of a merchant in Atlanta, Ga., who mailed out as a souvenir to several hundred of his Atlanta customers what he termed a "Simplified Coat Hanger." Each hanger was inside a small envelope on the outside of which was the following message:

"This envelope contains a Simplified Coat Hanger, undoubtedly the most universally used coat hanger in the world. It is easy to attach wherever and whenever needed, and warranted for five years with ordinary usage."

Inside of this little envelope was an ordinary, every-day ten-penny nail.

Few Changes in Fall Styles For The Menfolks

Little Change in Fall Styles.

There is consolation for the dealer in the fact that manufacturer's of men's clothing have gone slowly in the matter of fall styles and little more than slight lapel changes have been made. The manufacturers have confined themselves to creating interest in their lines through the fabrics used and novelty woolens are more in evidence in the various lines than for many seasons back.

In many lines quiet colors have given place to lively checks and outstanding stripes, to which the buyers have taken in the hope that the consuming public will favor the more snappy garments. Altogether, the evidence in the men's clothing line, is that clothing departments for the early fall will feature the color of fabrics rather than the styles. In this way the stocks on hand will move along with the newer goods and not be at a style disadvantage.

Somber Colors For Late Seasin.

For late fall and winter the more somber colors and designs will be the thing. Herringbones will not be good then, but probably will appear in the spring. It looked for a time in the larger cities as if the herringbone weaves were the only wear but in the smaller towns they hardly secured a nibble and will not come into general use before next spring. But while herringbones probably will have a diminishing demand as winter season advances, checks seem destined to remain good through the season. Brown will be the prevailing color. There is a rush of orders pouring into the piece goods mills.

Billowy Overskirts in Organdy.

Other organdies are made with billowy overskirts and short sleeved, surplice bodies, with sashes of self material or white organdy. Many dotted Swiss frocks are trimmed with white organdy or the white forms a large part of the dress inserted in the skirt in the form of wide bands or narraw bands alternating with strips of self material.

Organdy flowers are used to trim the more dressy numbers as in the case of a pink frock made in redingote style with flat roses of self material in the corners of the panels.

Chenille Motifs a Novelty.

Chenille motifs are still another unique trimming idea, and one that should be well received in view of many reports of chenille embroidered suits.

Large oval wooden beads, in studio style, are painted green and combined with tan silk to make a lavishly used border design on a brown waist.

Mohawk with bisque in a little less quantity makes an attractive combination, the bisque made into a vestee that runs down the full front of the blouse and shows through the Mohawk in the lower half: Collars and cuffs of the same bisque are trimmed with Valenciennes dyed to match.

New Combinations.

Rust colored Vampire with Canton crepe in gray is a good combination for both color and fabric. Another is Canton crepe in the new Yellowstone with collar and cuffs of dark brown satin.

For fall also are blouses of crepe de Chine and tricolette in brown and navy with trimmings of brushed wool in lighter shade, the latter applied in the form of collar and cuffs or both long and short sleeves. The shaggy fabric sometimes forms the only trimming; in other cases it is supplemented by a bit of embroidery.

The Times, only $2.00 per year.

GROCERS WANT TO HELP LOWER FOOD COSTS—ARE NOT TO BLAME FOR H. C. L.

The idea that the rank and file of grocers throughout the country are boosting prices for the sake of realizing exorbitant profits is absolutely false.

Retail prices have gone up because the retailer has been compelled to put them up. The grocer has to pay more for his goods, more for rent, more for clerks' salaries; consequently, must charge more.

Shortageof raw materials, of productive labor and a demand that has far outstripped production are the direct causes of present day prices. As a rule, the grocer is transacting business on the same percentage of profit as in the days of low selling prices.

Grocers depend upon you for a livelihood. They know just as you know that to cheat in any way, shape or form, would kill their trade outright. Common sense says that no intelligent grocer will attempt to "kite" prices beyond legitimate profits. He can't afford to.

Mr. Wigwag was reading the market reports. "I see there's a corner in eggs now," he snorted.

"I fail to see any advantage in that," replied Mrs. Wigwag. "I'm sure the old fashioned round eggs were quite satisfactory."

No Limit While It Lasts

Very Latest in Furnishings For Her Ladyship

Gingham at Home in Polite World.

The gingham dress has come up in the world. It has come out of the kitchen into the parlor, onto the porch and is accepted for all kinds of summer day wear. For this better wear imported ginghams are combined with organdy, dotted Swiss and occasionally voile. Even the all gingham dresses are redeemed from mediocrity by individual and distinctive style ideas in cut or trimming.

Checks are the favored gingham design this season though some pleasing plaids find ready purchasers. Yellow and white, lavender and white, brown and white, red and white, are some of the more popular color combinations. Some surplice fronts are seen with collars of organdy but as a rule the gingham bodice is more or less close fitting.

Always "In."

Fashions in beads vary greatly but there is some demand at all times and a tremendous demand a great deal of the time. They are now at the height of their popularity and it is an impossibility to enumerate all the uses to which they are put. One of the latest developments is the bead girdle, woven or braided, ending in fringes or tassels.

The necklace is at once the oldest and the best loved item of bead jewelry. It has been developed in a heretofore unheard of variety of form and color, so that a single department store showing if at all representative, would be worth more than the loot of "The Forty Thieves" were it real instead of imitation jewels. Every known gem is copied with the utmost skill.

Some New Bracelets.

Bracelets, too, are of very ancient origin but there are many modern developments, for example the long strands of tiny pearl beads which are wound 'round and 'round the wrist and fastened with an almost invisible clasp. Another style consists of many strands of small pearls held together dog collar fashion by tiny bars of yellow or white gold and with clasps of the same metal.

Pleated Ruffles of Self Material.

A favorite trimming for the all white frock is a narrow pleating of self material, edging the front opening, collar and cuffs and sometimes heading the deep hem that extends from the bottom of the skirt almost to the hip line. These deep hems are a feature of both organdy and dotted Swiss frocks. In home models the hem extends only a few inches above the knee though the hem to just below the hip line is frequently seen. In these cases the skirt is perfectly plain, the only decoration being a cording, narrow ruffle or pleating at the top of the hem.

Fancy Ulsters For Young Men.

For the conservative dresser there is the ordinary business like overcoat but the heavy ulster and the fancy ulsterette made of the fleecy surface, fancy plaid backed materials with both half and full belts will undoubtedly have the strong call with the younger men.

As a rule these novelty coats of soft fleecy materials have more style than staying qualities and it might be advisable for the merchant to explain to his customers that the cloth is not guaranteed. A little explanation and he would have no come-back if the garment failed to give him the service he would secure in a hard-surfaced cloth.

For between season use light weight top coats are being shown in gabardines, tweeds and other materials. Styles are varied and some models are water proofed.

Men's Clothing Styles.

The Joint Style Committee of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and of the International Association of Clothing Designers, in cooperative session at the 23rd semi-annual convention of the International Association of Clothing Designers held in Rochester, June 29 to July 2, do hereby declare that the type of clothing for male attire for the spring and summer season of 1922 will be along the lines that will contain sport and novelty effects.

The present era is distinctively toward outdoor life, necessitating clothing in conformity with ease and comfort.

The spirit of the times shows a trend toward the adoption, by men of all ages, of styles typical of, and accepted by, the younger generation.

There is a growing tendency in regular models toward a trifle looser bodies, a trifle wider shoulders, with narrower lapels and gorges on higher lines.

Boys' Clothing.

The tendency for boys' coats will be distinctly along fancy lines with a liberal use of yokes, unstitched pleats, pinch-pleat effects, and a display of pleated patches.

Trousers—The knickerbockers still predominate in the sizes eight and over. In the junior sizes, from three to eight, the straight leg will prevail.

Men, be comfortable from your waist up—have your trousers hang right. Wear suspenders.

Obvious.

The best fabrics can no more be made from shoddy than can a river rise above its source.

Only with Virgin Wool—"the genuine"—can there be highest fabric superiority.

Without Virgin Wool, however great the manufacturing skill, highest excellence of fabric is impossible.

It is Virgin Wool—combined with skill and conscience in manufacture—that produces, in fabrics, the best in the world.

Inset With Lace Medallions.

An exception to this rule is a dainty orchid organdy, trimmed at the top of the hem, which ends in this instance half way between the waist line and knee, with inserts of oval lace medallions set vertically at intervals of about twelve inches. The fluffy sash is of self material and the collar is of lace to match the medallions.

SUPPORT THE SCHOOLS

BY SPENDING AT HOME

Give Local Youngsters the Best Possible Start in Life

You would throw up your hands in holy horror, if anyone suggested that you swipe a bench from a school building or pilfer a single page from a book of the school's library.

But—are your dealings in public school affairs as honest as you think they are—or perhaps would like to have others suppose them to be? They are not—absolutely not—if you are spending your money for mail order merchandise. You can't send a cent of cash out of town for goods that can be bought in town and support to the greatest possible extent the public schools.

Every brick in the schools—every book in the schools' libraries must be purchased with school "taxes." The size of the taxation depends on the wealth of the community. And the wealth is governed largely by the earning capacity of the people who live in the community.

Money sent away from home doesn't pay for one minute of home town "labor." It doesn't fill the dinner pail of a single local worker. It doesn't enrich home dealers. It doesn't by one word broaden the knowledge of the children of this town—add to the attractiveness or comfort of school days.

Money spent with local merchants travels in a circle. It doesn't go out of circulation when rung up on the dealer's cash register—as do mail order dollars when you slip them into the mail box. The dealer spends it here. It pays the help back of the counter, who spend it in town for goods they use. It assists them in purchasing homes—that can be "taxed." It goes into more merchandise—and that merchandise is "taxed." And it is on taxation, remember, that your public schools depend.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

CAMEL
TURKISH & DOMESTIC BLEND CIGARETTES
CHOICE QUALITY

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigaretty aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

Shoe Department

The Philadelphia Footwear Exhibit which was held in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in that city on Monday and Tuesday of last week, marked the end of a series of shoe-style shows in various parts of the country and added its share of corroboration to the generally accepted theory that strap pumps and oxfords will play the leading roles during the coming fall and early winter.

But there are straps and straps, just as there is a wide variety of oxford patterns, and the Philadelphia manufacturers are trailing no one in their adoption of these two general types of footwear. They have evolved their own lasts, and their patterns vary enough from those produced in other high style centers to give them distinction.

Black to Have Innings.

Philadelphia manufacturers also subscribe to the coming vogue of black.

"If I were asked to give my opinion of what colors and materials will sell best this fall," said the representative of one prominent manufacturer, "I should head my list with black patent; second would be black satin; third would be black kid; fourth and fifth would be cloth of gold and cloth of silver; sixth would be fabrics colored to match the gown of the wearer.

"I am, of course, referring to dress shoes—shoes for afternoon and evening social events," he concluded.

Few Boots Other Than Staples.

Generally speaking, few boots were displayed, although dotted with the omnipresent black or brown kid boot with military heel and of rather a plain pattern—boots for which there is always a steady demand in many parts of the country.

The oxfords exhibited were mostly tans with a sprinkling of blacks. Both smooth and grain leathers were used, with the smooth tan calf in the very decided majority. Oxford heels were all of the military type, ranging from 8-8 to 12-8 and even 14-8 in height. There were wing tips, straight tips and saddle straps, both real and imitated with ornamental stitching. There were heavy soles and light soles; some of the heavier types had slip soles and a few had stitched heels. There were few men in the booths, however, who ventured to predict a very long life for the stitched heel. As one man—a prominent merchant—put it, "You can't fit light rubbers over a stitched heel, not even in men's shoes, and I am off 'em for life."

Smartly Shod!

What a lot that means. For, how can one be well dressed without being smartly shod. You may be sure, among strangers, you are measured by what you wear rather than what you are. Your friends alone know you. An ill-fitting shoe robs you of the charm of a graceful step. A shoe not in keeping with your costume is an absurdity in others' eyes. The better the gathering the bigger the care as to the niceties of dress.

Estimate of Demand For Colors in High-Style Footwear.

Black, 45%; brown, 25%; beaver, 10%; silver, 6%; taupe, 5%; gold, 4%; ivory, 2%; pink, 2%; sky, 1%, in a total of 100 pairs of shoes. Substitutes for sky and pink can always be made—but harmonizing evening attire warrants these proportions.

Strap Patterns Continue Leaders.

As predicted last season, strap pumps are in to stay for some time, for they have made a very favorable impression upon the consumer, and unless some sudden change affects the style situation retailers can safely buy straps for several months to come. Last season both the Louis and Cuban heels were seen in strap effects, but of late the Louis and covered Cuban heels have had the greater calls. Of course, there will be some business in the Cuban heel straps, mainly in sport and brogue effects. We feel that oxfords will play an important part in conjunction with the leather Cuban heels.

For afternoon and street wear we now have several styles to select from: the one, two, three and Grecian straps—the one and two strap will be featured mainly with Louis heels either trimmed, stitched with contrasting colors, or lightly perforated. The three straps that have lately come to life with the introduction of sandals will play an important part in the fall selling. These sandal effects call for center buckles and will be built mainly on semi-French toes with covered 12-8 or 14-8 heel. A good part of them will be sold with baby or high Louis heels, especially in patent leather and tan calf. Simultaneous with the introduction of the three-strap sandal we feature the Grecian effect, which is the one strap over the instep carrying another strap from the throat of the vamp to the strap.

Style With Foot Shape the Two Elements Necessary in Children's Shoes.

It would be a serious mistake to make any radical changes in the general shape of children's lasts. The foot-form last with plenty of toe room and ball room is undoubtedly the correct idea and should remain in vogue, but there is wide opportunity for the development of pattern and color combinations. Patent leather with piping of red would fill the bill excellently.

WHY NOT APPLY THE FOLLOWING PLAN TO MINNESOTA'S FARM MARKETING?

The Louisville Courier-Journal published the following editorial, which is self-explanatory.

"Of three patrons of clothiers in America one is a man or boy whose capacity as a purchaser is determined by farm welfare. About 35,000,000 Americans get their living from the soil, as proprietors or laborers. The Kentucky Retail Clothiers Association endorses the Shapiro system of cooperative marketing of tobacco because the clothiers see in the adoption of the plan increased farm welfare, augmented power to buy.

"A merchant who established himself in Fresno when raisins were being sold in the haphazard way in which tobacco is being sold by Kentucky planters, found that he could not sell clothes or other merchandise of good quality. The raisin growers did not make enough money to dress well, or to furnish their houses well or to live presentably in any way. He became an enthusiastic supporter of the cooperative marketing plan because as he expressed it, he was ashamed to show his friends in San Francisco his store and stock of goods, and because he regretted that his only opportunity to make money in Fresno was to loan money to needy landowners whose financial situation did not improve.

"The cooperative plan was adopted by the California raisin growers and Fresno became a prosperous town in which first quality merchandise of all varieties sold readily. The Kentucky clothiers would rather sell first class goods than second or third-class merchandise. Everyone who is in business takes pride in making his business creditable to the town or city in which he conducts it, and will carry first quality goods if his customers can afford to buy the best that can be offered.

"The clothiers, like the bankers, know that business-like methods may be depended upon to increase the value of Kentucky tobacco planters as customers of mercantile houses and customers of banks."

GROWERS GET BETTER RETURN FROM POOLED WOOL.

Eighteen states, of which three produce one-sixth of the annual output in the United States, have formulated plans for pooling the 1921 wool clip, according to C. J. Fawcett, director of the wool marketing department of the American Farm Bureau federation.

The success attending the cooperative wool marketing movement is indicated in the recent sales of pooled wools totaling about a million pounds in participating states, at prices ranging from 20 to 33 cents, according to grade, at a time when wool on farms has met no market and Boston firms are in the field bidding for the fleece wools of the 1921 clip at 12 to 18 cents a pound.

BUSINESS NOT A BED OF ROSES FOR MAN BEHIND COUNTER.

Because of a scant supply the grocer often has serious trouble in procuring merchandise. He has to stand the sharp cut of complaints from buyers because of high costs. He all too frequently is blamed when absolutely blameless, and is not, on the whole, making a wider margin of net profit than he did when coditions were normal, trade better satisfied and business transactions decidely more pleasant.

The grocer is your servant. He is in business to serve your requirements. He doesn't make you a slave to high costs. He is in exactly the same boat you are in. He sells goods you want and ask for. He must meet your demands or get out of business. He has no choice in the matter. He can't go contrary to your wishes.

The consumer can do more towards restoring prices to normal levels than the grocer can. This can be accomplished with positive certainty by buying only food products of sound value and proven economy. Careless buying and rank extravagance are unquestionable vital factors in maintenance of high costs.

When a consumer forces a grocer to sell a sixty-five cent article where a thirty-five cent article would answer the purpose equally well he is encouraging production of high priced goods of short value and hampering the manufacture of food products of sound value and fair prices. On the other hand, when the consumer insists on goods of inferior worth he is inviting inevitable waste that stands for loss rather than economy. In such occurrences the consumer, not the grocer, is at fault. For, remember, the grocer must give you what you want despite the fact that he would rather supply your requirements with goods of sterling value at a minimum cost.

It's fight from first till last.

The Dynamo That Keeps the World's Business Going is CREDIT

Greater than all the gold, than all wealth, is Credit.

Credit is the dynamo that generates the power for all business activity—the world's business cannot run without Credit.

Credit is the basis on which business and social life is built. It affords you the means to become rich, if it is properly used.

On the other hand, it has the power to ostracise you if it is abused—in that case your fellowmen will deal with you only on a "cash down" or "show me" basis.

Credit, in short, is the greatest convenience known to business, if it is not abused.

How is YOUR CREDIT? If it is good, keep it good. If it isn't good, make it good. You can do this by abiding by the simple custom of paying all bills of the previous month BY THE TENTH of the present month.

The tenth has been officially designated by Thief River Falls merchants for paying bills incurred during the preceding month, because by fixing a definite date a full month's "time" is accorded everyone.

Any Thief River Falls merchant will gladly grant you credit if you pay your bills promptly.

If you have not been meeting your obligations promptly now is the time to systematize your accounts and adopt this method of fair-dealing.

A man's reputation and his family's reputation frequently depend upon the manner in which his bills are paid.

Do your share toward keeping the wheel of business turning. Remember, if

You pay him—he'll pay me—and—I'll pay you.

BOARD REJECTS ASSESSMENT ON CITY PROPERTY

State Tax Commission Asked to Provide Reassessment of Personal Property.

City Council Protests Such Action in Communication Directed to Commission.

Gross Inequalities in Valuation Claimed as Basis For Request of Board.

The board of county commissioners last Thursday passed a resolution asking the state tax commission to order a reassessment of all personal property in the city of Thief River Falls. The resolution was at once forwarded to the commission by T. P. Anderson, county auditor, but what the result will be is not yet known.

This action on the part of the commissioners did not come wholly as a surprise, strong objection to the assessments in Thief River Falls having been voiced when the county board of equalization concluded its hearings several weeks ago.

Council Enters Protest.

The city council, at its meeting Tuesday evening, entered formal protest against the action of the county board and forwarded to the state tax commission a communication containing a number of facts tending to show that a reassessment is unnecessary and a useless expense. The assessment books were gone over by the city board of equalization before being turned over to the county board, and no serious discrepancies were discovered. The latter claim, however, to have discovered a number of cases where property was assessed far below its actual valuation and several cases where no listing whatever had been made. The commissioners also claim that inequality of assessment is the principal reason why the board desires to have the work of the assessor done a second time, it being asserted that a number of instances were discovered where valuations are obviously wrong.

One Previous Reassessment.

Several years ago a similar situation arose in Thief River Falls. At that time a man from outside the city was secured to do the assessing the second time and figures on the county tax books disclose that approximately $50,000 worth of property was unearthed by the new man which had been overlooked by the first assessor. Besides this, moneys and credits were nearly doubled. Whether such a result could be achieved in the present instance is, of course, problematical.

The cost of reassessing the city is variously estimated between $300 and $600, and many officials and business men feel grave doubt that sufficient additional property can be found to pay the expense. Those who take the view that present valuations are unjust claim that no matter how much money it costs, a reassessment should be made to force all to pay their just share of the tax burden, and this is what the county board desires more than any possible additional revenue which may be derived.

ROAD CENSUS WILL BEGIN NEXT WEEK

Highway Department Plans to Take Week's Census of Road Travel in District.

A traffic census is to be taken on all state highways during the week commencing August 28th and ending September 3rd, according to instructions received by District Maintenance Engineer B. W. Sewell. Men will be stationed at specified points, nine of them in the district under Mr. Sewell's charge. They will be on duty continuously between the hours of six a. m. and midnight, and will record all travel between these hours.

The record will include a statement of whether "light" or "heavy" traffic vehicles; whether home state cars or from other states; trucks; busses; horse drawn or tractors, and will show between what hours the traffic is heaviest.

Two men will be engaged for each checking station. The nine stations for this district will be as follows: One just north of Ada, one on the Maple Lake road east of Crookston, one just east of Grand Forks, one between Crookston and Red Lake Falls. One between Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls and Warren, one just south of Warren on the Crookston-Warren road, one between Humboldt and St. Vincent and the ninth between Badger and Roseau.

The purpose of the census is to provide the department with authentic information relative to the amount of travel over the various road sections and may be expected to have material bearing on what improvements are authorized.

While it will be necessary for the census takers to closely examine each vehicle passing, there will be no molestation of travelers, according to Mr. Sewell. After sun-down the inspectors will have a light stationed at their designated stations and will possibly also employ flashlights; but they will be instructed to employ every possible precaution to avoid causing alarm to passers-by. Slowing down and thereby faciliating the work of the checkers is urged by the Highway department.

This check has already been made by the county boards in counties in other districts and in showing the extent of the traffic has resulted in more activity on the part of the highway department when the check has shown that the traffic was heavy.

New Beacon Light.

Powerful lights have been placed on top of the water tank tower by the city water and light department and these can plainly be seen for a distance of several miles in all directions. This acts as a beacon light for people traveling in the vicinity at night and is an improvement well worth while.

SIX SOLDIER BOYS TO JOIN COMRADES AT GREAT REUNION

Camp Dodge is Mecca For Many Former Members of Famous Eighty-Eighth Division.

Six former service men from Thief River Falls, all members of the 352nd regimental band during the World war, left Wednesday evening for Des Moines, Ia., to be present at the annual reunion of the 88th division. The members of the party are H. S. Snyder, George Loken, P. C. Peterson, L. A. Hermanson, Perry Froseth and Arthur Granum.

and Arthur Granum. Sidney Studsvold, Fosston; Bob Robertson, Argyle and Clarence Bakke of Warren, joined the party here for the trip.

It is expected that nearly ten thousand members of the old 88th will be in attendance at the reunion, which will take place at Camp Dodge where the boys received their training previous to entering active service. A fund has been raised to pay the expenses of former members of the famous regimental band and the boys from this city accordingly will be cared for from the time they leave Thief River Falls until their return. The reunion will last for three days, and in addition all former soldiers at Camp Dodge during this time will be given a free trip to the Iowa State fair at Des Moines.

H. S. Snyder, director of the Thief River Falls band, has been signally honored by being chosen director of the regimental band during the reunion.

FAIR BOARD PLANS NEARLY COMPLETE FOR BIGGEST SHOW

Large Number of People From This Section Will Visit Great Exhibition.

The most stupendous program ever put on by any fair in the world will be presented to the Northwest by the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 3 to 10.

The entertainment features include attractions never seen in this part of the country before. Thriller of thrillers will be the passage of Lieut. Louis James, 19 years old, from a speeding automobile to a low-flying aeroplane each afternoon. This is an act never attempted until this spring, and a score of men have lost their lives trying it.

The automobile, with Lieut. James clinging to the back of it, will come racing down the track at sixty miles an hour. A low-flying aeroplane will come up from behind. From its landing gears will hang a rope ladder. As the ladder passes over the auto, Lieut. James will grab it, and swing himself off into the air. Among other things, he hangs by his teeth from a ladder attached to a plane.

The big head-on railroad collision between two engines will be staged one day only, Saturday, Sept. 3. A straight track has been laid inside of the mile track. One engine will be started from one end, the other will be started from the opposite end. ter throttles have been thrown wide tre throttles have been thrown wide open, and the two engines will rush to destruction in the center, in exact line with the middle of the grandstand.

Two stages of vaudeville, auto polo, pony polo, auto races, a dozen bands, a midway of two dozen shows, a gigantic fireworks spectacle and scores of lesser attractions will entertain the record-breaking crowds expected.

A fare and a half on all railroads will be given fair visitors from September 2 to 10, inclusive; return limit, Sept. 12.

Council Appoints Judges to Act at City Election

As a reminder that another election will soon be here, the council on Tuesday evening named judges to serve at that time. The officials appointed are as follows:

First Ward—Ed. Ness, M. V. Evenson and Emil Gribstein. Second Ward—S. B. Johnson, M. N. Benson and W. H. Akre. Third Ward—F. H. Mousley, P. J. Keating and Carsten Christensen. Fourth Ward—Elmer Klungness, Frank Cernoucek and Mrs. T. P. Anderson.

TWO TOWNSHIPS DESIGNATED AS GAME PRESERVE

Smiley and Rocksbury Decided Upon as Area For Protection of All Game.

Action Comes as Result of Petition By Residents of Territory Affected.

No Hunting Whatever to Be Allowed at Any Time Within Borders of Refuge.

Pennington county was on Tuesday awarded a state game refuge, when a public hearing was held at the court house in Thief River Falls following the circulation of a petition asking that the townships of Smiley and Rocksbury be so designated by the state game and fish commission.

Fifty property owners in the two townships were in favor of the game refuge and had signed the petition, while not one person appeared in opposition to the step, according to Carlos Avery, state game and fish commissioner for Minnesota. It is believed that practically every property owner and resident of the two townships, however, is in favor of the action and will co-operate with the state department and local officials in the enforcement of the rules.

New Refuges Established.

Roseau and Polk counties have had similar protected areas for game birds, game and certain animals, and Mr. Avery stated that all of the counties in the northwestern section of the state would have them before long. Hearings similar to the one held here have been scheduled for Kittson, Marshall and other counties in the Red River valley.

Prairie chickens, grouse, pheasants, and probably quail, will soon begin to increase quite rapidly in the two townships affected by the order of the state commission and it will be a pleasure to many to watch these birds as they go about unmolested from field to field and in the underbrush, which is prevalent along the Red Lake river in both townships.

New Birds Introduced.

In the southeastern part of the state, ring neck pheasants have been placed in the refuges by the state commission, and the birds are increasing at a satisfactory rate. Although not suitable for eating purposes, the ring neck pheasant is being grown extensively in may sections of the United States and is now much prized.

No pheasants have heretofore been found in Pennington county, but Fred Beerbower has sent for two birds and these will be placed on his river farm. Next year the state commission undoubtedly will make it possible for others to secure some of the birds. Other birds or eggs will also be sent here for the refuge and in a few years it is expected to have the area well stocked with fine specimens of the feathered tribe.

FIGHTING SOLDIER PUTS ON SLUGFEST AND PAYS PENALTY

Finds That Rules on French Front During War Don't Work in Thief River.

Henry Stensrud, formerly of Thief River Falls but now attending the government vocational training school at Fargo, came up in his Ford last week for a short visit. Saturday morning he appeared in municipal court and was assessed a fine of $25, which he paid.

The fracas which caused all the trouble occurred Friday evening. Henry, whom appearances would indicate had imbibed a little too freely in "hootch," suddenly became imbued with the idea that he was a fighter of no mean ability. He happened to spy A. B. Remmem and picked him as the victim on which to try out his skill. Without a word of warning, Stensrud pounced on Remmem and administered several telling blows before Night Policeman Brooten arrived to take a hand in the proceedings.

The "cop" grabbed Stensrud and started for the jail with him but in unlocking the door of the bastile it was necessary to release his hold on the prisoner for a moment. The latter broke away and started up the street as fast as his legs could carry him, paying no attention to several shots fired by the policeman in an effort to recapture his prisoner, and escaped in the darkness. The "cop" then went up town and placed Stensrud's car in a garage for safekeeping, figuring that the owner would show up sooner or later to claim his property. In this he was right, for it was not long until Stensrud appeared and ran right into the arms of the policeman, who this time landed his prisoner behind the bars without trouble.

Returns From Eastern Trip.

A. S. Sapero of the Sapero company has returned from points in the East, where he had been visiting the leading markets on a buying expedition for his store. Part of the journey was made on the Great Lakes and one of the points of interest visited was Niagara Falls.

Mr. Sapero found conditions very much improved in the manufacturing centers and was able to secure a large amount of very desirable goods at prices far below figures prevailing for the past few years. The new goods will soon be on display at the Sapero store and should prove of much interest to the ladies of Thief River Falls and vicinity.

New Library Board Members.

The city council on Tuesday evening approved the appointment by Mayor John Bratrud of Mrs. Emil Zeh and Mrs. T. L. Melgaard as new members of the library board. Mrs. E. O. Mogensen was named to take the place of Mrs. Gaston Ward, resigned, and Mrs. E. M. Stanton was chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Agnes Wilson.

FORD CUTS CAPERS AND TURNS BOTTOM SIDE UP IN DITCH

Four Occupants Pinned Under Wreck But Miraculously Escape Injury.

Through the failure of the steering gear to work properly, a Ford touring car turned bottom side up on the road near the Aubol school house south of Thief River Falls Sunday afternoon. Four men in the car were extracted from the wreckage by passersby and with the exception of a few scratches and bruises, all escaped without serious injury.

The car was driven by John O. Huglele, who with Hans Gundvangen, Hans Paulson and E. D. Gustafson, were on their way from their home at Maple Bay to Thief River Falls. The accident was not due to speeding, it being stated by the driver that they were traveling between fifteen and twenty miles an hour when the car turned over. All of the men, with the exception of the driver, are well advanced in years and the latter is about 50 years old. That all escaped without serious injury is little short of a miracle. The four men were underneath the wreck when help arrived and those who turned the car back on its wheels were greatly surprised to find that all of the victims were able to get up and walk.

The men were taken to Thief River Falls and immediately secured what medical aid their injuries required. The wrecked car was hauled to a local garage for repairs and in the course of a few days the flivver will again be ready to hit the trail. The occupants of the car feel thankful to get out of the scrape as easily as they did.

Poultry Expert Gives Talks and Several Demonstrations

A. N. Chapman of the University farm, in charge of the poultry culling demonstrations held throughout the county last week, gave a very interesting talk at the Commercial club meeting last Thursday noon. The speaker stated that poultry in Minnesota is rapidly coming to the front as one of the dependable industries, and that purebred poultry is replacing the scrubs of former days.

While in the city Mr. Chapman, in company with a number of others interested in poultry raising, visited a number of local flocks for inspection and demonstration purposes. Much valuable information with regard to raising poultry for profit was disseminated by the recognized expert in such matters and his visit here no doubt will have a beneficial effect.

Band Receives Aid.

A tax levy of one-half mill was last year ordered for the benefit of the Thief River Falls band, and the organization on Tuesday evening received from the city council a warrant for $229.74, representing the second installment of funds derived from this source. The band was given $300 in May and a balance of $337.26 will be paid when the November tax settlements are made.

Heavy Truck Turns Over in Ditch; Driver Pinned Under

One of the large Reo trucks used on the freighting route between this city and Grand Forks, became unmanageable Monday afternoon on the hill just this side of Red Lake Falls. The driver killed his engine when near the top of the hill and the truck started backward, getting completely out of his control. The heavy machine plunged over the embankment into the ditch, turning completely over, with cosiderable damage to the body, top and other parts of the machine.

The driver was pinned under the wreck but was fortunate in escaping serious injury. After having a few bruises and cuts attended to by a physician at Red Lake Falls, he was able to proceed to his home at Grand Forks and is now none the worse for his experience.

Large Class Confirmed.

A class of about forty was confirmed at St. Bernard's church Sunday, with impressive exercises in charge of Bishop Corbett of Crookston. The church was crowded to capacity to listen to the very able sermon delivered by the bishop.

FARM BUREAU'S MEMBERS MEET SUNDAY IN CITY

Sessions Begin at Two O'Clock in Pennington County Farm Bureau Office.

Large Attendance of Farmers Expected at Most Important Meeting of Year.

Officers For Year to Be Elected and Complete Working Program Formulated.

The annual meeting of the Pennington County Farm Bureau association will be held at the farm bureau offices in Thief River Falls next Sunday afternoon, Aug. 28, at 2 o'clock. This being a very busy season of the year among farmers, it was deemed advisable to hold the meeting on Sunday so as not to interfere with the work on the farm. It is expected a large delegation of farm bureau members will be present at the meeting to assist in formulating a working program for the year.

To Elect Officers.

The first important business to come before the meeting is the election of officers for the ensuing year. To insure the continued success of the farm bureau it is essential that officers who are in thorough accord with the movement be chosen.

Among other things to be taken up is the program of work for each township division. Nearly every township in the county now has its own farm bureau unit, with its own set of officers, all working in harmony with the county bureau, thus making it possible to act in unison with less conflict and wasted energy.

Bureau Self-Sustaining.

The finances of the Pennington County Farm Bureau association are in very good shape at the present time, considering that county aid was recently refused by the board of county commissioners. The work is somewhat curtailed, however, because of the fact that now only actual members of the association are given service. When the bureau was operated through county aid, every farmer in the county was entitled to free service whether or not he held a membership in the association.

County Agent J. J. McCann states that no trouble was experienced in securing the amount required for continuing the bureau. A solicitor secured pledges for one thousand dollars in the city of Thief River Falls in one afternoon and this, together with several subscriptions of one hundred, fifty and twenty-five dollars from a number of farmers, shipping associations, creameries, elevators, etc., throughout the county, soon made it evident that the farm bureau would not be discontinued for lack of support. Progressive farmers everywhere are supporting the farm bureau, realizing the benefits received through the institution.

STEENERSON PLAN TO MODIFY WHEAT GRADES APPROVED

House Agricultural Committee Reports Measure—Would Remedy Many Evils.

Chairman G. N. Haugen of the house committee on agriculture last Saturday submitted to the house a favorable report on the bill presented by Representative Halvor Steenerson of Minnesota to modify the spring wheat grades.

"The necessity for the legislation arises from the fact that five years' experience with the present standards and grades for spring wheat have proven that they are unsatisfactory and fail to indicate the real value of the wheat," the report says. "To the great loss of the farmers, especially those who have to sell at the country elevator where wheat is bought on grade only at terminal markets like Minneapolis, where there is a large milling demand, wheat is sold almost entirely on sample, regardless of grade, and on its real milling value."

The report then declares that the purpose of fixing standards and grades is to enable the seller and buyer at long range to "speak a common language" as to the quality and condition of the commodity dealt in. It quotes liberally from testimony presented by those who attended the hearings, indicating that through the administration of the present standards and grades, wheat that would ordinarily grade No. 1 is often lowered to No. 5 with a loss to the farmer of as much as 40 cents a bushel and sometimes even more. Prices are quoted also from the hearing, and it is declared that 14½ per cent of moisture seems to be reasonable and practicable.

Concerning the Canadian grades the report says that the Canadian grades are all prescribed by statute and are not as strict as ours, for they require of number one Manitoba hard wheat only 75 per cent hard kernels as against 95 per cent under our grades. Only 60 per cent of hard kernels is required in Canadian grade number two.

The proposal of the Steenerson bill to fix test weights at 57 pounds was not acceptable by the committee and it remains at 58 pounds. Concluding the report says:

"The committee believed that the enactment of this bill will go far to remedy the evils complained of."

Although the bill has been placed on the house calendar, it cannot be reached in the ordinary course of legislative procedure until sometime after congress resumes its duty after recess. It is intended to call it upon calendar Wednesday when the house committee on agriculture is reached which will not be for some weeks while the house is in session. This delay in the house will give Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace time to determine whether he will make changes that have been urged by the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission and the wheat producers of the northwest.

ELKS PLAN FROLIC AT ANNUAL PICNIC SUNDAY AUGUST 28

Antlered Herd Expect to Have Time of Their Lives at Yearly Outing.

Next Sunday will be a big day in the annals of the Thief River Falls lodge of Elks. This is the day of the picnic and every member of the order is making preparations to be there. The frolic will take place at Squaw Point and unless the weather man is unusually cruel there is every reason to believe it will be a hummer.

The committee in charge of arrangements is leaving nothing undone which might add to the success of the event. Amusements of all kinds have been provided, including an exceptionally complete program of sports. There will be foot races for the leans, for the fats, for the ladies and for the kids. And it's a fact that when the Elks put on a picnic the kids never run short of candy, ice cream and other good things to eat.

Free transportation will be provided from the city to the picnic grounds for those who do not have cars or other conveyances of their own. This leaves mighty little excuse for anyone who stays away next Sunday. All who can do so are asked to bring well filled lunch baskets, with enough eats for their own families and also a little for bachelors and visiting Elks who may be present but not provided with sufficient provisions for the day.

BAND BOYS RENDER BEAUTIFUL CONCERT

Large Crowd Gathers at Lovers Lane Suday Afternoon to Enjoy Sacred Music.

What was probably the largest crowd ever assembled at Lovers' Lane was present Sunday afternoon on the occasion of the sacred concert given by the Thief River Falls band. Everyone present spent a very pleasant afternoon in the beautiful park and thoroughly enjoyed the splendid program given by the band.

It was found impossible to give the full program as advertised, the failure of music to arrive making it impossible for Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher and Carl Sundahl, vocal soloists, to take part. Several additional selections by the band partially made up for the absence of these popular vocal artists.

Many people in Thief River Falls have heretofore failed to realize the beauty of Lovers' Lane as a park and expressed surprise at the extent of the improvements made during the summer under the auspices of the park board. It is now one of the beauty spots of the community and undoubtedly will grow in popularity both with auto tourists and with the people of Thief River Falls.

Ford Speed Demonstrator Grows Too Enthusiastic

Axel Anderson and George Aspelund were out on the Jefferson highway west of Thief River Falls Sunday afternoon taking a little joy ride in George's Ford. George grew tired of driving and turned the wheel over to Axel, who piloted the flivver successfully for a ways. Then it seems he got a notion to demonstrate to George just how fast a Ford can travel under proper supervision—and proceeded to "step on the gas."

A few minutes later the Ford lay bottom side up in the ditch, with a broken wheel, smashed top and windshield and numerous other breaks and bends. The driver and his companion found themselves scattered over the scenery along the road.

A few scratches and bruises was all the boys could find wrong with each other when they finally gathered themselves together and took inventory.

Building New Home.

Work was started yesterday afternoon on the new residence of J. E. Bloomquist, which will be located on Red Lake boulevard just north of the old Capt. McDonald place, now owned by Gynther Tessum. The Prichard company has the general contract for the building and will deliver it to the owner all ready to move into.

RECORD CROWDS SEEK BARGAINS AND FIND THEM

Third Market Day in Thief River Falls Attracts Large Number of Buyers.

People Crowd Stores to Take Advantage of Special Offerings For the Day.

Prize Drawing Proves Popular and Will Be Elaborated Upon Next Month.

The third regular monthly market day took place in Thief River Falls on Wednesday. In many respects it was the most successful bargain event yet staged and merchants in all lines report an exceptionally good business. Farmers and people from neighboring towns were here in large numbers, and they didn't come to celebrate—they came to buy merchandise. It is estimated that from 1,500 to 2,000 buyers from outside the city visited local stores during the day.

One instance may particularly be cited to show that when real bargains are offered, people are quick to take advantage of the opportunity to save money. Loken's department store had advertised a special on ladies' dresses, offering about thirty garments at one dollar each. The sale was advertised to begin at ten o'clock and when the time arrived the grand rush started. In about three minutes not a single one of the dresses remained to be sold.

Many other stores also report a rushing business on specials advertised in last week's special edition of The Times.

Coupon Feature Popular.

The coupons used in the free prize distribution were in great demand all day long. One of the coupons was given with each 25 cent cash purchase and also with each 25 cents paid on account, and very few customers failed to demand their tickets. One man paid $500 on account to the Prichard Lumber company and demanded coupons for the entire amount. His request was granted, and he went into the prize drawing with 2,000 coupons in the ballot box. That luck was not with him to any great extent, however, is indicated by the fact that he won only one small prize. The winner of the capital prize had secured coupons on a $5 purchase only.

The prize distribution proved a very popular feature yesterday and it is the intention to elaborate on this plan for future market days. When the drawing took place in the afternoon in front of the First National bank the streets for a block in all directions were crowded with people eager to hear their names called.

More Bargains Sept. 28.

The Merchants' association has decided upon Wednesday, Sept. 28, as the date for the next market day. While special prizes on all lines of staple goods will continue to be the feature of these bargain days, several new innoviations are contemplated for the purpose of inducing people from all parts of the territory to visit Thief River Falls on that day.

The free auction sale feature will be resumed next month providing a reasonable number of requests for it reach the secretary of the association. To make the sale a success it is necessary to register goods in advance in order that the list may be published in the market day edition of The Times on Thursday, Sept. 22.

List of Winners.

Following is a list of the prize winners at the drawing held yesterday afternoon:

Mrs. C. Sjoberg, city, sewing machine; Peter Engelstad, Rocksbury, $10 certificate; Edna O'Brien, city, 100 lbs. sugar; F. G. Dols, Rosewood, sack Vivo flour; Mrs. Emil E. Olson, Kratka, 5 lbs. cheese; Mrs. Paul Roy, St. Hilaire, case syrup; Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Sr., 5 lbs. tea; Mrs. L. A. Johnson, city, $5 certificate.

Narrow Escape.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brown, while returning from their summer home at Union Lake last evening, had a narrow escape near the Aubol school house south of the city when their Studebaker car skidded and turned over. The top and windshield of the car were badly smashed but the occupants escaped without a scratch.

To Take Postgraduate Course.

Dr. A. Shedlov of Gully is temporarily in charge of Dr. A. W. Swedenburg's practice in this city and will be here for several months. Dr. Swedenburg is now in Minneapolis and about Oct. 1st expects to take a post graduate course, after which he will return to resume his practice here.

MINNESOTA WOMEN IN NATIONAL WORK

Aiding in Country-Wide Effort to Bring Important Issues Before Women Voters.

innesota women connected with ork of the League of Women oters have found themselves nationally in demand this summer. Miss Marguerite M. Wells, President of the State League, has been called in consultation with national board women and has recently returned from Lyme, Connecticut, where she has been consulting upon League affairs with Miss Katherine Ludington, Regional Director for the district which includes Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island. The main subject under discussion was the furtherance of the interest in International Disarmament and in the new national department of Efficiency in Government.

Miss Emily Kneubuhl, than whom perhaps no one is better known to the women of Minnesota, as she has during the last year, worked as director of political education for the League in every county in the state, had the honor of conducting a school of citizenship at the national Chautauqua in New York State. The Citizenship Forum at Chautauqua is the [illegible] of its kind in that time-honored cultural center. Speaking with Miss Kneubuhl were Mrs. Maud Wood Park, Miss Mary Garrett Hay, Mrs. Percy Pennybacker and other national figures. Miss Kneubuhl's special subject was the Constitution of the United States, and she returns to Minneapolis filled with enthusiasm in regard to the manner in which women are interesting themselves in national affairs. Miss Kneubuhl will go for a much needed vacation to Colorado and California but says she will be eager to return to her work in her beloved Minnesota.

A third Minnesota woman who will take her place in national affairs this week is Mrs. Sumner T. McKnight, the chairman of the Fifth District League of Women Voters and National League treasurer. Mrs. McKnight has been chosen to accompany Mrs. Maud Wood Park and Mrs. Gifford Pinchot to carry the congratulations of the national and local Leagues of Women Voters to President Harding on his bringing to a successful issue the arrangements for the international conference on the reduction of armament. An audience had been granted by the president to the representatives of the League for Wednesday, August 17th at the White House.

Mail Clerk Examination.

An examination will be held at the Thief River Falls post office on Saturday, Sept. 17, for those who desire to qualify for positions in the railway mail service. The examinations are open to all citizens of the United States between the ages of 18 and 35 years, and those who are assigned to positions as mail clerks will receive an annual salary of $1,600 to begin with. There are several vacancies to be filled at the present time in Minnesota.

RAIL RATE FIGHT GOES TO CAPITAL

Farmer Bears Whole Burden of Rail Charges on Grain, Bureau Tells Government.

The farmers in every grain producing county in Minnesota are bearing the whole cost of high freight rates on grain from the farm to the terminal market, Thomas E. Cashman, representing the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, told the interstate commerce commission in Washington last week. The farm bureau cited, as an example, the fact that on July 15, this year, Minneapolis paid 35 cents a bushel for oats, while farmers at Milbank, S. D., got only 26 cents. Freight rates made up the difference in price, the bureau figures showed. Mr. Cashman testified in hearings on proposed reductions in rates on grain and hay.

Increases in freight rates on farm products, put into effect while values of most crops were rapidly decreasing, not only have wiped out the producers' profits, but have forced the farmers of the northwest to accept a wage cut greater than the pay reductions in almost any other line of industry, Mr. Cashman and F. W. Peck, director of agricultural extension work through the University of Minnesota, told the commission.

"An increase of even five cents a bushel in the cost of shipping grain is enough to cut the farmer's actual wages for his labor 50 per cent," Mr. Peck said. "Five cents a bushel is a relatively small part of the cost of producing an acre of wheat; but when the producer is operating on a narrow margin, as even the best Minnesota farmers are operating this year, a difference of five cents a bushel may mean a difference of 50 per cent in the return for the farmer's hour of labor. In figuring the results of high freight rates on the producers of food, the interstate commerce commission must use the same basis it uses in figuring the results of rate changes on the railroads; that is, it must take into consideration the effect on the wages of the men doing the work."

Even a politician says something worth mentioning once in a while. For instance a congressman says that his idea of a good business man is one who can buy goods from a Scotchman and sell them to a Jew at a profit.

Citizens Bowling Alleys Soon to Begin Business

A. P. Fox and Peter Morse closed a deal last week whereby they became owners of the Citizens bowling alleys and billiard hall. The new proprietors already have commenced making improvements in the place and expect to be ready to open up for business the latter part of this week.

The rooms are being thoroughly renovated all through, and new paint and kalsomine put on the walls. A man from the factory with the aid of a machine specially built for the purpose, is here to plane down and level the bowling alleys. New cloth and cushions for the pool tables also is being put in place. The boys plan on making of it a first class establishment in every particular and no doubt will receive their share of business.

City Scales Wanted.

Upon recommendation of Mayor John Bratrud, the city council on Tuesday evening appointed a committee to investigate the advisability of installing city scales in Thief River Falls. The plan of operating public scales has been tried out in several cities in this part of the state, including East Grand Forks, Crookston and Moorhead, and has been found of much value from a public standpoint. Whether or not the scales will be installed here depends upon the findings of the committee having the matter in charge.

Sapero Store Adopts New Policy.

The Sapero company this week announces a radical change in policy which will work a decided advantage to those who pay cash for their purchases. Their announcement states that in the future all cash customers will be given a discount of ten per cent from the regular purchase price. This is a step that has been taken by a large number of business concerns throughout the country and in every instance it has proven very satisfactory to all concerned. It makes it a distinct object to people to pay cash and the experiment will undoubtedly prove popular here.

Ford Kicks Back.

A. C. Simonson of Steiner is nursing a broken wrist, the result of a Ford "kicking back" when he tried to crank it. Mr. Simonson is now using his left hand in starting the flivver.

Artery Severed.

Nels Lian of Erie, while butchering a hog this week, accidentally cut a large artery in his hand. It was necessary to call a physician before the flow of blood could be stopped.

Child Run Over.

James, the five-year-old son of Albert Kolp of St. Hilaire, suffered a broken arm and fractured shoulder in an accident which occurred on Third street last Thursday afternoon. The little fellow darted across the street and under the wheels of a passing automobile, which passed completely over him. The driver of the car is not blamed for the acc'd nt as he was traveling on the right side of the street at a low rate of speed.

New Hospital Superintendent.

Miss Odelia Steinke, registered nurse, arrived last week to assume her duties as superintendent at the Physicians' hospital. Miss Steinke is a graduate of Emanuel hospital at Mankato and comes highly recommended. Miss Skeim, former superintendent has gone to Twin Valley for a vacation, after three years of highly satisfactory work at the local hospital.

Gets Coal Contract.

The Minneapolis Bridge company was on Tuesday evening awarded a contract to furnish all city institutions with coal for the coming winter. It is estimated that about six carloads will be required.

Boy Breaks Leg.

The two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hoener suffered a fractured leg this week in a fall while playing about the yard. The fracture was reduced at once and the little fellow is doing nicely.

Land Clearing.

(Warroad Pioneer.)

Most every clearing in this section of the country increases a little each year. The brush line is pushed back a few rods, a little piece here and there is added to the field.

It is not particularly spectacular or exciting, but it is effective—it is the thing that is transforming this territory from a wilderness into a first-class farming district.

To those who live here this change is hardly preceptible, but once in a while one of the old-timers comes back, carrying in his mind a picture of the country as it was—and usually he is not able to place the scenes with which he was familiar. Usually they have changed and disappeared to such an extent that he has difficulty in locating the place where he had his homestead.

The old-timer likes to tell you how he spent three days getting over here from Roseau, leading his horses through the soft places and carrying the load over on his back piece by piece. He likes to take you out on some high and dry road grade and show you a spot where he lost a horse in the mud.

And the change has been accomplished mostly by the fellows who grubbed out a few acres of land each year and kept at it.

Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Osthy entertained a few friends at six o'clock dinner Sunday evening. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dahlen and Mr. and Mrs. Loftman and Mr. and Mrs. Matson.

Dead of Appendicitis.

Arthur Melvin, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Olson of Carp, died under very sad circumstances last Friday. He was taken ill with appendicitis and it was decided to take him to Thief River Falls for treatment. The trip was made in an auto and the appendix broke while the young man was enroute and his condition was hopeless when he arrived at Thief River Falls. The body was shipped back to Baudette and the funeral was held at Carp. He was a bright young man and had a host of friends in the Carp neighborhood.—Baudette Region.

Heating the Home

As NEW uses for petroleum products are developed, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) immediately organizes its distribution system to supply the demand, whenever and wherever it may arise.

For example, during the past two or three years a number of devices which substitute kerosene for coal in heating the home have been perfected and put on the market.

A large number of these burners have been installed in the territory served by this Company. The result has been a heavy demand for Perfection Kerosene, which has proved to be an ideal fuel.

To meet this demand for Perfection Kerosene, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has so arranged its distribution system as to be able to deliver to patrons Perfection Kerosene for heating purposes in any quantity which may be desired.

The bigness and efficiency of this organization enables you to adopt kerosene as a fuel for heating your home, with complete assurance that you always will be able to get this fuel in such quantities as you may require, whenever and wherever you may need it.

Thus does a big company, conscious of its responsibility to the public, and to its 10,478 stockholders, quickly adapt its organization to changing conditions.

A PROGRESSIVE CITY.

Grafton, a little city of 3,000 just over the line in North Dakota, has just completed an extensive paving program and other improvements, which total in cost about $440,000. The improvements consist of 58 blocks of paving, ten blocks of ornamental lighting, two miles of sewer and water extension, and a power plant. The paving alone came to $375,000.

Compare this with Thief River Falls, a city of nearly 6,000 people, where not a square foot is paved. It is obvious that Thief River Falls is not in a position to boast of its progressiveness.

WORKS BOTH WAYS.

It is a recognized law of trade that when a certain article becomes too expensive, the general demand for it falls off because people find some way to get along without it. As soon as the price returns to normal, demand increases and quickly reaches a normal point.

Perhaps this law has something to do with the plight in which the railroads find themselves today. With freight and passenger rates placed at a point where they are practically prohibitive, the public is naturally doing everything in its power to cut down shipping and rail travel. This has the effect of reducing enormously the gross business of the roads and forces them to operate at a loss in spite of the high rates.

Henry Ford owns and operates a line of railroads in Michigan. Mr. Ford recently made substantial reductions in freight rates, working on the principle that it would increase business and thereby place his roads on a more prosperous footing. Other railroad managers in the country are of the opinion that Ford is working on the wrong theory, but this is not at all certain. The flivver manufacturer has demonstrated more than once that he is capable of conducting his own business and this particular instance is likely to prove no exception.

All authorities agree that something must be done, and who knows but what Henry Ford has hit upon the right idea?

ONE WAY TO GET IT.

While ways and means for securing a public swimming pool in Thief River Falls are being discussed, it might be well to consider the method followed by citizens of Glendive, Montana, recently, in providing the city with a public convenience of this kind.

All the people of Glendive are aiding in the work of constructing what is to be the largest public swimming pool in the state. Business men, professional men and boys of the city are busy with picks and shovels or running tractors to speed the work along. The project was launched by the chamber of commerce, which called a mass meeting to decide whether a swimming pool was wanted and to devise ways and means of obtaining aid. The swimming pool plan met unanimous endorsement and work was begun at once by volunteer workmen. It was decided that the structure should be built by volunteer effort rather than by the creation of a park district and the sale of city bonds. Everyone wanted the pool at once and the latter plan meant delay.

The Northern Pacific railway made an offer of sand and gravel. Others offered trucks, wagons, teams, men, cement, engineering service, piping and valves. Subscription blanks were quickly filled out. Within 36 hours after the mass meeting the work of construction was under way and has been going on from early morning until late at night with a rush. The light company strung its wires to the grounds and is furnishing light, so there will be no delay.

The pool will be circular in shape and 150 feet in diameter. Spring boards and other aquatic devices will be installed. It is situated in Lloyd park and adjoins the free tourists' camping grounds, thus making it available to autoists. No fee will be charged for use of the pool, and the city will bear the expense of maintenance. The chamber of commerce will supervise administration of the pool.

While this same plan in its entirety might not be practical in Thief River Falls, it contains many ideas which could be applied with success. The only way for people here to get a swimming pool is to join together and get one. It is an easy matter if everyone does his part.

When to Stop Advertising.

A certain trade journal once requested a number of its largest advertisers to give their opinions concerning the best time to stop advertising, and the following replies were received:

When population ceases to multiply and the generations that crowd on after you never heard of you, stop coming on.

When you have convinced everybody whose life will touch yours that you have better goods and lower prices than they can get anywhere else.

When you perceive it to be the rule that men who never advertise are outstripping their neighbors in the same line of business.

When men stop making fortunes right in your sight solely through the use of legitimate advertising.

When you forget the words of the shrewdest and most successful business men concerning the main cause of their prosperity.

When every man has become so thoroughly a creature of habit that he will certainly buy this year where he bought last year.

When you would rather have your own way and fail than take advice and win.

When nobody else thinks it pays to advertise.

OBSERVATIONS

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

Another editor is suggesting that Minnesota be divided. Might just as well pour that idea back in the bottle.

Times may be hard in the cities, but the murder and divorce industries appear to be working overtime.

President Harding's father, aged 75, married his nurse yesterday. He doesn't need a nurse. He needs a guardian.

There are two kinds of moskeeters, an observing tourist told us the other day. Those that bite and those that bite twice.

Fashion journal says that men's clothes won't be so tight next year, and an exchange adds: "Neither will the men."

It's a shame the hardships our sailors have to put up with. Roy Williams writes that when his ship was at Christiania there was no water in the city, and the boys had to drink beer.

Cy Thompson is just another example of what chickens can do to a man, flippantly remarks Bess Wilson of the Redwood Falls Gazette.

"If there is no hell, as some people claim," asks an exchange, "where has business gone to?"

The ball players who last week were acquitted of throwing games are indeed in disgrace. Even the umpires won't have anything to do with them.

Glazed Stage Best For Cutting Fodder Corn Crop

Maturity of the corn when cut affects both the quality and yield of silage. The corn crop gains rapidly in weight as the corn matures. All of the food element increase in total amount. The dry matter especially increases rapidly. When left to mature fully, portions of the plant become woody and indigestible and the total amount of nutriment available is difficult to recover because of indigestibility. Practically the total yield will be obtained if the corn is cut just when the ears are nicely glazed over. At this stage corn is at the maximum of digestibility also. Therefore, so far as total yield and yield of digestible nutriment is concerned, it is best to cut just at the glazed stage.

Corn silage keeps best when there is sufficient moisture in the corn to make it pack well and to overcome heating due to chemical changes in the plant tissue. Corn cut when very green contains so much moisture that it prevents these chemical reactions taking place and results in a sour silage, though it usually keeps very well. Corn cut when mature or dead ripe contains so little moisture that it cannot be packed firmly enough to keep out the air and moldy spots are very likely to occur. Ripe corn can be used for silage by running water into the silo as the corn is being cut. Even when water is added, however, it is difficult to secure as good quality of silage as when the corn is cut somewhat greener.

Corn cut at the glazed stage seems to have the advantage. It contains moisture enough to pack well and to prevent too high temperature in the curing process. All things considered the best silage so far as yield and quality are concerned, will usually be secured if the corn is cut when the ears are at the glazed stage.—Andrew Boss, vice director of Minnesota Experiment Station.

Hurt by Threshing Rig.

John Scheuring owes his life to the presence of mind that prompted him to catch hold of the friction lever to prevent his being thrown into the flywheel of a steam threshing engine on the A. Scheuring was badly bruised on the left leg and right shoulder and has a bad gash in his left knee.

GREAT STATE FAIR WILL SURPASS ALL FORMER ATTEMPTS

Greatest Event in History of Minnesota to Begin on Saturday, September 3.

The most stupendous entertainment and educational program ever put on by any state fair in America is staged for the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 3 to 10.

The amusement bill is a thriller. It opens on Saturday, Sept. 3, with all the regular features of the week, plus a big railroad locomotive collision directly in front of the grandstand. A straight track is being laid inside of the mile track. The engines, with throttles thrown wide open, will be turned loose, one at each end of the track, and will rush head-on to destruction in the center of the track at terrific speed.

Each afternoon, directly in front of the grandstand, Lieut. Louis James will pass from a speeding racing automobile to a low-flying aeroplane—the most daring stunt ever attempted. A rope ladder hanging from the bottom of the plane will be grasped by Lieut. James as the airship goes over. Lieut. James will then climb up to the aeroplane. Ruth Law will loop the loop daily standing on top of an aeroplane.

Each evening the big fireworks spectacle, "Montezuma, or the Fall of the Aztecs," will be presented. With it will be a big open-air program of circus acts, signed up from all parts of the world. Auto polo, a dozen big bands and orchestras, and a score of other features will supplement the afternoon and evening programs. Auto racing will be put on Wedesday and Saturday, the 7th and 10th. Horse racing will be scheduled the other days. The fair gates will be closed to the public on Sunday.

The biggest live stock show in the history of the fair is assured. Every foot of space on Machinery Hill has been sold for two weeks. The eighty acres of space will be covered completely with every known kind of machinery. Several European government art exhibits will be displayed at the $500,000 art exhibition. Horseshoe pitching champions from all the states will compete for the national championship in the big tournament.

All children will be admitted free on Labor Day.

DISTRICT REPORTS ROAD WORK GOING ON IN FULL SWING

Superintendents Summarize Activities in Local Zone—Better Roads in Sight.

New construction and maintenance operations on state trunk highways under the Babcock plan in this locality are briefly set forth in current bulletins from district maintenance superintendents.

Policies of first providing good maintenance on all parts of the trunk route system and building up weak sections in long mileages of otherwise good roads have resulted in a general distribution of permanent improvement projects and early general benefits, official figures show.

A big grading and gravel surfacing project is under way on the Erskine-Crookston section and satisfactory progress on the work is reported. A new and betted detour has been opened and marked between Crookston and Maple Lake.

Traffic is being detoured also on the Crookston-Fisher section because of a ditch bank on the regular road. It is expected the county will require the ditch contractor to flatten the bank without delay, his contract time allowance having expired, and then the regular route will be reopened.

A tractor fleet has shaped up and improved the route from Thief River Falls northward through Middle River and it is in excellent condition, according to reports.

Highway betterments in this district are principally the result of two months of operations with outfits of heavy road equipment, but the maintenance forces also are making a favorable showing.

TROUBLE IS, your system is clogged with a lot of impurities that your over-worked digestive and eliminative organs can't get rid of. Pills, oil, salts, calomel and ordinary laxatives, cathartics and purges only force the bowels and prod the liver.

Make the test. Nature's Remedy will act promptly, thoroughly, yet so mildly, so gently, that you will think nature herself has come to the rescue and is doing the work.

And oh, what a relief! You'll be surprised to find how much better you feel—brighter, better every way. If habitually or stubbornly constipated, take one NR Tablet each night for a week. Then you'll not have to take medicine every day. Just an occasional NR Tablet after that will be sufficient to keep your system in good condition—"keep you feeling your best."

A power engineer figures out that the average stenographer, in the course of a day's work, uses up the same energy required to move half a ton of coal.

Each time she hits a typewriter key, she exerts a force powerful enough to move five ounces a distance of one inch. Daily she exerts enough physical energy to lift 7,680 pounds one foot off the ground. Is it any wonder stenographers are ready to quit when the whistle blows?

GATHERING FACTS ON FARMER STATUS

County Farm Bureaus Compile Data on Machinery and All Improvements.

Two statewide surveys were begun this week by the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation to find out the exact effect of present economic conditions on the state's normal agricultural development.

At the request of the state federation, county farm bureaus began gathering information on purchases of farm machinery and on farm improvements made during the last six months.

"The great handicap of agriculture, in its fight for legislative relief and in its business developments, always has been a lack of accurate, specific information," farm bureau officers said. "One of the great services the farm bureau is doing for the farmer, and for the rest of the country as well, is the gathering of authorative data showing conditions as they actually exist in the production of the nation's food. The severity of the set back suffered by farmers because of the present conditions will be reflected in their ability or inability to make improvements on their farms, and to buy needed equipment."

A similar survey just completed showed that in 49 countries, farmers have to pay from 8 to 10 per cent interest on short time loans, and that in 32 counties a bonus was required on long term loans.

MERCHANT TELLS OF A REMARKABLE CASE

Writing from Maxeys, Ga., A. J. Gillen, proprietor of a large department store at that place says:

"I have a customer here who was in bed for three years and did not go to a meal at any time. She had five physicians and they gave her up. One bottle of Tanlac got her up, on the second bottle she commenced keeping house and on the third she did all the cooking and housework for a family of eight."

This sounds really incredifable, but it comes unsolicited from a highly creditable source and is copied verbatim from the letter.

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Weekly Market Review.

(Quinn-Shepherdson Co.)

Wheat prices held comparatively firm during the fore part of the week but later the contagious weakness in coarse grains affected the entire list and resulted in lower prices for all grains.

The early movement to market of wheat and oats exceeds all records in large volumes. Likewise the demand for wheat has been remarkable. Absorption of over 120 million bushels of winter wheat alone at the primary markets and at the Gulf since July 1st, without great depression of prices sufficiently indicates the extent of foreign demand.

Corn and oats prices made new low marks even for many seasons in the pre-war period. The corn market is featured by continued export clearances and new export sales almost daily. The visible corn supply, though still quite large compared with other years, has been greatly reduced by our unusually heavy clearances for export, and stocks now cannot be called burdensome. Many important sections of the corn belt are reporting adverse effects from heat and drouth, so that a crop somewhat under last year is now generally anticipated.

The visible supply of oats to date is reported 52,893,000. The corresponding time a year ago the supply was about four million bushels. This tremendous load, most of which is unsold, has forced prices unbelievably low and discouraged new investment buying. The Canadian oats surplus is filling most of the European demands on account of heavier test weight and superior quality.

Despite rather bullish statistics, particularly in wheat, rye and flax, and the very low prices in coarse grains, no broad buying movement seems likely for the near future, but the markets appear to be entitled technically to some upward reaction and fair advances the coming week would not be unexpected.

Good to choice pigs held steady to strong at $9.00 to $9.25. Native lambs opened 25 to 50c lower, bulk of better grades $8.00, with a few choice ones at $8.25 to $8.50. Good light ewes topped at $3.50 showing around a 25c loss.

New Improvements Cut in Two—Federal Aid Short.

The state highway department has been forced to postpone about half the permanent improvements planned this season under the launching of the Babcock plan. Failure of congress to make the expected federal aid apportionment available for use this season is responsible for the 1921 curtailment.

Commissioner Babcock, after investigating at Washington, is satisfied that Minnesota will receive for 1921 and 1922 the usual $2,840,000 apportionment of federal aid and, further, that no difficulty will be met in the government requirements.

Accordingly, steps are being taken to use the federal funds when credits are forthcoming, it was announced, and there will be no serious set-back. The main difference will be only the postponement of more than $2,225,000 of grading and gravel surfacing and $500,000 of paving on the Babcock program for the first year.

100 CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERIES UNITE

Statewide Service Agency Gets Members Producing 15,000,000 Pounds of Butter.

More than 100 co-operative creameries have joined the central marketing agency which is being organized throughout the state by Minnesota dairymen, the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation announced today.

The co-operative creamery association is the second centralized marketing enterprise to be launched in the state this year. The first was the Central Co-operative Commission association, which is now handling livestock on the South St. Paul market for 300 co-operative shipping associations in Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Dakotas, according to farm bureau officers.

The first co-operative shipping unit formed by Minnesota co-operative creameries has voted to join the state-wide organization, John Brandt of Litchfield, secretary of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, said today in St. Paul. This shipping unit is made up of 21 creameries in Meeker, Wright and Kandiyohi counties. It began operations in April this year, with 13 creameries as members, and already has shipped 45 carloads of butter to terminal markets, Mr. Brandt said.

The 100 Minnesota creameries now united in a state association produce more than 15,000,000 pounds of butter annually, H. B. Nickerson, president of the organization said.

The state creameries association plans to improve the market for Minnesota co-operative creamery butter by placing representatives on the principal eastern markets to superintend sales and by a national advertising campaign. It also will attempt to save money for the producers by arranging shipments in carload lots at lower freight rates and by purchasing supplies for the creameries in wholesale lots, Mr. Nickerson said.

American Legion Corner

A Growing Factor.
(Montevideo News)

There are some people in America possessed of an active but unfounded fear that the American Legion is a selfish organization—of, by and for service men only. They profess to see in such a tendency a menace to America. Had they been observers at the recent state convention of The American Legion of Minnesota held in Winona, they would have seen and heard much to allay their fears.

They would have learned that the Legion's interest in its own disabled, crippled, war-stricken members is not a selfish matter. It is not to the credit of the nation that the Legion had had to wage an active and persistent fight against heavy odds in order to secure for these men and women a slight measure of justice, a tolerable degree of decent treatment from the nation in whose behalf they incurred their disability. Without the Legion's fight the country would have been shamed before the eyes of the world.

These observers would have learned, too, that the young men and women of the American Legion give serious thought to other matters of general patriotic concern. Aside from the time and energy given to various lines of activity, perhaps the most striking indication of a thoughtful interest in matters of Americanism was the reception given an address by Dr. F. O. Norton of Drake University, DesMoines, Iowa. Mr. Norton is a member of the national Americanism Commission of the American Legion.

His address came at the close of a long day during which the attention of delegates had been riveted on numerous speeches and reports through two full sessions. Mr. Norton overcame this handicap, partly by his own powerful eloquence and charm of expression; partly because his audience was in hearty accord with him in his exposition of those principles which make Americanism a true, vital force. The attitude of the thousand Legionaires who heard him for an hour was a refutation of attacks upon the Legion and a challenge to forces that seek to undermine America.

The usefulness of the American Legion as a training school in public life was demonstrated by the convention. After three days of rather lively campaigning, officers were elected who are representative of the Legion in Minnesota, who typify the best the organization has, and who can confidently be relied on for able, devoted and instructive administration of the American Legion in the department of Minnesota. Under their leadership the Legion will continue to grow as an important factor in the worth-while activities of the state.

When Nathan Potak, a youth from Ukrania, gave his life in the service of the United States in the World War, he made a sacrifice which may save his father, mother and two brothers from deportation. The family arrived in Minneapolis nearly penniless and were taken in custody by immigration authorities as violators of certain immigration regulations. They then learned for the first time of their son's sacrifice. The American Legion is endeavoring to obtain for them the $10,000 government insurance, state bonus and dependents' allowance.

Joyce Lewis, member of the Legion at Long Prairie, Minn., was among the mourners at the funeral of his buddy, Corporal Robert Burns [illegible], at St. Paul recently. Lewis owes his life to the dead soldier. The latter dragged him out of a shell hole in No-Man's-Land and was later killed in action. Lewis, though crippled, returned to the United States. He lost all trace of his rescuer until he read in a newspaper that the body of his comrade would be brought back from France for reburial.

Membership in the Legion is proving valuable in more ways than one. To Arnold Hawkinson of Glencoe Post No. 95, Minnesota, it was worth the cost of a new Ford coupe. Last week, in Minneapolis, his car was stolen. A week later two women drove up to the Minneapolis police station to visit Oscar Jordan, who had been arrested previously. They arrived in a Ford coupe and when police, suspicious, examined it, they found underneath the seat a copy of the American Legion Weekly, bearing the name and address of "Arnold Hawkinson, Glencoe, Minn." The car was quickly returned to its owner.

George Boehmer, overseas veteran of Springfield, Ill., waited two years for the war risk bureau to adjust his claim for compensation. The award came eight hours after the veteran succumbed to tuberculosis. William McCauley, Illinois Legion Commander, who had been assisting Boehmer secure his compensation, wired to Washington as follows: "Boehmer received his reward this morning. Case now in hands of his Maker."

The Todd County Agricultural association will honor the American Legion August 26 by designating it American Legion Day at the Todd County Fair and admitting all paid-up Legionaires free. Todd County Legion posts at Long Prairie, Eagle Bend, Little Sauk, Bertha, Clarissa, Browerville, Staples and Bertram, as well as Osakis Post in Douglas county, will send delegates to Long Prairie to hear State Commander Van Dyke of St. Paul deliver his first public address following his selection as Department Commander.

In a little cemetery at Crystal Lake, Minneapolis, there was laid to rest last week, the body of Corporal Samuel Lundeen, U. S. Army. Thus ended the career of one of the war's heroes. Corporal Lundeen had been under treatment in a Minneapolis hospital. Heart disease, brought on by German poison gas, was his trouble. Last week, walking outside the hospital, he fainted, fell and never rallied. His relatives could not be located but on his person was a U. S. Army Discharge which showed that "for unusual bravery under heavy shell fire at Massy Aux Cois," he was cited in Army Orders. H. W. Abrahams, a former buddy now living in Minneapolis, declared: "Sam was a 'fighting fool' and the best buddy in the world. Other First Division men used to say that the Fifth Artillery was made up of 'fighting fools'—but few were as brave as Sam Lundeen." And so, when all efforts to locate his relatives proved unavailing, Sam's comrades of the Legion laid him gently to rest on the green hillside of Crystal Lake cemetery. His buddies of the First Division association furnished the pall bearers and fired the final salute over his grave. Somewhere, those dear to him may read these lines and feel comforted to know his grave will not be forgotten. The Legion stands on guard.

"As Legionaires and as Americans we are proud of America and of our great national organization," declares State Commander Van Dyke in a communication to Minnesota Legion posts, "but deep in our hearts there glows a special pride in our department and in the great state of Minnesota. Our greatest glory is our North Star state and all she stands for, and our greatest wish is to honor her, not only at home, but when the hosts of the Legion gather from the four corners of America in Kansas City next October. In that monster parade of surging Legionaires from every state in the Union, how many buddies from your town will march shoulder to shoulder with the buddies from our other 185 Minnesota towns when the bands start playing as General Pershing and Marshal Foch give the signal which will start the greatest parade in all history?"

LIQUOR SMUGGLING STUNT IS PLANNED FOR NORTH BORDER

Attempt Being Made to Transport Half Million in Liquor Across to Baudette.

More than half a million dollars worth of whiskey and beer is at Rainey River, all ready to be smuggled into the United States by way of Baudette and other points along the river, says the Baudette Region. It is composed of a carload of alcohol, one of Scotch, one of brandy, one of beer and one of rye. There is also a big consignment of essence of bourbon which, mixed with alcohol, is said to make a brand of bourbon whiskey—the kind that makes glad the soul of the American drinker. The owners of the stuff, the United Shippers of Winnipeg, make no secret of the fact that it is intended for shipment into this country. In fact when it was seized by the Canadian authorities recently, their defense was that it was intended for importation. In handing down his decision, giving back the shipment, Judge Hollands of Fort Frances states that he believes that it will get into the hands of blindpiggers and bootleggers on this side of the line, but the Canadian law does not prohibit exporting whiskey, so the company has the stuff in its possession legally. The liquor is now at Rainy River and is being guarded by several men. It is valued at six hundred thousand dollars.

Customs officials at Baudette expect the time of their lives in keeping the liquor from entering this country, and it is expected that the stuff will be increased until the danger has passed.

HUNTING LAWS FOR THIS SEASON MORE STRICT THAN EVER

Principal Points in Game Laws For 1921—Put Them Away For Future Reference.

The open season on prairie chickens runs from September 16 until October 1st. Nine birds may be taken in a day, but 18 birds is the full season limit.

Ducks, coots and geese may be shot from September 16 to December 31. The day limits are 15 ducks and coots and 5 geese. You may shoot 45 ducks, 45 coots and 5 geese as your season limit.

Partridge cannot be taken this fall, the season being closed until October 15, 1922.

Hunters must remember that it is unlawful to enter into any growing grain or to allow their dogs to do so, without permission of the land owner, and that it is unlawful to hunt on the land of another after having been notified not to do so.

Deer may be taken between Nov. 10 and Nov. 20, under practically the same other conditions as heretofore, except that a metal tag to be furnished by the county auditor at a cost of 25c must be attached to big game carcasses. The tag will be furnished with each license issued at the same time.

FORD CUTS RATES AND TILTS WAGES

Hard Times Hold No Terror For Manufacturer of Flivver. Now Owns Railroads.

Jokesmiths will continue to make "flivver" jokes, but the world no longer laughs at Henry Ford—particularly that small section of the world known as Wall street. It was about to enjoy a good laugh at the manufacturer's expense when something happened—but that part of the story comes later.

Today Ford is probably the most talked-of man in the United States, because he has increased the wages of workers when nearly every other employer is attempting to reduce them, and has decreased freight charges on his railroad, the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton, when every other railroad executive in the country has been protesting that this policy would be ruinous.

He has also made an offer to the government to take over the Muscle Shoals nitrate plant, finance it and produce fertilizer for the American farmer on conditions that have caused Big Business to gasp. The plan is to operate this great enterprise at a net profit of not to exceed 8 per cent per year, and to permit farm organizations to have supervision over accounts, that they may know that farmers are getting exactly what Ford promises them.

The result is that President Harding has received a petition signed by 400 fruit growers of Oceana county, Mich., asking that the railroads of the country be turned over to Ford. The petition states that present freight rates are taking most of the profits of farmers' crops, and point out that Ford recently reduced rates on his railroad and thus made conditions easier for those who use his carrier.

Cabinet officers are said to be swamped with messages from farmers and farm organizations urging approval of Ford's proposal to take over the Muscle Shoals plant. The manufacturer appears in the light of a benefactor to a majority of the farmers, according to the messages they are sending in to government officials. The approval by the government of his offer will save hundreds of millions of dollars yearly to agricultural interests.

Tallest Man in the World Passes Through Baudette

The tallest man in the world passed through Baudette Monday evening, and those who saw him didn't need to be told. He is over eight feet in height and when he stood on the station platform, his head came within a few inches of the top of the windows in the car. He was built in proportion, having exceptionally long fingers, feet that looked like violin cases and very broad shoulders. He must weigh six or seven hundred pounds. He recently came from Holland and was on his way to the Toronto Fair, where he is to exhibit himself.

The day after he passed through Baudette the big chap was married at Port Arthur to a Winnipeg stenographer, who must think a lot of him, or at least has a lot of him to think of. She also is a Hollander by birth.—Baudette Region.

Better Schedule Planned For Moving Stock Trains

A committee of shippers, farmers, stockyards and packing house representatives and railroad officials is at work this week on changes in train schedules for marketing of Minnesota livestock. Heavy losses are suffered by farmers because shipments are not properly distributed on the South St. Paul market, the committee has found. On some days the market is glutted, causing congestion and depressing prices, members said. The committee met yesterday at the state capitol and began planning changes in train schedules, so that an equal supply of stock will arrive on the market every day. The farm bureau and the Central Co-operative Commission association are represented on the committee.

Tilt With Jim Jam Jems Ends in Death of Woman

Mrs. Mary de Brito, a Chicago beauty prize winner, killed herself Tuesday, while mentally deranged. That is a news item of little interest until one reads the further statement that she is supposed to have had a controversy with Sam Clark's magazine, Jim Jam Jems, and through fear of reprisal committed the rash act.

She had read an article, "The Plumed Knight," in the August issue of the magazine, which she thought approved of tar and feathering parties. She, therefore wrote a letter of protest to Governor Frazier of North Dakota and urged suspension of Jim Jam Jems for advocating such a policy. The governor forwarded the letter of protest to the editor of Clark's magazine and it is said that the reply she got from him was what scared her. The editor in replying to Mrs. de Brito, said:

"If you are undergoing a reform phase your own city and state afford you boundless opportunities. We didn't start your intrusion into our affairs, but we'll guarantee to finish it good and plenty."

Girls, Unanimously.

Upper and Lower.

He was no traveling man. That much was noticed by a clerk in the consolidated city ticket office at Main street and Court avenue.

"Let me have sleeping car accomodations on the train to New York," said the man, approaching the clerk cautiously.

"For a single passenger?" asked the clerk, smiling.

"No," replied the man. "I'm married, but I am not taking anybody with me. A single shelf will answer, I suppose."

"Upper or lower?" again asked the clerk.

"What's the difference?" inquired the passenger.

"A difference of about $1," answered the clerk.

The passenger paused, as he fumbled his money, and the clerk explained:

"You understand, of course, the lower is higher than the upper. The higher price is for the lower berth. If you want it lower, you'll have to go higher. We sell the upper lower than the lower. In other words, the higher the lower."

"Why do they all ask for the lower?" asked the man.

"On account of its convenience," replied the clerk hastily. "Most persons don't like the upper, although it's lower, on account of it being higher, and because when you occupy an upper, you have got to get up to your bed and then get down when you get up. I would advise you to take the lower, although it's higher than the upper, for the reason I have stated, that the upper is lower than the lower, because it is higher. You can have the lower if you pay higher; but if you are willing to go higher it will be lower."

For a time it seemed as though it would be necessary to call an ambulance and send the bewildered customer to a hospital.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

It's Canning time!
Are you ready to put up Peaches, Pears and Plums?
WHAT a welcome task is fruit-canning, with all its delightful associations! Firm, white halves of pears; sun-tinted, downy-cheeked peaches; deep colored, glistening plums; newly washed Ball mason jars ready to fill; steaming kettles that spread a delicious fragrance of cooking fruit.
Put on your apron and begin! Don't put off this profitable work. Factory prepared fruits are extravagant.
After these popular fruits are on the market they soon disappear. Fill your shelves with home canned fruits and preserves and you'll rejoice all winter.
Nothing adds quite such a delightful taste to a meal as pickled peaches or pears. Try this tested recipe—
1 pint vinegar
4 pounds sugar
7 pounds peaches or pears
1 ounce cloves
Peel the fruit and stick 4 cloves into each. Cook for 15 minutes in syrup made of the vinegar and sugar. Place in hot Ball mason jars and seal.

USE SIMMONS "KK" NON-SKID TIRES
SIMMONS "KK" Non-Skid Tread is the design of the "KK" Trade Mark.
The Tread is composed of "KK" Trade Marks placed closely together, top to top. Will grip any surface, such as WET, GREASY ASPHALT PAVEMENT, and prevent skidding or side-slipping.
Added service is given this tire through the extra bulk of rubber on the tread. This extra amount of rubber affords an effective non-skid.
In addition to its being a non-skid tire it will wear much longer than the plain tread, giving you more service and satisfaction.
When purchasing, consider the extra thickness or amount of rubber contained in the non-skid feature and you will realize that when this has been worn off, you have left practically the life of a plain tread tire.

ANTON TO LEAD FARM BUREAU'S WORK FOR YEAR

Hans Anton, Long Prominent in County, Chosen as President of Farm Bureau.

Comprehensive Plans For Next Year's Work Formulated at Annual Meeting.

Bureau Members Express Gratitude For Liberal Aid Given By Business Men.

The annual meeting of the Pennington County Farm Bureau association was held in the rooms of the Thief River Falls Commercial club on Sunday, Aug. 28. The meeting was largely attended and very successful, there being representatives present from fifteen of the 21 townships in the county.

Officers were elected for the ensuing year from the directors of the fifteen townships represented, as follows: President, Hans Anton, St. Hilaire; vice president, Harry C. Woolson, Thief River Falls; secretary and treasurer, Stuart McLeod, Goodridge; county director, Paul Engelstad, Thief River Falls. The constitution and by-laws for the farm bureau organization were revised to conform with the new township unit plan recently inaugurated in all townships.

Working Program Discussed.

The program of work for next year was fully discussed at the meeting, and especial attention was given to the question how best to eradicate the sow thistle. It was generally agreed that the most effective way of combating the pest is through the growing of fall rye, sweet clover, alfalfa and similar crops, together with the keeping of live stock, following a rotation and the growing of cultivated crops.

Business Men Praised.

The attitude of the business men of Pennington county in helping to finance the farm bureau association was brought to the attention of the members at Sunday's meeting and many expressions of appreciation were given. This liberal attitude of the business and professional men is highly appreciated by the bureau members, many of whom feel that to have carried the entire financial burden among the farmer members would have been impossible.

The splendid co-operation shown among citizens of town and country has made it possible to continue the farm bureau organization in a very effective manner despite the fact that no county aid was forthcoming this year to assist in defraying expenses.

Proper Spirit Shown.

The meeting on Sunday was particularly noticeable for the optimistic spirit of the farmers in attendance. While many have been conducting farms during the past two seasons under decidedly adverse circumstances, it was very evident from sentiment expressed at the meeting that they are not by any means yet ready to give up the ship.

Pennington county farmers are improving the conditions under which they labor and a large majority is confident that the farm bureau association furnishes the best means for bringing about the desired results. As a general rule the best farmers in all parts of the county hold memberships in the bureau, and in some townships the membership is 100 per cent.

IMPORTANT TOPICS BROUGHT UP TODAY AT CLUB LUNCHEON

City Scales Question and Tax Levy For Park Questions To Be Considered.

A number of interesting subjects will be brought up for discussion at the noonday luncheon of the Commercial club today. It is understood the subject of providing public scales for Thief River Falls will be taken up and recommendations made to the city council in regard to the matter. Mayor John Bratrud is heartily in favor of such a move and has secured testimonials from a number of cities in the state where public scales are maintained.

Another matter which is being urged by Mayor Bratrud is the proposal to make a tax levy in the city for park purposes. The argument is set forth that a tax levy of two or three mills would hardly be noticed by the individual taxpayer and would provide funds which are badly needed by the park board for beautifying the city's play grounds. The mayor desires the sentiment of the Commercial club on this important subject before making recommendations to the city council.

At next week's meeting of the club, Game Warden Munch will be present to give a talk on the new state game and fish laws. This is a very seasonable subject at this time and the talk should prove of interest.

Making a Tour of State.

E. B. Lindsley, publisher of the Pine County Farmer at Willow River, was a caller at The Times office on Tuesday. Mr. Lindsley is making an automobile trip and expects to proceed to the Canadian border before starting back. This was his first visit to this section of the state and he expressed surprise at the stage of development found on every hand.

Dr. Mellby Returns.

Dr. O. F. Mellby returned yesterday morning from Chicago, where he had spent two months at the largest hospital in the city making a special study of eye, ear, nose and throat work under some of the most eminent specialists in the country. The doctor will hereafter specialize in diseases of these organs and will confine himself to office practice only. Dr. H. W. Froehlich and Dr. L. F. Fisher, the other two doctors in the Clinic, will take care of the necessary outside work.

WHOLESALE FRUIT CONCERN ACQUIRES TESSUM PROPERTY

Gamble-Robinson Company to Establish Branch Distributing Point Here.

A deal was closed this week whereby the Gamble-Robinson company, wholesale fruit dealers, purchased the Tessum building just across the tracks from the Soo depot. Part of the building will be retained for offices and storage purposes by the Tessum company, the new concern taking over the basement, first floor and part of the office space. The Tessum company will maintain its offices in the building as formerly, retaining the third floor and its old suite of offices on the first floor.

The old Tessum building on Third street has been opened for business but this will take care of the retail trade only and the wholesale business will be conducted from the building near the depot, where the main warehouse and office will be housed.

The Gamble-Robinson company is a large concern with a number of distributing points throughout the northern part of the state. The firm deals in fruits exclusively and picked Thief River Falls as the most advantageous point from which to serve the northwest counties of the state. A large stock will be carried and it is anticipated the new concern will enjoy a splendid business from the start.

GOOD ROADS AHEAD OF FAIR VISITORS

State Highway Department Orders Trunk Routes Smoothed For Extra Travel.

Conditions on trunk highways to St. Paul and Minneapolis are reported by the highway department this week for the information of parties planning to make automobile trips to the state fair. The reports are furnished by district maintenance superintendents, and barring bad weather, will be found fairly accurate, it is said.

Special preparations were ordered made by the highway department for the heavy traffic predicted from state fair travel. Orders were given all patrolmen to make special efforts to put smooth surfaces on their sections. Extra crews were added to speed marking of the trunk routes with yellow stars carrying the number of each. The big task is nearing completion in most districts, superintendents report.

Owing to the large amount of new road construction, there are many detours scattered over the state and in some cases it has been found difficult for various reasons to maintain them in satisfactory condition. The detours are marked.

NEW ASSESSOR TO BEGIN WORK SOON

Commission Grants Request to Reassess Thief River Falls Personal Property.

The state tax commission has evidently decided that it is necessary to reassess the personal property in the city of Thief River Falls, in accordance with a resolution recently passed and forwarded to that body by the board of county commissioners.

Information received by County Auditor T. P. Anderson from the commission indicates that the work will be started at once and will be in charge of L. R. Swift, a man appointed by that body. All necessary supplies for the reassessment arrived at the auditor's office yesterday and it is likely the new assessor will be here before the end of the week to begin his labors. Going over all the personal property in the city is a large undertaking and the task is likely to consume several weeks of time.

STATE AUDITOR GIVES NEW JOB TO LOCAL MAN

Wilhelm Michelet Named to Head New State Department Recently Created.

Exceptional Qualifications of Thief River Falls Man Fit Him For Place.

Michelet Family to Leave Saturday For Merriam Park to Establish Home.

WILHELM MICHELET

Wilhelm Michelet of Thief River Falls was on Monday appointed by State Auditor Ray P. Chase to be state superintendent of farm lands. This is a new position recently created to bring about more efficient handling of the state's land interests.

The mineral lands department will be continued with F. A. Wildes as head, while Otto Diercks will continue in charge of the timber lands department.

Activities Centralized.

All state land activities are henceforth to be centralized at the state capitol, it was announced by Auditor Chase. Mr. Wildes will move his offices from Hibbing and Mr. Michelet will take hold of the farm lands department as soon as he can close up his business affairs.

Mr. Michelet's new position carries with it a salary of $3,000 per year. He will be placed in complete charge of the department and it is expected will require the aid of several clerks and assistants to handle the large amount of details connected with the work. The proper supervision of state lands has grown to be a stupendous task, which is the reason the new department was found necessary at this time.

Michelet Well Qualified.

The new state superintendent of farm lands is well qualified to fill the position. Mr. Michelet has been a resident of Thief River Falls for the past 18 years, and for many years has served as U. S. Commissioner. He is a graduate of the college of law of the University of Minnesota, class of 1903. He served as city attorney of Thief River Falls in 1906 and 1907, as county attorney of Red Lake county before the formation of Pennington in 1909 and 1910, and as judge of probate of Pennington county from 1910 to 1919.

Mr. Michelet's long residence in this part of the state, where nearly all of the state agricultural lands are located, and the nature of his work during these years, has afforded him experience which should prove of great value in his new position.

Knows Needs of Section.

Mr. Michelet, through his work as United States Commissioner, is thoroughly familiar with the settlement of northern Minnesota; and will cooperate in his new post with the state immigration and agricultural departments. With J. H. Hay in the agricultural department and Mr. Michelet as superintendent of farm lands, this section of the state is well represented in the important departments at St. Paul.

Mr. Michelet is busy closing up his business affairs in Thief River Falls and expects to leave with his family for St. Paul the last of this week. He has secured a very desirable residence in the Merriam Park district, where the family will make its home.

On Familair Ground.

Returning to the Twin Cities seems almost like returning home for the Michelet family. Mr. Michelet was reared and educated there and Minneapolis was the home of his parents until their death during the past year. One sister still resides there. Mrs. Michelet also has one sister in Minneapolis and one in St. Paul, while her parents live at Black River Falls, Wis., a little more than a hundred miles away.

Better educational facilities for the children also are factors which influenced Mr. Michelet in his decision to accept the new post.

During their long residence in Thief River Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Michelet have enjoyed the confidence and respect of everyone with whom they have come in contact, and leave a large number of friends whose best wishes go with them to their new home.

AUTO LICENSE LAW WILL BE ENFORCED

Local Authorities Notified By Secretary of State to Prosecute For Violation.

Sheriff LaBree and local authorities have begun the strict enforcement of the new state motor vehicle license law, following notice from Mike Holm, secretary of state, that virtually all license applications are filled.

"Ample time has been given to comply with the requirements," said Secretary Holm, "and it is only fair to those who have paid their just share of the taxes that all should be required to do their part."

Misdemeanor charges are to be made against automobile owners who delay or neglect to register and pay the tax with intent to escape payment; operate a motor vehicle not properly taxed and registered, use a number plate or certificate on another car than that for which it was issued, or who fail to surrender the plates or certificates when required by law.

Letters "A" and "B" on the license plates indicate that the certificate is for a passenger car, bus or hearse, the first letter denoting the $12 minimum and the other the higher tax payment. Truck license plates carry the letters "T" and "X" and must be displayed on all machines carrying other things than passengers. Roadsters with boxes are taxed as trucks. Dealers' plates can be used on cars being demonstrated to prospective purchasers.

HITS DYNAMITE CAP AND HEARS REPORT

Boy Also Suffers Punctured Eye Ball and Seriously Lacerated Hands as Result.

Clifford, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Helgeland, farmers residing six miles east of Thief River Falls, had a narrow escape Monday when he exploded a dynamite cap with a hammer. The thumb and first finger of the lad's left hand were badly lacerated and a fragment of the cap punctured the ball of the right eye.

The boy was immediately taken to Thief River Falls for attention and the physician in charge believes that it will be possible to save the eye unless unlooked for complications arise. The lacerations on the hand, while extremely painful, are not serious and are not expected to result in permanent injury.

While playing about the granary, Clifford explored a shelf and discovered a dynamite cap left there by his father. Evidently getting a notion that a little noise would be the proper thing, the lad proceeded to pound the cap with a hammer. It was a close call and it is a safe bet the boy will never try the same experiment a second time.

MORE INTEREST IN JEFFERSON HIGHWAY

Many Memberships Secured and New Board of Directors For County Named.

The Jefferson Highway association for Pennington county was revived Wednesday afternoon by the election of five members out of the seven on the board of directors at a special meeting held in the Commercial club rooms, called by W. E. Dettmer of St. Joseph, Mo., representative of General Manager J. D. Clarkson.

Mr. Dettmer has been in the city the past three days renewing memberships in the association and after securing forty names called the meeting. The other two members will be chosen this afternoon at a special meeting held in St. Hilaire.

Math. Barzen, George C. Streeter, Carl Sundahl, V. C. Noper and F. F. Haynes were those elected yesterday to the county board, while L. A. Lampert and Math. Barzen were selected as delegates to the state convention to be held soon in the Twin Cities. A third delegate to the state convention will be named at St. Hilaire today, completing the county's quota.

It will be news to a large number here that the Jefferson Highway has been chosen by the special congressional committee on war department highways as the one great north and south transcontinental war department highway, and as soon as it is hardsurfaced by the various states will be taken over and cared for by the federal government. This will mean a 26-foot highway instead of an 18-foot road as at present contemplated by the Babcock system, and will mean the best north and south road in the United States. That this will mean much to this city and section of the state goes without saying.

Indians Get Money.

The house of representatives last Wednesday passed the Steenerson bill authorizing a $100 per capita distribution out of the principal fund to their credit in the United States treasury to the Chippewa Indians of Minnesota. It is estimated there are over 12,000 Chippewas in Minnesota at the present time.

Splendid Faculty Has Been Secured By Board to Carry on Educational Work.

Lack of Room in Knox Building Makes Minor Changes in Program Necessary.

All preparations are now complete for the opening of the public schools next Tuesday morning. The janitors have been busy all summer going over the buildings and all necessary repairs have been made. The desks and furniture have been revarnished and the whole physical plant now looks and is spick-and-span. All details have been looked after and when school opens everything is expected to get into motion without friction of any kind.

An Efficient Faculty.

The board of education feels that it has been successful in getting together a strong faculty, and all indications point to a very successful school year. The roster of instructors is now complete and every teacher is well qualified for the position assigned.

To start the year right all pupils and students should be on hand promptly at 9 o'clock Tuesday, with the exception of the pupils in the Knox building, where the first, second, fourth and sixth grades assemble at 9 o'clock in the morning, and the third and fifth grades at 1:15 in the afternoon. Out of the first and second grades which assemble in the forenoon, certain children will be excused to come again for the afternoon, which will be their regular meeting time, there being more first and second graders than can be handled in two departments. This arrangement is temporary and will be changed as occasion demands.

Kindergarten Facilities.

Kindergarten departments are maintained in the Central building in the forenoon for all children residing on the west side of the river, and in the Swedish Baptist church, across from the Knox building, during the afternoon for all children residing on the East side.

All children becoming five on or before Nov. 7 may enroll for work in the first grade for the first semester. No first grade children, however, will be enrolled for the first semester after Sept. 19. Children who delay enrolling will be enrolled Jan. 23, which is the opening of the second semester. This will be fully explained in a bulletin that the board of education is having prepared. The bulletin is now in the hands of the printer, and it is hoped to have a copy in the hands of every patron of the district before school begins next Tuesday.

Immediate Attendance Urged.

The superintendent wishes to impress upon all parents and pupils the necessity of starting strictly on time. Many pupils have been failures in school simply because of a late start. This holds true in every department, but is particularly true in the high school. A late start will not only be a hindrance to the pupil who comes in late, but it will retard the work of the entire class as well as increase the teacher's burden.

In high school the text books will be sold at the building. Students should come prepared to buy the necessary books the first day. If all books have to be bought the cost will be between five and ten dollars, varying to some etxent with the year in which the student is working.

SOLDIERS' CLAIMS TO BE HEARD HERE BY SPECIAL BOARD

All Service Men Having Unsettled Grievances Urged to Appear Before Board.

Heretofore the U. S. War Risk bureau soldiers' compensation and insurance claims, the U. S. Public Health Service handled medical treatment and the Federal Vocational board handled vocational education. Each bureau worked independently. Much of their work overlapped. There was no single co-ordinating head. All claims had to be referred to headquarters at Washington with resulting delay, confusion and red tape. Many a disabled soldier gave up in despair.

And all this time the American Legion was urging congress to pass the Sweet bill, which would end these troubles. After two years congress passed it. How does the Sweet bill affect the disabled service man's chance for securing justice?

In many ways. Here are the two most important. The Sweet bill has amalgamated the three bureaus mentioned above. There is only one body, known as "The Veterans' Bureau," with one co-ordinating head over all. The other great victory was the clause in the Sweet bill which says that future claims need not be sent all the way to Washington for a decision. Awards may be made or changed by each district branch of the Veterans' Bureau. Minnesota is in the Tenth district, the headquarters of which is in the Keith-Plaza building, Minneapolis. Awards and changes now are made there, instead of Washington, D. C.

Commencing on Labor day in St. Paul, a traveling squad of the Veterans' Bureau will travel through Minnesota, stopping at 17 different points, at which former service men may appear and have their claims for compensation, vocational training and medical treatment adjusted. Service men should write to the Manager, Veterans' Bureau, Keith-Plaza Building, Minneapolis, and ask for a transportation application form on which to apply for free transportation and expenses in connection with the trip to the nearest point at which the traveling squad will appear to examine him.

The traveling squad will be in Thief River Falls from 9 a. m. Sept. 30, to 5 p. m. Oct. 1, and will care for all applicants from Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Red Lake and Pennington counties.

ELKS PUT ON FINE ENTERTAINMENT AT BIG ANNUAL PICNIC

Threatening Weather Holds Attendance Down But Everybody Has Good Time.

The threatening weather last Sunday morning no doubt kept many away from the Elks' annual picnic who otherwise would have attended, but despite this handicap the affair proved very successful in all particulars. The weather cleared up nicely and continued ideal throughout the afternoon.

Oodles of stuff to eat was provided by the visitors at the picnic and with the addition of coffee and other viands provided by the lodge, there was absolutely no reason for anyone going away hungry. The kids, especially, had the time of their lives—and what is a picnic for if it not to provide a good time for the kiddies?

The sports program in the afternoon was carried through without a hitch and provided a great deal of amusement for everyone. Taken all in all, it was a real picnic and one which will linger long in the memory of those present as one of the enjoyable occasions of the summer season.

WEDNESDAY TO BE FARM BUREAU DAY ON FAIR GROUNDS

President of National Federation on Tour of Minnesota. Three Sessions Planned.

Wednesday, Sept. 7, will be Farm Bureau Day at the state fair, according to a letter received by officers of the county farm bureau from headquarters of the state federation.

James R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, and Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas have been invited to address a mass meeting of farm bureau members in the afternoon. Other speakers will review the work of the farm bureau in co-operative marketing and legislation. The mass meeting will be conducted in the livestock hippodrome, beginning at 12 noon, so that farmers will be able to attend the meeting without missing the livestock judging or the races.

Two other important farm bureau conferences are to take place in state fair week. On Thursday, Sept. 8, the directors of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, representing all county farm bureaus which are members of the state organization, will meet in the agricultural building for an all day business session. On Friday, a joint committee of farmers and bankers will meet at state headquarters of the federation, in the Old Capitol, St. Paul, to discuss organization of an agricultural finance corporation to provide additional credit for producing and marketing Minnesota crops.

These three meetings, farm bureau officers say, will mark the culmination of a year in which the farm bureau in Minnesota has grown from 12,000 members to more than 72,000.

President Howard is now on a tour of southern and central Minnesota, speaking at a series of county fairs. He was scheduled to speak at the Steele county fair at Owatonna on Aug. 30, at the Lyon county fair at Marshall on Aug. 31, and at the Traverse county fair at Browns Valley on Sept. 1. The Stearns county fair at Sauk Center Sept. 2nd is the last on this tour. Mr. Howard is going from Sauk Center to DesMoines, and is expected to return to address the farm bureau mass meeting at the state fair grounds on Sept. 7.

Mr. Howard is serving his second term as president of the American Farm Bureau federation, which now numbers a million and a quarter farmers in 47 states of the union. Senator Capper is one of the outstanding figures in the fight for legislation to improve agricultural conditions. In case either Mr. Howard or Senator Capper is unable to come, John G. Brown, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau federation, and one of the directors of the American federation, probably will speak.

GOOD PROGRESS BEING MADE ON DRAINAGE WORK

Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy Board Holds Important Meeting Tuesday.

Viewers Appointed to Appraise Benefits and Damages on Clearwater Project.

Greater Part of Surveying of Red Lake River and Red Lake Now Completed.

A meeting of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy board was held at the court house in Thief River Falls on Tuesday afternoon. All members of the board were present, as follows: President C. G. Selvig of Crookston; directors, E. A. Aubol, St. Hilaire; Axel Nelson, Holt; Wm. Paskewitz, Grygla, and Andrew Johnson, Gully; A. O. Brevik, secretary, St. Hilaire and E. A. Boughton, Jr., attorney, Red Lake Falls.

Viewers Appointed.

Three viewers were appointed at Tuesday's meeting to have charge of assessing damages and benefits on the Clearwater project, where the surveying and other preliminary work has been brought to a stage where this step may be taken. E. A. Mostue, Thief River Falls; F. Erdman, St. Hilaire, and Andrew Christianson, Mentor, were chosen by the board to appraise the project above mentioned. All are well qualified to perform the exceedingly difficult task, and it is the intention to begin operations without delay.

A meeting of the viewers having in charge the Grand Marais section of the project will be held at Red Lake Falls next Thursday, when the final reports will be submitted to the board.

Rapid Progress Made.

Considering the magnitude of the Red Lake drainage and conservancy project, the reports submitted at Tuesday's meeting indicate that rapid progress has been made with the work. It is an undertaking requiring an almost unbelievable amount of detailed preliminary preparation, surveying and securing profiles of the area affected being a stupendous task in itself.

Surveyors have been at work all summer on the Red Lake river section of the drainage project, including the water controls at Red lake, and it is expected that profiles will be ready within a short time.

Complete Report Soon.

Consulting Engineer Adolph F. Meyer of Minneapolis, who has the entire surveying job under his supervision, is preparing an exhaustive report covering the drainage and water power phases of the proposed improvements, and expects to have the document ready for submission to the board in ten days or two weeks.

Bids for the construction of certain dikes near Crookston were opened and considered by the board on Tuesday. All bids received were far in excess of the engineer's original estimate for the work, and the proposals were accordingly rejected.

To Start Test Case.

In order to get a supreme court decision in the matter of assessing benefits to lands which lie a considerable distance from the drainage channels which are to be deepened and improved, and which naturally will be indirectly benefitted through the improved drainage facilities thus provided, the board has been advised by its attorney to institute a friendly suit covering certain cases in the Grand Marias section of the project. The work of the viewers on the remaining projects will thus be made more clear and the likelihood of future legal entanglements diminished.

The next meeting of the conservancy board will be held as soon as the engineer's report on the Red Lake river project has been submitted.

Important Meeting of Elks to Be Held Friday Evening

All members of the Elks lodge are urgently requested to be present at the meeting to be held on Friday evening of this week. Many important matters are to come up for consideration at this time and a good representation of the membership is therefore desired.

Among other things to be considered is a communication of unusual interest from the Grand Exalted Ruler, and a confidential report from the committees on charity and sickness.

Automobiles Collide.

Two big automobiles, one driven by a party from Starbuck and the other by a Viking man, locked horns at the northwest corner of the fair grounds Monday evening. One of the cars was proceeding from the east and the other from the north, both at high speed, and crashed together at the corner. The Starbuck car, a big Regal, was quite badly smashed and had to be hauled to a local garage for repairs, while the Viking folks were able to proceed on their way after disentangling themselves from the wreck. Fortunately no one was injured in the smashup.

WAS A LUCKY DAY FOR ME, SHE SAYS

Minneapolis Woman Was Right on Verge of Despair—Says Tanlac Restored Health.

"I have read a lot of wonderful things about Tanlac," said Mrs. Amelia Canis, 900 West Broadway, Minneapolis, Minn., but I don't believe anybody's experience is more wonderful than mine.

"Why, I have actually gained twenty-five pounds in weight and am like a different person altogether. When I began taking Tanlac I was almost a wreck but now everybody says I'm the picture of health, and that's just the way I feel.

"My digestion was so poor that I never dared eat anything but light foods like milk and toast, and even then I suffered from sour stomach and had such pains I could hardly keep from crying. I didn't much more than eat enough to keep alive and fell off in weight till it was alarming. I got to where I was right on the verge of despair and didn't know which way to turn for relief.

"Well, it was a lucky day for me when I got Tanlac, for I never in my life saw such a change as it has made in me. Every bit of indigestion and nervousness has left me; I sleep like a baby, and my appetite is so good that three meals a day are not enough for me. I have gained back all my lost weight and more besides, and feel as well as I ever did in my life."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Return From Vacation.

Judge and Mrs. A. Grindeland returned home Sunday after about a month's absence. The judge attended a meeting of district court judges held at Duluth in connection with the meeting of the State Bar association at Duluth the latter part of July. After that meeting the judge and Mrs. Grindeland made a tour of the principal towns of the iron range and then proceeded to the Spa, the famous health resort at Waukesha, Wis., where they remained for two weeks resting and recuperating. The judge is now in good physical and mental trim to tackle the many knotty legal problems that often confront him in his judicial position.—Warren Sheaf.

$15,000 Potato Field.

The biggest crop of potatoes ever to be taken from a single field in this district will be harvested soon on the Backus farm adjoining Baudette. The yield will be an exceptionally good one, and Mr. John [illegible], manager of the farm, states that the potatoes from one field alone will be worth at least fifteen thousand dollars. The crop will run better than 200 bushels to the acre.—Baudette Region.

Mayhew Returns.

Peter Mayhew, for several years proprietor of a barber shop on Third street, but during the past three years occupying a position as traveling sale man for a Minneapolis firm, has returned to Thief River Falls and expects to remain here permanently. He has accepted a position in the Benson barber shop, where he is being greeted by many old friends.

American Legion Corner

To be hurled through the door of a moving freight train by I. W. W. members was the experience of Legionaire Charles Rand of Malone, New York, when he refused to join the I. W. W. while on his way from Council Bluffs, Iowa to St. Paul to look for work. The train on which he was riding was going twenty-five miles an hour and good fortune alone saved Rand from death. On his arrival in St. Paul his brother Legionaires took care of him and helped secure work for him at the state fair grounds.

A tribute to the splendid spirit of co-operation existing between the Legion posts of Minnesota and South Dakota is paid by Legionaires of the Oscar Iverson Post, of Jasper, Minnesota, in a letter to Legion State headquarters, part of which reads: "Our post is named after Oscar Iverson, our fallen comrade. On August 21st when we conducted his military funeral we wanted to honor his memory as much as possible, so we asked the Legion boys at Pipestone, Trosky, Luverne and Beaver Creek in Minnesota, and at Flandreau, Dell Rapids and Garretson in South Dakota to attend. Every one of them responded, each local post coming in a body and in addition, the Flandreau boys brought their entire band. It was the largest funeral ever held in this part of Minnesota. We hope other Minnesota posts will make a special effort to hold similar funerals because we cannot too much honor those who gave all. We wish to thank St. Paul Legionaires for the wreath and emblems placed on the casket when enroute here."

"On a troop train from Camp Stewart to Camp Dodge about June 20th, 1919, was a captain from the Twin Cities who could help me secure payment of a just claim. I am not positive as to his name but believe it was Smith. He was traveling with Company F, 32d Engineers at the time. If any buddy knows his address, will appreciate receiving it," writes Legionaire Joseph Drew of Cascade, Ia., to Minnesota Legion News Service at St. Paul.

The world may forget, but a mother's heart never dies. And though Chris Kowalske has been reported "killed in action July 15th, 1918," his mother, who lives at 603 Ellis St., Peoria, Ill., cannot believe it, and recently she came all the way to St. Paul to see a buddy in the Aberdeen hospital, St. Paul, who remembered seeing Private Kowalske in a Fort Snelling Minnesota hospital in 1919, but has since lost trace of him. Kowalske served as a private in Co. F, 47th Infantry, 4th Division. He is 5 ft. 8, 145 pounds, has straight dark hair, heavy eyebrows, dark brown eyes, deep-set, and wears a signet ring with initials, "C. K." The American Legion is endeavoring to secure nation-wide publicity with the object of helping Mrs. Kowalske find her long-lost boy.

THE LARGEST CHAIN DEPARTMENT STORE ORGANIZATION IN THE WORLD

FARMERS' BUSINESS BIGGEST ON MARKET

New Co-Operative Livestock Sales Agency Sets Record in First Two Weeks.

The Central Co-operative Commission association, organized by Minnesota farmers to market their livestock, handled more business than any other company on the market here in its first two weeks of operation.

Records of the state railroad and warehouse commission show that in these two weeks, the farmer-owned company handled 11,789 head of livestock; its nearest competitor handled 6,947 head. Total receipts on the market, during the second week in which the farmer company operated, amounted to 68,250 head; the co-operative agency handled 7,608. There are more than 30 firms on the market.

W. A. McKerrow, manager, estimates that the new agency is handling 45 per cent of the stock shipped in co-operatively by farmers in Minnesota and Wisconsin. Stock also is arriving from South Dakota, consigned to the farmers' firm; three South Dakota shipping associations joined the Minnesota firm last week without solicitation, according to farm bureau officers.

The farmer-owned company is acting as the direct agent of farmers in several states in stocker and feeder trade, Mr. McKerrow said. During its second week of business it shipped 20 carloads of cattle from Minnesota farmers to other farms in this state, and also in Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin.

FLAX TOW MILL TO BEGIN OPERATIONS

Red Lake Falls Company Repairs Plant and is Now Ready For Business.

The flax tow mill near the junction of the Clearwater and Red Lake rivers is rapidly being put in shape and is expected to open for business sometime next week, according to employees of the Fibre Products Co., the Twin City concern that recently purchased the plant from creditors of V. H. Blehdon of Buffalo, N. Y., says the Red Lake Falls Gazette.

E. Lappins, manager of the mill, went to Winnipeg Saturday to secure flax straw and when this arrives operations can be commenced. The machinery has been thoroughly overhauled, extensive repairs have been made, new belts, pulleys and carriers installed and everything put in first-class shape. Upwards of $2,000 has been spent in alterations and repairs.

A large straw-shed 32x40 feet has been erected on the north side of the mill and this will insure all the employees working under cover, a much better arrangement especially in winter, and the straw will be kept dry. The straw will be shipped in bales from Canada and the finished tow will be baled in the mill and shipped to the Twin Cities.

This revived industry will be a big benefit to Red Lake Falls as it will be operated the year around and provide work for from 8 to 10 men. Mr. Lappins is an experienced operator who has been in the business for many years and he will have charge of the local mill. In the past the mill depended upon local straw and the crop was light but with the unlimited supply of Canadian straw operation will be continuous.

Governor Preus Urges All to Attend Big Exhibition

All loyal Minnesotans are urged to attend the Minnesota State Fair, which takes place from Sept. 3 to 10, by Governor J. A. O. Preus. The governor, in a special proclamation, praising the great State Fair and pointing out the benefits to be derived from a visit to the fair, calls for a 100 per cent attendance from all parts of the state. The proclamation:

"The Minnesota State Fair is in may respects the greatest state fair in the country. Minnesota is rich in natural resources and her products excel both in variety and in quality; and the management of the fair, aided and directed by our state legislature, has assembled an exhibition which gives the visitor an excellent idea of the quantity and diversity of our state's products.

"Our fair annually shows growth and progress and even to the seasoned visitor there is something each year there that is new, interesting and educational. We count the State Fair as an important part of our educational system, because it gives to the people in every trade and profession new ideas and information about what the rest of the state is doing.

"Our fair, however, has a civic value because it brings together people from different communities, gives opportunity for exchange of ideas, and helps to make our commonwealth not a collection of counties, but one great unified state.

"For these reasons, I, J. A. O. Preus, Governor of Minnesota, do hereby urge upon the people of our state to attend the fair to be held Sept. 3 to 10, 1921. By so doing, they will not only benefit themselves, but they will make possible the continued expansion of this institution. The greater the number who attend, the greater will be the pleasure and profit each one derives.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the State of Minnesota to be affixed hereto, this 27th day of August, A. D., 1921.—J. A. O. Preus.

"Attest: Mike Holm, Secretary of State."

MINNESOTAN NAMED FOR DAIRY INQUIRY

President of New Co-Operative Agency Appointed on National Committee.

Minnesota will be represented on a national Committee of Eleven, organized by the American Farm Bureau federation to investigate dairy marketing conditions and extend co-operative enterprises among dairy farmers.

H. B. Nickerson of Elk River, president of the new Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, and also a director of the Twin City Milk Producers association, has been made a member of the Committee. His appointment had been recommended by the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation.

The Committee of Eleven was organized by James R. Howard, president of the American federation, with the advice and approval of the National Milk Producers association. Organization of the committee was authorized last May by a national convention of delegates representing dairy farmers in every section of the country.

The work of the Committee of Eleven will be similar to that of the Committee of Seventeen and the Committee of Fifteen, both of which have concluded intensive investigations into marketing conditions. The inquiry of the Committee of Seventeen resulted in plans for a national co-operative grain marketing corporation; the Committee of Fifteen has just completed its inquiry, and recommended establishment of farmer-owned terminal sales agencies for livestock, similar to the Central Co-operative Commission association which has been established by Minnesota farmers.

Farmers Take Notice.

New Man Named Specialist in State Live Stock Work

H. G. Zavoral, until recently county agent in Nobles county, this week succeeded J. S. Montgomery as a specialist in state live-stock work for the agricultural extension division of the university. Mr. Zavoral was graduated from the Minnesota college of agriculture in 1915 and spent two years as an artilleryman in war service overseas. He has had experience as a high school teacher, and his services as a livestock judge at county fairs have been in great demand. Mr. Montgomery resigned the position to go with the new Central Co-operative Commission company at South St. Paul.

Take Many Prizes.

Mike McAndress and R. J. McKercher took practically all the prizes offered at the Pennington County Fair for the different classifications of Shorthorn cattle. The two herds mentioned have some of the finest strains in the country, so prize winning was not a difficult matter. Both the McAndress and McKercher herds contain some young stock that would be a credit to anyone going into the purebred stock business, or for building up a grade herd.—St. Hilaire Spectator.

Fair Buildings Burn.

In a fire of unknown origin three horse and cattle barns were burned to the ground at the Polk county fair grounds, north of Crookston Tuesday of last week, entailing a loss of $4,000.

Water mains do not reach the fair grounds, and when the firemen arrived with chemical engines two buildings were practically burned to the ground and the fire at the third was beyond the possibility of control. The buildings were located at the south entrance to the grounds, and were a total loss, as no insurance was carried on them, on account of inadequate fire protection.

Millions For Advertising.

Wrigley, the gum manufacturer, spent $3,500,000 last year for advertising, according to his own story. And he says it pays. Without advertising his gum sales would shrink, eventually to almost nothing. Now the sales are enormous. It was done by buying newspaper space.—Adv. Index.

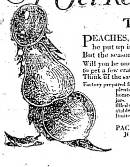
Get Ready for Canning



The Fruit is Here

PEACHES, pears and plums can be put up in so many pleasing ways. But the season is short!

Will you be one of the thrifty housewives to get a few crates for canning? Plan now. Think of the saving - one-third to one-half!

Factory prepared fruits are extravagant. Put up a plentiful supply of delicious pure, home-made preserves—in Ball mason jars. Then, when you look upon your filled shelves you'll realize what a palatable variety they will add to the limited fare of midwinter meals.

Try this tested recipe for CANNED BLUE PLUMS

Prick the skin of each plum with a heavy needle. This will keep the skin whole and the skin will remain upon the plum. Pack into sterilized jars. Fill up the jars with boiling syrup made according to taste, that is, with the proportion of sugar to water, which is the best way. [illegible] cup of sugar to three cups of water is the usual proportion. Place rubbers in position and screw on caps, leaving the covers slightly loose. Sterilize [illegible] minutes by the cold pack method.

The threshing work will soon be brought to a close in northwestern Minnesota. Then will follow a season of making things snug for the winter. There may be repairs or improvements needed on the farm home; barns and other outbuilding need attention. The wise man will look after such matters early

Our specialty is the supplying of building material of highest quality at the lowest possible price

SOW THISTLE CONTROL.

When a person or community is afflicted with a growing ill it is natural to grasp at a suggested remedy. Among the most serious growing ills in this community is the perennial sow thistle. In twenty years of "free distribution" in the Northwest it has become thoroughly established in all Red River Valley counties, and can be found in every other county in Minnesota, western Wisconsin, northern Iowa, and eastern South Dakota. In many localities this weed has interfered with crop production to such an extent that farmers have actually sold out at a loss and moved to other localities, only to find that in a few years the pest is following close on their heels.

So serious have become the sow thistle, Canada thistle and other noxious weed pests that Minnesota passed a noxious weed law, with the hope of bringing the weeds under control. Thus far only a beginning has been made. Over one hundred local weed inspectors have been appointed and are working, principally in the northwestern part of the state.

A few facts have been established that point to control. Two, at this time, are worthy of mention and recommendation to farmers as a partial relief. These are the seeding down to grasses, clovers and alfalfa, and the planting of fall rye. Fall rye ripens early and is cut before the weeds get far enough advanced to produce seed. It starts early in the spring and gets on its way before the thistles get started. It is the one grain crop that can cope with the thistles and at the same time give a return for the labor incurred.

Proper cultivation, the raising of crops which tend to overpower the growth of thistles, and the cutting of all noxious weeds along roadsides and in other places where such growths are to be found, will go a long way toward eradicating the thistle evil. It has become a serious problem in this section of the state and farmers everywhere now realize that immediate and concerted action is necessary.

OBSERVATIONS

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

Beggars can't be boozers, with liquor at its present price.

It's easy to tell good liquor from bad these days. Take a drink and if you fall on your face it's bad.

Tuesday we cleared thirty square feet of land at the "Wigwam" and came out of the battle with a combination of aches and pains that resembled a "before taking" testimonial in a patent medicine adv. Since then we've made up our mind that writing about land clearing is one thing, but clearing it is a mule with a different pair of ears. Our bonnet is off to the lads who cleared ten thousand acres in the Baudette district this year.

A St. Paul bandit tried to hold up a hotel the other day. He knew who to hold up all right.

We learn from various sources that Governor Preus will be a candidate for U. S. Senator and that he will not be. And there you are.

Put the soft pedal on the talk about hard times. Preach prosperity.

Styles are certainly changing. The girls used to wear hoop skirts, but now they don't care a whoop for skirts.

A spinster out west claims to be 104 years old. Probably she only thinks she has lived that long.

Did you ever see a lad help to move a piano by carrying the stool? Doesn't it remind you of the way some citizens work for their home town?

In these days of depression, doubt and pessimism it's refreshing to hear of an optimist. An Olivia man is advertising for a lost umbrella.

There is $600,000 worth of liquor anchored a mile north of Baudette thirsts, and local lads are avoiding it like a fly avoids sugar.

Baudette wives are due for their annual two months of widowhood with the hunting season just around the corner.

A doctor says that it's possible to get poison ivy twice in one year, but any victim will tell you that once is enough.

It is hard to tell whether or not prohibition will be a success. We'll have to wait until it comes.

Lower Coal Prices? Maybe.

(Minneapolis Journal.)

The Northern West Virginia Coal Association and other coal operators' organizations have protested to the Interstate Commerce Commission against coal rate reductions proposed by Henry Ford's railroad, stating it would bring down the rate structure in Ohio territory. It might reduce coal prices, and that, of course, is against the operators' policy.

Gets Big Position

Mr. Emil Rumstch another U. C. C. student was promoted to be Division Chief of the Internal Revenue Department (with headquarters in the Federal Building Grand Forks). This is a big job and only a young man schooled in the knowledge of accounts could handle it. It was the business knowledge we taught him that enabled him to advance to this big job. Miss May Whitson, a former school teacher, after taking our private secretary course went to a position paying $1320 a year at the very start. She earned back the first month more than her entire tuition. If you would like to do as well send for our free catalog and find out how easy it is.

Camels are made for Men who Think for Themselves

Such folks know real quality—and DEMAND it.

They prefer Camels because Camels give them the smoothest, mellowest smoke they can buy—because they love the mild, rich flavor of choicest tobaccos, perfectly blended—and because Camels leave NO CIGARETTY AFTERTASTE.

Like every man who does his own thinking, you want fine tobacco in your cigarettes. You'll find it in Camels.

And, mind you, no flashy package just for show. No extra wrappers! No costly frills! These things don't improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons.

But QUALITY! Listen! That's CAMELS!

Where is the Woman Not Interested in the New Fall Styles?

Well, here is quite a goodly taste of those very Fall styles in Street Dresses.

Very much in evidence is the Coat Dress, and the long-waisted or Chemise Dress is close on its heels for popularity.

Rattail Braid has a way of lending a dress a well-tailored look and it does to this Coat Dress of a beautiful quality of navy tricotine. The main trimming is a wider silk braid of black.

Another striking Coat Style is the dress with embroidered panel trimming. The dress itself is a navy tricotine and the panels are of a pleasantly contrasting shade of broadcloth. The collar can be worn up or down.

A third style in this same type of dress is of navy poiret twill over a black satin foundation. The black silk braid trimming is uniquely stitched on with white thread. All are specially priced at NR Overcomes Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Quickly. No Griping or Pain. Guaranteed.

The organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination—the stomach, liver and bowels—are closely allied, and the proper action of any of these organs is largely dependent upon the correct functioning of all the others.

"Whipping" your liver into action with calomel or forcing your bowels with irritating laxatives or strong cathartics is a great mistake. A better, safer plan is strengthening and toning the whole digestive and eliminative system with Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), which not only brings immediate relief, but genuine and lasting benefit. It acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, improves digestion and assimilation, overcomes biliousness, corrects constipation and quickly relieves sick headache.

Get your system thoroughly cleansed and purified of wastes; stomach, liver and bowels working together in vigorous harmony, and you will not have to take medicine every day—just take one NR Tablet occasionally to keep your system in good condition and always feel your best. Remember it is easier and cheaper to keep well than it is to get well.

Get a 25c box and try it with the understanding that it must give you greater relief and benefit than any bowel or liver medicine you ever used or no pay. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Labor Day
Sept. 5th

IT is fitting that once a year we should pay tribute to the workers of America. For ours is a nation of workers—more so than any other country in the world.

SETTLED through the toil of our colonial forefathers, welded as a nation under Washington, developed under the leadership of men of vision and courage—America stands today as the world's foremost example of what labor, shared in by all, can accomplish.

MONDAY, Sept. 5th, this institution will be closed all day.

Never Mind the Test
Buy Red Crown
—the HIGH-GRADE GAS

To illustrate the fallacy of the gravity argument: It is only necessary to remember that the gravity of gasoline can be controlled if the quality is not considered. You know, of course, that gasoline is not an elementary compound like water. It is composed of innumerable compounds.

But, you may be surprised to know that every component part of gasoline has a different gravity, and every component part of gasoline has a close relation to its efficiency.

It is the proper and scientific grouping, or adjustment, of these parts that makes good gasoline.

Gravity is merely the comparison of the weight of a liquid with water. What the component parts weigh in relation to water means nothing, but the heat or energy which these component parts give off mean a lot.

RED CROWN Has a Perfect Chain of Boiling Point Fractions

It has the low initial for easy starting, the correct range for quick get-away, smooth acceleration, and tremendous power and speed.

There isn't a gap in the chain of boiling point fractions in Red Crown for a gap in the chain means a gap in the power.

Red Crown delivers the utmost in service all the time. It never varies no matter where you get it, and you can get it everywhere, every few blocks in the city, and every few miles in the country.

You are wasting money if you pay more for gasoline than the price of Red Crown.

SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS DECISION DECLARING THE CITY HAS RIGHT TO PAVE

Judge Grindeland's Position Upheld on Appeal For Reversal Made by George L. Streeter, Intervenor. Hamre Case Not Affected by Judgment.

With Legal Restrictions Removed, Whether or Not Any Paving is Undertaken This Season Depends Upon City's Ability to Secure the Money.

The supreme court decision in the local paving case was filed today. The district court decision is affirmed and in a rather lengthy and complete document every step thus far taken by the city council in the paving matter is upheld and declared legal and proper. The contract with the Bitulithic Contracting company is referred to as a legal and binding obligation, and it appears that all other points in dispute have been satisfactorily disposed of by the court. From this it would appear that the only obstacle now in the path of immediately going ahead with the actual paving operations is the securing of the money. Whether this will be forthcoming at once or not remains to be seen. The city council has entered into contract for the sale of the bonds but the present condition of financial depression throughout the entire country may make it impossible to get the necessary money in time to start operations this fall. This is a matter that will undoubtedly be decided definitely within the next few days.

The supreme court decision is on the appeal of George C. Streeter in his case as intervenor and there still remains the appeal of T. P. Hamre, notice of which was filed with the court on August 20. If it develops that a decision on the Hamre appeal is necessary before the bonds can be disposed of there is no possibility of any work being started this fall as the usual court custom allows the interested parties sixty days in which to file their argument with the court and this would carry the matter to the latter part of October. However, inasmuch as the Streeter case involved the same identical points as the Hamre case it would seem that the pendency of the Hamre appeal would have no effect on the sale of the bonds. In any event the whole matter has now reached the final stage and the next few days will decide whether or not there will be any paving done in Thief River Falls this fall.

Following is the complete decision of the supreme court:

Pennington County, Holt, J.

Endorsed. Herman Mueller, Clerk.

T. P. Hamre, Plaintiff, vs. City of Thief River Falls, et al., Defendants and Respondents, and George C. Streeter, Intervenor and Appellant.

Syllabus.

A resolution to pave, passed by the city council on March 19, 1920, was approved by the mayor on March 23, 1920. The law forbids the mayor to sign the same within four days after its presentation to him, but provides that if not returned within ten days after presentation it shall take effect without being approved. It is held the approval was nugatory, and the resolution cannot be considered as returned, either approved or vetoed, and went into effect as for failure of mayor to act.

The offer to prove that the paving was undertaken when prices were the highest was rightly excluded.

If the plan proposed to be adopted in assessing the cost of the pavement is wrong the law gives a remedy in the assessment proceeding.

The condition of the city treasury is not a material question in this action.

No reversible error is found in the record.

Affirmed.

Opinion.

Suit by plaintiff, a taxpayer of Thief River Falls, a city organized under C. 8 L. 1895 and amendatory acts, to enjoin the performance of a paving contract made by the city with the Bitulithic and Contracting, Limited, a corporation. The city and its officers, the corporation named, and also another corporation which undertook to sell city certificates to finance the improvement, are defendants. The corporation last referred to has no longer any interest in the litigation and the matters relating to it need not be noticed.

Before coming to a consideration of the questions presented upon this appeal it is necessary to refer to some of the steps taken in court as to this paving proposition. The present appeal is by an intervenor, who came into the case as soon as the summons was served. Plaintiff's complaint is lengthy and alleges various grounds for challenging the proceedings leading up to the paving contract. The intervenor is like plaintiff a taxpayer, owning lots abutting the streets to be paved, and his complaint in intervention contains the very same allegations contained in plaintiff's complaint, with the addition of certain facts which the court found true in respect to other actions previously brought by other taxpayers and property owners, represented by the attorney who represents the present plaintiff. The latter facts are in short these: Immediately after the resolution to pave was adopted by the city and the bid of the Bitulithic Corporation accepted, M. V. Evenson and other taxpayers and abutting owners brought suit in behalf of themselves and other similarly situated to enjoin the paving. The complaint stated in substance the same grounds as in this action. When the plaintiffs therein applied for a temporary injunction, a demurrer to their complaint was heard also. June 8, 1920, the court denied the application and sustained the demurrer. An appeal to this court was perfected, but was by stipulation dismissed "with prejudice." In February, 1921, the same attorney in behalf of Oen Mercantile Co. began a suit against defendants substantially in the same form as in the Evenson and the present cases. It was set for trial June 30, 1921, but when reached the plaintiff, against defendant's objection, dismissed the suit, and on the same day started the present action. As soon as the intervenor herein served the complaint of intervention, he obtained an order to show cause why a temporary injunction should not issue. When this came up for hearing the court was requested by the intervenor and defendants to hear the cause on the merits. This was done over the objections and protests of plaintiff. The court concluded that there had been an effort to delay an adjudication, heard the evidence and made findings, in substance, holding valid all steps taken in ordering the pavement and executing the contract for the improvement. The intervenor appealed from the judgment entered on the findings and joined with defendants in a request for a speedy hearing. Plaintiff has taken a separate appeal. He was given the opportunity to submit his appeal with intervenor's, or to file a brief amicus curae. He chose the latter. We remark here that no assignments of error not available to the intervenor can be urged by plaintiff as amicus curae, such as the ones that the court could not hear the cause on its merits on the motion for a temporary injunction, for intervenor requested that to be done; or that there was error in dismissing plaintiff's complaint on the merits, for that does not affect intervenor. It is patent that there has been an effort to prevent the contemplated pavement by protracted litigation. It is also clear that intervenor came in to block such effort. We need say no more about the tactics pursued or intervenor's standing in court, except that the intervention is unquestionably proper. Intervenor occupies the same relation as plaintiff to the proposed paving, and stands to lose or gain by a determination of the issues tendered by plaintiff's complaint.

The main point relied on by the intervenor for a reversal is that the mayor acted prematurely when he approved the resolution ordering the pavement laid. If this resolution is invalid no subsequent action of the city council or mayor could give authority to proceed with the paving. The resolution was passed, by the city council on March 19, 1920, and the approval was dated March 23. The following sections of C. 8 L. 1895 are pertinent: "Every ordinance, order and resolution shall, before it takes effect, be presented to the mayor for approval. If he approves he shall sign the same, but if he disapprove it, he shall return it to the city council with his objections thereto." (59). "No ordinance, order or resolution shall be signed by the mayor within four (4) days after the same is presented to him, and if the same shall not be returned by him on the tenth (10) day (Sunday excepted) after it shall have been presented by him." (61). "The city clerk shall indorse upon each such ordinance, order and resolution the time when the same was delivered to the mayor, and the time when it was returned to his office by the mayor." (62).

The approval of the mayor was premature. If No. 61 be mandatory, the approval was nugatory and of no more effect than if some other person had undertaken to sign an approval thereon. There was then not a return of the resolution either duly approved or vetoed within ten days after its presentation, and it therefore became effective under the last clause of the section. That the resolution was presented to the mayor is indicated by his signature thereon, even though it has not the legal effect of an approval. The failure, if such there be, of the city clerk to comply with No. 62 could not invalidate the resolution. After the resolution was presented to the mayor he could prevent or hinder its taking effect in only one way, by returning it vetoed within ten days. That alone would have given rise to further action by the council. The law should not be so construed that by a premature approval of an ordinance or resolution and returning it within the ten days from its presentation a mayor could effectively tie the hands of the city council on the proposition, for such a premature approval cannot be held a veto.

The court rightly excluded proof offered that the improvement was undertaken when prices therefor were the highest. There was no averment nor offer of proof that the city council members were actuated by improper motives or exercised their judgment arbitrarily.

That the officials charged with the duty of assessing the cost to the abutting property intends to adopt some method that appellant considers illegal cannot be ground for injunctive relief right now. The law provides for a hearing when the time arrives for making the assessment, Chapt. 65, L. 1919. There is an adequate remedy at law, and the objection here made is premature.

That the financial condition of the city is not a material issue in this action seems to follow from the decision in Pike vs. City of Marshall, 178 N. W. 1006, for the abutting property owners and not the city will eventually pay nearly the whole of the cost. That decision also determines adversely to appellant other grounds alleged in the pleading for relief.

It is intimated that the direction or order to the city clerk, found in the minutes of the council meeting of Feb. 24, 1920, to publish the notice to property owners that the meeting of March 19, 1920, would be held to consider and determine whether this paving should be done, invalidated all subsequent proceedings because such direction or order was not approved by the mayor. This so called order does not come within the meaning of the words "ordinance, order or resolution" in the sections above cited. It is a mere direction to an agent or officer of the city to do a ministerial or administrative act, Fairchild vs. City of St. Paul 46 Minn. 540.

Judgment affirmed.

Brumund Hotel Sold.

A deal was closed last Friday whereby Louis Garvey sold the Brumund hotel to H. W. DeParcq of Mankato, Minn. Mr. DeParcq took immediate possession and Mr. Garvey and family left the following day on an extended trip, they not having definitely decided where they will locate. Mr. DeParcq has had a great deal of experience in the hotel business and will without doubt maintain the high standard of service which this popular place was noted for during the many years it was under the management of H. A. Brumund.

LIEBERMAN BROS. DECIDE TO SELL OUT BUSINESS

Entire Stock of Clothing Together With Fixtures and Building to Be Sold.

Albert Lieberman Will Locate on Pacific Coast as Soon as Stock is Disposed of.

Sale Will Mark Close of Ten Years' Successful Business Career in This City.

ALBERT S. LIEBERMAN

Announcement is made this week that Lieberman Brothers have decided to dispose of their business in Thief River Falls. The entire stock of clothing, shoes and furnishings is to be sold out at a gigantic sale which starts Saturday and will continue until all is sold. It is also announced that their fine building and store fixtures will be sold.

Will Locate in West.

Albert Lieberman, who has been in active charge of the business here for the past ten years, will leave for the Pacific coast as soon as the stock has been disposed of. He has not definitely decided just where he will locate or what line of business he will engage in but has several propositions under consideration.

Business Very Successful.

Mr. Lieberman located here about ten years ago and during the many years he has been engaged in business here has enjoyed a splendid and ever increasing patronage. He has at all times carried standard makes of high class merchandise and has enjoyed the reputation of being a first class, progressive business man, his customers always being assured of courteous and honest treatment. His retirement from business in Thief River Falls will be a distinct loss to the city and the removal of himself and family will be keenly regretted by their many friends.

Large and Seasonable Stock.

The stock to be disposed of is a large one, but with the decision of Mr. Lieberman to dispose of it at this particular season of the year it will undoubtedly be sold in a comparatively short time. Several parties have already expressed an interest insecuring the building and it is very likely that this will be sold as soon or before the stock is entirely closed out. The building is situated in a very desirable location and it is to be hoped that it will be secured by someone who will conduct a business along lines equally as progressive as those of Mr. Lieberman.

INSTRUCTOR WILL ORGANIZE CLASS IN COMMERCIAL LAW

Wm. C. Smiley of University Extension Service to Speak at Club Rooms Thursday.

Wm. C. Smiley of the University Extension service will be here next Thursday, Sept. 15, and at 8 o'clock in the evening will speak at the Commercial club rooms for the purpose of interesting a sufficient number to organize a class in commercial law.

These are not professional classes but are for the instruction of business men. They bear the same relation to law as instruction in hygiene bears to medicine. They are identical with the classes in business law given in the day school of the university and count for full university credits. But they do not count for credits in the Law school. These classes have proved very popular in St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, particularly among the senior clerks and junior officers of banks. The enrollment exceeds the registration of any private college in the state. The university furnishes the material and conducts the courses, which are taught by lawyers. It is proposed to experiment with the establishment of classes in some of the smaller cities of the state, under local attorneys. If the experiment succeeds this feature will be extended. Thief River Falls has been chosen as one of the first experiment stations.

Mr. Smiley will be remembered by the older residents of the city as he at one time resided here. He came to Thief River Falls immediately after the Spanish-American war, in which he served in the same regiment with the Thief River Falls contingent. He was for a time publisher of the Thief River Falls Press and was later elected county surveyor. He also enjoyed the distinction of being secretary of the first local Commercial club, the organization which secured the opening of the Eleven Towns. He left Thief River Falls in 1903 and entered the law school of the state university. He practiced law in St. Paul for a while and for the past seven years has been connected with the University Extension service. He is now at the head of the staff of ten instructors in this department.

NEW CREAMERY AT ST. HILAIRE READY

Machinery Now Installed and Modern Plant in Shape to Begin Operations.

The new modern home of the St. Hilaire creamery, which is reputed to be the finest and most up-to-date plant in this part of the state, was completed this week, says the St. Hilaire Spectator. Electrical energy for both power and lighting is now being installed. Such machinery in the old plant as can be used will be moved over the last of the week, and it is expected the new outfit will be in operation soon. The building, which has concrete and steel reinforced basement, and is otherwise of brick construction, is about as fire proof as it can be made. One fine feature is the woman's rest room in front, which is equipped with conveniences such as are found in the most modern home. The whole plant is planned with a view of complete sanitation. A ventilating system keeps the air fresh and sweet in all parts of the building at all times. Concrete floors in all rooms does away with the cleaning problem—it being an easy matter to flush floors with a hose.

Electrical power will operate all machinery that requires power. For convenience of employes, a toilet and shower bath has been installed in the basement. A part of the basement in front has been partitioned off and will be occupied by E. Patnode with his barber shop.

It would take a volume to make special note of the numerous conveniences to be found in the new building. It will be time well spent for anyone to go through it after it is in operation to see the modern way of handling the product that has made this state famous.

There will be a praise service at the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. The following program will be rendered:

NEW PEAT FUEL EXPERIMENT TO BE CARRIED ON

Minneapolis Company Begins Operations in Carlton County—Of Interest Here.

Concern Purchases Two Sections of Peat Bog on Which to Conduct Experiment.

Largest Practical Demonstration of Peat For Fuel Yet Tried in Northwest.

Pennington county, and in fact all parts of Northern Minnesota, will watch with interest the work of developing peat bogs as a definite fuel source. The first actual trial of peat on a commercial scale is to be made this season and work has already been started in Carlton county, where the Northern Peat company has purchased a large tract of land near Corona and is setting up machinery for use in cutting and preparing the peat.

The development work is being done by the Northern Peat company, a strong corporation with ample resources. The company has purchased about two sections of land on the bog and from soundings it is estimated the average depth of the peat deposit is 20 feet.

Modern Methods Used.

A large area has already been cleared of top roots and stumps and machines drawn by caterpillar tractors are digging saucer-like ditches through the bog. These ditches are 300 feet apart, are about 4 feet deep at the deepest point and extend east and west for a mile or more.

The cutting machines will work in these ditches, cutting the peat into four-inch cubes and depositing them out on the bog, where they will remain for two or three weeks to dry, during which time they will shrink to about two and one-half inches in size. They will then be shipped to a crusher plant at Minneapolis, where they will be pulverized and used as fuel in powdered form.

To Make Thorough Test.

The men back of this development are going to make a thorough test of the adaptability of peat for fuel and no expense will be spared in doing so. The machinery already purchased cost in excess of $50,000, and it was made to order for the company. With the equipment ordered, and which will be on the ground in a few days, they expect to be able to ship 50,000 tons of dried peat in a full season's work.

The reason that the peat is to be shipped to Minneapolis for the present is that in that city large consumers of soft coal have found in the past few years that it is more economical to crush their fuel and consequently there are a large number of plants ready to use the powdered peat. It is planned to erect a crushing plant at Duluth before next season's work is started. Powdered peat was used in Minneapolis successfully last winter and it has been definitely established that best results are obtained from the crushed product.

By-Products Not Wasted.

The company will also furnish peat to the University of Minnesota for experimental work, machinery and laboratory equipment now being installed there for the extraction of peat by-products, which consists of dyes, coal tar and chemicals. University experiments will also be carried on for the manufacture of peat gas for smelting iron ore.

The men behind this development have made a careful and exhaustive examination of all peat in the state and they found that the Corona bog not only had the greatest depth of any they examined, but that the structure of this peat is the best found. The only bad feature is that it contains a number of large roots which have resisted decay, and which may cause some trouble in working the deposit.

There is little doubt but that in the future peat will be largely used for fuel in Minnesota and that in a few years it is probable that peat plants will be a common sight in many parts of the state.

SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS DECISION DECLARING THE CITY HAS RIGHT TO PAVE

Judge Grindeland's Position Upheld on Appeal For Reversal Made by George L. Streeter, Intervenor. Hamre Case Not Affected by Judgment.

With Legal Restrictions Removed, Whether or Not Any Paving is Undertaken This Season Depends Upon City's Ability to Secure the Money.

The supreme court decision in the local paving case was filed today. The district court decision is affirmed and in a rather lengthy and complete document every step thus far taken by the city council in the paving matter is upheld and declared legal and proper. The contract with the Bitulithic Contracting company is referred to as a legal and binding obligation, and it appears that all other points in dispute have been satisfactorily disposed of by the court. From this it would appear that the only obstacle now in the path of immediately going ahead with the actual paving operations is the securing of the money. Whether this will be forthcoming at once or not remains to be seen. The city council has entered into contract for the sale of the bonds but the present condition of financial depression throughout the entire country may make it impossible to get the necessary money in time to start operations this fall. This is a matter that will undoubtedly be decided definitely within the next few days.

The supreme court decision is on the appeal of George C. Streeter in his case as intervenor and there still remains the appeal of T. P. Hamre, notice of which was filed with the court on August 20. If it develops that a decision on the Hamre appeal is necessary before the bonds can be disposed of there is no possibility of any work being started this fall as the usual court custom allows the interested parties sixty days in which to file their argument with the court and this would carry the matter to the latter part of October. However, inasmuch as the Streeter case involved the same identical points as the Hamre case it would seem that the pendency of the Hamre appeal would have no effect on the sale of the bonds. In any event the whole matter has now reached the final stage and the next few days will decide whether or not there will be any paving done in Thief River Falls this fall.

Following is the complete decision of the supreme court:

Pennington County, Holt, J.

Endorsed. Herman Mueller, Clerk.

T. P. Hamre, Plaintiff, vs. City of Thief River Falls, et al., Defendants and Respondents, and George C. Streeter, Intervenor and Appellant.

Syllabus.

A resolution to pave, passed by the city council on March 19, 1920, was approved by the mayor on March 23, 1920. The law forbids the mayor to sign the same within four days after its presentation to him, but provides that if not returned within ten days after presentation it shall take effect without being approved. It is held the approval was nugatory, and the resolution cannot be considered as returned, either approved or vetoed, and went into effect as for failure of mayor to act.

The offer to prove that the paving was undertaken when prices were the highest was rightly excluded.

If the plan proposed to be adopted in assessing the cost of the pavement is wrong the law gives a remedy in the assessment proceeding.

The condition of the city treasury is not a material question in this action.

No reversible error is found in the record.

Affirmed.

Opinion.

Suit by plaintiff, a taxpayer of Thief River Falls, a city organized under C. 8 L. 1895 and amendatory acts, to enjoin the performance of a paving contract made by the city with the Bitulithic and Contracting, Limited, a corporation. The city and its officers, the corporation named, and also another corporation which undertook to sell city certificates to finance the improvement, are defendants. The corporation last referred to has no longer any interest in the litigation and the matters relating to it need not be noticed.

Before coming to a consideration of the questions presented upon this appeal it is necessary to refer to some of the steps taken in court as to this paving proposition. The present appeal is by an intervenor, who came into the case as soon as the summons was served. Plaintiff's complaint is lengthy and alleges various grounds for challenging the proceedings leading up to the paving contract. The intervenor is like plaintiff a taxpayer, owning lots abutting the streets to be paved, and his complaint in intervention contains the very same allegations contained in plaintiff's complaint, with the addition of certain facts which the court found true in respect to other actions previously brought by other taxpayers and property owners, represented by the attorney who represents the present plaintiff. The latter facts are in short these: Immediately after the resolution to pave was adopted by the city and the bid of the Bitulithic Corporation accepted, M. V. Evenson and other taxpayers and abutting owners brought suit in behalf of themselves and other similarly situated to enjoin the paving. The complaint stated in substance the same grounds as in this action. When the plaintiffs therein applied for a temporary injunction, a demurrer to their complaint was heard also. June 8, 1920, the court denied the application and sustained the demurrer. An appeal to this court was perfected, but was by stipulation dismissed "with prejudice." In February, 1921, the same attorney in behalf of Oen Mercantile Co. began a suit against defendants substantially in the same form as in the Evenson and the present cases. It was set for trial June 30, 1921, but when reached the plaintiff, against defendant's objection, dismissed the suit, and on the same day started the present action. As soon as the intervenor herein served the complaint of intervention, he obtained an order to show cause why a temporary injunction should not issue. When this came up for hearing the court was requested by the intervenor and defendants to hear the cause on the merits. This was done over the objections and protests of plaintiff. The court concluded that there had been an effort to delay an adjudication, heard the evidence and made findings, in substance, holding valid all steps taken in ordering the pavement and executing the contract for the improvement. The intervenor appealed from the judgment entered on the findings and joined with defendants in a request for a speedy hearing. Plaintiff has taken a separate appeal. He was given the opportunity to submit his appeal with intervenor's, or to file a brief amicus curae. He chose the latter. We remark here that no assignments of error not available to the intervenor can be urged by plaintiff as amicus curae, such as the ones that the court could not hear the cause on its merits on the motion for a temporary injunction, for intervenor requested that to be done; or that there was error in dismissing plaintiff's complaint on the merits, for that does not affect intervenor. It is patent that there has been an effort to prevent the contemplated pavement by protracted litigation. It is also clear that intervenor came in to block such effort. We need say no more about the tactics pursued or intervenor's standing in court, except that the intervention is unquestionably proper. Intervenor occupies the same relation as plaintiff to the proposed paving, and stands to lose or gain by a determination of the issues tendered by plaintiff's complaint.

The main point relied on by the intervenor for a reversal is that the mayor acted prematurely when he approved the resolution ordering the pavement laid. If this resolution is invalid no subsequent action of the city council or mayor could give authority to proceed with the paving. The resolution was passed by the city council on March 19, 1920, and the approval was dated March 23. The following sections of C. 8 L. 1895 are pertinent: "Every ordinance, order and resolution shall, before it takes effect, be presented to the mayor for approval. If he approves he shall sign the same, but if he disapprove it, he shall return it to the city council with his objections thereto." (59). "No ordinance, order or resolution shall be signed by the mayor within four (4) days after the same is presented to him, and if the same shall not be returned by him on the tenth (10) day (Sunday excepted) after it shall have been presented by him." (61). "The city clerk shall indorse upon each such ordinance, order and resolution the time when the same was delivered to the mayor, and the time when it was returned to his office by the mayor." (62).

The approval of the mayor was premature. If No. 61 be mandatory, the approval was nugatory and of no more effect than if some other person had undertaken to sign an approval thereon. There was then not a return of the resolution either duly approved or vetoed within ten days after its presentation, and it therefore became effective under the last clause of the section. That the resolution was presented to the mayor is indicated by his signature thereon, even though it has not the legal effect of an approval. The failure, if such there be, of the city clerk to comply with No. 62 could not invalidate the resolution. After the resolution was presented to the mayor he could prevent or hinder its taking effect in only one way, by returning it vetoed within ten days. That alone would have given rise to further action by the council. The law should not be so construed that by a premature approval of an ordinance or resolution and returning it within the ten days from its presentation a mayor could effectively tie the hands of the city council on the proposition, for such a premature approval cannot be held a veto.

The court rightly excluded proof offered that the improvement was undertaken when prices therefor were the highest. There was no averment nor offer of proof that the city council members were actuated by improper motives or exercised their judgment arbitrarily.

That the officials charged with the duty of assessing the cost to the abutting property intends to adopt some method that appellant considers illegal cannot be ground for injunctive relief right now. The law provides for a hearing when the time arrives for making the assessment, Chapt. 65, L. 1919. There is an adequate remedy at law, and the objection here made is premature.

That the financial condition of the city is not a material issue in this action seems to follow from the decision in Pike vs. City of Marshall 178 N. W. 1006, for the abutting property owners and not the city will eventually pay nearly the whole of the cost. That decision also determines adversely to appellant other grounds alleged in the pleading for relief.

It is intimated that the direction or order to the city clerk, found in the minutes of the council meeting of Feb. 24, 1920, to publish the notice to property owners that the meeting of March 19, 1920, would be held to consider and determine whether this paving should be done, invalidated all subsequent proceedings because such direction or order was not approved by the mayor. This so called order does not come within the meaning of the words "ordinance, order or resolution" in the sections above cited. It is a mere direction to an agent or officer of the city to do a ministerial or administrative act, Fairchild vs. City of St. Paul 46 Minn. 540.

Judgment affirmed.

Brumund Hotel Sold.

A deal was closed last Friday whereby Louis Garvey sold the Brumund hotel to H. W. DeParcq of Mankato, Minn. Mr. DeParcq took immediate possession and Mr. Garvey and family left the following day on an extended trip, they not having definitely decided where they will locate. Mr. DeParcq has had a great deal of experience in the hotel business and will without doubt maintain the high standard of service which this popular place was noted for during the many years it was under the management of H. A. Brumund.

LIEBERMAN BROS. DECIDE TO SELL OUT BUSINESS

Entire Stock of Clothing Together With Fixtures and Building to Be Sold.

Albert Lieberman Will Locate on Pacific Coast as Soon as Stock is Disposed of.

Sale Will Mark Close of Ten Years' Successful Business Career in This City.

ALBERT S. LIEBERMAN

Announcement is made this week that Lieberman Brothers have decided to dispose of their business in Thief River Falls. The entire stock of clothing, shoes and furnishings is to be sold out at a gigantic sale which starts Saturday and will continue until all is sold. It is also announced that their fine building and store fixtures will be sold.

Will Locate in West.

Albert Lieberman, who has been in active charge of the business here for the past ten years, will leave for the Pacific coast as soon as the stock has been disposed of. He has not definitely decided just where he will locate or what line of business he will engage in but has several propositions under consideration.

Business Very Successful.

Mr. Lieberman located here about ten years ago and during the many years he has been engaged in business here has enjoyed a splendid and ever increasing patronage. He has at all times carried standard makes of high class merchandise and has enjoyed the reputation of being a first class, progressive business man, his customers always being assured of courteous and honest treatment. His retirement from business in Thief River Falls will be a distinct loss to the city and the removal of himself and family will be keenly regretted by their many friends.

Large and Seasonable Stock.

The stock to be disposed of is a large one, but with the decision of Mr. Lieberman to dispose of it at this particular season of the year it will undoubtedly be sold in a comparatively short time. Several parties have already expressed an interest insecuring the building and it is very likely that this will be sold as soon or before the stock is entirely closed out. The building is situated in a very desirable location and it is to be hoped that it will be secured by someone who will conduct a business along lines equally as progressive as those of Mr. Lieberman.

INSTRUCTOR WILL ORGANIZE CLASS IN COMMERCIAL LAW

Wm. C. Smiley of University Extension Service to Speak at Club Rooms Thursday.

Wm. C. Smiley of the University Extension service will be here next Thursday, Sept. 15, and at 8 o'clock in the evening will speak at the Commercial club rooms for the purpose of interesting a sufficient number to organize a class in commercial law.

These are not professional classes but are for the instruction of business-men. They bear the same relation to law as instruction in hygiene bears to medicine. They are identical with the classes in business law given in the day school of the university and count for full university credits. But they do not count for credits in the Law school. These classes have proved very popular in St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, particularly among the senior clerks and junior officers of banks. The enrollment exceeds the registration of any private college in the state. The university furnishes the material and conducts the courses, which are taught by lawyers. It is proposed to experiment with the establishment of classes in some of the smaller cities of the state, under local attorneys. If the experiment succeeds this feature will be extended. Thief River Falls has been chosen as one of the first experiment stations.

Mr. Smiley will be remembered by the older residents of the city as he at one time resided here. He came to Thief River Falls immediately after the Spanish-American war, in which he served in the same regiment with the Thief River Falls contingent. He was for a time publisher of the Thief River Falls Press and was later elected county surveyor. He also enjoyed the distinction of being secretary of the first local Commercial club, the organization which secured the opening of the Eleven Towns. He left Thief River Falls in 1903 and entered the law school of the state university. He practiced law in St. Paul for a while and for the past seven years has been connected with the University Extension service. NEW CREAMERY AT ST. HILAIRE READY

Machinery Now Installed and Modern Plant in Shape to Begin Operations.

The new modern home of the St. Hilaire creamery, which is reputed to be the finest and most up-to-date plant in this part of the state, was completed this week, says the St. Hilaire Spectator. Electrical energy for both power and lighting is now being installed. Such machinery in the old plant as can be used will be moved over the last of the week, and it is expected the new outfit will be in operation soon. The building, which has concrete and steel reinforced basement, and is otherwise of brick construction, is about as fire proof as it can be made. One fine feature is the woman's rest room in front, which is equipped with conveniences such as are found in the most modern home. The whole plant is planned with a view of complete sanitation. A ventilating system keeps the air fresh and sweet in all parts of the building at all times. Concrete floors in all rooms does away with the cleaning problem—it being an easy matter to flush floors with a hose.

Electrical power will operate all machinery that requires power. For convenience of employes, a toilet and shower bath has been installed in the basement. A part of the basement in front has been partitioned off and will be occupied by E. Patnode with his barber shop.

It would take a volume to make special note of the numerous conveniences to be found in the new building. It will be time well spent for anyone to go through it after it is in operation to see the modern way of handling the product that has made this state famous.

NEW PEAT FUEL EXPERIMENT TO BE CARRIED ON

Minneapolis Company Begins Operations in Carlton County—Of Interest Here.

Concern Purchases Two Sections of Peat Bog on Which to Conduct Experiment.

Largest Practical Demonstration of Peat For Fuel Yet Tried in Northwest.

Pennington county, and in fact all parts of Northern Minnesota, will watch with interest the work of developing peat bogs as a definite fuel source. The first actual trial of peat on a commercial scale is to be made this season and work has already been started in Carlton county, where the Northern Peat company has purchased a large tract of land near Corona and is setting up machinery for use in cutting and preparing the peat.

The development work is being done by the Northern Peat company, a strong corporation with ample resources. The company has purchased about two sections of land on the bog and from soundings it is estimated the average depth of the peat deposit is 20 feet.

Modern Methods Used.

A large area has already been cleared of top roots and stumps and machines drawn by caterpillar tractors are digging saucer-like ditches through the bog. These ditches are 300 feet apart, are about 4 feet deep at the deepest point and extend east and west for a mile or more.

The cutting machines will work in these ditches, cutting the peat into four-inch cubes and depositing them out on the bog, where they will remain for two or three weeks to dry, during which time they will shrink to about two and one-half inches in size. They will then be shipped to a crusher plant at Minneapolis, where they will be pulverized and used as fuel in powdered form.

To Make Thorough Test.

The men back of this development are going to make a thorough test of the adaptability of peat for fuel and no expense will be spared in doing so. The machinery already purchased cost in excess of $50,000, and it was made to order for the company. With the equipment ordered, and which will be on the ground in a few days, they expect to be able to ship 50,000 tons of dried peat in a full season's work.

The reason that the peat is to be shipped to Minneapolis for the present is that in that city large consumers of soft coal have found in the past few years that it is more economical to crush their fuel and consequently there are a large number of plants ready to use the powdered peat. It is planned to erect a crushing plant at Duluth before next season's work is started. Powdered peat was used in Minneapolis successfully last winter and it has been definitely established that best results are obtained from the crushed product.

By-Products Not Wasted.

The company will also furnish peat to the University of Minnesota for experimental work, machinery and laboratory equipment now being installed there for the extraction of peat by-products, which consists of dyes, coal tar and chemicals. University experiments will also be carried on for the manufacture of peat gas for smelting iron ore.

The men behind this development have made a careful and exhaustive examination of all peat in the state and they found that the Corona bog not only had the greatest depth of any they examined, but that the structure of this peat is the best found. The only bad feature is that it contains a number of large roots which have resisted decay, and which may cause some trouble in working the deposit.

There is little doubt but that in the future peat will be largely used for fuel in Minnesota and that in a few years it is probable that peat plants will be a common sight in many parts of the state.

Evangelistic Meetings Held at Zion Church Next Week

Evangelistic meetings will be held at the Zion Lutheran church by the Gospel Team from Minneapolis. Four young men will sing and preach the old-time gospel, beginning Friday, Sept. 16, at 11 a. m. and lasting over Sunday.

The team will be at Goodridge on Monday, Sept. 19, all day; in Rindal church, Rosewood, Tuesday and Wednesday, beginning at 11 a. m. and continuing all day, English and Norwegian will be used. Everybody cordially invited to these meetings.

Hamre Residence Sold.

A deal was closed this week whereby the Physicians Hospital company became the owner of the T. P. Hamre residence property on north LaBree avenue. The place will be used for a nurses' home, for which use it is admirably adapted. The new owners will be given possession of the property on Oct. 1.

For September Bride.

Among the numerous pre-nuptial events in honor of Miss Una Nelson, whose marriage to W. R. Patterson occurred yesterday, was a one o'clock luncheon given by Mrs. Daniel Shaw at her home on Tuesday. Garden flowers decorated the rooms. The guests included Mrs. A. L. E. Walgren of Minneapolis, Mrs. A. Lonson of Minot, N. D., Mrs. C. W. Nelson, Mrs. Annie Mearow, Mrs. John Bratrud and Miss Therese Giefer. Mrs. Dolan and Mrs. Herrick assisted the hostess in serving.

Wiener and Marshmallow Roast.

A company of 35 young people were entertained by the nurses from the Physicians hospital at a marshmallow and wiener roast at Lovers' Lane on Monday evening. Out-of-door games and music made up the evening's entertainment.

Dinner Party.

Miss Una Nelson was honor guest at a seven o'clock dinner given by Mrs. John Bratrud at her home on Monday night. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Brumund, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nelson, Rolfe Rasmuson, Mrs. A. L. E. Walgren, Miss Una Nelson and Walter R. Patterson.

Miscellaneous Shower.

Miss Myrtle Blair and Mrs. A. Stenberg were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower held at the former's home on Monday evening in compliment to Mrs. Alex Campbell (nee Alexandra Tharaldson), who with her husband recently returned from a month's wedding trip. The hours were devoted to visiting and hemming towels for the bride. Music also helped to furnish entertainment. The guests included Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. J. Nelson, Mrs. Olaf Thompson, Mrs. S. Salveson, Mrs. C. E. Halbert, Mrs. A. Dale, Mrs. Chas. Connor, Mrs. M. W. Brink, Misses Pearl Olson, Christine Clausen, Jeanette Oftedahl, Blanche Hoium, Emily Fossum, Ann Tharaldson, Dagny Tharaldson, Edna Larson and Selma Rustebakke.

Badger-Bradley.

Friends of Miss Ruth Bradley, formerly assistant superintendent at the Physicians hospital here, will be interested in knowing of her marriage on Aug. 19, to Dr. L. F. Badger at Helena, Mont. The wedding was a simple affair and took place at the Catholic parsonage. After the ceremony they were entertained at a banquet at the Fort, where Dr. Badger is stationed. He is a captain in the United States public health service.

Nelson-Patterson.

A beautiful wedding of interest to a host of friends of both young people in this city, was that of Miss Una Nelson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nelson, to Walter R. Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patterson of Cooperstown, N. Y., which took place yesterday. The ceremony was solemnized at 10 o'clock at St. Bernard's church in the presence of about one hundred relatives and intimate friends. Rev. M. J. Noesen read the impressive service. Gladiolas, asparagus ferns and asters were used exclusively in the church decorations. Ropes of asparagus ferns decorated the chancel walls, between the windows on either side. The arch above the altar was wound with asparagus and autumn foliage, while asparagus ferns banked the walls of the altar. Tall cathedral candles and vases of red gladiolas were used on the altar. A large number of pink gladiolas in baskets were placed on the side altars.

The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage, and was met at the chancel steps by the groom and his best man, George W. Werstlein, of this city. Her gown was a lovely model of white duchess satin with simple bodice elaborated with shadow lace vestee. The skirt, of satin fashioned with three folds, was used over the lace underpart. She wore a veil of silk bridal illusion which fell from a cap arrangement caught with orange blossoms. Her flowers were a shower arrangement of lilies of the valley combined with maiden-hair fern. Mrs. A. L. A. Walgren of Minneapolis, a friend of the bride, was maid of honor. She was gowned in a charming yellow taffeta frock, the bodice of which was trimmed with a dainty white organdie and lace fichu. Little organdie and lace puff sleeves completed the bodice. The skirt was made full with medallion inset of lace. She carried a bouquet of pale pink roses and wore a picture hat of yellow tulle with ostrich trimming.

Miss Theresa Giefer, who was bridesmaid, wore a creation of pale pink satin with silver lace overskirt. The neck and sleeves of the bodice were edged with rosettes of tulle interlaced with pale blue and pink ribbon. A picture hat of pink tulle trimmed with ostrich and a bouquet of pink tea roses completed her costume. Little Jeanette Mogensen as the flower girl was dressed in a dainty pink and white organdie frock and carried a basket of pink roses. Thomas Protz carried the ring in a rose. Gregory Werstlein acted as usher. Miss Doris Halvorson, who presided at the organ, played "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin as the bridal party entered the church. During the service Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher sang, "O, Promise Me."

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Brumund hotel, the bride and bridegroom receiving congratulations in the living-room, which had been decorated with a profusion of garden flowers.

Later the guests were ushered to the dining room, where an elaborate wedding dinner was served to about fifty guests. Crystal baskets containing sweet peas in pastel shades centered the long banquet table. A large and elaborate white wedding cake, surrounded by tiny crystal baskets holding dainty colored flowers, formed the attractive center piece. The handle of each basket was tied with a lover's knot of orchid tulle. Between the courses Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, contralto, Mrs. A. Holmberg, violinist, and Miss Doris Halvorson, pianist, gave several musical selections.

The bridal couple left in the evening for points in the East, where they will visit relatives. Among the many places to be visited will be Cooperstown, N. Y., where they will visit with the groom's parents, and also New York city, where they will be guests of his sister. The bride's traveling gown was a handsome suit of brown duvetyn, with which she wore a close fitting hat in corresponding shade.

The bride is an accomplished young lady who is highly respected by a large circle of friends. She was graduated from the Paynesville high school, later attending the Pillsbury academy at Owatonna and also the Northwestern university at Chicago, at which places she took courses in dramatic art. An accomplished reader, she has been prominent in club and social circles. Mr. Patterson has spent a number of years in this city, holding the position of engineer on the electric railway.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Albert Lonson of Minot, N. D., and Mrs. A. L. E. Walgren of Minneapolis.

The general trend of prices of lumber and building materials of all kinds is upward

Should there be a further slump the very stability of a large number of important industries would be endangered. This would be even worse than high prices as hundreds of thousands are dependent on the continual operation of these plants. For this reason if for no other it is next to impossible that either the manufacturers' or jobbers' prices can be reduced. So far as the retailer is concerned, he has cut the prices to a point that means business ruination if there is not a change soon. This works out to the advantage of the man who has building operations of any kind to carry forward at this time. He will pay less for material during the next three weeks than for a long time after that, unless all signs fail.

This is the opportune time

Just what kind of a structure is erected does not so much matter. On nearly every farm in the United States both repair and construction work has been neglected during the past five years. High costs of both material and labor have been responsible for this state of affairs. Both these obstructions are now removed and the man who has held off building because of them should at once renew his program.

Build now, but build right

This means that the best of materials must enter into the structure erected, that the plans must be correct and the labor competent. The first two items we can supply. Our stock is the best in the entire section. You are welcome to use our plans for any kind of structure you may be contemplating.

But how impossible it is to picture their virtues in words. Lines are so simple; adornments are quite restrained. Their real beauty can only be appreciated when they are worn; for then only do they attain the graceful forms that they were designed to produce.

Yet every ambitious woman will want one or two of these new beauty-things, to wear before the styles become common.

Right now we are showing a wonderful selection of over 100 new Blouses and Waists, besides those above illustrated and described. We have them at

ARCH-TONE SHOE

SMART STYLE. PERFECT COMFORT

Not a Line to Betray Its Special Comfort Features

With the same trig lines as a shoe fashioned just to be stylish, the Arch-Tone Shoe wholly conceals its big purpose in life, which is to bring perfect comfort to feet that tire and weaken and ache.

Three special features in the Arch-Tone Shoe insure its ease on the foot, and its lasting shapeliness in service.

An exceptionally strong yet light steel "bridge" is built into the shank of the shoe. It holds the arch of the foot always in natural, comfortable position, and preserves the shapeliness of the shoe.

Stronger counters keep the heel in place, and prevent unsightly bulging.

Then, too, many of the models of this shoe are built over Combination Lasts with a bit of extra room across the ball.

Come in and see the many smart models of this new type of shoe—"the tonic for tired feet."

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS JOIN ASSOCIATION

J. H. Hardesty & Son Given Membership in National Holstein Society.

James H. Hardesty & Son of Thief River Falls have received word from Secretary F. L. Houghton of Brattleboro, Vt., that they have been elected to membership in the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. This is the largest dairy cattle association in the world, having a membership of over twenty thousand on its rolls, representing over five hundred thousand registered pure bred Holstein animals.

The black and white cattle are among the most popular with milk producers everywhere. Through the use of pure bred sires, common cows of little or no breeding have been made to produce progeny capable of great milk and fat production. So widely have these black and white sires been used for herd improvement that the large dairy sections of the East and the Middle West supplying the large cities depend upon 75 per cent of their milk supply from Holsteins, either pure bred or grade. Some of the biggest men in the country have an active part in improving the production abilities of this breed. Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, is president of the association.

Holstein cattle have broken all records for milk and butter fat repeatedly. Official tests of this kind are conducted under the supervision of the agricultural colleges.

The last record of note is that of a cow owned by the Carnation Stock farms of Seattle, Wash. Segis Pietertje Prospect, a seven year old cow, produced in 365 days 37,281 lbs. of milk and 1158.95 lbs. of butterfat, equivalent to 1448.7 lbs. of butter, an average yield of over 1½ tons of milk every month.

Wonderful Window Display.

Thief River Falls has for many years enjoyed an enviable reputation for the beautiful window displays of its many progressive merchants, and one that is particularly worthy of special mention is that of Loken Brothers which was put in this week. These windows have attracted a great deal of attention and have been the cause of much flattering comment. The displays are an exact reproduction of the windows of one of the largest stores in Chicago and their preparation has entailed a large expense as well as a vast amount of labor. The work was all done by George C. Loken and the result of his labor is an unqualified testimonial of his ability in this particular line of work.

RED LAKE FAIR WILL BREAK ALL RECORDS

Greatest Exhibition of Agricultural Products Ever Raised By Indians to Be Shown.

Picturesque as a pageant, but in reality an exact representation of a race of people which during the past 50 years has made a most remarkable advancement, the Red Lake Indian fair, which will take place Sept. 14, 15 and 16, will prove that the Indian is taking his place with other races and that the places where lithe and active braves once took their living from the woods and waters are rapidly undergoing agricultural development, and in the place of the sturdy huntsman a brown-skinned sturdy farmer may be found, says the Bemidji Sentinel.

The Red Lake Indian fair will present a picture which is almost unbelievable, but which only marks the progress of a few years during which the Chippewas of Minnesota have made remarkable advancement. At this fair old chiefs who still wear their tribal costumes and who make their abode in the lowly tepee, smoke their pipes peaceably as they watch their children taking part in the contests that are annually arranged as a part of the fair program. The old squaws with trained fingers may be found working many weeks before the fair on somepiece of fancy or bead work which they intend to show at the fair. These people with their primitive means take just as much interest in the fair as the younger Indians who, of course, pride themselves on their ability to raise big potatoes or other agricultural products.

The progress of the Indian along agricultural lines has been remarkable and the farm products which are shown at the Red Lake Indian fair each year could be entered in competition against those of the white man. With the development along agricultural lines as practiced by the men, the women are showing an interest in home work of all kinds, such as cooking and sewing, of which exhibits are made each year.

A feature of the Red Lake fair which is always of interest to visitors is the sports program. As usual the favorite Indian game of LaCrosse will be played and several interesting contests are assured. Other sports features will be foot races, horse races, ox team races, tepee raising contest, running races, potato races, and several tugs-of-war. Excellent music will be provided throughout the fair and on Sept. 15, the second day of the fair, which is also Bemidji day, it is expected there will be many visitors from this city at Red Lake.

In connection with the fair an Indian baby show will take place and much interest is displayed in this fair feature each year. Visitors from all parts of the northern part of the state are expected to attend the fair at Red Lake this year and it is expected that the fair this year will be greater than ever before. That the agricultural department will be a success is assured as five farmers' clubs, all of the members of which are Indians, will be in competition for honors at the Red Lake exposition.

"SAYS MRS. JONES"

Mrs. Jones—Where did you get that pretty dress?

Mrs. Brown—You'd never believe it but I bought that yesterday for one dollar.

Mrs. Jones—ONE DOLLAR? That can't be possible.

Mrs. Brown—Yes, yesterday was Market Day and I bought this dress at LOKEN'S for one dollar.

Mrs. Jones—And here I am one of their best customers and those clerks never let me know anything about it.

Mrs. Brown—Let you know about it? Don't you get THE TIMES?

Mrs. Jones—Yes, but I never read the ads.

Mrs. Brown—Then how can you ever expect to get any of the many good bargains advertised in THE TIMES every week?

Moral: (Turn to the ads now and read the many special values offered for this week.)

BLACK BEAUTY WILL BE SHOWN AT LOCAL THEATRE THIS WEEK

Unusual Attraction Is Heartily Endorsed By Prominent Minneapolis Educator.

Manager Brumund has booked a popular and unusual attraction for the Lyceum next Sunday and Monday, when "Black Beauty" will be reproduced on the screen. Million have read the intensely interesting story of "Black Beauty" and young and old alike will enjoy the screen interpretation of the popular story. It is a clean and wholesome picture throughout and has the enthusiastic endorsement of many prominent people. W. F. Webster, assistant superintendent of schools of Minneapolis, writes to Robert Cotton, manager of the Vitagraph company, as follows:

"I went last night to see "Black Beauty." It certainly was a pleasure to find the house jammed and standing room sought for. And the play deserves it. Every oldfellow who was brought up on a farm or near one will have memories of childhood recalled during the evening; and children who have never known the beauty and companionship of horses should go. This picture will leave its mark for a li efictmemfwypmfwyp mark for a life time. Then surely those persons who are asking for better movies, every one of them, should see this picture and show the producers that they will support a clean, beautiful thing when it comes to town. I hope that the success of this film will warrant your company doing more of this same high grade of work."

Dr. Elizabeth A. Roton, Licensed Optometrist of Grand Forks, will be at the Central hotel, Red Lake Falls, from 10:10 a. m. Sept. 28, until 10:10 a. m. Sept. 29. At the Brumund hotel, Thief River Falls, from 11:15 a. m. Sept. 29, until 8:15 a. m. Sept. 30. At Hotel Warren from 9:23 a. m. Sept. 30, until 10:22 Oct. 1. Have your own and children's eyes examined. Bright students are often made dull from eye strain. All work absolutely guaranteed.—Advertisement.

BUILDER HAS NOT SEEN ITS EQUAL

Victim of Rheumatism and Indigestion Regains Health By Taking Tanlac.

"Tanlac has not only gotten rid of the indigestion and rheumatism from which I had suffered for four years, but has made me feel like a young man again," said Frank Kernan, a prominent St. Paul builder and contractor living at 332 Sherburne Ave., St. Paul, Minn.

"I believe I suffered about as much as anybody ever did on account of indigestion and rheumatism. After every meal the pains in the pit of my stomach fairly doubled me up. I would bloat up with gas until I could hardly breathe, and I had pains in my shoulders, arms and legs nearly all the time. In damp weather my joints became so stiff that I could not bend them without suffering agony. I had no appetite and became so run down that I thought I would have to give up.

"I saw so many statements in the papers from people who had been benefited by Tanlac that I decided to try it, and have never known any medicine to give such remarkable results in so short a time. The first few doses gave me an appetite, and I soon found that I could eat anything I wanted without being troubled with the least sign of indigestion. After taking several bottles more I haven't an ache or pain of any kind, and all trace of the rheumatism has disappeared. I can honestly say that I never felt better in my life than I do today."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Done all your Canning?
An Old Favorite with all—
BLUE PLUM CONSERVE
Prepare the plums by washing carefully and removing the stones; cut in small pieces, add a little water and the same weight in sugar. If a slightly more tart conserve is liked, ¾ of the amount of sugar will suffice. This conserve may be varied by adding nuts and raisins shortly before taking from the fire. It is very delicious.
DON'T let summer slip by without putting up a big supply of peaches, pears and plums.
No thrifty housewife, no hostess, wants to find her cupboard bare of home preserves before the winter is half over. Plan now to put up peaches, pears and plums. You can preserve these fruits at home, in a delightful variety of ways, saving one-third to one-half. Factory prepared fruits are extravagant. Use Ball mason jars.
Many people are disappointed after the season is over—don't be one of them. Watch the fruit market and buy all you'll need at the first opportunity. Next winter you will be glad to have a good supply of delicious, pure, home-canned sauces, jams and conserves.

Announcement
Mr. Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, gives out the following statement:
"Another reduction has been made in the list price of all types of Ford cars and the Ford truck, to take effect Sept. 2. The list prices, F. O. B. Detroit, are now as follows:
Touring Car $355.00
Runabout $325.00
Coupe $595.00
Sedan $660.00
Chassis $295.00
Truck Chassis $445.00
Tractor $625.00
"The big reductions last spring were made in anticipation of low material costs which we are now getting the benefit of, and this fact, together with increased manufacturing efficiency and the unprecendented demand for Ford cars, particularly during the past three months, permitting maximum production, have made another price reduction possible immediately.
"Ford business for April and May, 1921, was greater by 56,633 cars and trucks than for the same two months in 1920, in fact the demand has been even greater than the supply, so that our output has been limited, not by unfilled orders, but by manufacturing facilities.
"During May we produced 101,424 Ford cars and trucks for sale in the United States alone—the biggest month in the history of our company—and our factories and assembly plants are now working on a 4,000 car daily schedule.
"The Fordson tractor is still being sold at less than the cost to produce on account of the recent big price reductions and it is impossible, therefore, to make any further cut in the price of the tractor."
Can you afford to go without a car any longer when Fords are selling at these new low prices? There is no reason why you should delay purchasing a Ford car, Ford truck or Fordson tractor.
We will gladly advise you concerning the delivery of a Fordson tractor or the particular type of car in which you are interested. Just phone us or drop us a card.

Chiropractic Slogan:
"Service Absolutely"
"Not how little for how much, but how mnch for how little."
B. J. Palmer, D. C. Ph. C.

I want my friends to know that I have just returned from Davenport, Iowa, where I attended the National Lyceum and Homecoming of Chiropractors, in fitting myself for greater service. I wish to serve you.

Facts I Observed:

Eight thousand live, enthusiastic delegates enrolled. Every delegate's ideal was the betterment of humanity; the spirit of the throng was the marvel of every witness; men of national reputation spoke and pledged their good will and service to the spreading of the gospel of Chiropractic.

"All my life I have been fighting for natural methods of healing and I shall fight for Chiropractic as long as I am in the publishing business."—BERNARR McFADDEN, Editor Physical Culture Magazine.

"Building a life is not enough; you must give that away to others before you can truly live. You must sell yourself to others; your aim is to sell yourself through the science of Chiropractic—a most worthy aim and a most noble profession."—JAMES H. HARRON, Noted Business Lecturer.

"I want freedom of the press, of conscience, and the freedom to choose who should be my doctor."—LIEUT.-GOVERNOR HOWARD of Nebraska.

"There has been a housecleaning among traditions which have outlived their usefulness, and a new age is no longer content with the heirlooms of the past. That is why Chiropractic seems to be popular—it is the new child of the century."—MAJOR DENT ATKINSON.

"I do not claim that Chiropractic adjustments will cure everything; maybe they have not advanced that far, but they are going on. So for myself, this I do know absolutely, when I am sick I shall send for a Chiropractic practitioner, first, not last."—JAMES W. ELLIOTT, the Author of Man Messages.

"The thing thats ounds is results and the only way to achieve these results is to remove the base cause of the disease. The subluxation of this offending spinal vertebras—not the treatment of symptoms. The patient is interested primarily in getting well, not in knowing the technical name of the disease."—B. J. PALMER, D. C. Ph. C.

Pure-Bred Bulls.

(Bemidji Pioneer.)

The exchange of scrub bulls all over Minnesota for pure bred sires is a step being fostered by the Minnesota Holstein Breeders' association which will eventually mean much to the dairymen of Minnesota. Scrub sires may be turned in as a first payment on a pure bred sire.

The forming of co-operative bull associations will greatly facilitate the purchase of pure bred sires. One farmer, especially in this new country, may not have sufficient capital to purchase one for his own herd, but through the assistance of a club this may be done and the results will in this way be enlarged to the whole immediate neighborhood. It costs no more to keep pure bred stock than scrub stock and the returns are much larger.

Find That it Pays.

(Ely Miner.)

All over the country merchants are adopting the three per cent. method of advertising, and it is proving so profitable and satisfactory to them that we believe our business men would do well to give it attention. Actual tests in hundreds of cases have proved that an advertising appropriation of three per cent of the previous year's gross sales have increased the business 33 1-3 per cent. This increase doesn't happen the first week after the advertising starts but in the cumulative effect of a campaign carried on regularly each week for a whole year. If the three per cent were all spent in one grand blow-out it would be wasted. But distributed over an entire year it is the surest business builder in the world. Big city stores spend five and seven per cent but in towns like this three per cent will do as much, and even more, on the capital invested. There is one sure way to prove this, and you can't lose, either. And that is to try it out.
